ROSEBURG, OREGON, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1925.

IS PROGRESS REAL?

Some persons are pessimistic as to whether the world is really making any progress. The great reason which they state for doubting such gains, is the recent war. Just as much cruelty was manifested during that wicked conflict, they claim, as was seen at any previous time in history.

The dreadful experience of Floyd Collins in the cave in Kentucky where he was so unfortunately trapped, and the determined effort to release him, had a sad ending, but the affair brought out some fine revelations of human character.

Senator Edge of New Jersey recently suggested that a commission should be appointed to see if the burdens resting upon the president could be made lighter.

One hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars has been voted by the Oregon legislature for a normal school at Ashland. One senator, in championing the bill, stated that "the time has arrived to play fair with Southern Oregon."

Portland is now giving attention to jaywalkers that persist in blocking traffic on the main streets of that city and are frequently responsible for automobile accidents.

It's not always the fellow with a loud voice who is really accomplishing things in this old world. Many an individual with quiet demeanor is putting over something constructive while the bombastic guy is pawing the air.

The legislature is passing bills at the rate of one a minute for various appropriations to carry on state government. Wouldn't it be fine if they were passing one a day to cut out some of the overhead?

There was a time when the flavor of embalming fluid could be had only in certain specified quarters. Now quite a number of fellows carry the aroma to work with them.

The fact that prices for prunes this year are encouraging puts the producer in a happy frame of mind until the crop is harvested.

When a great desire to reform somebody or something comes over you, go back of the barn and look yourself over carefully.

In the eleventh hour rush some of the state officials are getting a generous advance in salaries.

Epistaxis. Well, I'll be gol dinged. Never knew that nosebleed had such a high falutin' monicker before. Why when we was a kid they never diagnosed nosebleed as Epistaxis. It was just plain, everyday, common nosebleed. They certainly do concoct some high-tone names for old-fashioned ailments.

The Jr. class play "The Hottentot" will soon be enacted at the local opey house and judgin' from the number of Hottentot maniacs that whoop and howl at the basket-ball games, the production ought to be a snortin' success.

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING CLUB

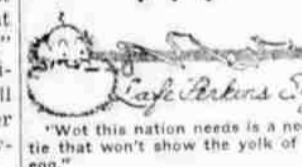

Some men are just natural born leaders—and it certainly takes a real natural born leader to handle the affairs of Umpqua Post of the American Legion. Doc Earl Stewart is that feller! Doc has a way of saying "D—m ya, do that!" that makes the legionnaires hop to it with a grin and it is due only to his wonderful ability as an organizer, leader and regular guy that the Roseburg post is now ranked as one of the finest in the state of Oregon.

SENATOR WHEELER BEFORE GRAND JURY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Senator Wheeler of Montana appeared today before the District of Columbia grand jury which for three weeks has been investigating new charges against him and others in connection with government land transactions.

The senator was taken into the grand jury chambers immediately after government counsel learned that he wished to avail himself of an invitation extended by Attorney General Stone and make a personal statement to the jurors.

Commissioner Spry of the general land office, J. P. Morrow, an interior department, and W. G. Sawyer, a Washington lawyer who is in the service of Gordon Campbell, the oil man already under indictment with Senator Wheeler in Montana, also appeared before the grand jury.

Representatives of the government indicated that their prolonged investigation into the circumstances under which leases of government lands by Campbell and his associates had been obtained in Montana was about concluded. Within a day or so they said, facts would be left to the jurors for a decision.

CHALLENGER TO SCHOOL-BOY TEST MAKES OWN TERMS

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Lord Rothermere, publisher of the Daily Mail and his challenger to a "school boy test", W. G. Cove, plan to meet next week to make final arrangements for the examination. Mr. Cove, former president of the national union of teachers challenged the Lord in response to a campaign by the Daily Mail which alleged that London's elementary schools were not worth the money appropriated for them, citing in support of its case the failure of a number of graduates to meet a test set by the newspaper in filling one of its junior clerkships.

Meanwhile, a further exchange of communications between the challenger and Lord Rothermere has taken place. The publisher said his only stipulation was that the "arithmetical and general knowledge of questions would be of the same character and calibre as those set in the Daily Mail's examination of the boys, to which Mr. Cove replied: "You mustn't try to vary my challenge. The questions I set will not be similar to those very clumsily set by the Mail, but will be of such character and calibre as are put in the elementary schools."

THREE ELIMINATED FOR LEONARD CROWN

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Three candidates, among them one of the hardest hitters of the class, today are far removed from the lightweight boxing crown which Benny Leonard let fall recently. The first three elimination matches in the New York State Athletic Commission's tournament to name a champion, shattered the hopes of George Chaney of Baltimore, Eddy (Kid) Wagner of Philadelphia and Jack Silver of the Pacific Coast. The first two went down to defeat here, while Silver bowed to Joe Benjamin in San Francisco.

Sensation entered the squabble when Chaney was knocked out by Tommie O'Brien of Milwaukee, who recently lost on points to Jack Bernstein of New York. Up to the sixth round when the final punch arrived, the Baltimore veteran had ruled with a fist of iron. But in the sixth, a circling right caught Chaney off balance and he went to the floor but was up again only to meet another jolt.

Up to this time O'Brien had taken considerable punishment. Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo newsboy gained a decision over Wagner, after two extra rounds had been fought. The decision threw the fans into an uproar which lasted for fifteen minutes. At the end of the tenth the battle was so close that for the first time in a professional tournament the extra time became necessary.

Tonight (Georget) Lee of Worcester, Mass., and K. O. Clyde Jealke of Toledo, met here in a tournament contest. Lee has taken the place of Rock Kansas of Buffalo, who injured his right hand in a recent bout.

ARMISTICE CAR IS A WHITE ELEPHANT

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Authorities are at a loss to know what to do with Marshal Foch's wartime sleeping car headquarters in which the armistice was signed. At present the car stands in the court yard of the Invalides building, where it was fast becoming weather beaten. The only way of preserving it from the elements in its present position is to build a shed over it, but General Marcial, custodian of the military museum of the Invalides will not permit Marshal's famous courtyard to be disfigured by such a structure. The mayor of Compiegne has offered to return it to the Rethondes sidetrack where

WILL BUILD HOMES

L. J. Barnes and Charles W. Clark have purchased the two lots at the corner of Chadwick and Washington streets, across from the Catholic grounds. Mr. Barnes has procured the corner lot and Mr. Clark the one just inside the corner. The property sale was made through Rice and Rice real estate company. The purchasers expect to construct modern residences on the land in the near future.

PATRIOTIC BOY ORATOR APPLAUDED

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—A 12 year old patriotic boy orator has come forth to answer a silver tongued boy bolshevik who recently thrilled a Lenin memorial meeting in Madison Square Garden.

At a flag rally in Carnegie Hall last night, Bertram Stern, son of a Mount Vernon school teacher, won applause by denouncing Morris Spector as a "traitor" for his advocacy of communism at the Lenin meeting. The boys are the same age.

Bertram recited America, which the audience repeated after him with fervor. After he had concluded his speech, messages of praise from radio listeners arrived at the station from which the flag program was broadcast.

The armistice was signed, and there build a suitable shelter over it at the expense of the Compiegne municipality, but the minister of war is unwilling to accept this offer, as the car is one of the principal exhibits at the Invalid's museum. Furthermore, it is pointed out, that to allow its entrance to the courtyard four inches had to be taken off the arclway, and to remove it, would necessitate a repetition of that operation.

Keeping out of Hot Water

Many women have learned how to do it, and you, too, can solve the problem. The Savage Electrical Washing Machine is a "Wife Saver" and does a day's work in a few minutes' time. Washes Blankets, Comforters, Sheets or the most Delicate Fabrics. No Wringer, no torn garments, no buttons pulled off. A touch of the hand converts the Savage into a Centrifugal Dryer, and there is no lifting out of the garments between operations.
