ALBANY DAILY NEWSPAPERS CONSOLIDATE

Press dispatches yesterday told of the consolidation of the two daily newspapers published at Albany, Oregon, the Democrat and the Herald. This is a sensible conclusion on the part of the owners of the two papers and should have been accomplished long ago.

No city of less than fifteen thousand people can support two daily newspapers with any degree of success. It has been attempted time and again in cities the size of Albany and Roseburg and with but one result, either consolidation or suspension of one or the other.

There are plenty of newspaper novices running around the country who are always willing and ready to encourage another newspaper where the field is already adequately covered. They delight in spending the other fellow's money and paint glowing pictures of what could be done with their "talents" at the helm of a daily publication, never taking into consideration the fact that it takes years of hard, conscientious endeavor to build a newspaper of any worth.

The day of the political organ is history. Papers launched for the purpose of catering to either major party spells defeat from the very beginning. What the people demand is a publication giving all the news of the day, its columns open to all for a free expression of views and not sold to any clique or faction.

There is no need for two daily newspapers in Albany any more than a dog with two tails. The fact that they have consolidated shows good business sense and the people of that community feel gratified that they will be served far better than ever before in a general news way.

Newspapers all over the nation in the smaller communities where two daily papers are issued are doing likewise. The newspaper game is a strictly business one in these days and the fellow who tries to make anything else out of it is doomed to defeat.

Much used to be said about sufferings of horses in winter, from failure of owners to cover them when exposed to cold winds. Many such owners drive automobiles now, but there are still horse owners in Douglas county who fail to feed their horses well and keep them warm.

A Pennsylvania authority declares that no young people should get married without having at least $500 for purchase of furniture, with $300 additional for incidentals. Hopes are roseate in youth, and many have married with little but hope for capital.

If the money now thrown away in fake stock and worthless schemes were put into substantial advertising for substantial business enterprises, lots of business men would be better off. An investment in an advertising campaign for your own business is far surer to strike pay gold than most of the "get rich quick" paper that is offered to you by whispering promoters.

When a man is trying to deceive himself, he always thinks it necessary to make a lot of explanations to his friends.

It is a sad mistake to pass the buck to tomorrow for those things that should be accomplished today.

PLAY JURY SYSTEM WILL BE STARTED

(Associated Press Special Wire) NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The question of stage censorship has been settled by District Attorney Banton's acceptance of the citizen play jury system, which is expected to begin tomorrow the investigation of several Broadway productions reported by police as indecent.

Operations of the tribunal will be secret. The jury of 12 men will be selected by Police Commissioner Enright from a panel of 150 names submitted by John Emerson, president of the Actors' Equity Association and accepted by Mr. Banton. The first jury is expected to decide the fate of "Destire Under the Elms," which the district attorney had previously ordered withdrawn.

(Associated Press Special Wire) OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 25.—Wrestling notable from all parts of the country including Champion Wayne (Big) Munn have made reservations for the Charlie Hansen-John Pesek, winner-take-all mat bout here next Friday night, the promoter announced.

Munn and his manager, Gabe Kaufmann, have ordered ringside seats, and former heavyweight Ed (Strangler) Lewis and his manager, Billy Sandow, alleged leader of a "screaming trust," have declared their intention of witnessing the match. Jack Curley, leader in the fight against the alleged trust, also will be here.

Many others prominent in heavyweight wrestling circles are planning to be on hand when Hansen enters what is claimed to be an attempt to shatter the so-called "trust" of which Pesek is said to be a member.

BOOKLET WILL BE ISSUED SOON

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday afternoon, and transacted the usual routine business. It was decided to place the copy for the new county booklet in the hands of the printers the first of next week, and to that end the secretary-manager was instructed to visit all the towns in the county not having contracted for some of the booklets this week, so as to be able to tell just how many copies of the booklets would be published. At the present time it looks as if there would have to be in the neighborhood of 12,000 of them published. The chamber has a long list of names and addresses to whom the booklet will be sent as soon as off the press, many of these names being handed in by residents of this city who wish their folks back home to know just how this country looks.

The chairman of the membership committee reported that a number of new members had been enrolled in the chamber, and that work along this line would be prosecuted until all business and professional men would be seen and urged to support the organization.
