Mrs. Bawer came here from Kellogg about a month ago to stay at her daughter's home and receive medical treatment in hopes of benefiting her health. She was 66 years old at the time of her death, and has lived for a number of years at Kellogg, where she leaves many friends who will be grieved to learn of her death. Besides her husband, Louis Bawer, who lives at Kellogg, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Baldwin of this city, and Mrs. Charles Hess, of Tacoma, and two sons, Louis and Max of Kellogg. No funeral arrangements will be made until Mr. Bawer's arrival here from Kellogg sometime this afternoon.

COUNCIL HOLDS BUSY SESSION

Many Routine Matters Given Attention at Meeting Last Night.

GRADES ARE WANTED

Residents of Roberts and Mill Streets Desire Grades Upon Which to Construct Walks.

The city council had a short but busy session last night, disposing of a large number of routine matters. All of the councilmen were present, and there were also quite a number of spectators in attendance.

H. G. Wilson appeared before the council and asked permission to construct a garage in lot avenue of 4th street. The side street is not improved and there is little expectation that it will be paved soon, and he desires to construct a garage building in the dead end. The matter was referred to the street committee.

L. L. Bell asked for a grade on Roberts street to put in sidewalks. The new council, however, is following the rule laid down by the old council, that a sidewalk grade will not be given until plans are made for the improvement of the street by grading and paving. It is possible that a petition to pave Roberts street between Main and Jackson will be presented. The street committee will make an investigation of the matter.

It was reported that the fences around the reservoir in the south end of town are down, and that children are playing near the water. The health and police committee was instructed to investigate the condition of the fences and to order them repaired if needed, and to also investigate the condition of the reservoir.

A petition was presented by the residents of South Mill street asking for the establishment of a grade and the widening and grading of the street.

The remonstrance of Frank Warner against an alleged excessive sewer assessment was referred to the city attorney for a legal opinion.

Walks were ordered on the south side of Flood street between Stephens and Pine streets.

Councilman Hess reported that freight trucks are operating in the city without mufflers, and the marshal was instructed to see that this is stopped.

It was reported that the gas lamp post had been sold for $150.00.

It was also reported that the bill in which the city was interested, providing for the foreclosure of property liens in the circuit court, had been passed by the legislature and signed by the governor.

The street superintendent's report showing that the department clean over 74 miles of pavement each week, was read and filed.

A hydrant on Winchester street is to be changed to make it more convenient for the use of the department.

The ordinance providing for the vacation of Flood and Short streets in favor of the Coen Lumber company, was read third time and passed. The commercial avenue assessment ordinance was also passed.

The ordinance granting the Southern Pacific a franchise for a spur track in North Pine street, was placed on first and second reading.

The county searifier and grader will be used to improve the ungraded portions of the West Roseburg road and 2nd avenue in North Roseburg.

Washington Visitors Gay

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Wisconsin visitors for the inaugural ceremonies held in the White House executive offices for a reception today wear white ribbon badges inscribed: "Our governor isn't here, but we are."

E. H. Miles, mayor of La Follette, explained state legislation to the governor and turned down a proposal to send representatives to the Coolidge inauguration, but that representatives of several municipalities had decided to come on their own account.

Wisconsin was the only state carried by Senator La Follette in opposition to the Coolidge-Dawes ticket.

Rain is Predicted

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Probable rain in the afternoon of the inauguration day is predicted for Washington by the weather bureau.

The forecasters will not venture a prediction as to the time the showers may begin falling, or whether the ceremonies on the capital hill early in the afternoon may be finished in time to escape. Fair and warmer is the outlook for tonight with increasing cloudiness Wednesday and warmer.

Guests At Inaugural

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Incoming trains today were bringing to the capital 14 governors and three lieutenant-governors, and their parties to participate in the inauguration tomorrow of President Coolidge as Vice-President Elect Dawes, the first state executive to arrive was Lieutenant-Governor Fred E. Sterling of Illinois.

progresses smoothly however, and no last minute executive tangle upsets the expectations of officials. The day's events will move off about as follows:

11 a. m.—President Coolidge and Vice-President Elect Dawes, accompanied by a committee of congress and cavalry escort, leave the White House for the capitol.

11:15 a. m.—On arrival at the capitol, the president goes to his room to sign last minute legislation and the vice-president-elect goes to the vice-president's room.

11:30 a. m.—Senate recesses until 11:45 a. m. House adjourns sine die.

11:45 a. m.—President and vice-president-elect, house members and distinguished guests take place in senate chambers.

11:50 a. m.—Oath is administered to vice-president-elect. Retiring President of the Senate Cummins, makes brief address. Senate adjourns sine die.

Noon—New vice-president calls new senate to order and delivers his inaugural address. New senators take an oath.

12:25 p. m.—Entire official party moves out to the inaugural platform on the capitol plaza, where President Coolidge takes the oath and delivers his inaugural address.

1 p. m.—President, accompanied by cavalry escort, returns to White House for buffet luncheon.

1:45 p. m.—President takes his place in reviewing stand in front of the White House to witness the passing of the inaugural parade, occupying about an hour, and bringing the official program to a close.

Those inauguration visitors who took a pre-ceremony view of the arrangements at the capitol today heard strange voices echoing over the plaza and resounding about the corners of the library of congress.

They even distinguished sentences from the inaugural addresses of president of the past.

The radio rehearsal of their parts in tomorrow's great show, headed by Graham McNamee of WEAFA, a corps of announcers tried their voices in true prima donna fashion. They pronounced the arrangements perfect.

Tomorrow's hook-up will be the most extensive ever undertaken and will carry Mr. Coolidge's inaugural address to every corner of the country.

MARKETS

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
PORTLAND, Ore., March 3.—Local egg jobbers and storage operators are now generally of the opinion that the market has seen its low point for some time to come. Some are still of the opinion that a 25-cent storage level will prevail later on. Receipts have been good during the past twenty-four hours but stocks were well absorbed and values on the exchange advanced a point 2 1/2 cents to 32 cents while current receipts gained a half cent, being posted at 27 1/2 cents net. Other grades are steady and unchanged. There is a brisk demand now for fancy eggs for storage and jobbers are canvassing the country for supplies. Eggs are going into the cooler on a large scale although
