Mme. However, she has since gone back to her old "love" and is now the director of the Columbia Ladies Concert Orchestra, which is composed entirely of gifted and incidentally handsome young ladies. Those who have heard the orchestra everywhere are loud in their praise of the organization that Mme. Knight has gathered around her and on the stage it is the most brilliant picture that has ever been seen on the concert platform. (From Des Moines Capital): "The Ladies Columbia Concert orchestra appearing last night under the auspices of the American Legion was greeted by an audience which almost filled the large auditorium. "As the curtain lifted the eye was met by a pleasing spectacle of magnificent gowns and eager faces. The orchestra gave generously both of the solo and ensemble numbers and responded with many encores."

THE VILLAGES

I cannot hope that sorrow's feet
forever and a day
Will pass my little House of Love
where latticed sunbeams stray.
But when she lays her hand at last
upon the swinging latch,
And steps where happy years have smiled beneath our spring-sweet
thatch,
Grant me, al God, this heartfelt prayer, that somewhere it may be
Where little, small-town sympathy
may find and comfort me.
The little small-town sympathy
that runs across the fields,
In blue-checked ginghams aprons,
and with flour upon its hands,
That bakes, and brews, and sweeps
and dries, that wakens, and
whirls,
The little small-town sympathy
that knows and understands,
(From Martha Hasael Clark's
"Home Road")

THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET

(Latest edition, by Geo. McGowan, composed on the occasion of Yoncalla obtaining city water.)
The past is behind us; we live in the present;
What next year may bring us we never can tell,
We're progressing swiftly; such progress is pleasant,
Away from the bucket that hung in the well.
The old oaken bucket lives, only in story—
In story and song, that we all love to sing,
So give it the song, but to us be the glory
Of drinking the water that flows from the spring.
The cold flowing water, the sparkling clear water,
The life-giving water that's piped from the spring.
In the days of our youth there was ever a danger—
The well was left open as oft it befall,
And a mouse taking flight at the sight of a stranger,
When he fell for cover, dropped into the well.
So dear to our hearts is the pure drinking fountain,
Which pressing a piston attracts to our lips,
It flows from the snowdrift on yon Snowy mountain,
And discounts the sleet that Jupiter sips.
And then there's the faucet and hose standing by,
The smooth-shaven greenward, the sweet-scented flower;
The old oaken bucket could never come high it.
Light up our dwellings or furnish our power,
'Tis all very well in our new habitations,
Such songs of the past for our pleasure to sing.

STRANGE THINGS

You'll find a pair of boxing gloves
A football and a sled
Sucked up before the chiffonier
Or underneath the bed;
A tadpole, or a snake or two
Bug or crickets but
Will reappear in the rocking chair
Or in your Sunday hat;
A sand of rain or blotch of ink
While from the mantle or the stairs
Perhaps a top will hop.
All these and more strange things perchance
Like this or squeaky mouse
All these, I say, you'll find if there's
A small boy in your house.
Orpha Collins,
Roseburg, Oregon.

REGAL EFFECT OBTAINED BY SIMPLE USE OF CREPE DE CHINE AND BEADS

There is nothing lovelier to look upon than a lovely woman in a lovely evening gown. And if her manner is as lovely as her looks and accessories—the picture she presents is utterly charming and memorable—a Princess Charming.

YOUTHFUL BAND OF FLAT VELVET FLOWERS

The affair at the right is a simple band of flat velvet roses drawn tightly across the back of the neck, and then over the top of the head, just a trifle to the rear. This is really a charming, youthful head-dress, and could be copied successfully by anyone. The use of flat velvet flowers for the headband for hat trimmings and for dresses is growing.

FRANCES HOWARD IN ALL-WHITE EVENING ENSEMBLE

Two other headresses selected by Miss Howard are sketched above. The one at the left is worked out in cloth of gold. A shod hand is quilted, and the gold catches all the high-lights very effectively. This quilted band slants up and back from a plain hand-band of the same material. The affair at the right is a simple band of flat velvet roses drawn tightly across the back of the neck, and then over the top of the head, just a trifle to the rear. This is really a charming, youthful head-dress, and could be copied successfully by anyone. The use of flat velvet flowers for the headband for hat trimmings and for dresses is growing.

WILL TAKE TRIP IN EASTERN OREGON

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, March 7.—Lavern H. Hawn of Roseburg, sophomore in electrical engineering, is a member of the O. A. C. Glee Club that will tour eastern Oregon during spring vacation. The singers will leave Corvallis March 21 in two large buses chartered for the trip. Reginald H. Hawn will be made at The Dalles, La Grande, Pendleton, Baker, Union and Hood River, where concerts and entertainments will be given. Additional stops will be made at Hot Lake, Arlington, and Umatilla. A Hot Lake club will have the use of the swimming pool and the hot mineral baths. In Arlington they will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at its regular weekly luncheon. Forty men are to make the trip this year—50 of the regular members of the club, an eight piece orchestra, and the director and the manager. The Glee Club has made several trips of this kind to different parts of the state and on each occasion was well received.

YOUNG MEN'S BUSINESS CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Young Men's Business Club held their regular weekly meeting at the Terminal Hotel Cafe at 6:30, on Thursday evening. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, and the regular business was transacted. There are sixteen members of the club at the present time, and it has been found necessary by the club to limit the membership to twenty members. Dexter Rice was a guest, and gave a short address which was enjoyed very much by those present, and which contained many points of advice to young business men. His theme was "Business Built by Service," the chief thought being that service is the foundation of all business. The next regular meeting will be on Thursday, March 12.

School Lunches

The old tale that "Monday we wash, Tuesday we bake, Wednesday the queen's child we take" has been reconstructed in these modern times to "the child's lunch we make—every day in the week." Sometimes this question of school lunches becomes a real problem and rather a stormy problem at that. Because Stacy Jones has hard-boiled eggs and pickles in her lunch box is sufficient reason to other youngsters for their boxes to contain the same things. Yet with mothers that is anything but a logical reason. It is difficult to argue convincingly with small minds as to what is "good for you" and what isn't. To make it simpler for mothers, who have this as one of their daily tasks, we are publishing suggestions for one week's lunches.

THEATRES

Liberty Theatre
Fine acting, by an excellent cast, a thrilling dramatic story extremely well directed, make "The Midnight Express," the Columbia Picture which opens at the Liberty theatre Sunday a picture that all will be enthusiastic over for many a day to come. It is a well balanced story from the beginning to end. The reviewer forgot entirely that he was ready to cheer when the villainous escaped convict was finally overcome in a terribly dramatic fight which occurs in the action.

Antlers Theatre

Film fans who prefer drama of the red-blooded, roost-bred variety seasoned with plenty of action and flavored with the sauce of romance will find "The Top of the World," the new Paramount picture which opens Saturday at the Antlers theatre. It was prepared by that able photoplay chief, George Melford, and is exquisitely served up by a superb cast featuring Anna Q. Nilsson, James Kirkwood, Raymond Hatton and Sheldon Lewis. The basis of this cinematic concoction is the Ethel M. Dell story of the same name, but the director, with the assistance of his scenario writer, has managed to include several original melodramatic ingredients which add considerably to the peppery value and taste of the picture play.

Antlers Theatre

Dave Kirby, known as "The King of Barbary Coast," is in and around the Bay City of San Francisco, was selected by Director Flynn to play an important bit in the William Fox screen version of "The Man Who Came Back" when the director and his company were on location in Frisco shooting scenes in the genuine "spots" de-
