ROSEBURG, OREGON, THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1925.

GREATER NEED NOW THAN EVER

If there ever was a period in the history of Roseburg and Douglas county for the need of a sound, conservative, progressive and constructive Chamber of Commerce, the year of 1925 is going to show that requirement.

What county they choose in the various states falls to the responsibility of your local Chamber of Commerce. For our chamber is the hub for all activities that concern the stranger—the new comer—looking for a suitable place to cast his lot.

Without a substantial and well supported chamber all efforts to bring new blood into the county is dissipated. When the matter of leaving the program of a well conducted Chamber of Commerce to the public at large is considered there is sure to be no consideration given—simply a haphazard method of disposing of a vital acquisition to every progressive community.

At the beginning of each year there invariably comes a period of reconstruction work in your local chamber. A few progressive citizens give their time and energy to the welfare of the community. This responsibility falls upon the board of directors—men who are active during their entire term to better conditions in a civic way—to build a bigger and better city—to help and assist in all possible ways each and every community in the county that their growth may be substantial and reach the highest degree of success.

The Roseburg chamber is now planning its work for 1925. It is a big program and far-reaching in its scope. The board of directors need your co-operation. They need subscriptions from all who can afford to make a pledge for the present year's work.

Let's get behind them with more vim and vigor than ever and put over the financial end of the chamber's program with a bang.

A real asset for a progressive community is a live Chamber of Commerce. Roseburg, fortunately, has one of the best conducted chambers in the state. The year 1925 is going to be a busy one. Business, generally, is showing improvement and many new people are already headed for the west to seek new homes and engage in various enterprises.

Babe Ruth, the noted baseball player, is being sued for a gambling debt totaling some seven thousand dollars. And, it has been found, after filing of the suit, that the "Babe" is short on funds, though his last season's work brought to him the tidy sum of $52,000.

As an advertising medium the Roseburg News-Review has any paper in the state beat a mile—population of city and county considered. Over four thousand two hundred copies are printed each day, the paper going to every nook and corner of the county. There is no other means whereby the advertiser can get such wholesome results as through their local medium. It's a world beater.

Your income tax statement must be on its way to Portland not later than next Sunday. But, don't wait until Sunday to make it out. This is a day set aside for things more religious than making out an income tax statement.

The real fellows down Portland way are going to get behind a world fair for that city, to be presented in 1930. That's the spirit that makes the natives sit up and take notice.

Look out for the speed cops—they're flaky fellows and bob up when least expected.

This is wonderful weather to spade the garden—or play a game of golf. Which?

PRUNE PICKIN'S

BY BERT & BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—

On our way home From Work widdy eve We passed a bunch Of kids who were Down on their knees And we heard One of 'em say: "Vent dubs" And we paused a moment And pretty soon We looked up and It was gettin' dark And we hurried on Because the dern Little devils had Taken our last nickel Which we had been Savin' fer a Loaf of bread And we'll allus Think they hadn't Oughta lettem Play marbles Fer keeps.

Judgin' from the height of their skirts, the winter season is over.

Mister Goo is goin' to Joe-miller the boys to death Satiddy night with his Gawgie Minstrels.

This is the time of the year the sweet little things bring teacher a bouquet of lamb-tongues.

One blear-eyed cross word puzzle addict staggered into our sanctum this a. m. with a tattered and dog-eared dictionary and wanted his cents back. He said he'd read the gold dinged thing from cover to cover and couldn't find a fourteen-letter word meanin' the national anthem sung by the Incas.

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING CLUB

The well known pastime of becoming disgusted with humanity is more prevalent around an Espee ticket office than any other spot in the universe. After a feller has stood behind the bars all day and answered Foolish Question No. 8, 999,888,777 he is ready to administer carbolic acid to the first sarcastic individual who asks what time the 5:15 train is due to arrive. Wendell Wright has been dispensin' Espee tickets and information for a good many years in the same old stand and still looks on humanity through optimistic lenses. We consider that enough to entitle him to a permanent shell-hole in the Hall of Fame. Wendell has been the buffer for Mr. Espee all these years and after a feller has explained why a train is a "little late" for that length of time and survived the ordeal he is indeed rightly entitled to don the laurel wreath and be placed among the immortal. Wendell always has a cheery smile, a kind word and the most courteous treatment for the weary traveler. He believes in the Espee, loves to inhale the cinders of the ol' smokesack and has never grown weary of usin' the rubber stamp. It's just such men as Wendell who make travelin' by train more popular. What is more disgustin' than a disgruntled ticket agent or a conductor? Hall to you, Wendell and may your endless chain of patrons use fewer cusas words and more Sen Sen.

TODAY'S TINTYPE

This is the only existin' photograph of Tom Weatherford's fightin' bantam. Tom's prize roster passed away some years ago about the same time Mister Volstead became popular. This fightin' fool had spurs like a movie cowboy and a thirst for blood like a New York gunman. This tintype was taken just after the bantam had emerged from a bout with a ten-year old rooster from Camas Valley and shows the marvelous stamina of this king of the arena. But those were the good ol' days. Why recall 'em when they're gone forever. Cut out this tintype and put it in cold storage with the eggs.

COWS MUNCH ON AIR PLANE PARTS

(Associated Press Special Wire.) TUCSON, Ariz., March 12.—Because cows ate several of the more tender parts of his airplane, Charles Mayse, commercial pilot of the Tucson Municipal field was forced to spend two days in Stafford, Arizona. Mayse flew to Stafford to visit his mother and parked his plane in a pasture near the home. When he started to return he found that the cows had eaten the flippers in the tail group of his machine. Mayse explained that the cows had great fondness for the sizing in the linen covering of the planes and that for that reason aviators in this section consider them one of the serious hazards of the business.

GEN. MITCHELL IS TO STAY IN ARMY

MILWAUKEE, March 12.—With the view of winning his fight for a unified air service "an air service of 50,000 fighting planes," Brigadier-General William A. Mitchell will remain in the army, he told friends here last night, denying the rumor that he would seek a new career in congress.

Theatres. Antlers Theatre. "Battling Red Achin' Bunion, the pride of Gasoline Alley," bawled out the announcer—and laughs, jeers and roars came from the throats of thousands of fight fans. "Red Achin' Bunion, ho! ho! ha! ha!" And from that moment, the Kid, christened Alken Bunyan, became the clown of the ring. They watched every move—not to get the hang of his boxing form—not in sympathy for the blows rained upon him—but because of his grotesque career. Not animated cartoon strip had anything on Red Achin' Bunion when he was in action. See Wesley Barry in "Battling Bunyan" at the Antlers theatre tonight for a story of a kid with a fighting heart. It's made for laughter and tears. Liberty Theatre. One of the features in "Racing for Life," which comes to the Liberty theatre tomorrow and Saturday is the entry of Ralph DePalma, veteran speed king for many years, in one of the biggest races that was ever filmed. DePalma drives the same car in which he has won a number of championship races. Automobile fans will have the opportunity to see him for the first time on the screen. William Fairbanks and Eva Novak lead the cast. Majestic Theatre. A rattlesnake hunt, an acrobatic dynamite and three members of the troupe provoked by heat—these were the only exciting incidents in several weeks of hard work spent in the California desert by the Universal company which made "The Sunset Trail," feature attraction at the Majestic theatre Friday and Saturday. William Desmond and Gareth Hughes headed the cast, and Ernest Laemmle, directed. The location was near Lone Pine and the temperature was 115 during the day. Put fertilizer on your lawn now and it will not take so much water to keep it green in the summer. 25 lb. sacks of Rose lawn fertilizer for $1.25. Wharton Bros.
