

Ask this man About Tires!

If you want to know about tires, ask the man who sells them. He knows—knows tire construction, tire performance, tire maintenance. And when you talk to him you get first hand information from a man with whose standing you are acquainted.

In your community there is one man who has been chosen to sell Lancaster Cord Tires. On his wall hangs the certificate of the Certified Lancaster Merchant.

That sign, plus the name Lancaster over his door, means demonstrated reliability on his part and proven performance on the part of his wares. It is your assurance of good tires backed by good service.

Buy under the sign of the Lancaster Certified Merchant. It pays!

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION TO HOLD MEETING ON FRIDAY

The Roseburg and Douglas County Merchants Association will hold a meeting of its membership on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the office of the Secretary, E. R. Kenny. Several matters of great importance to the individual members will be brought up for discussion, and a good attendance is desired in order that proper consideration may be given.

The Woman Who Entertains Well—

There's something indescribably fine about the woman who entertains well. From the cheery appearance of her home to the service she so deftly affords—everything is so natural—yet so charmingly different.

Such splendid hostesses, once very rare and belonging only to the idle classes, are now to be found everywhere. They grace homes in every walk of life—making them happier through the many friends they attract.

Advertisements keep these women ahead of the commonplace. Advertisements tell of the newest and most delightful things. Advertisements announce new customs and practices. They tell what the world approves as correct.

The woman who entertains well must read the advertisements. Not only to keep pace with progress—but to learn how to do so on a limited purse. For advertisements are more than harbingers of style—they are announcements of economies that may be practiced safely.

TROOP ONE NEWS.

Troop one held its weekly meeting at the Scout Camp Monday evening. There were seventeen present. We have however, some scouts who do not read the paper as much as they should and therefore did not know that we were going to hold the meeting at the camp ground. Each scout took his lunch and cooked it at the camp. Among other business matters discussed during the meeting was the question of how to improve the camp. It was suggested that each troop be given some specific piece of work to do and later assign the minor jobs, to patrols. This would tend to make each scout want to keep the camp up better than if each troop was given a certain part to take care of. After the regular meeting games were played. Everyone had a fine time and wished that he could go oftener.

The next troop meeting will be held at the camp ground providing the weather permits. Get in touch with Mr. Lintott regarding this.

Troop one has gone on record as offering service to the Committee in charge of the Strawberry Carnival to be held in May.

TROOP TWO NEWS.

As a reporter I stand at the head of the class. I have handed in four big pieces of Scout news this week. Of course I do not wish to brag, but I sure am good.

We are enjoying mighty good discipline in our troop. We have a "keep order" committee and it is functioning.

The second troop birdhouse contest closed at our troop meeting Monday evening. Mr. V. T. Jackson, President of the Scout Council and Scout Executive were present as judges. First prize, two dollars worth of scout merchandise, was awarded to Scout George Minturn, and second, fifty cents in scout merchandise, was awarded to Peter Summerhalter. There were a number of other Scout houses entered. Each Scout took turns in telling about how he built his birdhouse and without doubt there was a lot of good hard work put in to help the birds.

A delegation of fine fellows will journey over to Melrose Friday evening to assist in giving a short Scout demonstration to the people of that vicinity. Ston Lobek and Earl Long will do some signaling. Harold Thomas and Lindon Hoffman will demonstrate first aid and knot tying and Ira Byrd, the Senior Patrol Leader will assist in general. We are glad at all times to take part in such programs.

This troop will take a hike this Saturday. The executive will be in charge and scouts from the other troops are cordially invited. Don't forget fellows, be at the swinging bridge at 8:30 Saturday morning. Bring anything you want to eat. If you cannot cook, come ready to learn for the executive will teach you. All who have not taken their cooking tests come ready to take it as well as fire building, knife and hatchet and any others that can be taken on a hike. The hike will take us to the Kiwanis-Scout camp ground where we will stay all day unless we vote otherwise in which case the executive will take us farther on. But it will not be a long hike. If we spend all of our time hiking, we will not have time enough for tests and games.

Scouts who were absent from meeting Monday evening are: Lester Russell, Stanley Madden and Gordon Applewhite. We missed you fellows.

Our patrol leaders and assistants met after the troop meeting and listened to a talk on the responsibilities of our office. We voted to join in with the leaders of the other troops on a patrol leaders council to meet once a month to discuss Scout work. This should enable us to be of more service to our troops.

"This is the end of my tail," said the cat, as it stood with its back to the on coming lawn mower.

TROOP THREE NEWS.

We only had eight scouts out at the meeting Monday night. Probably the reason for this is the fact that we have been holding the meetings on Tuesday evenings but since Rev. Mow is holding revival meetings on that evening we have decided on Monday evening until the revival is over.

You haven't lost your pep have you fellows? You'd better not because we want to live up to what our scoutmaster thinks of us. We had a very successful meeting and after that learned a new game.

In the near future we are to be given another talk on First Aid by Dr. Moon. We all need this badly. Have any questions ready which you want answered—these to concern first aid.

Troop Three is very much in favor of making the new camping grounds, which the Kiwanis Club purchased for the Scouts, a complete success, and will do our share toward improving it and show the Kiwanis club that we appreciate what they have done for us.

Knowing that the Rotary Club is doing a great work for the boys we also want to extend our thanks to them for what they have already done and for what we are certain that they will continue to do for us.

We feel that we are greatly indebted to all the civic clubs and are proud to say that they are all working to ward the same goal—the betterment of our "home town."

Instead of a joke this time we are going to use this space to say hello to the troops "in the making" of the South Six 2, and the Presbyterian churches. The Third Troop extends a hearty welcome to you.

BIG CHIEF'S SCOUTISM.
Talk may be cheap but it often proves expensive in the end.

The modern test of will power is to work cross-word puzzles or let them alone.

One of the most comfortable places to live is just inside your income.

All hard boiled eggs are yellow inside.

First Scout Law—A scout is Trustworthy.
A Scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task, when trusted on his honor, he may be directed to hand over his scout badge.

AN EASY THRIFT.
(By Everett McCutchan of Franklin High School, Portland.)

What is a word of six letters beginning with "T" which spells happiness and independence in old age? This is indeed a real cross-word puzzle, one which has been bothering the world for centuries and only lately seems to be near solution.

The first letter of this word is "T" which stands for thoughtfulness. No person can have a complete and well ordered life unless he employs thought in his spending, saving and investing. Thoughtfulness for one's children, and the years of later life is also wise. Who wants to be dependent after passing the years of production?

"H" is the second letter of this cross-word puzzle and is a good start for the word happiness. Careful saving and investment give one independence. It relieves one of the burden of financial worries and cares, and singles one out above the common mass as a leader in business.

Following the letter "H" is "R" which stands for the word reasonable. In order to be successful, one should be reasonable in what he spends, and for what he spends it. Too many movies and too much candy make high doctor bills and act as a lead ball on the man climbing to success. As I would say, "For the love of Mike, be reasonable."

The letter "I" might stand for anything. It might stand alone as a sentinel, reminding us to practice what we preach. It could on the other hand stand for interest, independence on income. Perhaps the last is best, and fits our puzzle the right way. Any one can save, but anyone cannot save the right amount of his income. If the new boy saves $1 a week, it is fine, but if his father saves only $1 a week, it is not so fine. Why not combine income with investment and get interest or insurance.

The next word is not so difficult. "F" stands for family. Every man should save for his family and if he has no family, he should save in hopes that he will have one.

"T" was a good beginning and makes a good ending only now it has changed its meaning and becomes the word "T" which stands for family. Every man should save for his family and if he has no family, he should save in hopes that he will have one.

"T" was a good beginning and makes a good ending only now it has changed its meaning and becomes the word "T" which stands for family. Every man should save for his family and if he has no family, he should save in hopes that he will have one.

Some unknown poet has written words to a song, which portrays the real meaning of the word thrift (you may make your own tune.)

THE PATROL AT WORK.

The dividing of the boys into permanent groups, or patrols, of from six to eight and treating them as separate units, each under its responsible leader, is the key to success with a troop.

The patrol is the unit of scouting whether for work or for play, for discipline or for duty.

An invaluable step in character-training is to put responsibility on to the individual. This is immediately gained in appointing a patrol leader to responsible command of his patrol. — Baden-Powell.

VISITORS NIGHTS.

Do you in your troop have a regular monthly visitors' night? If you have not by all means try it. Once tried it will become a pleasant part of your program. By visitors we mean your parents, guardians, aunts, uncles, grand-parents, school teachers, your family doctor, your friends of your own age, your butcher, your grocer and don't forget the city officials as well as the county officials. Can you pick a crowd from that list?

NEW CONTEST RECORDS

Knot tying, 15 2-5 seconds, made by Scout Minor Waters, Senior Patrol Leader, Santa Rosa, California.

Fire by friction, Eagle Scout Dudley Smith, Troop One, Kansas City, Mo., 7 1-5 seconds (beating his own record of 8 1-5 seconds).

Fire by flint and steel, 2 4-5 seconds by Scout John Whipple, Troop 61, Newark, N. J.

SUMMER CAMP.

If you will observe closely in looking through some of the popular magazines, you will see the advertisements of a great number of summer camps. Do you have any idea what these camps cost those attending? Well the most of them run from $100 per month up. Of course they are good camps and in some cases have things very elaborate—swimming tanks, tennis courts, tennis court, baseball diamonds, horse back riding and private tutors. I wonder would we, way out here on the west coast, where we claim to have the prettiest scenery in the world, be willing to admit that they can have camp sites as good as ours. Do you think that the boys in those camps can wander outside of the most of the camp grounds and find real honest to goodness country such as ours? Out here where we have the wonderful wild and alive country that we have, do we need to have swimming tanks, tennis courts, etc. in our camp? Now compare the prices of your camp and theirs. Let us not knock their camps back east—boost them—and BOOST ours too. You and me.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN REQUIREMENTS.

EXPERT RIFLE SHOTS USE BULLETS INSTEAD OF BUSH FOR HIS WORK OF ART.

One of the very best things that "Ad" Topperwein does in his daily shooting exhibition is the drawing of heads of people who are in the public eye, drawing them on a sheet of tin with rifle bullets instead of tin with the brush on canvas.

The heads that most people and gun clubs ask for, are Uncle Sam and the Indian Chief. Mutt is not as popular now as he was several years ago. It takes about 155 bullets to work out the head of the Indian and about 350 to make the profile of Uncle Sam. Topperwein turns them out so quick that it is unbelievable. He shoots the Indian head in less than three minutes and Uncle Sam in four. The guns are loaded by an assistant.

The likeness is cut out on a piece of sheet tin about two by four feet, set out in front of the audience, and Topperwein sits on the ground about 20 feet from his tin canvas and puts in the bullet was a .22 Winchester automatic. While this is a remarkable bit of work, it isn't the only kind of shooting he does. He is a remarkable shot. The exhibition will be worth the time of everyone in this vicinity to watch. It will begin at 8:30 in the afternoon and is free.
