MURDERER CONFESSES AFTER 4 YEARS SILENCE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Apr. 8.—Dick Purser, a Canadian who is part Indian, has confessed he killed Chris Jordon in June, 1921, unravelling a four-year mystery, Sheriff Chase announced here today.

Purser is held in the Jefferson county jail. He told Sheriff Chase that Jordan attacked him with a pistol on Whiskey Spit, near Port Ludlow, and that he struck him with a club. He said that Jordan had caught him killing a deer out of season on the spit and that they divided the animal. Later they drank heavily. Purser confessed and then quarreled and fought.

TRANSMISSION OF PICTURES BY WIRE ON BUSINESS BASIS

Coast-to-coast service on a commercial basis of the new method of transmitting pictures over telephone wires, devised by engineers of the American Telephone & Telegraph company and the Western Electric company, has now been established. Thus another age-old dream is realized.

The new service involves two-way transmission from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean and joins up New York, Chicago and San Francisco. It takes only about three-hundredths of a second for the electrical waves to reach San Francisco after they are applied to the circuit at New York. Therefore, the time required for transmission of a complete picture is that required by the sending and receiving machines to trace over the picture point by point—about seven minutes. The time consumed in the photographic process at each end is aproximately three-quarters of an hour.

Thus, a photograph, drawing, handwriting exhibit, finger-print or other graphical record for transmittal to San Francisco could be filed in New York at 8 a. m. and an hour later, or at 6 a. m., Pacific coast time, be available for use in the San Francisco newspapers.

The first public demonstration of sending pictures over telephone wires were made on May 19, 1924 between Cleveland and New York. Their practicability for newspaper work was demonstrated at the time of the Republican National Convention and also at the Democratic National Convention, when pictures were transmitted from New York to Chicago. During the inauguration of President Coolidge, pictures were transmitted to New York, Chicago and San Francisco by an improved process which results in pictures which differ only slightly from direct photographic prints.

Th new serivce is expected to be of great value to newspapers in the quick reproduction of news events, to the police in catching criminals, to banks in verification of signatures, and to mercantile establishments generally. Since the first exhibition last year the public has been eagerly awaiting the time when the service would be placed on a commercial basis.

DECREE OF SALE HANDED DOWN IN GLENBROOK CASE

Litigation, involving the Glenbrook Farms corporation, extending over a long period of years, has finally resulted in a decree directing the sale of the property to satisfy the trust mortgage foreclosed by Fred E. Verry and others.

The amount for which the foreclosure was made aggregates $69,922.56, and the order of sale directs payment of this amount to the plaintiffs. The Glenbrook farms have been involved in court action for a number of years, and a great many technicalities entered into the action.

The property was allowed to go delinquent, and parcels were sold on sheriff's deed, but the trustee Fred Verry, represented by attorneys Rice and Orcutt of this city, secured a rehearing before the lapse of a year's time, as provided by law, and obtained a right to pay the delinquent tax, and then foreclosed the trust mortgage, the coupons of which he claimed to have paid.

It is expected that the decree granted by Judge Hamilton, and the forthcoming sale of the property will result in the settlement of the long pending court actions and free the property from the handicap which have prevented proper operation of the farms in the past few years.

Positive Proof That Woman Had Been Poor

She looked rich and acted rich, because she had married a rich man, yet at least one woman at the tea party, says a writer in the New York Times, discovered that she had once been poor. "Take it from me," she said, "there was a time, not so very long ago, when she was as poor as the rest of us."

"How did you discover that?" inquired her neighbor.

"Because she knew where I keep all my housekeeping things. She knew that the tea caddy was in the writing desk, that the cheese biscuits and other edibles beloved of mice were in that box under the sofa, that the alcohol for my stove was in the corner behind the washstand, that the butter and milk were on the window ledge and that the eggs and other foods were in a box on the bottom shelf of the wardrobe. When we were cooking she went straight to the spot and got every one of those things without asking once where they were, which is something that a person who has not kept house in one room could never have done."

When Barrett Wendell Was Roused to Anger

For all his scholarly dignity, Barrett Wendell, Harvard professor, now and then lost his temper and especially at football games. In his biography, M. A. DeWolfe Howes recalls an occasion when Doctor Wendell and his daughter were greatly annoyed by an excited fan directly in front of them, who kept leaping up and cutting off their view.

When protests proved of no avail, Wendell upraised his professorial cane and brought it crashing down on the man's head, breaking his hat.

A roar of laughter went up from the delighted students who witnessed the incident, increasing when the man turned around and shouted furiously:

"Who did that?"

"I did," replied Wendell calmly. "Come out and I'll buy you a new hat."

They exchanged cards and were gone from the game long enough to make the necessary purchase.

Sewing Machine Inventor

The father of the modern sewing machine was Elias Howe, who died in 1867. The patent for his first machine was taken out in 1846, and its principles still form the basis of most modern ones. Howe came from Massachusetts, and earned his living in a factory for making cotton machinery; but the honor of inventing the first sewing machine is not entirely American, since various clumsy machines for sewing leather and stuff had been evolved previously in England and in France. Howe visited England, but only managed to sell his patents for a bagatelle of $1,250. The descendants of his machine can do anything from button-holing and darning to the finest embroidery.

Value of Self-Control

Self-control is self-direction, as well as self-restraint. The engineer controls his engine, not simply by preventing it from running off the track or from colliding with an obstruction. It is rather by making it do the work for which it was constructed and intended—in pulling the train and getting somewhere—that he establishes his reputation as an efficient engineer. Once give the boys and girls this positive side of the matter of self-control and you set them on the path of development, of operation and a large measure of success. Do not be a prohibitive teacher.—Education.

Women as Inventors

American women have patented nearly 1,400 devices. Women have patented contraptions all the way from hooks-and-eyes to artificial eye-lashes, including road-building equipment and intricate machinery. When Howe was trying to invent the sewing machine he reached the point of where he was stumped. His wife, tiring of having him sitting around glowering, shoved him aside, sat down before the machine, gave it a few whirls, and said: "Put the thread eyelet in the other end of the needle down by the point." That solved the problem.

That Boston Joke

A number of boys were playing baseball in a vacant lot in Boston, when the ball crashed through the window of an adjacent house. The wrathful householder stormed out in pursuit of the guilty ones. He managed to capture one spectacled, slow-footed youth:

"I didn't do it, mister! I wasn't playing with them," the lad panted.

"Then what did you run for?" roared the injured man.

"I—I'm afraid that I was a victim of the prevailing mob hysteria, sir."—Country Gentleman.

Leaf That Will Hide a Man

The ape-man plant is a giant growth which once grew all over the world, but now it is found only on the volcanic slopes of Hawaii, where it grows in great profusion. It covered the entire earth millions of years ago, when gigantic animals roamed over the surface. The best specimens at present are found on the sides of Haleakala, in a gulch, where the conditions resemble those of a hothouse. A fully developed leaf of this plant is sufficient to hide a full-grown human standing behind it.

LIVES UP CLAIMS IN ADVERTISING

"Truthful advertising has been one of Buick's greatest helps in achieving its wonderful popularity and leadership. Motorists have learned by long experience that any claim that Buick makes in its advertising is backed up by fact," said O. C. Baker today.

"For instance, when the claim is made that Buick is the leader in the automobile industry there is definite proof to back up the claim. For seven consecutive years Buick has been awarded first choice of space at the National Automobile Shows, an award based on the greatest volume of business done during the preceding year. Buick's claim to leadership has never rested on temporary supremacy in some one locality.

"The statement, 'When better automobiles are built, Buick will build them,' is amply backed up by fact. Buick's staff of engineers is the largest employed by any single automobile manufacturer. Many of these engineers have been with Buick from the beginning. There is nothing in the way of engineering and its relation to the designing of automobiles that they do not know.

"They have never claimed to have discovered a 'revolutionary change in automobile design, but Buick dependability, power, comfort, speed, long life, smoothness in operation, ease in handling, and beauty speak for themselves.

"In no other car will you find those mechanical features that are to be found in the Buick, and you may rest assured that if there were any worth-while features that would really improve the Buick and make it a still more valuable and satisfactory car for the Buick owner, Buick would be using them."
