

$2 Double Boiler 98c

On Special Sale for Friday and Saturday

THIS SPLENDID PIECE OF KITCHEN WARE IS ONE OF OUR BEST BARGAINS. SEE THEM.

The handles are well riveted on these fine Aluminum Utensils, and the amount of wear in these boilers will surprise you.

98c—Two Days—98c

Churchill Hardware Co. Winchester Store

Your Doors and Windows

MAKE YOUR HOME

We make your doors and windows to suit you, either stock or odd, from kiln dried material and properly manufactured.

MADE RIGHT PRICED RIGHT Let Us Give You an Estimate.

Roseburg Lumber & Mfg. Co.

WE CAN TRAIN YOU

A Secretarial, Bookkeeping, or Stenographic course in our school will prepare you for a good position.

It's a Good School The Rates Reasonable

Our school will continue in session all thru the Summer months. Ask for our free catalog.

EUGENE BUSINESS COLLEGE Phone 666 992 Willamette St. Eugene, Oregon

LAMPOON EDITORS TO FIGHT BAN ON CURRENT NUMBER

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 18.—The editors of the Harvard Lampoon, college humorous publication whose current issue, known as "The Literary Digest" number, was suppressed yesterday by order of the Boston and Cambridge police, plan to take legal action.

In a statement today, the editorial board said its attorneys had advised that the Lampoon did not violate the law. The grounds upon which the issue was suppressed, were the cover design, a burlesque of the well known picture of Washington crossing the Delaware and a picture of a nude woman, based on one of Manet's paintings in the Louvre.

It is reported that the issue will be placed on sale again and a test case forced in that way.

It makes you hungry to think of it. Why a substitute? Get the genuine GRIMM BROS. MILK BREAD. Phone 133.

COPCO EMPLOYEES TO WEAR BADGES

For the purpose of protecting the public from unscrupulous strangers who pose as representatives of the Copco company, and who seek to gain admission to the home under false pretenses, members of the Copco organization will hereafter be identified by a distinctive badge. These badges are of round design, made of nickel and may easily be identified by the well known Copco keystone emblem which is displayed in a prominent position. They will be worn by all metermen, "trouble shooters," repair men and others who may have occasion to gain access to the customer's premises on legitimate business. Two or three cases of petty pilfering have been noted as a result of admitting "so-called" repair men to the home, although cases of this kind are not nearly so common in this locality as they are in the larger cities.

To assist the power company in obtaining the best results from these protective measures, customers should deny admission to any and all strangers unless properly identified.—Morgan Tribune.

Lawnmowers at Power's

OREGON GUARD HEADS TO SELECT MEDFORD CAMP

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) MEDFORD, Ore., April 18.—Major C. A. Baker, lieutenant H. W. Smith and K. D. Inhof of Portland are in Medford to select an artillery camp to be used at the state encampment of the Oregon National Guard here June 12 to 26. The use of the big guns will require a four mile range, and according to report, a section in the Rocky Anne district, east of the city, will be used.

Before you contract for your next winter's wood, get our summer prices on all grades of fuel.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church.—Corner Oak and Kane streets. — April 19th, mass and sermon at 8 o'clock; Catechism class at 3:45, also on Friday at 4:30. High mass and sermon at 10:30. Rosary and Benediction of the M. B. S. in the evening at 7:30.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

312 E. Douglas St. Regular services are held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. This meeting includes testimonies of healing. Sunday school convenes each Sunday morning at 9:45. All ages from 4 to 29 years may be admitted. The reading room in front of the church is open daily except Sundays and holidays from 2 to 4 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend. The subject of the lesson will be: "Doctrine of Atonement."

For Spring Home Cleaning—

Make those walls clean and bright by using Alabastine. See our color card with instructions for applying. Lloyd Crocker.

A BRIDE'S DIARY

A Love Story of Today By Idah McGlone Gibson

A MODERN MAID.

SYNOPSIS Cleo Madison, an entertaining few friends. They were extremely modern in their attitude toward the conventionalities. So much so that Cleo thought it would be fun to read them quotations from her grandmother's diary. They were all thrilled at the idea.

Cleo's grandmother's diary was so quaint, so modest that these modern day girls were thunderstruck. Presently they left. Then, alone, Cleo thought of her elopement with Paul Winthrop, which was planned for the immediate future. She read another passage of the modest, old fashioned diary. It pricked her conscience. For, though engaged to Paul, she, only the night before, engaged the kisses of Cleo Adams. Then Cleo wondered whether her grandmother had missed anything.

Cleo's parents were formerly rich. Now they were social climbers. So were Paul's. He had just graduated from West Point and assigned to San Antonio. Both sets of parents looked the match for identical reasons. Each wanted their child to marry money. So Cleo and Paul planned to elope, if necessary. Connie Terhune, wealthy, wanted to marry Paul.

A GAY PARTY

Cleo's mother charged her with permitting Chick Adams to kiss her. Cleo admitted, but insisted it was not improper even though engaged to Paul. A quarrel ensued. Then Paul arrived and with Cleo hastened to a party at Connie Terhune's. All were drinking. The affair was lively. Chick Adams drew Cleo aside, protesting that she should have come with him.

"No, I didn't ask you to let me call for you, Cleo," Chick Adams answered, "but I took it for granted that you understood. Your mother told me the other day when I dropped into the house and you were not there, that you were out buying a new frock to wear when you went with me to Connie's party."

I laughed. "Moral—never trust mothers if you had stopped to think about it, Chick, you would have asked me. You know Paul was coming home and you know I never go anywhere with anyone when Paul is here."

"Do you intend to marry him now that he has his commission?" he asked, bluntly.

"Yes, I wish as soon as possible to marry you, Chick."

"Well, I wish you luck, Cleo, but I'm afraid you will find a Looie's pay rather small to live on."

"That's not your lookout, my dear. If I had been marrying for money I expect, I would be marrying you, Chick."

"I wish to heaven you would marry me for money or anything else."

That rather touched me. "Poor old Chick," I said, and I put my hands on his arm.

"Cleo, don't you know that you should marry me," he said, unsteadily. "Paul will always be poor and you need money to make you happy. Let me give it to you."

Paul came up just then and carried me away for a dance. I was perfectly happy as I floated away in Paul's arms. "Soon we will be dancing through life together, darling," I murmured as I placed my cheek close to his.

Instead of answering, Paul asked: "What was that sheek saying to you, Cleo?"

"Oh, he was just asking me to elope with you and marry him."

"Let's get out of here, I can't breathe," he whispered thickly.

"We can't do that, you jealous beast," I smiled with my mouth close to his ear. "I should think you would be proud to have other men tell me they love me. It's only if I should tell them that I love them, that would count."

"I know it, darling, but you see I'm miserably poor and I heard Chick say just as I came up: 'You need money, Cleo, to make you happy. Let me give it to you.'"

"Yes, curious one, he said that. You see, I had just told him that I was going to marry you and he was trying a line of selling talk on me hoping I would leave you on the counter and buy his wares."

"Don't be worried, Paul. I've not had time to tell you before, but I told mother today that I would marry you before you went back to the Post, with or without her consent and dad's."

"You darling. What did she say?"

"She dared me to do it, and you know me. It's as good as done."

"Brave girl," he murmured tenderly.

"Brave nothing. I'm scared to death. I am not sure that we can make a go of it. Everybody else is thinking we can't. But whatever anyone thinks, I know one thing, Paul, I want you and I feel now that I can not live without you. I may feel differently some time, but now, forever, my life would be a howling wilderness without you."

"Darling," whispered Paul, as the music stopped and Connie called to us to come and get another highball.

I didn't drink anything. Paul's presence peeped me up enough. I was drunk with love and I did not want to dim my rosy dreams and muddle my brain with bad liquor.

After Paul had been toasted and welcomed home again, he led me out into the hall and we sat down on the stairs. I could see that Paul was feeling his drinks.

But I thought he was sober enough for me to outline our attack on our respective families.

"You must tell your mother and father tomorrow, dear, that we are going to get married. If your mother cuts up a hallaballoo about it, just say: 'All right! I just wanted to know how you felt about it,' and drop the subject."

"I know, of course, that my mother will never consent, so we'll just go along as though nothing is going to happen until your name is nearly up and then 'I'll just get a license and get married, tell the folks and enjoy the fireworks.'"

"Cleo, are you sure I can make you happy?" Paul said. "I'm not as clever as you are. We'll always be poor. I'm not smart enough to make a living outside the army. Cleo, I sometimes think that perhaps it would be better for you if you would marry Chick."

With liquor and love, poor old Paul was about weeping, and I knew it was time to get him home.

Tomorrow: The Morning After.

get her, darling," I murmured as I placed my cheek close to his.

Instead of answering, Paul asked: "What was that sheek saying to you, Cleo?"

"Oh, he was just asking me to elope with you and marry him."

"Let's get out of here, I can't breathe," he whispered thickly.

"We can't do that, you jealous beast," I smiled with my mouth close to his ear. "I should think you would be proud to have other men tell me they love me. It's only if I should tell them that I love them, that would count."

"I know it, darling, but you see I'm miserably poor and I heard Chick say just as I came up: 'You need money, Cleo, to make you happy. Let me give it to you.'"

"Yes, curious one, he said that. You see, I had just told him that I was going to marry you and he was trying a line of selling talk on me hoping I would leave you on the counter and buy his wares."

"Don't be worried, Paul. I've not had time to tell you before, but I told mother today that I would marry you before you went back to the Post, with or without her consent and dad's."

"You darling. What did she say?"

"She dared me to do it, and you know me. It's as good as done."

"Brave girl," he murmured tenderly.

"Brave nothing. I'm scared to death. I am not sure that we can make a go of it. Everybody else is thinking we can't. But whatever anyone thinks, I know one thing, Paul, I want you and I feel now that I can not live without you. I may feel differently some time, but now, forever, my life would be a howling wilderness without you."

"Darling," whispered Paul, as the music stopped and Connie called to us to come and get another highball.

I didn't drink anything. Paul's presence peeped me up enough. I was drunk with love and I did not want to dim my rosy dreams and muddle my brain with bad liquor.

After Paul had been toasted and welcomed home again, he led me out into the hall and we sat down on the stairs. I could see that Paul was feeling his drinks.

But I thought he was sober enough for me to outline our attack on our respective families.

"You must tell your mother and father tomorrow, dear, that we are going to get married. If your mother cuts up a hallaballoo about it, just say: 'All right! I just wanted to know how you felt about it,' and drop the subject."

"I know, of course, that my mother will never consent, so we'll just go along as though nothing is going to happen until your name is nearly up and then 'I'll just get a license and get married, tell the folks and enjoy the fireworks.'"

"Cleo, are you sure I can make you happy?" Paul said. "I'm not as clever as you are. We'll always be poor. I'm not smart enough to make a living outside the army. Cleo, I sometimes think that perhaps it would be better for you if you would marry Chick."

With liquor and love, poor old Paul was about weeping, and I knew it was time to get him home.

Tomorrow: The Morning After.

NIGERIAN NATIVES SWARM INTO KANO TO GREET PRINCE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) KANO, Nigeria, April 18.—Crowds of natives poured into Kano all night long to get a view of the Prince of Wales who arrived here yesterday. The newcomers displaying great enthusiasm, blowing horns and making so much noise that sleep was impossible.

The scene from the building tops this morning was amazing, great streams of plodding natives, stretching for miles in all directions, converging on Kano like swarms of ants.

The Emirs have already congratulated the Durbar (formal reception to native princes.) Most of them traveled hundreds of miles, accompanied by hosts of retainers and there were many deaths among the parties owing to the intense heat and jungle accidents.

All the Emirs are attired in new and costly garments, acquired especially for their interview with the Royal traveler.

Despite the long train journey and his exertions at tennis, Wales attended a dance after dinner last evening.

Kano's white population is only 350, but 5000 were present at the dance, visitors having come from all parts of the northern provinces. Nineteen of the 35 women present had traveled great distances to welcome the Prince of Wales.

NOTICE

I, James W. Hunter, hereby give notice of my intention to make soldier's claim proof, to establish my claim to the land described as follows: S21, S.W.1/4, section 27, township 20 S., Range 7 West, Willamette meridian, containing 40 acres.

PACIFIC COAST MEN DETAILED TO ARCTIC

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, April 18.—Lieutenant A. M. Schur, of Portland, Ore., and chief boatswain Earl Eber, of San Diego, Calif., were selected by the navy department today to accompany Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd of Winchester, Pa., on the McMillan Arctic exploration expedition this summer.

TILLER HOTEL OPEN

The Tiller hotel, which has been closed for the greater part of the winter, has just recently been opened by Isadore Rondeau, where first-class meals and sleeping accommodations can be had. Mr. Rondeau has had charge of the place about a month and is in a position to give excellent service to the public.

DOESN'T LOVE HER HUSBY, SO CHERN'T LOVE HIS ALIMONY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, April 18.—Peggy Allenby, actress, who has been granted a divorce from Robert Armstrong, actor, said today she would not love her alimony. "I don't care any," she added, "because I don't need any. I have an independent income and I earn my own living."

"I think some women have an awful nerve to cease loving a man, but go right on loving his money."

They talk about the different kinds of holdups and swindles, but what could be more outrageous than divorcing a man and then taking his money, especially where there are no children."

You should change your spark plugs every 6000 miles. Get a new set now at the Terminal Garage.

KLAMATH TO GET INDIAN HOSPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Plans for construction of three new Indian hospitals and an addition to a fourth was announced today by the interior department. They will be built under supervision of the bureau of Indian affairs during the next fiscal year on the reservations at Klamath, Oregon, Fort Peck, Mont.; Pyramid Lake, Nev., and Fort Lapwai, Idaho.

The Klamath reservation will have a forty-bed general hospital to cost $25,000; Fort Peck a 24-bed general institution costing $20,000; Pyramid Lake new hospital and rehabilitation of an existing one, and Fort Lapwai will get an additional structure to care for fifty patients.

An appropriation of $39,000 is available for the Pyramid Lake enlargements, but the Indian bureau does not contemplate starting erection of the new building until the present hospital has been thoroughly remodeled.

REVISED RATES FOR LIVESTOCK

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, April 18.—The rates on livestock moving to North Pacific ports from Oregon and Idaho producing territory should be revised, the interstate commerce commission was told today by examiners who have completed an investigation.

A distance scale of rates by which the cost of moving a carload of cattle 100 miles, would be $52 ranging up to a charge of $158.50 for a carload moving a thousand miles, was recommended as a reasonable basis for new schedules.

Double deck carloads of sheep, hogs or calves should be charged at 125 per cent of the cattle rate, the recommendations said, and the rates to Seattle and Tacoma should be determined by adding to the Portland scale differentials which now exist.

The examiners said the scale should be established tentatively and be given the right to ask further adjustments in case the general investigation, now pending by the commission, into the level of all freight rates should make a change advisable.

PETTY THIEF AND PEEPING TOM IS BUSY IN ROSEBURG

Two nights ago, when the Roseburg public library was visited by an unknown burglar, the Catholic church was also entered, the prowler using a pass-key to gain admittance at the rear door. The locks on the library and church were forced open, and from the latter the thief secured an insignificant sum of money—probably about 25 cents—but took nothing else. Officers are working on the theory that the burglar may be the same crook who was reported several days ago to be robbing churches and schools in Willamette valley cities, and who more recently may have been guilty of several acts of petty thievery in Roseburg. Coupled with such acts have been reported from a number of local homes that a "Peeping Tom" is causing considerable annoyance, and the officers consider it probable that this obnoxious individual is also the one who has been doing the stealing.

Before ordering your engraved graduation announcements, call at the News-Review office and see the new line just received.

AIRPLANE STARTS WEST WITH POSTAGE STAMPS.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, April 17.—A special air mail service plane, carrying 3,500,000 of the new half-cent Nathan Hale stamps to special postmasters at Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland, will leave Bolling Field here tomorrow morning. The western postmasters did not receive an adequate supply of the stamps before the new third-class postage rates went into effect Wednesday and the post office department immediately pressed the air mail plane into service to rush the supply. Another plane will leave on Monday morning for Western cities carrying another large consignment of the stamps.

CALL FOR WARRANTS

All warrants of Union High School No. 5 up to and including warrant No. 289, dated Feb. 15, 1922 and indorsed not paid for want of funds, are this day called. Interest ceases after this date. Dated at Willbur, Ore., April 20, 1925.

R. E. BROWN, Clerk.

FLU INVADERS BEND

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) BEND, Ore., April 17.—Two deaths last night from influenza and pneumonia bring the total number of deaths from flu and complications in Bend to four during the present epidemic. Thomas Edward Moran of Spokane, who has been employed at Odell Lake, was the fourth victim. The two men who died last night were each 21 years of age.

Dillard Offers Challenge

The Dillard baseball team offers a challenge to any team in the county to a game any Sunday. Roy Campbell, Mgr. Dillard, Ore.

U. S. VS. STEEL CO.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—Suit for the recovery by the government of from $11,000,000 to $15,000,000 from the Bethlehem Steel interests for alleged overpayments for war construction work was entered today in the United States district court.

Safe storage, day, nights or monthly at the Terminal Garage. Attractive rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

DR. M. H. PLYLER—Chiropractic physician, 126 W. Lane St.

43.8 Miles on Gal. of Gas

Standard Thermomatic Carburetor Control on your Ford car. The Thermomatic Carburetor Control is a new invention which will save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas. It is a simple device which can be installed on any Ford car. It is guaranteed to save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas. It is a simple device which can be installed on any Ford car. It is guaranteed to save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas.

BEYOND THE THERMOMATIC CARBURETOR CONTROL

My Improved Carburetor Control. Guaranteed Trial Offer. THERMOMATIC DIST. CO. ROSEBURG, ORE.

Safe storage, day, nights or monthly at the Terminal Garage. Attractive rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

DR. M. H. PLYLER—Chiropractic physician, 126 W. Lane St.

43.8 Miles on Gal. of Gas

Standard Thermomatic Carburetor Control on your Ford car. The Thermomatic Carburetor Control is a new invention which will save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas. It is a simple device which can be installed on any Ford car. It is guaranteed to save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas. It is a simple device which can be installed on any Ford car. It is guaranteed to save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas.

BEYOND THE THERMOMATIC CARBURETOR CONTROL

My Improved Carburetor Control. Guaranteed Trial Offer. THERMOMATIC DIST. CO. ROSEBURG, ORE.

Safe storage, day, nights or monthly at the Terminal Garage. Attractive rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

DR. M. H. PLYLER—Chiropractic physician, 126 W. Lane St.

43.8 Miles on Gal. of Gas

Standard Thermomatic Carburetor Control on your Ford car. The Thermomatic Carburetor Control is a new invention which will save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas. It is a simple device which can be installed on any Ford car. It is guaranteed to save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas. It is a simple device which can be installed on any Ford car. It is guaranteed to save you 43.8 miles on a gallon of gas.

BEYOND THE THERMOMATIC CARBURETOR CONTROL

My Improved Carburetor Control. Guaranteed Trial Offer. THERMOMATIC DIST. CO. ROSEBURG, ORE.

Safe storage, day, nights or monthly at the Terminal Garage. Attractive rates.

TUBBY

Wise Dog.

By WINNER

DOGGOJAWA COME BACK HERE WITH MY CAP

HERE'S ANOTHER PENNY FOR HIM, DEAR

WANTED

FOR SALE—Registered Percheron Stallion, $125 if taken at once. Phone 475. G. D. McLean, Roseburg, Ore., Rt. 2, Box 79.

WANTED

WANTED—To buy one or more Mallard ducks. A. L. Houghtaling, Bridge, Ore.

WANTED

WANTED—Man to cut 4-foot fir wood, good timber. A. F. Stearns, Oakland, Ore.

WANTED

WANTED—Furnished house by adults. By May 26th. P. O. Box 3, Roseburg, Ore.

WANTED

WANTED—Painting, paperhanging, kalsomining. Reasonable. Estimates free. John Westerman, Box 91 Dillard, Oregon.

WANTED

GARAGE location wanted. Good location about 75 by 100 near business center. Will lease and put up bond if you will build to suit. Write to Box 126, Enumac, Wash.

WANTED

WANTED—Houses to rent. I have a dozen calls a day for houses to rent; if you have a house to rent, let it with me. H. G. Wilson, 54 N. Jackson, St. Phone 223 and 70-J.

WANTED

WANTED—Lady to cook in camp located on main traveled state highway. Must have had camp experience and good references. Camp located in Roseburg. 2 other ladies in building. 15 men to cook for. A. L. Houghtaling, Bridge, Ore. Rock Creek Toll Station phone.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Furnished apartment. Call at 246 North Rose St.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Furnished house, 811 Miller St. or 441 Mill.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Two small house-keeping rooms at 242 So. Rose St.

FOR RENT