ROSEBURG, OREGON, SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1925

ECONOMIC EFFECT OF FASHIONS

President Coolidge told the cotton mill men that he had been informed that where 20 years ago, it took nearly 10 yards of gingham to make a woman's dress, now three and one-half yards is enough to conform to the fashions. This may create an economy of materials for the time being. But if the styles change so rapidly that three and one-half yards are adequate now, but nearly double that amount may be necessary in a few years, the trades that produce these materials must be much upset by this uneven demand. As long as women enjoy novelty, there will be style changes, though women who are not too much governed by them show commendable independence. But if the women would use their clothes until they really show the effect of wear, and not throw them away merely because they look behind the latest fashion plate, one considerable item of their expense could be reduced.

Predictions are made that Oregon will be confronted by a grave financial crisis if the voters deprive her of the revenue involved in two measures to be submitted to them, under the referendum law, next September. These measures provide for a tax on certain forms of tobacco and for the contribution by certain self-sustaining state departments of a certain portion of their revenues to the general fund of the state. The tobacco tax alone, it is estimated, would yield to the state somewhere around $1,000,000 annually, and this would go a long way toward meeting the expenses of government for the present biennium. Speculation has already begun on the probability of a special session of the legislature to meet a financial emergency, for the general outspoken opposition to the tobacco tax indicates that its chance of endorsement is not a safe bet.

The causes of automobile accidents are analyzed in the report of the Connecticut commissioner in charge of such traffic. He finds that the principal causes are as follows: Inattention, 4228 accidents; failure to grant right of way, 3566; skidding, 1786; driving on wrong side of road, 1169. Inattention is no excuse. People who can't keep their minds on their work ought not to be driving. Failure to grant right of way is a foolish cause, and people should much prefer to grant it if there is the least doubt. Skidding accidents, except in wet weather, would not commonly happen if people were not running too fast. Accidents sometimes occur due to fault of children and pedestrians, but otherwise they could usually be avoided, if people used their brains.

What Klamath County lacks in population, she makes up in thirst. Standing 17th among Oregon's 36 counties in population, she ranks second in the amount of fines paid for violation of the prohibition law for the 12-month period ended March 1, this year, according to figures just made public by the state prohibition department. And under the stimulus of increasing industries her population is growing rapidly. If her thirst increases accordingly—well, they need all the water they have down that way for reclamation purposes.

VEZUVIUS SPOTS WHEN RIM CAVES IN.

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
NAPLES, April 25.—After eight months of comparative rest Vesuvius is in eruption again. The volcano offers a fantastic spectacle, especially at night when incandescent lava flows from the southwest side of the crater casts a glow over the area. The most violent activity occurs periodically and is caused by the collapse of a section of the rim of the crater. Professor Malvestro, the director of the Vesuvius observatory, has given as most the crater as possible and confirmed the cause of the eruption as the collapse of the rim, which allows the lava to flow down the volcano.

MILLIONAIRE THANKFUL FOR $36 JUROR'S FEE

CHICAGO, April 25.—Harold P. McCormick, the harvester machine manufacturer, yesterday said: "Thank you for having been allowed to work for 35 days." He was given $36 for two weeks' service as a juror in juvenile court, and in addition was given a "regular fellow" by the rest of the jurors. "I am grateful to have had the chance to serve," he said, as he was given his check. "The juvenile court is one of Chicago's most helpful institutions."

DECORATORS COMPLETING WORK AT GRAND HOTEL

The lobby of the Grand Hotel, which has been undergoing extensive improvements for the past week, is now nearing completion. W. O. Glinger, proprietor of the hotel, engaged T. R. Hughes, of Eugene, to make the improvements. The woodwork and walls of the lobby have been completely gone over, a travertine stone being used as a basis for the lower part of the walls, with tiffany blinds, giving the room a very artistic appearance. The wall columns are being finished in blended polychrome, and the plate rails, dividing the upper and lower walls are being done in old ivory with a glazed finish. The front doors will be a bronze mottled color, and the column at the foot of the stairway has been done over in polychrome and mottle, blended. This finish is being used a great deal in the south, and has become more popular in the west during the past year. Mr. Hughes states that this particular combination was used in the finishing of the columns of the First National Bank at Eugene.

DUMBELL DORA THINKS Orchids grow in orchards.

Among the passengers on out-bound freights yesterday was Mister Duncan, formerly a guest at the Starmer Tavern. Mr. Duncan would not divulge his destination but merely stated that he was "leavin' for parts unknown." He regretted very much that he could not bid the local officers farewell and express his appreciation for their kind efforts in his behalf but declared that never before has he been so cordially treated. It is understood that he will return to our fair city later as he is greatly pleased with the clothing styles in this section and will hereafter do all his wardrobe selection in local stores. Owin' to a misunderstanding Mister Duncan was unable to reimburse the management of the Starmer hostelry for the crockery which he broke while hurriedly leavin' the other a. m. He intended, however, that he may purchase a complete set of double-strength cups and saucers for the tavern.

POSTSCRIPT Pardon us, Mr. Duncan, we were in error in reportin' you as outgoin' passenger on Mister Espee's gondolas. It musta been one of the other Duncans who's been reported in every section of the county durin' the past week. We're mighty glad to see that you're back with us today to stay awhile. over the Serbian and Roumanian frontiers. An Italian correspondent telegraphs that possibility of a resumption of violence is indicated, because of violence in Bulgaria. Bulgarian disturbances flamed up again in the provinces today, although earlier reports had insisted the situation was improving.

Six are dead and a number wounded as a result of several conflicts in different provincial towns, according to direct dispatches from Sofia or indirect reports in coming via other European capitals. At Plovna the city hall, library and theatre were burned; at Burgas two were killed and a number wounded in a conflict between the government troops and communists; in Varna at Grabova three communists were killed; at Varna police killed the communist leader Kasaboff after burning his house, according to those reports. Unsuccessful efforts to destroy the bridges in the region of Varna were reported.

TONIGHT'S FROST WILL BE HEAVIER IS THE FORECAST

In conformity with its past records, the month of April refuses to pass out without registering frost in this locality. And this year, following as it does, prolonged rains that forced fruits and vegetables to rapid development, it threatens to inflict serious damage. There was a light frost last night that did no serious harm so far as reported, but there will be a much heavier frost tonight, according to an announcement of Observer Bell, of the U. S. Weather Bureau, and it will undoubtedly do considerable damage if protective means are not employed.

Observer Bell states that the temperature was down to 36 degrees above zero at 5 o'clock this morning, and that it was still lower at a later hour. The forecast for Sunday is clear and warmer, with moderately dry north winds. Occasional rains are the forecast for Western Oregon the latter part of next week.

MEDFORD, Ore., April 25.—Smudging was general in the Rogue River Valley early today for the second time this season, when the mercury reached 31 in Medford and 29 on the floor of the valley. According to the County Agent C. C. Cate, the smudging was more of a precaution than fear of serious injury, and in his opinion, no material damage was suffered even by those orchardists who did not light their smudge pots. The pears are now sufficiently matured to resist a lower temperature than was the case a month ago, when the first general smudging was done.

MEDFORD TO SPEND $600,000 FOR BETTER WATER SUPPLY (Associated Press Local Wire.)
SALEM, Ore., April 25.—Representatives of the City of Medford and State Engineer Luper today entered into an agreement where Medford will be allowed to appropriate 30 second feet of water from Big Butte Creek for a municipal water supply. The cost of the project will be about $600,000. The water will be piped a distance of 35 miles. The Eagle Point reclamation project, which holds rights on Big Butte Creek, agreed to the Medford appropriation. The city requested 40 second feet, but because of prior obligations this amount could not be granted.

CONCRETE AWARD OVER ASPHALT IS BASIS OF ACTION

PORTLAND, Ore., April 25.—Suit was filed in the circuit court of Multnomah county today by Frederick M. De Neffe, Portland attorney, as a taxpayer, to enjoin the state highway commission from entering into a contract with Simonson and Hefty for the pavement with concrete of the section of the lower Columbia River highway between Astoria and Svenson.

The highway Commission yesterday accepted a bid for concrete which was $10,000 higher than the bid of the Warren Construction Company for paving the stretch with asphalt.

The complaint declares that the highway in this section has been paved, and that the commission is without authority to destroy the present pavement and repave the road. It is also set forth that the law requires contracts to be let to the lowest bidder.

LOGGING OPERATIONS TO CEASE TO BOOST PRICE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
PORTLAND, Ore., April 25.—Curtailling of logging operations in Western Oregon and Washington as a means of stabilizing the industry was tentatively agreed on at a conference here yesterday, the Portland Telegram says today. The agreement will be put into conclusive form Monday, it is added.

The reason assigned for the action is that resending lumber prices have affected log prices and that unless the demand for logs increase there will be still lower prices, says the newspaper.

According to tentative agreements of logging operators they will cease activities in June and prolong the July 4 closed period for two weeks at least. Operators attending the conference said this would also aid in minimizing the forest fire menace.

LIVESTOCK QUARANTINE TOPIC OF SALEM MEET

SALEM, Ore., April 25.—The state livestock sanitary board will confer with representatives from California and Washington relative to further modifications of the livestock quarantine existing against California livestock movements northward, due to the foot and mouth disease of a few months ago. Dr. J. P. Kerson, chief of the division of animal industry of the California department of agriculture; C. N. Hawkins, California cattleman, and Robert Prior, Washington state veterinarian, are here for the conference.

Governor Pierce would make Grass rockers at Powell's.
