RANDOLPH, Vt., May 1.—A German police dog today led three men to the barn of an abandoned farm in South Brookfield, where they found Earl Woodward, farm hand and a former convict and 11 year old Lucille Chatterton, who left her home in Granville with Woodward a week ago. Woodward was captured without resistance. The capture brought to an undramatic end, a week's search by armed posses through the wooded mountain townships in which Woodward had been a fugitive since he took the child from the home of her father, Walter Chatterton, last Friday night.

Although armed with a rifle and five cartridges left, the former convict quietly submitted to arrest. Lucille, her rescuers said, wept when they took her away and protested that she was afraid to go home. Woodward defended his action in taking her away by saying that they had been without food since yesterday morning, they said, when their supplies were seized by a posse which discovered one of their camping places. Their clothing was drenched from the heavy rains and both were suffering from chill and exposure. Woodward said he had planned to take the girl to a place in New Hampshire where she would be properly cared for. A crowd assembled about the inn when news spread that Woodward had been brought in, but there was no threat of violence.

MAN IS NEARLY KILLED BY DOG

EUGENE, Ore., May 1.—W. E. "Ted" Mays of Cottage Grove came near losing his life yesterday afternoon when he was attacked by a large alderdale dog on the upper McKenzie river, according to a story told at Springfield, where he was taken for medical attention. Mays had entered the yard of a farm home, according to the story, when the big dog leaped from a porch, biting his arm and face. Children pulled the animal from Mays. A half dozen stitches were taken in the tear on his face, and his arm was badly bruised where the animal's teeth had sunk through his coat.

Earl Sande's Mother Converted to the Lure of Racing and Cheers Her Son to Victory in Big Classic

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
NEW YORK, May 1.—When a lad named Earl Sande ran away from his home in Groton, S. D., several years ago to join a rodeo his mother decided that horse racing wasn't to be trusted. She was right. They had hired her boy out into the world and she hated them for it. But when Earl became a famous jockey, Mrs. Sande, proud of him forgave him, but she didn't forgive the horses and when Sande urged her to come East to see him ride she always said no. Last summer Earl was seriously injured in a fall at Saratoga, and Mrs. Sande was tempted to remark, "Well, I just knew it would happen some day." A week or so ago Earl rode Saratoga to victory at Havre De Grace. It was his first public appearance in the saddle since the accident. Mrs. Sande grinned a bit and when her son again urged her to make a trip East from her present home in Salem, Oregon, to see how he did it, she accepted, although she was sure she wouldn't like horse racing. On Wednesday she sat with her daughters in the stands at the Jamaica tracks. Fifteen thousand

ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SALEM, May 1.—Another attempt to assassinate King was frustrated today by officers of the guard who discovered an almost complete subterranean passage with an explosive fuse which they believed was intended to blow up the royal palace. The organ of the peasants party has published an emphatic denial that the party has been an accomplice in the recently attempted assassination. The peasants party condemns all similar criminal measures, the statement continued. According to the peasants party journal all plots such as those upon the life of King Boris are instigated by persons financed from Moscow. The Sofia police announced today that they had discovered a printing press operated secretly by communists in a dentist's office.

persons had turned out, for it was the opening day of the Metropolitan season, and Sande had two mounts. The horse was pocketed and finished far back. But that didn't bother Mrs. Sande. She was glad her Buddy didn't stub his toe. Earl was called into the Stewards box and awarded a huge silver loving cup, the gift of his friends. Mrs. Sande was pleased, but still she was far from sure about this racing business. Then they called the Pumonok, the $7,500 handicap feature of the opening day card. This time Earl was riding Worthmore.

The crowd roared as the field got away and Mrs. Sande lost sight of Earl until the horses swung into the stretch. "Come on Sande—come on Sande!" The throng urged. She jumped to her feet, jiggling and shouting too. Worthmore won. A nose victory. Mrs. Sande sank back in her chair. "Wasn't it wonderful?" she tremulously whispered to her daughter-in-law. "And isn't Worthmore a wonderful horse?"

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—E. A. Benedict of Culver City, a suburb, was arrested by deputy sheriffs early this morning on the suspicion of the murder of Mrs. Louise Untermyer, well-to-do Culver City modiste whose battered body was found near here last week. With Benedict went L. J. Bass. Bass taken into custody as a material witness. Benedict showed no surprise, officers said, and did not even ask the charge on which he was being arrested. He was held incommunicado at the county jail. Investigators who traced the man's movements since the night of the murder said that a few hours before the time Mrs. Untermyer is believed to have been beaten to death Benedict was borrowing an automobile with which to drive to Culver City and complaining that he had no money. The next day, they allege, he paid $140 to rent an apartment and exhibited a large roll of bills. The automobile, when he returned it to its owners contained what deputies interpreted as evidence of a struggle.

COL. COOLIDGE NOT VERY SICK

Coolidge, father of the president at the Massachusetts General Hospital today. A brief report signed by the examining physicians, Doctors Paul D. White and Arthur L. Chute, was issued this afternoon. Entailed in the report it was announced that a full report on the condition of Colonel Coolidge would not be available until the date of the examination had been studied. The signed statement said: "Colonel Coolidge, examined this morning at Massachusetts General Hospital, showed a slow pulse, varying from 38 to 55 per minute, result of defective circulation in the heart muscles. This condition is called heart block and is sometimes found with advancing age." Colonel Coolidge and his personal physician, Dr. Albert M. "LIFER" STABS A KLAMATH CONVICT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SALEM, Ore., May 1.—It became known here today that in an altercation at the state penitentiary about 3 weeks ago between two convicts, J. C. Burris, a convict sent up from Klamath county, was stabbed in the arm by the Brown, colored, a "lifer" from Wasco county, who was sent up for murder. Where Brown got the knife with which he stabbed Burris has not been ascertained by prison officials and Brown succeeded in hiding the weapon where it could not be found. Brown at one time since he was received at the prison was adjudged insane and he was transferred to the state hospital for the insane, but was later taken back to the state penitentiary. At the time of the row the two men were in the "dog house" a place where the prisoners congregated when they are not busy. It is understood that Burris was about to attack Brown with a chair or a club when Brown wielded the knife on him. Burris is the second Klamath county prisoner to be the victim of an attack. John Taylor, who was sent up for 29 years for his part in the holdup and murder, in which a man was killed, on the day he was received, was struck from behind and knocked down. He did not know who hit him or what he was hit with, but said his assailant was neither Slim Pate nor Pete Sullivan, two other men who were convicted with him for the holdup and murder, and both of whom were given life sentences. It is believed the assailant was some convict who felt a grudge against Taylor because he furnished evidence for the state in the trial that resulted in the conviction of himself, Pate and Sullivan.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

They are alleged to have driven to Roseburg from Corvallis, the couple being arrested upon information from that city. An investigation is being made of the case, the man in the meantime being held at the city jail, while the young lady is also in custody, although not confined to the jail.

AGED MAYOR OF SALEM, MASS., WEDS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
HAMPTON, Va., May 1.—John F. (Silk Hat John) Hurley, 80, former mayor of Salem, Mass., and his bride, formerly Mrs. Catherine A. Driscoll, 52, of Hartford, Conn., today were enjoying a honeymoon by visiting the historical spots on the Virginia peninsula. The three-times democratic mayor of Salem smiled as he displayed the poem that won his bride. His published plea "I Want a Wife" was answered by Mrs. Driscoll who said she had had newspaper experience and knew when she first read the poem that there must be merit to the man who could write it. "You're just the man I want" was her first reply to the ex-mayor's poem and after a brief correspondence she came here for the marriage.

BREWER'S WEALTH IS BEING DIVIDED

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
PORTLAND, Ore., May 1.—A $2,225,000 estate that was born in a wheelbarrow was divided among the heirs of Henry Weinhard, pioneer brewer today. The big brewery plant and the property that came from its profits were shared by the Wessinger and the Wagner families. Henry Weinhard started the core of the estate many years ago in Vancouver by performing all the duties of the manufacturing, the sales and the delivery departments of a one-man brewery. He made the beer himself. He sold the beer himself. With a wheelbarrow he delivered the beer himself. The plant, now a manufactory of soft drinks, goes to Mrs. Paul Wessinger, a daughter who gets approximately five-eighths of the estate. Wessinger for many years has been manager of the plant and of the estate. Three-eighths, totalling about $1,000,000 in value, goes to Henry Wagner, a son-in-law and his son, Henry Weinhard Wagner. Henry Wagner was the husband of Louise Weinhard-Wagner, daughter of the late brewer. She is dead.

H. G. WILSON TRIAL NOT BE POSTPONED

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
PORTLAND, Ore., May 1.—An attempt by Horace Greely Wilson, of Roseburg, former Indian agent at Klamath Falls, to obtain another postponement of his trial on a charge of violating the Mann Act, failed today when United States District Judge C. E. Wolverson announced that the trial would start May 12. Wilson had written a letter to Judge Wolverson asking for a postponement until next November, stating that he needed time to get witnesses from eastern states. Deputy United States District Attorney J. O. Stearns opposed the request, stating that two postponements had already been made and that the government was ready to proceed with the trial. Wilson's attorney, Robert F. Maguire said he would withdraw from the case inasmuch as Wilson had made the application for further delay directly to the court.

PARIS CABMEN OUT ON STRIKE BUT NO DISTURBANCES ARE REPORTED.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
PARIS, May 1.—Paris wore its customary aspect this May Day morning, except that there were no taxicabs on the streets due to the driver's 24-hour abstention from labor. The atmosphere of calm was expected to prevail throughout the day, for the authorities had taken exceptional precautions but there was an even more effective deterrent in the shape of rain, which had been falling steadily all last night and which was predicted to continue. Permits were issued by the authorities for four big meetings outside of Paris but no parades will be tolerated, either inside or outside of the city.

NEW YORK, May 1.—May Day was marked by police raids on ten meetings of the Workers' Party of America, where all members, in- cluding classes of the Workers' League and the trades union edu- cational league were driven into the street. Desks were broken open and literature confiscated.

William Z. Foster, leader of the 1919 steel strike, who was at the Manhattan headquarters of the Workers' Party when this place was raided demanded that the raiders show their search warrants for breaking into the desks and their authority for ordering those present out into the street. Foster said after the meeting that he would make formal complaint with Police Commissioner Enright. Police today are guarding all public buildings and the homes of all noted men and public officials.

ROMA, May 1.—May Day was reported to be tranquil throughout Italy as a result of mobilization of police and fascist militia in all large cities and thorough precau- tions by the authorities every- where to prevent possible at- tempts at violence.

Raids of communist headquarters and arrests of suspects continued throughout the country. HAVANA, Cuba, May 1.—An early complete paralyzation of business went into effect in Havana today, the only transportation available being the comparatively few private automobiles. Street cars, bus and taxicabs were abandoned by their drivers and employees remained away from their posts. Only one newspaper the Havana Post, an English language daily appeared. Workers held a meeting and a parade.

HOOD RIVER, Ore., May 1.— Mrs. Helen Blair of Bend, Klamath county, today drove an ox wagon to the state industrial school at Salem, and a man companion, forced Jack Cameron, of Odell, at the point of a gun to drive them to Portland this morning, he told of- ficers today. Mrs. Blair and the man appeared at the farm home of J. O. Cameron at about 11:30 last night, young Cameron said. His father was away from home and the boy finally agreed to drive them to town. Arriving in town, the boy said, he found himself facing a revolver and heard orders to drive on to Portland. He failed to notify the officers until he returned to Hood River. The car in which the couple made the get-away from Hood River on Tuesday was found yesterday afternoon near Odell.

in Ashland Church

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
MEDFORD, Ore., May 1.—A decision was reached yesterday by the Rogue River Baptist Association at its annual meeting in Ashland which according to the officers of the association, will end the long conflict between two factions of the Ashland Baptist Church in that city, in favor of the minority and against Rev. B. C. Miller, who, with a majority of the congregation, expelled the opponents of divine healing and took possession of the church property. This decision was the ratification by the association, which is the highest authoritative body of the findings of the council which placed the Miller group outside of the Baptist denomination, and the official withdrawing of the hand of fellowship from Rev. Miller, which automatically deposes him from Baptist ministry. The struggle for the property will still continue in the civil courts, but according to spokesmen for the association, unless all precedents are disregarded, this decision will conform with the action of the association. The split in the church occurred over a year ago when Rev. Miller adopted the divine healing of a Mrs. B. C. McPherson of California, and expelled members who refused to concur in this action. Mrs. J. M. Neer arrived here last night from Eugene to spend a short time visiting with friends.

Prince of Wales Drives Team of Oxen Through Streets of Capetown While University Students Parade

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, May 1.—The Prince of Wales today drove an ox wagon through the streets of Capetown accompanied by a procession of thousands of university students, singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." After this informal expedition the prince, fulfilling a scheduled program, was ceremoniously installed chancellor of the University of Capetown, a titular honor he has occupied since the inauguration of the university in 1918. Although the prince danced late last night with his untiring energy, he was out early this morning and ran into a parade and demonstration of university students, including hundreds of girls, outside government house. The parade was led by a body of comic cavalry, armed with brooms, followed by an old fashioned prairie schooner drawn by 12 oxen. The cheering students were singing a special song with the chorus, "Oh, Edward, now you're south in the land of drought, don't be down in the mouth." The prince greatly amused, entered in the spirit of the demonstration, mounted an ox wagon alone, flicked the oxen with the whip and led the procession through the city. The students sang and cheered incessantly and the prince seemed to be quite in his element. The procession ended at the city hall, where the prince was formally installed chancellor of the university. However, the festive spirit could not be entirely subdued and some GARY, Ind., May 1.—Identification of the girl whose maimed and burned body was found Sunday near Chesterton as Mrs. Josephine Desiderio 21, Gary, was believed complete today by the authorities after Mrs. Bernard Genero, her mother, and Sam Ross, a friend, were positive in recognizing her. Ross, who said he had last seen the girl Friday in an automobile with another girl and two men, was held for further questioning. He said he and the girl had resided in the same Gary hotel for two weeks since he came from New York. Mrs. Desiderio had been separated from her husband who is sought by the police. Mrs. Genero who was traced through a telephone number scrawled on the lining of a vanity case found yesterday near the place where the body was discovered was positive in the identity of the body as that of her daughter. She named Ross, who was found late last night and questioned this morning. Ross, a foreigner, minutely described the appearance and clothing of Mrs. Desiderio, the police said, his story tallying with the bits of clothing and appearance of the body. Taken to the Chesterton morgue, he repeated his statements and said the body was that of the woman he had last seen Friday. He denied any knowledge of her whereabouts since then. With the mystery of the name believed solved, authorities sought any connection between the death of the girl and the body of a man, identified as James Shea, Stockerton, Ind., railway employe, which was found yesterday on the outskirts of Gary. The man's throat had been seared and his trousers were burned and apparently he had been dead since Sunday. It was recalled that a railroad employe's card was found Sunday beside the girl. Efforts were made by the police today to develop information given by four Crown Point, Ind., pig-sows who said they saw two men carrying a struggling girl into an automobile while they were motoring last Sunday night. They attempted pursuit, they said, but lost sight of the automobile.
