WILLING TO GIVE BEST OF SERVICE
 "Until very recently when a motorist drove up to a gasoline pump, he would have to run into a garage or ring a bell in order to get the attention of the man in charge," says C. D. Flex. "Even then, he received gasoline, and that only—none of the little touches of attention which he is shown by the dealers of today. He now finds that a smiling attendant greets him, and every mark of courtesy and attention is shown him."
 The General Petroleum Corporation is very much pleased with the remarkable evolution made by the independent dealers displaying the green-and-white signs," Mr. Flex states. "The Corporation has always been very particular in the choice of its dealers, and only selected those who were capable and willing to give the best of service. As a result of our care, we have a corps of distributors who we are willing to back to the limit, and they in turn are always ready to back our products."
 "A great improvement in the neatness and general appearance of the gasoline stations may also be noticed by the motorist of today. Formerly, there was often rubbish and scrap piles nearby, and frequently the building at the station itself was unsightly. Today these conditions have changed. Dealers of General gasoline take great pride in maintaining neat-appearing stations, and attempt to make them as attractive as possible."
 "One of the foremost reasons why General dealers are able to take this keen interest in the general appearance of their stations is the fact that they realize they are permanent and can build up a good business, as the General Petroleum Corporation Corporation refuses to place another General station within competitive distance of an established station. They appreciate these efforts that we take for their protection, and as a result give the best possible service to users of General gasoline and render their service in a manner which is bound to make him a steady customer."

KIWANIS CLUB TO GIVE DANCE MAY 15 TO BENEFIT BAND
 A benefit dance for the Douglas County Concert Band will be given on May 15 by the Roseburg Kiwanis club. The club has secured the Armory for this event, and will provide an enjoyable dance. All of the proceeds from the dance will be given to the band. Tickets will be placed on sale early next week.
 The local band is badly in need of funds. The allowance granted by the city although all the city can give under its present budget, pays only about one-half the cost of the director, leaving nothing for music or incidental expense, of which there are many.
 Fraternal and civic clubs have been aiding in the support of the band, and the Kiwanis club, in addition to other aid given, is sponsoring the benefit dance, which is expected to raise a large sum of money.

DRAIN-REEDSPORT STAGE STARTS MAY 4
 J. C. Halliday of Portland, in charge of the company's business at this terminus, is here arranging for establishment of an auto stage between Reedspport and Drain, says the Port Umpqua Courier. The plan is to have the service in operation for the first time May 4.
 Until such a time as the Reedspport-Scottsburg section of the highway is in good condition for a heavy vehicle, the passengers will be taken to Scottsburg by special boat service and from there to Drain.
 The way points made by the stage line include Elkton and Scottsburg. The daily schedule for the stage is as follows: Leaves Eugene 4:10 o'clock p. m., Drain 6:20 p. m., Elkton, 7:00 p. m.; Scottsburg, 7:50 p. m.; Arrive at Reedspport, 8:50 p. m. Returning the stage leaves Reedspport at 9:00 a. m.; Scottsburg, 10:00 a. m.; Elkton, 11:00 a. m.; Drain, 12:00 noon.

A MAN'S LAW
 We blew in a week later, two days before the reception, and Paul insisted that we should go to his father's house, where all the wedding presents had been sent. It seemed that the reception was to be a kind of progressive affair. They were to meet first at my mother's house and then after supper the whole party was to go to Paul's home to dance.
 You would have thought from the way Paul's mother welcomed us that she had never cared for anyone else in the world but me. And I was amazed to see the way in which Paul managed her.
 Being a woman you know even of this day and age I had not yet become acquainted with man's law of usurpation. Although we got in just in time for dinner, Paul had wired ahead that we were coming—my husband grew restless as he saw the moon coming up over the hills at the side of the house. I knew that it made him think of the moon light nights, which had just gone before in which some of his sister radiance had seemed to get into our blood for he said immediately after dinner, "Get your things and we'll take a little motor ride."

TRIED TO EXTORT MONEY; IS CAUGHT
 (Associated Press Local Wire.)
 PORTLAND, Ore., May 1.—Ernest J. Elmgren, a tailor, arrested late yesterday as he was about to take a cache supposed to contain $2,000 confessed today that he had sent threatening letters to P. Rasmussen, local post dealer, Deputy Sheriff Pratt and Christoffersen announced.
 Elmgren was taken into custody on the Powell Valley road at a spot where Rasmussen had been directed to leave a package containing $2,000. The package, however, was made up of old papers.
 The officers said Elmgren confessed he conceived the plot to extort the money from Rasmussen after reading a series of stories in a weekly magazine. He said he was heavily in debt as a result of financial difficulties and failure to succeed in his tailor shop.
 He had known Rasmussen and made clothes for him for 15 years, he admitted. Officers said he had also admitted planning to send a threatening letter to another man, John Dalquist.
 Elmgren said he never intended to carry out the threats contained in his letter to Rasmussen.
 In a letter Rasmussen received he told that his buildings would be burned and that acid would be poured in his autos unless he complied with the directions to turn over the money.

CHANGE OF JUDGES IN DAMAGE SUIT MEETS OPPOSITION
 A statement of opposition of the motion of Otto Muetzel for a change of judges in his damage suit against deputy sheriff D. R. Shambrook and J. C. Hodges, was filed in the circuit court today by District Attorney Cordon. Muetzel some time ago brought a suit in the circuit court seeking damages from the deputy sheriff on the grounds of unlawful search and restraint. The demurrer of the defendants to the complaint was sustained and Muetzel given time in which to file an amended complaint. The plaintiff filed a motion of prejudice, the district attorney opposes the motion, claiming that it is only a subterfuge to delay action and to prolong litigation, and insisting that a fair trial is possible to all parties before Judge Hamilton.

A BRIDE'S DIARY
 A Love Story of Today
 By Idaho McGlone Gibson

SYNOPSIS
 Cleo Madison, entertaining a few friends decides to read her grandmother's diary. Grandmother's diary is so quaint, so amusing, that these modern-day girls are laughing and crying. Her diary is so full of love and happiness that she is sure to find something to interest her. Her grandmother's diary is so full of love and happiness that she is sure to find something to interest her.
 "Now what is it?" said my husband as we started off in the moonlight.
 "How did you know there was anything?" I asked in surprise.
 "Well, dear, I know I'm stupid but you should give me a few powers of observation. I have never seen such a look of whatfulness in your eyes as I saw there tonight. You sat looking first at Dad and then at mother as though they were pronouncing your doom."
 "Finally your mouth began to tremble and I thought you were going to cry. Do you know dear that I have seen you cry, but once in my life and I didn't like it. It seemed to get my solar plexus and my Adam's apple mixed up into a very messy condition."
 "So in justice to myself tonight I proposed this idea. Now, out with it; what is the trouble?"
 "It was all so strange and tragic, Paul. Of course, in my own home I have been so long with Mother and Dad that their acceptance of the conditions of life meant nothing to me. I don't think I ever thought that they were anything except what they are now—two people jogging along together with more or less friction. But tonight I could not possibly imagine that your father and mother had ever been in love as you and I are now. And yet even your mother dropped her high manner and smiled as she thought of the time she and your father stole away from the dance to be alone together on a sleigh ride."
 "Well, didn't that show that they had loved even as you and I?"
 "Yes, dear, it made me think that perhaps they might have had a semblance of our love and I think that that is perhaps what made me want to cry. Dearest it may be selfish in me, but I don't want to think that your father and mother were ever as happy as you and I are now."
 "Don't you think that that is rather hard on the old folks, Cleo? Let them have their memories of happy times."
 "I couldn't keep 'em from those memories, dear, if I wanted to, and that is just where it is so radiant. It is only memories they have now."
 "It makes me fairly desperate when I think that the time will come when all this will be only a memory to us."
 "I didn't think much about it before we were married, dear, but now, like a ghost, the idea has come creeping in to subdue my happiness. At times, as tonight, when I see your father and mother I get so mixed up about this whole marriage game that sometimes I just want to play it without thought—just as we played at 'you without thought.'"
 "I was frightened, Paul, horribly frightened, as I looked ahead at the years to come. I wanted to get you away where I could ask you, if you would always love me."

THREE MEN DIE FOR KILLING TWO
 OSSINGEN, N. Y., May 1.—Morris Diamond and Joseph Diamond, brothers, and John Farina went to the electric chair at Sing Sing prison last night for the murder in Brooklyn of two bank messengers in 1923.
 Morris, who entered the death chamber shortly after 11 o'clock was first sentenced. He made a brief statement of his innocence, asserting that he had not been given a fair trial and that he was "sorry for all" who had participated in it.
 Joseph was led into the chamber after his brother's body had been removed. He showed no signs of suffering and in a few words declared his innocence.
 Outwardly the calmest of them all, John Farina came last, smoking a cigar and approaching the chair without the slightest show of fear. He threw the cigar to the floor and began to pray as he sat down. His only message was: "I forgive everyone, and ask forgiveness in return."
 At 11:40 o'clock Farina was pronounced dead and the triple execution was over.

R. A. BOOTH HEAD OF LEGION ENDOWMENT DRIVE IN OREGON

PORTLAND, Ore., May 1.—(Special)—Robert A. Booth of Eugene, pioneer lumberman of Oregon, past district governor of Rotary and one of the best known citizens of the state has accepted the chairmanship of the state committee having in charge the American Legion Endowment Fund campaign for Oregon and the canvass for subscription for the Doernbecher hospital maintenance fund for crippled children. Announcement of the selection of Mr. Booth and his acceptance was made here Saturday by George P. Griffith, department commander of the American Legion in Oregon.
 The choice of the Eugene man was decided upon by a committee composed of George P. Griffith, Salem; Harold C. Jones, Portland, chairman of the child welfare committee of the Legion; and Paul Davis, Boise, Idaho, field secretary, representing national headquarters, Indianapolis, Ind.
 This committee was authorized at a recent meeting of the state executive committee to appoint the campaign chairman and to make arrangements for conducting the campaign.
 With the chairmanship determined, active work for the campaign which has for its object the raising of $50,000, as the Oregon quota of the national endowment fund for the support of the Doernbecher hospital, will be started immediately.
 The Legion is raising throughout the nation a fund of five million dollars, the annual income from which will be used to carry on the organization's program of disabled men's rehabilitation and child welfare.
 Paul Davis, field secretary, has just received a report from National Headquarters, announcing that three southern states, Kentucky, Arkansas and Tennessee have already oversubscribed their quotas to the fund.
 The Legion is asking this Endowment Fund from its own members and the American public jointly. The mottoes, adopted by the organization, "Temporary Care—Permanent Cure," for war victims and "A home for every homeless orphan of a veteran who fell in the World War," have the whole-hearted support of the nation-wide organization.
