CONVICT TRIES TO IMPLICATE WIFE IN CRIME

Reported Confession That He Killed Man Made to Warden.

ANGRY AT SPOUSE

Confession Followed Visit of Wife to Penitentiary —Jealousy Given as Cause of Act.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, Ore., May 4.—A report reaching Salem today indicates that R. S. Moore, a convict at the state penitentiary who was sent up from Lane county a few months ago has placed into the hands of Warden A. M. Dalrymple a written confession that he committed murder while holding up a party in or near Sacramento, Cal., sometime last fall. Warden Dalrymple refused today to confirm or deny the report, but it was partially confirmed by Mrs. Rose Parker, at a local rooming house, who knew a confession had been signed but didn't know the substance of it. Mrs. Parker is a friend of Moore's wife.

The confession followed, it appears, a quarrel between Moore and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Moore, when she visited him at the prison last Friday. Indications are that Moore was jealous of his wife and believed that while he was in prison she was having a good time so declared that he would "tell everything."

After the interview with his wife Moore became violent. He was manacled and taken before the warden, it is understood and there made the written confession.

Moore's wife, Mrs. Ruth Moore, was staying at a local rooming house with a friend, Mrs. Rose Parker, but, according to Mrs. Parker today, Mrs. Moore left for Eugene Saturday morning following the visit to the state prison the previous day.

Mrs. Parker was unwilling to talk much of the affair today, declaring she knew little of it. She said she was not in the room with Moore and his wife at the prison, because she didn't consider their affairs any of her business. She said, however, that some papers were being signed and that Mrs. Moore said later that Moore had signed a confession and "made a fool of himself." She said Mrs. Moore refused to tell her what this confession was.

QUEEN CONTEST STARTED TODAY; SIX NOMINATED

Ballot Boxes Conveniently Placed and Voting Is Started.

TO CLOSE MAY 16

Contest Will Be Continued Only a Short Time; Umpqua Chiefs Distribute Posters.

The contest for strawberry carnival queen started off today, and indications are that there will be an interesting race, as nominations have been brisk. The committee consists of O. M. Berrie, A. B. Crawford and Frank Hills, and six nominations have been handed in to them together with votes for each of the contestants. Each of those named for queen have been given 250 complimentary votes by the committee, and in addition some votes have already been cast for those whose names have been entered by friends.

The young ladies who have been suggested for carnival queen are Miss Fern Reymers, Miss Clarice Harpster, Miss Catherine Slatta, Miss Vernita Kohlhagen, Miss Dorothy Eddy, and Miss Vivian Orcutt. In addition to these already nominated it is understood, that some of the outside communities are planning on entering contestants.

Votes are to be sold for $1.00 per 100 and can be purchased in any quantity. Tickets for the queen's ball, and on the Ford automobile, which is to be given away to the holder of the lucky number as an added attraction on the night of the queen's ball, will be placed in the hands of the contestants, and the candidates will receive credit at the rate of 100 votes for each ticket sold. The automobile tickets will sell for $1.00 each and the dance tickets for $1.10 including tax.

Ballot boxes were stationed today at Crocker's and Chapman's drug store, and at A. T. Lawrence's real estate office, and the votes may be cast there for the respective candidates. No time is to be lost in this contest as it will close on the night of Saturday, May 16, giving only two weeks for the race.

The committee thought it best to shorten the length of the contest this year, as interest will be maintained more easily over a short period of time. Votes will be counted on the 6th, 9th, 12th, 14th, 15th and 16th. Several counts will be made on the night of the 16th, when the contest will be brought to a close.

The queen will be presented with $50 to purchase her wardrobe, and the robe and crown will be provided for her.

The carnival plans are now well in hand and are progressing in a very satisfactory manner. A number of the Umpqua Chiefs, dressed in their marching uniforms, scattered throughout the county this morning with large posters advertising the carnival, and these will be placed in conspicuous places all over the county.

The warm weather now being experienced assures an abundance of berries and roses and the carnival committee is well pleased with the outlook.

The carnival company is to be here on May 18th and will have its attractions open during the entire week. The carnival will start on Thursday, May 21, and continue for three days.

The following resolutions were adopted and the delegate instructed to introduce them at the forthcoming session of the State Grange:

Be it resolved by the Douglas County Pomona Grange that the department of economics of the Oregon Agricultural College be requested to make a survey of the tax situation in Oregon and have the results printed so that the citizens may know what the actual fact is in regard to taxation.

Further be it resolved, that this resolution be sent to the State Grange and that it be asked to see that this request is carried into effect.

MYSTERY SURROUNDING DEATH OF YOUNG WOMAN PARTIALLY SOLVED

GARY, Ind., May 4.—The mystery surrounding the death of a young woman whose partly burned body was found a week ago in the Indiana dunes near Chesterton appeared to be disintegrating today with the positive identification of the torso by a girl friend.

Florence Kish Boto said the body was that of Mrs. Josephine Desiderio, 21, of Gary. This corroborated the recognition made by Mrs. Desiderio's mother. Miss Boto was arrested yesterday at South Bend and was said by police to have been preparing to flee to Detroit.

One of the strongest points in her identification, according to police, was her pointing out a bit of cloth found near the mutilated body as part of a petticoat she lent Mrs. Desiderio.

Mrs. Artie L. Hossler of Michigan City, however, was as equally positive as others have been in identifying the body last night as that of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Berg, 22.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION ATTACKED BY JUDGE

SALEM, Ore., May 4.—An attack on the state highway commission and its methods of expending money for highways in the state was made this noon by George Hawkins, Polk county judge, speaking before the Salem chamber of commerce at its weekly luncheon here. He charged that millions have been wasted in road expenditures by the commission.

"It isn't the American idea of democracy and justice," said Judge Hawkins. He stated that voters of the state are not careful enough of the legislators selected to represent them in the state legislature. "We have too many tinkers and not enough thinkers."

The judge charged that under the present system of expending money, bridges on highways in the state cost three times as much as they would cost if money were expended under direct supervision of authorities in which the money is raised. He expressed the belief that when the people of the state begin to consider the proposition seriously they will not tolerate having local finances centralized in a state commission.

"I admit the county court has made mistakes," he concluded, but for God's sake look at the highway commission."

TILLAMOOK, Ore., May 4. — Mrs. M. C. Patton today pleaded guilty to charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of her grandchild Sylvia Louise DesCamps, aged 4, who died from the effects of a beating. She was immediately sentenced to an indeterminate term in the state penitentiary not to exceed 15 years. She was arraigned on a charge of second degree murder and pleaded not guilty to that charge.

ROSEBURG GOLFERS LOSE TO COOS BAY PLAYERS SUNDAY

The Roseburg country club golfers were defeated yesterday by the Marshfield team in an enjoyable tournament on the course near Marshfield. The score was 32 to 21 in favor of the Coos Bay contenders, this score being considered very good, particularly as the Roseburg players had never been over the course, which was quite tricky. The day was ideal and approximately 30 Roseburg people made the trip. The course was in fine shape and everything enjoyed the match. It is planned to have the Marshfield team come to Roseburg for a return match in about two weeks.

Word was received here this morning that Mrs. B. R. Richter, of Camas Valley, widow of the late B. R. Richter, is very ill with heart trouble and her friends are much alarmed concerning her condition.

AMBASSADOR TO ENGLAND GIVES A FINE SPEECH

Houghton Speaks Before Distinguished Audience in London.

WANTS GOOD WILL

Peace Must Be Based on That Plan if Europe Expects to Receive Assistance of U. S.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

LONDON, May 4.—The new American ambassador, Alanson B. Houghton, speaking tonight before a distinguished audience here, which included the prime minister of Great Britain declared in friendly but firm terms that, unless peace based on good will were re-established in Europe he feared American assistance for the reconstruction of Europe must cease. The ambassador made it clear in the course of his address that he referred not only to moral but monetary aid.

Coming as it did from the former American ambassador to Germany following his recent visit to the United States and conferences with President Coolidge, the pronouncement was calculated to create a profound impression upon the statesmen and diplomats gathered to hear the new ambassador and perhaps be regareded as among the most important delivered by America's envoys to the court of St. James in years. Because of its importance and the authoritative note which it sounded, it was assumed by those trained in diplomacy that he must undoubtedly be voicing the views of the administration at Washington.

Special significance was attached to the fact that the statement comes at a time when considerable suspicion and distrust of Germany are being voiced in various parts of Europe, particularly France, because of the election to the presidency of Field-Marshal Von Hindenburg, who is asserted by some to represent those reactionary forces which are inimical to the peace and interest of at least some fallacies.

Interlocked with this idea, it has been commented, may be the fate of the security pact proposed by Germany and warmly seconded by England as a great step toward the re-establishment of real peace. Indeed there has been some speculation as to whether the effective working of the Dawes plan might be impaired by this fanning of the smouldering fire of distrust.

Whether Ambassador Houghton had any of these things in mind was open to conjecture. He referred to none of them but contented himself with making it plain not only that the re-establishment of peace was essential to the continuation of assistance from the United States, but that the answer to the question whether there was to be peace must come from the peoples of Europe themselves. If there was to be peace then America would help in the reconstruction to the extent of her ability.

"The full measure of American helpfulness," Ambassador Houghton declared, "can be obtained only when the American people are assured that the time for destructive methods and policies have passed and that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come."

As the guest of honor of the pilgrims, Mr. Houghton was making his maiden address as ambassador to Great Britain. Among the most prominent gathered to welcome him, in addition to Premier Baldwin to introduce him, were the Duke of York former Premier MacDonald, the ambassadors from Belgium, Japan, Germany, Portugal and Brazil, the archbishop of Canterbury, Colonial Secretary Amery, Sir Auckland Geddes, Sir Samuel Hoare, the Earl of Craven and Lord Astor.

Mr. Houghton said in part:

"Order has been established and while to some extent the disorganization of international trade and markets, which came as a natural consequence of the war, still persists, marked improvement has been shown even here.

"Nevertheless which remains to be done is almost as difficult as what already has been accomplished. It involves considerations which are more or less intangible; it involves, in particular a changed attitude of mind for what the war destroyed was not only human lives, dreadful as was the toll, nor the property nor the forces of government. It destroyed for the moment belief in one nother's good faith and good faith is the cement which binds civilization together. Without it, units, whether individual or national simply fall apart.

DOG SEEKS MASTER.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, Ore., May 4.—For the fourth day a Shepherd dog is watching for his master at a mailbox at Winter and Mill streets, this city. The dog took up his vigil early Friday. He kept steadfastly at his watch Saturday and Sunday and is still there today. Occasionally he rises on his hind legs and sniffs at the mailbox, and pricks up his ears at every passing automobile. It is believed the dog belongs to some tourist who stopped to mail a letter, and that the dog, wandering away from the car, became lost.

FINE PROGRAMS GIVEN TO USHER IN MUSIC WEEK

Churches and Theatres Place Special Emphasis on Value of Music.

MAYOR HOUCK TALKS

Parents Urged to Provide Music in Homes—Band Gives Excellent Concert in Afternoon.

Music week was ushered in yesterday with special attention being given to the subject in churches theatres and all other gatherings. Every church in the city yesterday gave particular consideration to the music, special numbers being offered by orchestras, choirs, and the pastors spoke on the relation of music to worship, showing how music has always been a source of inspiration in the devotions of Christians throughout the ages.

At the Antlers Theatre Mayor George E. Houck officially introduced the observance of Music Week in the city, stressing the importance of good music in the home, and urging parents to see that their children are brought up to know and understand music. He also urged the people of Roseburg to attend at least one of the many programs being given during the week. Miss Rosa B. Parrott talked on similar lines at the Liberty Theatre.

A musical treat was given in the afternoon when the Douglas County Concert Band gave the first outdoor concert of the year. The concert was attended by a large crowd, which would have been still greater had their been seating facilities, but owing to the lack of benches the listeners were forced to remain in their cars or stand, which served to reduce the size of the audience. The concert was especially good, and each number was enjoyed.

During the remainder of the week there will be programs given each evening. All of the clubs holding luncheons during the week will have special programs, while the lodges are also making arrangements formusical selections at their meetings. Orchestras will play at hotels during the week, and on Saturday evening local musicians have arranged to present a program in each hotel.

Singers, dancers and readers will visit the Umpqua, Grand, Terminal and Douglas hotels in turn. An orchestra will be located at each of these places and will present musical numbers between each of the individual offerings. Residents of the city are invited to attend any of these programs.
