Wilcox, formerly of this city, at Eugene on Saturday night, to Miss Gladys Bishop, of that city, the wedding ceremony being performed among immediate friends of the couple. Mrs. Wilcox is a popular young lady of Eugene, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wilcox of this city. He was formerly employed at the Empress Hotel as clerk, and recently at the Grand in the same capacity. He moved to Eugene about two months ago, where he has been associated at the Hotel Osborn. DOUGLAS RANKS 10TH IN ORDER OF BOOZE FINES

County Is Tenth in Population and Also in Fines Collected.

REPORTS ARE ASKED

New Prohibition Commissioner Wants Regular Statements From Counties.

A letter complimenting the Douglas County officers upon their diligence in the enforcement of the prohibition law, and showing the relative standings of the various counties of the state, has been received by Sheriff Starmer from Wm. S. Levens, the recently appointed state prohibition commissioner. Mr. Levens assures the officers that his department is very anxious to cooperate in every possible way and he requests suggestions and advice.

In the future officers of each county are to make statements of arrests for violations of the prohibition laws, together with data on the amount of liquor destroyed, the mash dumped out, stills taken, and capacity, and this information will be made public, and comparative data sent out showing how each county ranks compared with its population.

From the information at hand Mr. Levens has prepared such a statement showing the relative standing of counties, together with the ranks as to the number of fines collected. Douglas county ranking 10th in population, is also 10th in the number of fines collected. Other counties of the state in order of population, rank as follows in the amount and order of fines imposed:

County	Amount	Rank in fines
1 Multnomah	$1,234.00	1
2 Marion	879.67	2
3 Lane	717.50	3
4 Clackamas	706.32	4
5 Washington	528.65	5
6 Umatilla	473.25	6
7 Linn	425.00	7
8 Clatsop	328.50	8
9 Coos	325.00	9
10 Douglas	317.50	10
11 Yamhill	317.50	11
12 Jackson	271.25	12
13 Baker	271.25	13
14 Union	267.51	14
15 Polk	—	—
16 Columbia	—	—
17 Benton	—	—
18 Wasco	—	—
19 Klamath	1,067.11	2
20 Malheur	112.50	16
21 Wallowa	262.82	9
22 Deschutes	—	—
23 Tillamook	—	—
24 Hood River	543.75	5
25 Josephine	325.00	11
26 Lincoln	37.85	21
27 Morrow	25.00	24
28 Grant	115.49	20
29 Harney	—	—
30 Lake	62.75	25
31 Gilliam	—	—
32 Sherman	31.00	23
33 Crook	151.25	15
34 Jefferson	2.87	26
35 Curry	87.50	19
36 Wheeler	—	—

This report covering the period from January 1 to April 9, of this year, gives a good indication of what the various counties are doing in the way of enforcement of the prohibition law. Douglas county's proportion of fines is the same as its order of population, indicating very good condition of law enforcement. However, it is expected that the next report will show a much different state of affairs, for there have been a number of arrests and fines during the past few days, the amount more than equaling the period covered in the report, so that at the next showing the county is expected to rank much higher in its order of fines.

A SPARKLING POOLE Is Athletics' New First Basemen

By Norman E. Brown
Meet Mr. Poole, the young man called from the sunset slopes of the U. S. A. to the bier of Connie Mack's pennant hopes to cheer the long one up as he wip over the glory that was Zip Hauser's before he busted his leg—or whatever it was.

The interesting thing about this man Poole, aside from the fact that he is making fans forget Hauser, is that he wasn't even mentioned in the winter above league gossip as being some promising. Few persons outside of Portland, Ore., and the Athletic office had heard much about him when he stepped to the plate and the afternoon of opening day and socked out a home run and two singles.

The public still knew little about him when he collected a batting average of .535 in the first five games by socking out nine hits in 17 trips to the plate.

Meanwhile Jimmy was laughing up what aleeve there was to his big league uniform.

Up to the day Hauser was injured Poole was figuring on remaining out of baseball this year. He had been a run-in with the Portland officials and, in preference to standing for a fine imposed, was going to stay right at home in Winston-Salem, N. C., until the matter was straightened out. When Connie sent out an S. O. S. for a first sacker the Portland club was glad to dispose of him. And Poole's presence in the south enabled him to report within 24 hours instead of consuming several days in making a trans-continental trip.

In anticipation of playing some place, however, Poole had been working out daily near his home and was in fair condition when he reported. At least his batting eye was in fairly good shape.

Mack gave Portland two players for Poole. Pitcher Meeker and Outfielder Bill Bagwell were the two. Meeker ought to add strength to the Portland pitching staff with his southpaw shots, and Bagwell can sock the ball. So the deal was a satisfactory one all around.

And the interesting part of it is that when Hauser is ready to resume his place in the lineup Connie will be faced with the problem of finding some way of keeping Poole in the game—or benching

JIMMY POOLE the best hitter he now has in uniform. Which makes things more involved, as the scientists say.

FORESTS SUPPORT ONE-TENTH OF AMERICAN PEOPLE

A good authority calculates that one-tenth of the American people are supported by industries dependent on forest materials. According to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association 1,100,000 persons are directly employed in the industries that produce and manufacture forest material. Regular cropping of the 479,000,000 acres of forest land now remaining will always maintain 12,000,000 people. If the forests are to be virtually abandoned when the standing timber crop is removed a great disruption of economic relations will follow. Moreover, America will needlessly be deprived of one of its greatest sources of national wealth. The forests have contributed immeasurably to the piling up of our huge national wealth. Moreover, like agriculture, but unlike mining, the forests are not inherently exhaustible. Forests may be grown forever on the same land without exhausting it. There is a fierce competition among the nations for control of raw material. The United States may, if it will, always own and control a sufficient supply of forest products. The first steps involve a national forest policy, protection against forest fires, equitable taxation of forest land, and wise extension of publicly owned forests.

Millions of persons visited the National Forests and National Parks during 1924 for recreational purposes. This illustrates the extent to which the public is enjoying its forests as wholesome playgrounds and what Americans expect. Week groups to those who now seek America's forested land for recreational purposes. Incidentally, smoke and camp fires were the three principal causes of man-caused fires within the National Forests during 1924.

ATHLETIC FIELD TO BE GRADED SOON

The school board is making arrangements to have the athletic field recently acquired with the new high school site, graded and put in shape at once, so that it will be in condition for the fall football season. The ground will be leveled to absolute grade, except for a slight crown to provide surface drainage. The drains will be laid to insure quick drying, and there is no question but that the field will be one of the best maintained by any high school in the state. The surface will be disked and put in thorough condition and will then be left unused during the summer, so that by next fall it will be in ideal condition for the football season.
