

MRS. SHEPHERD GETS FREEDOM WITHOUT BAIL

Wife of Alleged Slayer of Millionaire Orphan Visits Her Hubby.

HELD AS ACCESSORY

Both Pose for Cameramen With Smile on Their Faces But Wife Sobs as She Leaves.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Mrs. Julie Shepherd, named as accessory of her husband, William D. Shepherd, in the alleged slaying of their ward William Nelson McCintock, millionaire orphan was at liberty today on her own recognizance after surrendering last night.

Her release pending grand jury action on $5,000 bonds was promised tomorrow morning, by Judge Jacob Hopkins before whom she appeared. Until then, she stayed in the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. H. Shepherd, at 1115 N. Dearborn street, where she had been recommended by the coroner's jury as an accessory in the slaying of young McCintock last fall and of his mother, 16 years ago.

No opposition to her release on her own word or on bond was made by Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney who strenuously resisted efforts to release Shepherd, now in jail pending trial May 18.

"There is no evidence that I have as state's attorney, that can cause me to oppose bail in this case," the prosecutor said.

For the first time since his arrest several weeks ago, Shepherd was taken from his cell to converse with his wife after arrangements for her husband had been made. They conversed for 15 minutes, seeing each other for the first time since the slaying. They smiled as they posed for cameramen.

Mrs. Shepherd described as a "Lady Macbeth" by Judge Harry Olson who instigated the investigation of the slaying, she sobbed as she left. She termed the jury's action and that of Judge Olson as "persecution."

NEW AUTO CAMP IS MADE READY FOR TOURISTS

Provides All Conveniences and Comforts for Auto Travelers.

WORK STILL GOING ON

Five New Stores and Community House Yet to Be Constructed; Trees to Be Planted.

Although the Camp View auto camp is still uncompleted, tourists have already stopped demanding accommodations, and have been provided with the comforts afforded by the new camp. These grounds, located in Edenbower, less than a mile north of the city limits, have been fitted up in a manner which affords Roseburg one of the most thoroughly equipped, up-to-date camps to be found in the entire state.

Messrs. Ewell and Hagen, the owners, have been working hard to get the place in readiness for tourist traffic, and although they still have a great deal more to do, have succeeded in getting their camp in such a condition that they will be able to meet the demands made upon them.

The camp is exceedingly attractive, and will be much more so when the plans for beautification can be carried out, and it supplies every requirement of the auto tourist.

In the center of the triangular entrance, a three-cornered service station provides facilities for giving service to automobiles, while outside of the entrance, store buildings are being constructed. One has already been completed and is being stocked with groceries, while five others are to be built during the year.

On each side there are double rows of cottages, each bearing the name of a state, there being 32 of these cottages in all. Driveways are located between the rows of cottages, and between the cottages in the rows are covered archways where the tourist's auto may be left adjoining his room. Each cottage is furnished with bed springs and fine cotton mattress, the mattress being protected by sanitary covers, which can be frequently cleaned. Cots will also be provided where desired for children.

Down through the center of the tract, the community buildings are located. The registration office stands just inside the entrance, where the driveways branch off towards the rows of cabins. The big community hall will be constructed soon, and will have writing desks, lounging chairs, fireplace, and provisions for the entertainment of the tourists. Further on towards the back of the camp is the kitchen, which has a large number of two-plate electric ranges, breakfast nooks and dish-washing facilities, all screened and constructed on such sanitary principles that cleanliness can be provided at all times. In the rear of this building are located the lavatories, and shower baths for men and women, laundry and heating plant.

All of the buildings are finished up in mission type and stone covered. The furniture for the buildings has been ordered and should be here in a few days.

It will be impossible for the owners of the camp ground to complete their plans for at least three years, as their arrangements include extensive landscaping, which will take much time. The greater part of the buildings will be completed before fall, and trees and shrubs will be planted at the proper season. Flower gardens will be provided, and the camp made most beautiful.

EXPORTATION OF POISON GAS MAY NOT BE ALLOWED

Member of American Delegation Proposes New Article.

A HORROR OF WAR

Declares Gas Should Not Be Used and Exportation of It for War Should Be Banned.

GENEVA, May 7.—Condemnation of the use of poison gas and prohibition of its exportation for war purposes is proposed in a new article of the draft convention of the International Conference of the American Delegation at today's session of the International conference for the control of traffic in arms.

Mr. Burton said he expressed the desire of the American government and people that some such provision regarding poison gas be adopted. He said the subject had been brought to the attention of President Coolidge and that the president will approve a prohibition of the exportation of poison gas for war purposes.

He recalled that nine of the powers agreed to measures forbidding the use of asphyxiating gases in warfare, but he admitted that there are obstacles to prohibiting the export of such gas. The article proposed by Mr. Burton declares that the use of poisonous gases and liquids has been justly condemned by public opinion and that the prohibition of such uses has been incorporated in treaties which have been signed by a majority of the civilized powers. The high contracting parties therefore agreed to prohibit the export from their territory of any such asphyxiating poisonous or other gases, analogous liquids intended or designed for use in connection with the operation of war and ameliorating the sufferings of humanity incident thereto, the high contracting parties agreed to control the traffic in poisonous gases by prohibiting the exportation of all asphyxiating, toxic or deleterious gases and all analogous liquids, materials and devices manufactured and intended for use in warfare, under adequate penalties applicable in all places where such high contracting parties exercise jurisdiction or control.

The Burton proposal was referred to a committee of experts.

MUSICAL PROGRAM ROTARY LUNCHEON

Today's program at the Rotary meeting was given over in honor of Music Week, and one of the best programs rendered for a long time was the result, with Song Leader Charles McElhinny in charge. The first number was a xylophone solo by Irvin Brun, Jr., piano accompaniment by Jennie McRae Melvin, the little fellow making a decided hit with his audience. He was generously encored and responded with another number in his usual clever manner. Another big feature of the program was the Arizona Collegians, five in number, who played several selections during the lunch hour, including two violin solos and a saxophone duet, closing with a real jazzy piece entitled, "A Night in Old Shanghai." The young men are a fine set of musicians and their ability for playing all kinds of music was fully demonstrated today.

DRY ARMADA FORMS BLOCKADE—PROHI ENFORCEMENT ON SEA, LAND, AIR.

NEW YORK, May 7.—On sea, on land and in the air, the forces of prohibition enforcement today continued their war of extermination against Rum Row and its satellites ashore. During the night, the fleet operating against rum runners had the added task of battling against a 45 mile gale.

With the blockade of Rum Row said by the federal agents to have been made 100 per cent effective in less than 2 days, prohibition agencies in New York and surrounding counties have initiated a cleanup which they say will make it impossible to procure liquor on land.

Padlocks are rapidly mopping up liquor that seeped ashore before the blockade.

One development expected to be helpful in dry law enforcement was the discovery that persons who inform the government of violations leading to the dry law offenders may receive 25 percent of the fine as a reward from the government and may obtain a quarter of the proceeds from the sale of the confiscated boats.

Federal Judge Knox in closing a soft drink stand for six months, said owners of such properties should be held equally guilty with the seller and possessor of liquor.

Several Canadian war veterans are all stirred up over the blockade. At a meeting in Victoria, B. C., speakers said that the big fleet operating against Rum Row was violating the Washington conference agreement of limitation of More than sixty boats, large and small, are now patrolling Rum Row. The fleet is directed by wireless from Washington and is aided by a detail of 13 airplanes.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Two observers for the New York Evening World took a seaplane trip over the scene of warfare between the coast guard and the vessels of Rum Row that newspaper says today and observed approximately 30 liquor ships at anchor from 18 to 35 miles from shore. Each of the rum boats was under close scrutiny of two 75-footers of the coast guard which circled closer and closer to the sides of their respective wards as the newspaper plane circled overhead the observers reported.

On advice of the pilot Arthur L. Caperton, the newspapermen had notified coast guard officials at the barze office in advance of their flight to prevent the possibility of being fired upon.

"I have been shot at several times by coast guard crews that assumed I had no business over Rum Row because I was not flying a government plane," the pilot said.

Some of the government boats, however, apparently had not received word of the newspapermen's visit, for they kept close watch of the plane and scurried toward the ships they were guarding in evident apprehension that the flyers would attempt to get a message to beleaguered rum boats, said the observers.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The destroyer Cunningham, engaged in scouting duty for the dry armada blockading the rum fleet off the New Jersey coast today reported the arrival of new ships on Rum Row.

One of these was reported as a large German liner from Hamburg. All of the arrivals apparently were unaware of the net into which they had been drawn.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 7.—Fourteen patrol boats attached to the coast guard base here put to sea at dawn today to take part in the offensive being conducted against Rum Row by the government's dry navy. Nine boats are held in reserve here.

YOGI CULTIST ARRESTED IN SEATTLE IS TAKEN TO PORTLAND TODAY.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 7.—Dinshaw P. Ghadiali, who was arrested in Seattle, was brought here early today from Seattle to await action by a federal grand jury on a charge that he had violated federal statutes in traveling with his private secretary, Miss Geraldine McCann, a Portland girl.

Ghadiali declined to discuss the charges against him beyond saying that he was the victim of a frame-up.

In an interview he declared he is a full fledged American citizen, having taken out his final papers in Hackensack, N. J., in June 15, 1917.

"Please say I am a Parsee," he asked, "because you might as well call me a negro as a Hindu. I was born of Zoroastrian parents in Bombay, India, November 28, 1873. My people are descendants of King Cyrus of Persia."

He said his American wife, a New Jersey girl, is at Malaga, N. J., with her six months old son. A 20-year old girl, the daughter of his Parsee wife, is also at Malaga, he said. His Parsee wife, he declared deserted him in 1913 and went away with a Hindu doctor.

Ghadiali claimed to have the rank of colonel in the New York flying police corps. He said he was commissioned a captain in the police reserves by Commissioner Rodman Wamsucker in 1918 and that the next year he was appointed governor of the New York police aviation school. He said he took the first airplane mail from New York to Philadelphia.

He reviewed the activities of his life, saying he had been an electrical engineer in India, and had been engaged in temperance work. After coming to America, he was interested in a variety of enterprises. He said, "apetrochromo therapy" on which he has been lecturing is a method for treating disease by color waves.

CARNIVAL WILL BE BEST EVER GIVEN IN CITY

Reports Presented at Meeting Last Night Show Elaborate Plans.

PRIZES ANNOUNCED

Liberal Awards to Be Made for Entries in Parades and Winners in Contests.

At the regular meeting of the Umpqua Chiefs last night, the carnival committee reported that the plans for the annual festival to be held on May 21, 22, and 23, are well in hand and that all indications point to the best carnival and the largest attendance in the history of the city.

Chief Walter Day, general chairman stated, that the contest for queen has started with a big rush, and that competition is to be strong. There are ten contestants in the race. Fern Reynolds, Catherine Slatta, Verita Kohlhagen, Dorothy Eddy, Thelma Newhardt, Mona Porter, Lorenice Conlee, Velma Goff, Adelle Bemis and Thelma Olmstead. Clarice Harper and Vivian Orcutt withdrew from the contest. As the committee was late in getting out the tickets and votes to the queen, the count scheduled for last night was not made, and the first count will take place on the 9th.

A great deal of interest centers around the prize drawing, for which a Ford touring car is to be the first prize. Tickets are being sold at $100 each, every ticket counting 100 votes for the contestant making the sale. The tickets to the queen's ball are also on sale, counting 100 votes each.

Mr. Day reports that the committee is well pleased with the prospects for entertainment to be offered in the form of carnival attractions. The company which has been secured comes highly recommended from some of the biggest shows in California, and will be here on the 18th to open on Monday night for the entire week.

The carnival has been liberally supported by the merchants of the city, who have subscribed a large sum of money to provide the necessary sum to insure success. The Ways and Means committee will start out soon to collect this money, in order that funds may be available as needed.

Committees in charge of parades, floats, etc., have all made favorable reports, and merchants are being urged to give special attention to decorations during the week. It is the desire of the general committee that every store front be gaily decorated, that the store windows be trimmed in an attractive way, and that the business streets be given a thoroughly gala appearance. Flag pennants and streamers will be used to decorate the streets and the city will present a gay appearance.

Saturday, May 23, has been set aside as hospitality day, and invitations have been sent to every booster club in the state urging them to send delegations to Roseburg for that day.

Frank Hills, chairman of the sports committee, announces that arrangements have been made for a fine program of novel features, stunts, races, and sports throughout the entire carnival, giving something interesting for every boy of each of the three days.

The Roseburg Women's Club will sponsor a flower show again this year, and the Chiefs will offer suitable prizes for that event.

Another feature this year for the comfort of the visitors at the carnival will be a rest room, supervised by the county health unit. L. L. Crocker has offered the balcony of his drug store for this purpose.
