ROSEBURG, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1925

THE VELVET HAMMER

DOCTOR E. B. STEWART

The list of things which happen to the noted human race, the faults of its machinery which creak from foot to face, are famous and familiar facts to such a man as Doc, who helps the bird who's running down to wind his losing floc, or lady with a mission reproductive in design to suitably accomplish what is in her special line.

But such responsibilities, though large enough indeed, cannot consume the power of one so full of push and speed. He's been the local Legion head two terms and now a third, the soldiers' way of saying they consider him a bird, to which discreet conclusion all the evidence attests.

And after that he comes to bat, a golf club in his grip and knocks the home-destroyer for a long eventful trip. He gives that rubber apple from the orchards of Brazil a frequently unusual and epoch making thrill. He does enough such useful stuff in every working day to have a sleep extremely deep on coming to the hay.

Crane, president of the Master Painters Association declared his organization was prepared to put other painters on the job Monday if the strikers had not returned to work.

STATE FINISHES ITS CASE AGAINST FORMER GOV. DAVIS

(Associated Press Local Wire.)

COURT HOUSE, Topeka, Kans., May 15.—The prosecution rested before noon today in the trial of former Governor J. M. Davis, charged with soliciting a bribe. The former Kansas governor is accused of asking money in exchange for a pardon for Walter Grundy, convicted Hutchinson banker.

Mrs. Grundy, wife of the convict and the state's last witness, testified that when she requested Governor Davis on January 6 to free her husband he asked her: "Have you any money?"

Shortly after the prosecution rested, A. M. Harvey, head of defense attorneys, moved that all testimony regarding conversations with Carl J. Peterson, bank commissioner under Davis, charged agent in alleged bribe solicitations, be stricken from the record. Lawyers for both sides then retired with Judge McClure to discuss the question.

DENIAL OF OREGON BANK CHARTER IS SUSTAINED

SALEM, Ore., May 15.—The state banking board today unanimously upheld Frank C. Bramwell, state superintendent of banks in his denial of a petition of R. C. Giddings to establish a bank on Sandy Boulevard, in the Rose City Park district of Portland. Giddings had appealed to the board from Bramwell's denial.

Bramwell told the board that to operate successfully it would be necessary for a new bank to accumulate in a short time deposits in excess of $500,000 and he doubted if this could be done. He said that two other applications for banks in that district had previously been turned down. He expressed the opinion that Oregon is over banked now.

"MOTHER" CURRIER PASSES AWAY

Mrs. M. N. Currier, aged 87 years, one of the best known pioneer residents of Roseburg, passed away this morning after a short illness, at the rooming house she has conducted here for many years. She suffered a stroke of paralysis on Saturday, and had been unconscious for the last three days. Word was immediately sent her relatives after the stroke on Saturday, but nothing should be done to delay her death, which came peacefully this morning.

Mrs. Currier was affectionately known as "Mother" to many of her friends and acquaintances in Roseburg, and especially by the scores of railroad employees who have resided at her rooming house, and her loss will be deeply felt by everyone. Although advanced in years, up to her recent severe illness she had been very active, and her generous heart and kindly sympathies will long be remembered by those who mourn her death.

She was born in Maine and came to Roseburg over forty years ago, residing since that time at the home at the corner of Stephens and Mosher streets. She is survived by her son William Currier of San Francisco, who is conductor with the Municipal Railway of San Francisco, and two grand children, Miss Ruth Currier of San Francisco, and Lyle Gray of Seattle. Both Mr. Currier and Mr. Gray were with her when death came.

FUNERAL SERVICES WILL BE HELD AT THE CHAPEL OF THE ROSEBURG UNDERTAKING COMPANY AT 11 A. M. SUNDAY, WITH REV. MOW OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH OF WHICH THE DECEASED WAS A MEMBER FOR THIRTY FIVE YEARS, OFFICIATING. INTERMENT WILL FOLLOW AT THE ODD FELLOWS CEMETERY.
