SHERIFF ACCUSED OF EVERYTHING BUT LAW ENFORCEMENT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) KELS0, Wash., May 16.—Recall charges against Sheriff Clarke Studebaker of Cowlitz county were filed today with the county auditor with Karie Todd, Mayor of Kelso, as the sole signer of the charges. The mayor accused Sheriff Studebaker of failure to enforce the liquor laws, of permitting the use of slot machines, of letting liquor caravans cross the county, of taking a hand in the City affairs of Kelso and of using force to prevent electors exercising their rights.

HEAD MOTOR THEFT DEPARTMENT WARNS USED CAR BUYERS

No person should buy a second hand automobile from any person other than a responsible and reliable dealer, according to Joe Keller of the state auto theft department who was in Roseburg for a few hours today. Mr. Keller has been checking all garages between Portland and Klamath Falls, and succeeded in finding six stolen cars which had been left in these garages for storage, or sale. He stated that no stolen cars were found in Roseburg.

There is an increasing epidemic of auto theft in the northwest. Mr. Keller said, "six or seven cars being stolen daily in Seattle, Portland and other large cities. The auto thieves in many instances sell these cars for a small sum in the towns and cities nearby, and

ACCIDENTAL DEATH VERDICT GIVEN IN CORONER INQUEST

A verdict of accidental death was returned Saturday night in the inquest into the death of J. J. Bickel, 31-year-old Sutherlin resident. The jury in the case was composed of John Thorne, E. L. Giles, B. W. Strong, Edwin Thornton, Jack Wharton and Napoleon Rice. The inquest was held in the undertaking parlors, and was conducted by Coroner Ritter, District Attorney Guy Corbin interrogating the witnesses. Barney Levison, the driver of the auto which struck Bickel retained Attorney Carl Wimberly to handle his case but no questions were asked by that side.

All of the evidence introduced tended to show that the aged man had started across the road, reached the center, and had then hesitated and turned back. The driver of the car applied his brakes and the car skidded on the wet pavement, the rear end swinging to the center of the road and striking the aged man.

Testimony was introduced by relatives of Mr. Bickel, by the physicians who attended him before his death, and by the occupants of the car, but the jury decided that there was nothing to indicate any fault on the part of either party, and returned such a verdict, relieving the driver of the car from all blame.

NATIONAL BANK RESOURCES SHOW HEAVY INCREASE

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Combined resources of the national banks of the United States on April 6, the date of the last bank call, were $23,832,373,909 or an increase in the last 12 months of $1,769,575,909.

Every phase of national banking operations showed important increases. Loans and discounts of all the banks aggregated $12,468,336,000, an increase of more than half a billion in the year since the corresponding bank call of 1924. Total deposit liabilities amounted to $12,628,947,999, an increase of $1,784,251,000 over deposits of a year ago.

BULGARIA BESET WITH OUTBREAKS OF REBEL BAND

LONDON, May 18.—Bulgaria's troubles are continuing, dispatches reaching London reporting further unrest, with bands of raiders pillaging villages in the center part of the country. The activities are said to be for political motives and the government's action in sending a large number of troops to cope with them is taken here to indicate that they have further aims than robbery.

Stories of plots, some menacing the safety of the government ministers, seem further to show that the government's reprisals against the recent disturbance of the peace failed to quell the country's internal trouble, which may require stronger measures for repression.

BERLIN, May 18.—A dispatch from Sofia says the police have discovered a secret organization operating in a Kostentz and other nearby communities and confiscated a large amount of dynamite, 200 revolvers, quantities of ammunition and funds amounting to 150,000 leva. The dynamite, it is alleged, was intended for use in destroying railway bridges between Vakarrel and Byselovo.

A BRIDE'S DIARY

A Love Story of Today By Idah McGlone Gibson

Cleo Madison entertaining a few friends, decides to read her grandmother's diary. Grandmother's diary is so quaint, so modest, that these modern-day girls are thunderstruck. When the girls go, Cleo thinks of her elopement with Paul. Paul Winthrop planned for the immediate future, her conscience is pricked by a passage of the modest, old-fashioned diary. For though engaged to Paul, she only the night before enjoyed the kisses of Chick Adams. Both sets of parents opposed the match because at one time the families had been rich but now were social climbers, and the parents wanted such to marry money. Connie Terhune, wealthy, wanted to marry Paul. At a party, Chick Adams draws Cleo aside protesting that she should have come with him. Cleo doubts her love for Paul. Her grandmother's diary makes Cleo remember Paul protests his love for the girl. They are wed. Cleo's mother becomes hysterical. Connie shows again her jealousy. The fathers of the newly-weds rejoice. The honeymoon begins. The fierce flames of her love almost overwhelm Cleo. The honeymoon grows more stringent. The reception for the newly-weds shows Connie in her true light. Cleo becomes jealous. Chick Adams enters a plot. The young wife tells her "friend." The first tears of her married life come to Cleo. Paul and his wife decide to start out for themselves. Cleo meets Paul and Connie in fervent embrace. Almost crazed by liquor and jealousy Paul threatens Cleo. The young husband accuses his wife as to a past. Contritely, Paul expresses his belief in Cleo.

CLEO LEARNS ABOUT HUSBAND'S MARRIAGE
I expect it is all a part of married life that after the worst quarrels husband and wives do not go through any long explanations. They soon learn that if they do it leads only to further complications and usually another quarrel, worse than the first. And as Paul stood there, eyes still soft and sleepy, a pathetic look on his face, I could not have quarreled with him to save my soul. All my indignation melted away. I just laughed. He looked so funny and so hurt. He had started for me as mother slammed the door, and then the thought came to him that I was not talking his very important declaration seriously and it seemed almost more than he could bear. He slumped down into a chair which was standing beside the door and nearly wept. "What are you laughing at?" he asked. "Surely, the fact that I believe in you is not funny is it? I think, under the circumstances, it's something much too sacred to be laughed at. Cleo, you're not a real vamp are you?" "Of course not. What made you think that?" "Well, I just thought so. You know in 'A Fool There Was' the woman always laughed at the man's earnestness."

I was sure in my heart that when talking of Chick and myself last evening Connie had planted this idea in Paul's head. He never would have thought of it alone. But I didn't say anything.

ENDOWMENT FUND TO AID IN CARE OF DISABLED VETS

The White Plague looms as one of the biggest post-war problems in the United States, creating conditions of distress that cannot be solved alone by government agencies regardless of the liberal laws providing for the care of the disabled defenders of the nation.

The latest available figures of the United States Veterans' Bureau show that 10,528 world war service men are in hospitals for the treatment of tuberculosis. This is nearly one-half of the total, 27,615 on Dec. 18, 1924. This total showed an increase in six months from June 7, 1924, of 5,000.

While tuberculosis is outdistanced at the present time by the neuropsychiatric cases by 652, the latter problem is not so serious, economically although, to quote the director of the Veterans' Bureau, Frank T. Hines, they require a highly specialized administration and are perhaps the most important in the medical service. These afflicted with chronic insanities will require custodial care in an institution the remainder of their lives, and in the majority of cases life expectancy will not be materially lessened by reason of their mental state.

With tuberculosis, there are many phases to be met. All have been carefully considered by The American Legion, and there solution through the $5,000,000 Endowment Fund now being raised for the disabled and the care of orphans of veterans is assured.

One of the most serious problems in this connection is the care of the orphans of the veteran, who upon his return from the war, marries with the disease that first weakened its tentacles upon him while he was in the service.

The Veterans' Bureau estimates that there are 2,000 war orphans in the United States at the present time who need some degree of care. Insurance actuaries estimate this number will be increased to more than 30,000 by 1932. Many of the children of war veterans who die of tuberculosis cannot receive government compensation. Often it is impossible to prove that the disease was contracted while in service.

Of the total number of death claims made to the Veterans' Bureau, 182,386 last December 30, only 12,769 were allowed, leaving 169,617 without financial aid. Of 711,136 claims for disability, as of Dec. 30, last, nearly half, or 379,515 were disallowed. This means that 379,515 war veterans, sick and in need of financial aid, were unable to prove that their disability was due to war service.

A typical case is that of James Setchfield, of Portland, Ore., chosen at random from hundreds of similar available cases. It illustrates the Legion national rehabilitation committee's work, the continuance of which will be made possible by the success of the $5,000,000 Endowment Fund. Setchfield was a member of Battery F, 8th Field Artillery, 32nd Division. As a result of the activities of the Legion in his behalf he is now receiving compensation for tuberculosis contracted during the war. This enables him to help his wife. He also is receiving treatment in a government hospital.

Setchfield faced the fight against tuberculosis without aid until his condition was discovered by W. B. Follett, past commander of Portland Post No. 1 of the Legion. The Legion took charge of his case and obtained proof that his affliction resulted from war service which enabled the government to grant him compensation. Many times this proof is not ob-
