TWO ARE ARRESTED BY SPECIAL DEPUTY

Joe De Ross and Woodson Maddox were arrested last night by Deputy Sheriff George A. Brady, a special officer who has been assisting the county officers in the enforcement of the liquor laws. Mr. Brady was on Washington street last night and noticed three persons by the lumber pile near the Metzger warehouse and mill yard. He saw a bottle lifted and flashing a light on the party, saw the men drinking. They immediately dashed seven bottles of liquor to the ground, breaking them, and De Ross and his companion fled. Maddox remaining and submitted to arrest without resistance. Brady fired two shots over the heads of the fugitives, but they refused to stop. De Ross was arrested a few hours later, and was taken to the county jail. The drinkers had failed in breaking the bottles to destroy all of the evidence, and enough was secured to prove a case of possession. De Ross assumed the guilt, claiming that he had been the possessor of the liquor and had invited his friends to have a drink with him. On this showing he was fined $200 and given 30 days in jail, and as there was nothing against Maddox upon which to prove a misdemeanor, he was released from custody this morning. This is De Ross' second offense, and consequently he was given a heavy penalty.

The difficulty seems not between regents of the two institutions, nor between the schools, but between members of the two faculties.
