CLASS OF EIGHT GRADUATES FROM DRAIN HIGH SCHOOL

DRAIN, Ore., May 23.—(Special to The News-Review.)—The graduating exercises of the class of 1925 of Drain high school were given at the school auditorium on Friday evening of the past week, a comfortably filled house being there to witness the program. After a couple of selections by the local orchestra and a piano solo by Miss Frederica Saffley, a paper was read by Lawrence Maxwell of the graduating class. Prof. Maxwell, president of the school, then introduced the speaker of the evening, Prof. Turner of the University of Oregon, who delivered the address to the class. The speaker took as his subject "Nineteen Hundred Fifty" and proceeded to contrast a mental picture before his audience of the giant we have become, all within the past 25 years. He said that the gasoline motor is one of the principal achievements, making possible a speed ten to twenty times that we formerly could make. The invention of the telephone and radio makes possible the hearing of human voices hundreds of times the former distance, the telescope extends our sight immensely, and many other discoveries and inventions have made us a super man, so to speak.

The address was well received. Mr. C. R. Frazier, chairman of the school board, in a neat speech then presented the diplomas to the class. The members of the class are: Miss Beniah Ritey, Miss Elma Burdett and Miss Velma Wilson and Lawrence Maxwell, Mer-Vis Leonard, Clifford Mornitzger, Jay Atwood and Loy Barker.

GERMANY WILLING TO FOREGO GAS IN FUTURE WARFARE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
GENEVA, May 23.—Germany announced today that she was ready to participate in any international conference agreement for the suppression of the use of chemical and poison gas warfare. Germany's announcement was made by Herr Von Eckhardt at a meeting of the military and naval committee of the international conference for control of traffic in arms, which is considering the American proposal for insertion in the proposed convention of a clause prohibiting the use of poison gas. This committee is discussing the American proposal in meeting with difficulties in view of the fact that the subject of poison gas is not on the agenda of the conference. Jugoslavia and Italy have assumed that a conference be convened for the purpose of solving the chemical warfare problem.

COOLIDGE BETTER, HAS FRESH ROUND OF PUMPHANDLING

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Coolidge, apparently recovered from an attack of indigestion suffered Saturday, returned to the White House today from a week-end cruise on the Mayflower and plunged immediately into his daily routine of work. The president and Mrs. Coolidge with a party of friends and the White House physicians left Washington Saturday. Last night the Mayflower anchored in the river near Washington, docking early today. The party had breakfast aboard after which Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge returned to the executive mansion. President Coolidge was described as feeling well and this was attested by a long engagement list, including many visitors who wished to shake hands with him.

COQUILLE PARTIES IN AUTO WRECK

L. B. McCool and Floyd Goodrich, of Coquille, Miss Mabel Williams, of North Bend, and Mrs. H. E. Liebhart, of Gwensmouth, Cal., were injured yesterday morning when the Ford coupe in which they were riding turned over near the Cold Springs auto camp early Sunday morning. They had attended the strawberry carnival in Roseburg and were on their way north when their car suddenly jackknifed, sending into a steep bank and rolling over twice on the pavement.

Mr. McCool and Miss Williams suffered bad cuts about the head and face, and were quite badly bruised. Mr. Goodrich and Mrs. Liebhart escaped with minor cuts and bruises. They were taken to the office of Dr. DeVore at Drain, and then called for a car from Coquille, which took them home last night.

GOOD PRICES ALL SEASON TO GREET STRAWBERRY CROP

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
PORTLAND, Ore., May 23.—The usual heavy Monday receipts came into the early berry market this morning but prices were high with some of the fancy stock selling up to $3.50 a crate. The bulk of the fruit went at $3 to $3.25 a crate with some small berries selling at $2.50 to 2.75.

With the strawberry harvest now in full swing it looks like good prices will rule throughout the season. Canned and juice canners start operations this week and growers are more or less independent of buyers on the early market. Home canning will also start the latter part of this week, but the amount of fruit put up this year will be curbed to some extent by the high prices. The crop is large in spite of the winter kill, due to the increase in acreage, and the quality of the fruit is excellent this year.

Foreign gardeners who are organized into strong associations will carry on a shipping business leading out their own cars this year instead of depending on produce houses as in the past. This will take care of the surplus berries on this market and so long ways towards maintaining the firm prices.

O. K. GIVEN BOOST IN GRAIN RATES NORTHWEST ZONE

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Increases in rates on grain and grain products, moving from northern Idaho to northern Pacific coast ports, suspended since last November, today received the approval of the interstate commerce commission. The commission has inquired into the effect of the increases and has found them reasonable insofar as they apply to the traffic to points north of and including Portland, Oregon.

Present rates from Coeur D'Alene, Idaho to Portland, are 25.5 cents per 100 pounds on wheat and will become 28 cents per 100 pounds under the increase. The change is illustrative of the result which the schedules have generally on Northern Idaho points. At the same time the commission refused to allow the railroads serving northern Idaho to advance existing rates on grain and grain products moving to California points, which was also proposed by the original schedule. The California rates will be held as they now stand.

A BRIDE'S DIARY

A Love Story of Today
By Idah McGlone Gibson

Cleo Madison entertaining a few friends, decides to read her grandmother's diary. Grandmother's diary is so quaint, so modest, that these modern-day girls are thunderstruck. When the girls go, Cleo thinks of her elopement with Paul.

Paul Winthrop planned for the immediate future. Her conscience is pricked by a passage of the modest, old-fashioned diary. For though engaged to Paul, she, only the night before enjoyed the kisses of Chick Adams. Both sets of parents opposed the match because at one time the families had been rich but now were social climbers, and the parents wanted each to marry money. Connie Terhune, wealthy, wanted to marry Paul. At a party, Chick Adams draws Cleo aside protesting that she should have come with him. Cleo doubts his love for Paul. Her grandmother's diary makes Cleo wonder. Paul protests his love for the girl. They are wed. Cleo's mother becomes hysterical. Connie shows again her jealousy. The fathers of the newly-weds rejoice. The honeymoon begins. The fierce flames of her love almost overwhelms Cleo. The honeymoon grows more ardent. The reception for the newly-weds shows Connie in her true light. Cleo becomes jealous. Chick Adams enters a plot. The young wife tells her "friend." The first tears of her married life come to Cleo. Paul and his wife decide to start out for themselves. Cleo sees Paul and Connie in fervent embraces.

Almost crazed by Ignor and jealousy Paul threatens Chick. The young husband accuses his wife as to a past. Contritely, Paul expresses his belief in Cleo. The quarrel is settled. Paul has forgotten to get the railroad tickets, but the matter is settled peaceably. Paul gives Connie the cold shoulder at the station, which pleases Cleo. The newlyweds start on their honeymoon. After a snappy discussion with Paul, Cleo goes to sleep in the Pullman chair, when Paul goes to the smoking compartment. Cleo has a mystic dream.

CLEO FATHOMS HER DREAM
I looked at that awful dragon and trembled in my dream. When I awakened I said to myself that it was only because the serpent was wholly deaf to outside influences that I was not gathered immediately into his slimy folds. It looked to me as though those long ugly, squirming tentacles had a recognized order of precedence for themselves. Thoughtlessness and selfishness seemed to reach out together for me first. They came so near me that I drew back in fear. Extravagance was also feeling about so near that I was afraid to move very far away from mine others because I was sure that I would fall into its clutches if I did. All at once from out of the mist that covered as far as I could see, I heard a voice saying solemnly: "You will never get out of the web of the little house in which love awaits you until both you and Paul can cut every tentacle from the dragon that guards the portal. They will have to be cut or pulled off close to the body of the serpent. Only by doing this can you hope to stop of the carnival.

ANTLERS THEATRE.
The Laura La Plante picture which is booked for the Antlers theatre commencing on Tuesday, "The Dangerous Blonde," was directed by Robert F. Hill, the man who made "Excitement," her first starring vehicle. When Laura La Plante played opposite Reginald Denny in "Sporting Youth," after a long series of leading roles in various Universal pictures, her work marked her conspicuously for the stardom. When "Excitement" was prepared, it was decided to give this new-picked star the best guidance, story and cast obtainable.

LIBERTY THEATRE.
Happy hokum. Jazzy joy, long laughs! That's what's waiting around the corner for the people of Roseburg, when "Sporting Youth," the great "Christie laughing hit," takes its place at the Liberty theatre, where it will remain for today and tomorrow. With John T. Murray, Wanda Hawley, Jimmie Adams, Jack Duffy, David James, Ethel Shannon and a host of other fun makers playing the leading roles under the direction of the great Scott Sidney, it is small wonder this is a whirlwind force that hits the public like a cyclone.

Manager Marks of the Liberty Theatre announces today that the movies taken here by the Oregonian news reel photographer during a Strawberry Carnival are being rushed through the developing process and will be hurried to this city for showing at his theatre tomorrow evening. The cameraman secured some excellent shots of the school children's parade, the Umpqua Chiefs and Squaws, the Queen and her maids and many other high lights
