She Wanted a Change
Betty had only lately been instructed in the matter of evening prayers, and her performance was exemplary until the occasion when she started her mother with the petition: "Bless Thy little pig to-night."

Gelatin as Food
The potential energy of gelatin is calculated to be even more than that of some fats and albumin, and yet in the body it is very inferior in the production of energy. It cannot, therefore, take the place of proteins for growth and repair and must be regarded solely as an albumin source. Neither can it replace albumin, the loss of which will go on to some extent even when gelatin is eaten in large quantities. It is used in the body very much like the carbohydrates and fats, i. e., not as a tissue builder, but as a fuel food.

"A Little Learning," Etc.
Some people imagine there's nothing more to learn. They know it all and cannot be told anything more. They are not only stand still while the world goes forward, but are awestruck to this fact, blame the world instead of themselves. They don't know enough to place blame where it belongs.—Grit.
