NEW CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HEAD IS GIVEN BANQUET

Lincoln Anties, who comes to Roseburg soon to assume the management of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce, has an enviable record in civic promotion work, built up largely at Bend, Oregon, where the citizens recently honored Mr. Anties a farewell banquet. Concerning the banquet, the Bend Bulletin of May 28 says:

Appreciation of the work done by L. Anties during his incumbency as secretary of the Bend Commercial club, sorrow at his departure, and congratulations to the commercial body of Roseburg in having secured his services were expressed by speakers on the program at the farewell dinner given last night for Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Anties. Representatives of the many organizations with which Anties has served, were in attendance, and the high points of his service, and the work done by Mrs. Anties, for several years a member of the Bend high school faculty, were told by one after another as the evening progressed.

The presentation of a watch, following appropriate remarks by H. H. De Armond, brought an emotional response from Anties in which, after expressing his gratitude for the gift, he urged on the community the importance of its civic organization, and bespoke for his successor even better cooperation than that which he himself has received.

Known as True Sportsman R. S. Hamilton, toastmaster, speaking for the Rod and Gun club, described Anties as a true sportsman, then delivered the farewell address of the evening in which he spoke of the retiring Bend secretary as one of the leading men in his line of work in the northwest, and declared that many developments now taking place in Bend, and others still in the future, are built upon foundation which Anties has laid.

Clarence L. Mannheim spoke for the merchants' association in praising Anties' work and predicting continued success for him in his new work, and Mrs. R. S. Dart spoke feelingly of the manner in which he has cooperated with the Women's Civic league, L. K. Crumb, who is succeeding Anties here, and Miss Nell Market, assistant to the secretary, were introduced.

An excellent musical program, including violin solos by Mrs. Jack Coyle, vocal solos by O. L. Kregness, and an impromptu quartet composed of Louis Bennett, Jack Coyle, R. S. McClure and Kregness singing a locally produced song, Mrs. R. S. Hamilton was at the piano as accompanist for each number on the program.

SECRETARY WEEKS PASSES ANOTHER RESTLESS NIGHT

(Associated Press Local Wire.) BOSTON, June 2.—Secretary of War, John W. Weeks, who was operated on last week at the Massachusetts Hospital for ailments, was somewhat better this morning, said a bulletin issued by his physicians shortly before 9 a. m., but his condition was still "not entirely satisfactory."

The bulletin, signed by Daniel Fiske Jones and P. Gorham Brigham, read:—"Secretary Weeks had a restless night until 2 a. m. Since then he has been sleeping comfortably. His condition is not entirely satisfactory, but is better than last evening. Temperature normal. Pulse 90."

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

P. H. Seeley, of Chicago, and Philadelphia, the noted "truss" expert, will personally be at the Umpqua Hotel, Monday, June 8. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—employing instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and unobtrusive—its use is a relief to the sufferer, and a relief to the physician, in large or difficult cases, or in incisional ruptures (following operations) especially so. This instrument received only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. Warnings—All cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or web truss with understraps, as same rest where the bump is and not where the opening is, producing complications necessitating surgical operations. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. He will be glad to demonstrate his method, and to answer all questions. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this city.

P. S.—Every statement in this notice has been verified before the Federal and State Courts.—P. H. Seeley, Home Office 117 N. Dearborn St., Chicago.

PERMITS NEEDED TO BUILD CAMPFIRES IN FOREST RESERVE

Camp fire permits are now required on all of the national forests in southern Oregon. By an agreement between the Umpqua, Cascade, Deschutes, Shastka and Crater forests, permits are required after the first of June, and persons entering any of these forests must secure a permit before they can build a camp fire. These permits may be obtained at any district ranger station or from certain designated firemen located at entrance points to the forests. In the Umpqua forest these stations are located at Guide, Tiller, Wolf Creek, Rajada, Big Camas and Diamond Lake. The rangers will also designate men located at various points who will be authorized to issue such permits to people entering the forests. Any ranger or fireman will have the right to arrest a person building a fire within the forest without having a permit in his possession.

Theatres

ANTLERS THEATRE. Outside, he knew detectives were watching and that his arrest was imminent. Why this woman defies convention; the strange things she was to hear from her hiding place in this man's apartment while he strove to outwit her, are all portrayed in "Hoffen, The Amateur Cracksmen," based upon the work of Ernest William Hornung and Eugene W. Presbey, a Universal-Jewel starring House Peters and coming at the Antlers Theatre tonight and Wednesday. It's a gripping treat. The greatest crook and most charming lover of dramatic history. Majestic Theatre. "Five thousand dollars reward for Bill's heart!" But it was not Bill's heart. It was "Wild Bill" Hickok's heart. In the old days when "Wild Bill" was the most feared of all peace officers, an enemy selected eight desperate characters and offered them $5,000 to kill "Wild Bill" and bring in his heart. The reward was tempting and the badmen set out in earnest fashion, intent on collecting. William S. Hart returns to the screen in "Wild Bill Hickok," a Paramount picture coming to the Majestic Theatre tonight. The romantic story of the noted two-man man is one of the most thrilling.

LIBERTY THEATRE

What is said by persons who have already seen it in special pre-release showings, to be one of the most gripping motion pictures ever made, is "Forgive and Forget," the new C. E. C. feature, which comes to the Liberty Theatre today for a two-day engagement only. Heralded as "the story of a woman's mistake," this supreme production features an all-star cast headed by Estelle Taylor and Pauline Garon and including such distinguished players as Wendham Standing, Raymond McKee, Josef Swickard, Philo McCullough, Vernon Steele and Lionel Belmore. Believing that the public is interested in stories of modern life, the Heinline Theatre has selected this picture for its central character, the producers have concentrated on making "Forgive and Forget" a story of life as it is lived today.

Suffered Two Years, Relieved by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Marshalltown, Iowa.—"At the time I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a telephone operator and had been suffering for two years with bearing-down pains and cramps in my legs. I could scarcely walk. At times I could not do any kind of work on account of my trouble. My mother was taking the medicine for the Change of Life and she thought it would help me and it did. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills. I recommend your medicine to my friends and I will answer all letters asking about them."—Mrs. P. E. EVERTS, Box 143, Marshalltown, Ia.

Mrs. Norton's Experience

I had no appetite, was restless at night and felt all run-down. My husband got me a bottle of the Vegetable Compound and I am surprised at the results after taking it."—Mrs. CLARENCE S. CODDLING MOTH CONTROL

(By B. W. COONEY) Apple and pear growers should apply the coddling moth spray at an early date. Possibly no other spray used in the control of insect pests requires a more timely application than the sprays used in the control of coddling moth. Careful efficient work, coupled with time by applications is the keynote. Growers will observe that the issuance of the moth to be quite erratic this season. This is largely due to weather conditions. Some experimental work was done last year in which one per cent emulsified oil was used in connection with the regular arsenic spray. It was found that this amount of oil did not injure apple or pear foliage or fruit and proved to be an ideal spreader as well as being very destructive to the coddling moth eggs.

The county agent would like to see a number of growers use one gallon emulsified oil to each 100 gallons spray plus 1 3/4 pounds arsenic of lead and if possible check results against the regular spray having no emulsified oil.

This spray seems to be pointing the way to the time when growers will be able to wipe out entirely the first brood of worms by a thorough destruction of the egg. In other words it means an attack against this pest at its weakest point, the egg stage. The oil spray seems to be the only spray yet discovered that will destroy the egg and not injure the foliage or fruit of apples or pears.

STATE MARKET AGENT DEPT. (C. E. Spence, Market Agent.) Michigan Follows Oregon

Following Oregon, Michigan has enacted a potato grading law that goes yet further in the way of standardization. It adopts the U. S. grades as standards and then makes it a misdemeanor for any retailer or dealer to have in his possession potatoes that are not graded and marked. Any stock that is not graded into the standard grades must be marked and sold as culls. The state legislature held that this law was needed, and then the state might hold its outside markets.

Dozen, Not "Pound"

In a recent bulletin giving the grades under the new egg-grading law the word "pound" was inadvertently used in place of "dozen," making the statement that fresh standard eggs should weigh not less than 15.6 ounces or 22 ounces to the pound. It should have read 22 ounces to the dozen.

Too Few Pay Too Much

Idaho has a fight on for a just distribution of taxation and the state Grange has been showing up the unequal way in which taxation is levied. The State Grange Master, W. W. Deal, says: "If all the taxable land shares its just responsibilities in support of government and education, including the development of our resources and building up of our high-ways, we will not need to cry 'trench' or 'reduce' in our economy development, for sufficient funds will be forthcoming without placing any burden upon the farmer, the business man or the home owner."

Crops Are Looking Good

All grain crops and crops generally are in good condition throughout the state. Weather conditions have been ideal for eastern Oregon and the big reseeded acreage of spring wheat is promising. Willamette valley crops are generally in fine condition for this time of year. The fruit crop is poor, especially cherries, prunes and apples, and the small fruits will not be near the average crop. The severe freeze of last December is generally given as the reason for the limited fruit crop.

For Poisoning the Douglas ground squirrel—the common gray digger—is the best season, say experiment station authorities.

During the months of May and June when the female and young are above ground they are readily exterminated. The squirrels are killed most effectively by means of poison grain. The grain is scattered along the squirrel trails and about the holes. Properly scattered poison does not endanger live stock, as the animals do not pick up enough to harm them.

The common barberry on which smut is dependent during the winter months in Oregon, is best destroyed in the spring and summer when the leaves are easily recognized, say experiment station specialists.

The bushes are dug completely out of the ground with care that no pieces of roots are overlooked. If pieces are left in the ground young sprouts may grow from them.

Vegetable gardeners in western Oregon can find nitrate of soda as a good top dressing on spinach if broadcast between rains, according to A. G. Bouquet, professor of vegetable gardening at the college.

It should not be applied, however, when the plants are wet. Superphosphate may be mixed with the nitrate of soda to make it easier to apply. The rate of application is 200 pounds of each an acre.

"Eat vegetables" for vitamins.

is the slogan on the attractive package labels recently issued by the Market Grower's Journal, national vegetable publication. The labels are in colors, with a basket of vegetables in the center, and space for the grower's name and advertisement. They are four by five inches in size and gummed for sticking to packages. The Market Grower's Journal offers them at the rate of $5.50 a 1000, and will be glad to submit samples to any vegetable grower who desires to use them to advertise his products.

A few hogs will go a long way toward paying the bills on any farm, but too many will eat up all the profit. Base the number of hogs to be kept on the amount of waste available for hog feed, says the Oregon experiment station.

"Keep cattle away from poisonous plants which are so abundant on the western ranges and certain parts of Oregon," says William E. Lawrence, ecologist of the experiment station at Corvallis. He also says that larkspur causes up to 10 per cent of the deaths, loco 5 to 50 per cent of the deaths that occur in individual herds of cattle, and leath camas or lupine cause 50 to 60 per cent of the deaths in bands of sheep that die on the ranges. Every stockman should know the leading poisonous plants, find out where they grow, and then manage the stock so that they do not have access to such plants. Cures cannot be relied upon because fully half of the deaths due to such plants occur before the suffering animals are discovered by their owners.

Control of the peach and prune borer, one of Oregon's worst insect enemies of peach and prune trees, is easy and cheap, as has been proved by the experiment station. The insects are controlled by placing paradichlorobenzene around the trees early in the fall when the temperature is high. After it has been properly distributed around the tree, it is covered with a few shovels of loose dirt to prevent its disturbance. When applied at the right time, the paradichlorobenzene kills 90 per cent or more of the insects.

Cabbage plants recently transplanted are likely to be injured by the attacks of green worms and aphids. A lead arsenate nicotine dust applied soon after transplanting is regarded by the experiment stations as the best preparation for the control of these insects in Oregon.

Sheep dip in a 2 per cent solution is a good disinfectant for the incubator before storing it away until next year. Thoroughly cleaning and disinfecting the inside of the machine, and washing up the trays is time well spent, advises the state college experiment station. Draining the water from the pipes prevents rusting.

Harry Thaw's Mother Acts as He Begins Another Broadway "Spree"

AS HE LOOKED AT TIME OF TRIAL

How long will it be before he is locked up again? The question is being buzzed along Broadway as Harry Thaw applies another coat of red paint to the Great White Way of which he once was king. The slayer of Stanford White, now gray-haired and broken, has been lavishing money and champagne on women and men friends since he made a sudden and dramatic reappearance in New York. His mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, who has spent more than $2,000,000 to keep him out of prison, is taking steps to end the "spree." Meanwhile, Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's divorced wife, is in Chicago, fearsome that Harry will injure her.

By Central Press NEW YORK, June 2.—How long will it be before he is locked up again? The question is being buzzed along Broadway while Harry K. Thaw is putting new doubts here and there on a town he has painted red more than once. The slayer of Stanford White, who gained his freedom from prison and asylum some months ago after a fight extending over years and costing $2,000,000 is a "man of the party" on the Great White Way. From Pittsburg comes the report that Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, his mother, is taking steps to cut short his "spree" and persuade him to go back to Virginia in the mansion where he has been living comparatively quietly since his release. He made his entrance into the bright-light district unheralded, and immediately began spending money right and left, and using champagne freely. Prohibition officers are interested in this phase of his activities. Meanwhile, his former wife, Evelyn Nesbit, over whom he murdered the architect, is in Chicago, dancing in a cabaret. She is reported to be in fear of her life. She has stated on more than one occasion that if Harry ever comes drinking again, he probably would try to kill her. However, he has made no attempt to see her in the mansion where he has been living
