“Pipe” tobacco —in every sense of the word

From start to finish—Granger Rough Cut is made for pipes! In the first place, it's made solely of ripe old Burley, the finest pipe tobacco that grows. Then it's cut for pipes (rough cut) to make it smoke slow and cool. But—most important of all—it is mellowed by the famous Wellman method, a secret process which makes Granger just about the smoothest-smoking, best-tasting tobacco you ever put in your pipe.

STATE PRESS COMMENT

Watch Your Youngster

A timely warning is given by W. H. Crawford of the National Safety Council in regard to the dangers faced daily by children at play. School is closing, and pent-up energy must find a vent. The bicycle, coaster wagon and roller skates offer attractive exercise, and for too many children the street is the only play space accessible. The schools have done much in the way of education against accident. The A. B. C's—Always Be Careful—have been taught in every schoolroom. But 7000 children met death by accident in America last year. Ninety per cent of these accidents were preventable by reasonable precaution.

It is another of the lessons that are never learned. Children are careless. Adults are careless. To the point of criminality. The only hope lies in constant repetition of the warning. The Safety First sign is appropriate in any situation.—Portland Telegram.

A Neighbor's Injustice.

California quarantines against Oregon cherries and potatoes. Herebefore she has furnished one of Oregon's best markets for this product. And her free and skillful use of this protective investment works hardship on Oregon growers. It ignores the principle of reciprocity and forces even her own citizens to put up with inferior products. It is generally admitted that Oregon potatoes are superior in quality to those grown in any other section of the Pacific coast.

The basis of the quarantine is the Colorado beetle which has been found in few places in Eastern Oregon. This insect attacks only the green vines and it appears to the observers that the quarantine if invoked at all should apply only to these vines and not to the portions of the Willamette valley where no beetles have been found. The quarantine on cherries is unreasonable since it also applies to sections of the state where the evil which is aimed at does not exist. And to shut out this fruit which has taken so long to mature and which is an extensive crop in this state, for so large an area is branded as unnecessary.

Our sister state by thus exercising her legal right subjects herself to the criticism of unfairness. Her action lends color to the accusation that these quarantines are cloaks of protection for her own industries. Let us hope her horticultural authority will modify these terms and foster reciprocal relations with Oregon in the marketing of all vegetable and horticultural products.—Salem Statesman.

Human nature is peculiar. This other day Minnesota gave Coolidge a tremendous reception. Only a few short years before they showed him scant respect when as vice-president he addressed them at their state fair.

Of course, Mr. Coolidge was not president then. In the interim he has emerged from the overshadowed vice-presidency into the full glare of the publicity which attends the presidency.

This advancement explains the difference between the two greetings. Yet it was the same Mr. Coolidge in 1925 as it was in 1923.

We see manifestations of the same trait all around us every day. Some chap whom the nabobs never have recognized as amounting to anything strikes it rich from some modest investments or he receives a big inheritance or he is suddenly called to some place of large responsibility and right, then the attitude of his fellows toward him changes pronto.

This same fellow who hasn't amounted to anything, becomes the center of everyone's attention the moment he wins a fortune or achieves a position of large responsibility. The very fellows who thought they were doing the popular thing when they ignored him, are the first ones usually to ask him into their so-called exclusive circles. All of us love to bank in the light of the other fellow's glory after all. And so it's not always safe to look down on our bootblack or our head waiters. They might strike it rich some day and then they will be eligible to our companionship.

Doubtless the very men who jeered Mr. Coolidge in 1923 when his speech interested with the horse races, were the first to cheer him the other day.—Albany Herald-Democrat.

Our Fish Experts

Some of his own partisans are criticizing the governor for making political trade and barter of his fish commission appointments. Why? Aside from the fact that nobody on the fish commission from now on will be able to tell a royal chinook salmon from a wide-mouthed pike, the governor's appointments are good. And as for his making political trade and barter of the appointments, did the governor's critics expect the sturgeon to change his fins?—Eugene Guard.

China's Troubles

Present disturbances in China are not a repetition of that blind striking out against foreigners that now is exhibited in the Boxer rebellion. In the twenty-five years that have elapsed since that historic disturbance, China has come a long way toward understanding the outside world and herself.

China is awakening—particularly along the coast, where she comes into close association with the Western world. In this belt China has come to be industrialized. Factories are taking the place of the thousands of little family industries. The factory workers, thrown together, are coming to acquire a mass and class consciousness. Their scale of living is rising. The workers need more than they are paid; and for this reason they are disturbing the existing order of things.

Chinese workmen do not like to be exploited any more than do Western workmen. But they are exploited. The Chinese government statistics show that in 25 leading industries the average maximum wages of 200,000 men range from 20 to 50 cents a day and the minimum from 1 to 7 cents a day. In the same number of industries the maximum wages of 200,000 women range from 23 cents to 42 cents a day and the minimum from 1 to 17 cents.

China is a past master with the boycott. China can refrain from the use of goods to a limit incredible to Westerners. Naturally, therefore, as factory workers, they can hold out in a strike to an incredible degree. Our news service attributes much of this agitation to Bolshevik propagandists from Russia. But this is a minor influence, according to reliable authorities.

The world powers are not justified in interfering in these disturbances except to protect persons and property from mob violence when local government fails. China should be permitted to work out her own industrial problems in her own way if that be an orderly way. The mass consciousness of industrial China may be a step toward national consciousness, a virtue that China lacks. But once she attains it, she will settle her own internal problems without interference from abroad.—Portland Telegram.

COOLIDGE CANS PREDATORY CAT AT WHITE HOUSE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Blackie, coal black White House cat, has incurred official disfavor and has been shorn of his rank.

Although fed plenty of choice scraps of food from the President's table, Blackie developed an appetite for birds and squirrels. Lately he has done so much day and night prowling around the White House grounds looking for easy prey, that Mr. Coolidge decided to give him away.

Today Blackie is in new surroundings at the home of a White House secret service man on the outskirts of Washington. The cat is the third White House pet to fall to measure up to official requirements. Tige, a feline of an unusually dissolute nature, would not stay at home and has given up as a hopeless case, while Paul Fry, the Airedale pup, became so officious that he had to be muzzled.

CAILLAUX TELLS CABINET TO USE PRUNING KNIFE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PARIS, June 12.—Finance Minister Caillaux today urged a policy of economy at a meeting of the French cabinet. The ministers promised him they would trim expenses to the utmost. M. Caillaux said France must live within her income, and must get that income by taxation alone if she expected the world to have confidence in French finance.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12.—William Kinzell, a grocer, whose store has been robbed three times lately, early today fired a shotgun at a burglar who broke into the place. The intruder fled, wounded. Kinzell had been sleeping in the rear of the store recently, to watch.

MARK BROOM GETS MORE TIME TO ENTER PLEAS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

EUGENE, Ore., June 12.—Motions to quash the six indictments against Mark Broom, held in the county jail on liquor charges, were filed today in Circuit Court by Paul R. Dormitzer, all of which were handed down by grand jury in 1923, were "stale for want of prosecution" and that the defendant was not a fugitive from justice was but was amenable to arrest at all times as he was in the jurisdiction of the court. Broom appeared before Judge G. F. Skipworth this morning to plead to the charges but his attorney asked for additional time while he filed the motions. The court set next Tuesday as the time to enter the pleas.

INCH-AND-QUARTER JIMMY TEN YEARS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12.—Alex Gerlach, known to the police as "inch and a quarter Jimmy" was sentenced by Judge Morrow this afternoon to serve ten years in state prison following a plea from not guilty to guilty. His attorney, A. F. Knight, asked for parole, but Judge Morrow hastily rejected it with this statement: "If this man is entitled to a parole, then there is no use arresting any criminal or maintaining any prisons." "Inch and a quarter Jimmy" was charged with robbing 150 east side homes last winter and was shot when he was captured.

CUPID WILL SOON GIVE COOLIDGES DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, June 12.—A Hartford dispatch in today's New York Times says:

"John Coolidge, the president's son, is the guest of Governor Jonathan Trumbull of Connecticut. He has been at the governor's home in Plainville for three days.

"The president's son met Jean Trumbull, the governor's daughter on the way to the presidential inauguration on March fourth, when the governor's party and young Coolidge traveled in the same pullman car.

"Miss Trumbull is a student at Mount Holyoke while Coolidge is an undergraduate at Amherst, only a few miles distant. The young people have seen each other several times since then."

PLANS REVISED

Plans are being revised for the concrete building to be erected by Al Creason in North Roseburg, the change being made necessary by the trading to the city of a strip of land on the east side of the lots upon which the building was to be constructed. This will make the building narrower by almost one-third on the front, and as a consequence the plans must be altered considerably. The plans and specifications are being drawn by Architect F. E. Alley.

Assisting in Sale

Paul Maler, who is associated with his uncle, C. J. Breier, in the company stores along the coast, and Wm. Petersen, of Eugene, vice president of the C. J. Breier company, arrived in Roseburg today and are assisting Manager Golbert in getting ready for the big fire sale which will be inaugurated next Monday. Mr. Maler stated today that a clean sweep would be made of every article in the entire stock, nothing being held over. The policy of the company is to dispose of all the wearing apparel that was in the store on the night of the fire before the new goods arrive. Mr. Maler is the New York buyer for the Breier stores, and says that as soon as the old goods are disposed of and the building renovated that the new stock will be ready.

STRAWBERRIES ADVANCE.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12.—The strawberry deal is well advanced and prices will be on the upward trend from now on. The peak was reached the day after Decoration Day when the fruit dropped to $1.50 a crate on the early market. That was probably the low price for the season. This morning growers obtained $1.75 to $2.00 for strawberries on the early market.
