TWISTED WRECK OF PASSENGER TRAIN BURIES SCORES

Twenty-Nine Dead and 69 Injured in New Jersey Smash.

LANDSLIDE WAS CAUSE

Crew and Passengers Killed as Train Leaves Track—Was Emigrant Ship-ment Train.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16.—The toll of dead in the wreck of a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway special emigrant train near here early today, mounted to thirty-two at six o'clock tonight. Thirty-six persons are in a critical condition in hospitals.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16.—Twenty-nine persons are dead and 69 are injured in hospitals as a result of the wrecking today of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway shipment emigrant train at Rockport, New Jersey.

Twenty of the dead succumbed to injuries after being taken to hospitals. Others of the injured may die.

The wreck was caused, according to railroad officials, by an earth slide in last night's storm. The train was filled with emigrants, returning for a visit to their native land, accompanied by children and grandchildren. The cars were decorated with banners reading: "See the Old Country Again."

The accident occurred in what is known as the Rockport Sag, where the rails, although on a long straightway, dip into a hollow and then rise. The trains generally speed down the grade and take the rise on the momentum.

Those who reached the wreck first could see the body of Fred Loomis, the engineer, his hand still on the throttle together with his fireman.

On the ploughed roadbed beneath the locomotive lay the twisted body of a little girl in flimsy night gown.

Mrs. Duncan Dunn, who lives about 500 yards from the crash, sounded the first alarm. She telephoned physicians, who called hospitals at Dover, Phillipsburg, Easton and Morristown. Hundreds of rescue workers had arrived by daylight and two relief trains began receiving the injured.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16.—At least fifteen are believed to have been killed and scores injured in the wreck of a special seven-car Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad train mile west of here today.

Twisted by lightning and under- mined by heavy rains the tracks gave way beneath the train and the cars and engine piled up on one another.

LITTLE INTEREST IN SCHOOL VOTE TAKEN YESTERDAY

Very little interest attended the school meeting and election held yesterday for the purpose of electing a school director. The election was held for the purpose of choosing a director to take the place of B. W. Taylor, whose term expired. As Mr. Taylor refused to become a candidate for re-election, the only candidate was Mr. John Reese of West Roseburg, who was unanimously elected, only 23 votes being cast. Mr. Reese is a well known resident of West Roseburg, and has long been interested in school affairs, and will serve the district well in the position to which he has been elected. He has kept in close touch with school activities and will be able to faithfully discharge the duties of director. Mr. Taylor who retired from the board, has been very efficient as a director, and during the past year, as chairman of the board, has piloted the governing body through many a strenuous meeting, and has accomplished a great deal of valuable work for the district.

COUNCIL GIVES APPROVAL FOR BOXING BOARD

Commission Plan Wins by Vote of 5 to 2—Arguments Pro and Con.

HINT REFERENDUM

Plan to Knock Out Action of Council—Rev. Dodge Favors and Rev. McCullagh Opposes.

By a vote of 5 to 2 the city council last night voted to establish a boxing commission in the city. The ordinance as adopted last night provides for a commission to supervise all athletic events involving boxing and wrestling and assures the public of good clean sports. The plan has been under consideration for some time and the councilmen delved into the proposition thoroughly, convincing themselves that it was absolutely legitimate and the only proper way to give the citizens matches that were worth while. Some talk has been made of a referendum against the commission and it is probable that those opposed to the plan will circulate petitions. The council only asks that the matter be given a fair trial and if it is then proven unsatisfactory they will of course revoke the commission.

The boxing commission proposition was started recently by the newly formed athletic club, which filed a petition signed by about 200 business men of the city asking for the appointment of a commission, and an ordinance providing for the appointment of five men by the mayor, with the approval of the council, was prepared. It came up for final adoption last night, to (Continued on page 2.)

KLAMATH GANG SHOOTS DEPUTY IN PISTOL DUEL

Sheriff's Posse and Trio of Bootleggers Stage Battle at Olene.

THREE ARE INJURED

Fight Follows Holdup Attempt and Shooting at Woman—Two in Jail, One in Hospital.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., June 16.—Three men were wounded at Olene, nine miles east of Klamath Falls last night in a gun fight between a sheriff's posse and three men who were reported to have been terrifying the people of the community. Ed Kendall, deputy sheriff, is in a local hospital with bullet wounds in his arm and leg, and will undergo an operation later this morning in an effort to save his arm. Attending surgeons say his condition is serious.

Jim Burke, one of the alleged disturbers, also is in a hospital with a bullet wound in his foot, while an unidentified man, who was struck in the leg by a stray bullet has not yet been located by authorities.

Sheriff Burt Hawkins rounded up Burke and two of his alleged companions after Kendall had fallen to the ground from loss of blood. Ed Fuller and his son, J. Fuller, were the other two under arrest as a result of the affray.

Residents of the Olene district telephoned to the sheriff's office last night that three men were terrorizing people of that section. They were reported to have fired several shots at a passing woman autoist, and to have attempted to hold up a man a few minutes later.

When Sheriff Hawkins and Deputy Kendall arrived at the scene, they saw a small auto parked in a secluded spot off the roadway, with two of the three men crouched behind the car. As Kendall shouted for them to throw up their hands, the man giving the name of Burke is said to have opened instant fire. The first bullet shattered Kendall's left arm and shoulder. A moment later Kendall felt the sting of a bullet in his left leg. In the gun play which followed, Kendall felled Burke with a bullet wound in the foot, was Sheriff Hawkins' version of the encounter.

MEDFORD, Ore., June 16.—Adjutant-General George A. White and sixteen of the National Guard officers from the state encampment at Camp Jackson, were guests last night at a banquet held in the old United States Hotel, where President Hays was a guest in 1880, at Jacksonville, given by the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and the Medford Crater Club.

SMALL BOY DROWNED

EUGENE, Ore., June 16.—Claude Raymond Keck, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Keck of Junction City, was drowned yesterday evening at about 6 o'clock at Keck's lake, a pond on the Keck place in North Junction City.

The tot had been with his grandfather, but disappeared for the moment. A search for him proved fruitless, until his body was found in the water. A pulmotor was used in a vain effort to resuscitate him. Besides his parents, he is survived by an infant sister.

PLOT TO MARKET STOLEN BONDS IS FOUND IN L. A.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 16.—Evidence of a gigantic plot to market stolen bonds from Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis today spurred federal and county officials to an intensive search for John W. Worthington of Chicago, so-called "Wolf of La Salle Street," who disappeared from a sanitarium near here last Wednesday.

The nationally known bond broker, convicted in Chicago and facing a term in Atlanta prison, was variously reported as dying and recuperating at the sanitarium, when he dropped from sight last week with his daughter, Alice Worthington.

Negotiable securities stolen from the Security Trust and Deposit Company of Chicago, aggregating approximately $148,000 in value have been traced to Southern California, said County District Attorney Asa Keyes here today. Numbers identical with some of those on the stolen bonds have been located on sales slips said to have been issued by Worthington or his associates.

Advices received from Chicago, Keyes added, point to a connection between Worthington and the Miller gang of Chicago, whose leader in a number of large robberies now is serving a penitentiary sentence.

Negotiable securities from Kansas City and St. Louis, stolen in recent raids on banking and trust institutions also have found their way to this section, Keyes said, and his investigations, he declared, were centering about the theory that a clearing house for such loot had been established in Los Angeles.

DAMAGE ACTION IS RESULT OF MISHAP INVOLVING BUSSEY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
COTTAGE GROVE, Ore., June 16.—The Standard Oil Company and C. H. Bussey, manager of the company's plant here, are defendants in a circuit suit filed by G. M. Swineheart, husband of Mrs. Margaret M. Swineheart, who was killed in an automobile accident here several weeks ago. It is alleged in the complaint that the accident was due to the carelessness of Mr. Bussey, driver of the car which struck Mrs. Swineheart.

Judgment for $10,000 general damages and for other expenses totaling $533.65 is sought.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
LAHAINA, Island of Maui, T. H., June 16.—A sampan overturned in the swift current off Molokai Island. Fifteen of the 16 occupants of the craft clung to the capsized shell while their extremities dangled in the shark infested waters.

CITY'S TRAFFIC LAW CHANGED BY NEW ORDINANCE

Council Adopts New Regulation to Control Auto Travel in City.

MEETS THE STATE LAW

Cars Must Slow Down to 5 Miles Entering Pacific Highway; New Parking Rules Made.

The city's new traffic ordinance, which makes a number of changes in the regulations regarding motor vehicle traffic, was passed last night by the city council and will become effective within 30 days, having been approved and signed by the mayor. This ordinance repeals all former provisions, and establishes a complete new set of rules governing auto travel within the city. It is based entirely upon the new state law, and embodies the provisions of that law together with such other regulations as are necessary for control within the city.

The ordinance requires that any car turning into any of the streets used as the Pacific highway, must slow down to a speed of five miles an hour, this provision being identical with the state law. It also prohibits turning in intersections on the main streets, and limits speed to 20 miles an hour on all streets and to 12 miles an hour on intersections and in front of school houses. Parking regulations and limits are also contained in the ordinance.

All of Section 1 is devoted to definitions of the terms used within the ordinance. Section 2 takes up the rules and regulations, the first part being merely a review of the state rules of the road, regarding right of way, passing, keeping to the right, signals, etc. Subdivision six provides that "drivers, when approaching street or highway intersections, shall look out for and give right of way to vehicles on their right, simultaneously approaching a given point; provided, however, that interurban cars and emergency vehicles shall have the right of way at all times at such street or highway intersection, and provided further that it shall be unlawful for the driver of any vehicle to cause or allow such vehicle to enter or cross any of the streets of the City of Roseburg designated as a part of the Pacific highway at a speed in excess of five miles per hour."

Subdivision 7 and 8 provide for turning at intersections, requiring arm or other signals to be given, these provisions being the same as the state road rules, except for the last paragraph, which is as follows: "No vehicle shall be turned around in any street in the city of Roseburg except at street intersections, and no vehicle shall be turned in any of the street intersections on Jackson street, Cass (Continued on page 6.)"

SUMMARY

by Washington Observers
Show Three Phases of

CHINESE TROUBLES

Outbreaks; War in North China May Result From

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, June 16.—Three distinct phases of the troubles in China take form as the result of study of the Washington government's mass of reports from that country and a canvass of expert opinion in government circles.

Canton has been recaptured from Yunnanese defenders by Cantonese soldiers representing the radical wing of the followers of the late Sun Yat-Sen.

An anti-foreign agitation springing from troubles in Shanghai has spread up the Yangtze river, causing disorders in many cities. A conflict which western observers think may overshadow all other developments before the end of 1925 impends in northern China between rival military powers, with Peking and the armed domination of most of China as the prize.

There is no direct connection among the three phases. The battle for Canton and the impending conflict in the north are primarily the outgrowth of domestic policies and, except incidentally, have no anti-foreign aspects. That the three sources of concern for western nations do interlock, however, is evidenced through the fact that every official report received in Washington for months has emphasized the influence of Soviet Russia, first in the anti-foreign agitation; second, in the fight to recapture Canton, and third, in the preparations for civil war in the north.

With no possession of Canton apparently decided and Chang Feng still at peace, attention centers for the moment on the second phase. The anti-foreign movement is of long and steady growth, and reports reaching Washington have emphasized the probability that it may result in seriously curtailing the extra-territorial rights and immunities now enjoyed by foreign residents in China by virtue of decades-old treaties.

Troubles in Japan cotton mills employing Chinese labor furnished the motive to fire the train set long ago. It has run along the Yangtze valley with a rapidity startling to the best-informed Washington observers. Outbreaks are reported from Chinkiang, Nankiang, Hankow, Changsha and a score of other places, including Hankow, north of the river, in Honan province. Hankow and Kiangkiang have produced serious anti-foreign disorders and fears have been expressed for the safety of the missionary summer college at Yuling near Kiangkiang. The government's observers have foreseen this anti-foreign movement of nationalistic spirit in China for several years. More than a year ago an estimate of this situation contained in an unpublished government report said:

"Throughout all classes (in China), can be seen an organized movement to take away from the foreigners those special privileges which years of intimidation and clever diplomacy have given them. 'The violations of treaty rights will probably be done in a way that will not provoke armed retaliation from the war-weary powers. Any widespread massacre of foreigners is highly improbable and that alone would arouse the voice of the white nations for armed intervention. 'It is probable that the future status of the white man will become, as regards safety of life and property, not much above that of the Chinese themselves.

Thus far, not directly connected either with Canton nor the anti-foreign wave in the Yangtze valley, looms hostility in Northern China between Chang Tso-Lin, war lord of Manchuria, and now in control of Chihli, Shanghai, Kiangsu, Anhui and Chekiang provinces, and Feng Yu-Hsiang, the so-called Christian general with an avowedly anti-foreign bias, at Kalgan, 150 miles northwest of Canton, notes his time for throwing off the overlordship of Chang, which he had to acknowledge last winter, after the two combined treachery and military force to dislodge Wu Pei-Fu, then chief of the Chihli party and master of the Peking government in this impending conflict the prize is Peking and military domination of nearly all of China.

Chang nearly won it last year, but even though he defeated Wu, Feng remained a thorn in his side, safe out of harm's way at Kalgan, where he had been able to control the Chinese chards and Suiyuan districts and make alliances with the military rulers of Honan and Hupei provinces and elsewhere, and hold up his military resources. Neither Chang nor Feng are avowedly anti-foreign. Chang has alienated himself against the bolshevik influence, by opposing the Soviet in the disposition of the Chinese Eastern Railway and enrolling in his forces many of the "white guards," remnants of the former Tsarist armies. If Chang and Feng fight, two foreign powers will be primarily interested. The Soviet, in popular opinion, would welcome a victory for the "Christian general," while the Manchurian war lord is considered to have the moral support of Japan.

NO NEW OUTBREAKS

British Consul Makes Vigorous Protest Over Killing of British Subject by Agitators.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, June 16.—Opposition to the United States being drawn into the situation in China was expressed today by Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee, in a cablegram to an American citizen in the troubled zone.

SHANGHAI, June 16.—The British Consul-General here today vigorously protested to the civil governor and also to the foreign commissioner because of the killing of William W. MacKenzie, a British subject, last night. MacKenzie was shot by Chinese agitators.

SHANGHAI, June 16.—One foreign life for every Chinese life taken in the Shanghai riots was the slogan adopted by the Chinese in posters distributed today after the killing of William W. MacKenzie, an English subject, yesterday. Otherwise the situation remained unchanged and this was a seething city of indignation and unrest.

Further reports received up to 11 o'clock tonight from Chinkiang, Kiangkiang and Nanking (ports on the Yangtze river) described the situation at those points as increasingly grave.

Foreigners at Nanking are considered in danger. Chinese employed there by Japanese and British firms are on strike. The British consul and his family are reported to have taken up residence at the American consulate. The principal menace at Nanking, however, lies in the possible cutting off of the water and food supplies.

PEKING, June 16.—Responding to representations from foreign legations, the Peking government today brought detachments of General Feng Yu-Hsiang troops into the city for guard duty, and also posted pickets outside the principal offices of foreign firms and foreign residents.

Several companies of General Chang Tso-Lin's troops also arrived in Peking this afternoon, but it is doubtful that they will be able to co-operate with General Feng's men.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Anti-foreign agitation in the Canton vicinity is causing uneasiness in that place and nearby cities, Consul-General Jenkins informed the state department in a dispatch sent from Canton June 14, and received today.

Burning and Looting of Steel Corporation Property Staged Under Eyes of Troops by Striking Workers

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SYDN, N. S., June 16.—Incendiary and looting attending the strike of 12,000 miners broke out with renewed vigor early today despite the presence of more than 500 dominion troops and special miners' police. The bank head screen of the unused colliery of the British Empire Steel Corporation at New Aberdeen was destroyed by fire.

Barbed wire entanglements had been thrown about the property, searchlights were playing and troopers were on guard throughout the night.

Retail stores owned by private individuals at Gras D'Or and Flor-de-lis were looted by mobs of several hundred men. The mines give the appearance of armed camps. More troops were on the way from Ottawa and Toronto, including detachments of the famous Royal Dragoons.

The walkout in the Cape Breton area was called by United Mine Workers officials last March as the result of a wage dispute with the company during which the miners' credit at the stores had been cut off.

James Murdoch, Canadian minister of labor, arrived here today to offer his services as mediator in what he has called the "too long drawn out" struggle between the steel corporation and the miners. He will study the situation for both sides.
