BADGE AUTHORIZED EX-SERVICE MEN AS CIVILIAN EMBLEM

Ask for Horlick's Safe Milk and Diet For Infants, Invalids, The Aged Nourishing - Digestible - No Cooking. Avoid Imitations - Substitutes

(WASHINGTON, June 17.—A badge for wear with civilian clothes and to denote service in the army was authorized by the war department. It will be procured through the quartermaster corps and made available by authorized agencies of the government.

LANDLORD DIDN'T LIKE THE IDEA OF TWO WEEKLY BATHS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) BERKELEY, Cal., June 17.—B. C. Conlogue drew the water for his bath today and his landlord called the police. It appears that the landlord, Gus Paulson, had informed Conlogue that he would have to forego the bath as he had already taken one "tub" this week and that was all that the rules of the house called for.

EXPLORER TURNS ASIDE TO GREET-OLD FRIENDS.

WISGASSETT, Maine, June 16.—Boston and Wisgasset will each give a semi-official sendoff to the Donald E. McMillan Arctic expedition this month, but the island of Monhegan will have the distinction of being the final take-off point of the explorer, friends of McMillan assert. This is explained as in accord with his request.

SCIENCE AIDS IN SOLVING FORESTRY PROBLEM, CLAIMED

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., June 17.—How science is helping in the solving of the forestry problems of the country formed the general subject discussed today at meeting of the Pacific division of the American Association for the advancement of science, which is being held at Reed College here.

Among the speakers today were A. W. Cooper, Portland secretary-manager of the Western Pine Manufacturers Association; Hugo Winklerwerder, dean of the college of forestry, University of Washington, Seattle; C. G. Bates, director of the Rocky Mountain experimental station, Colorado Springs, Colo.; E. P. Melnecke, chief pathologist, United States Bureau of Plant Industry, San Francisco, and J. M. Swaine, Ottawa, Canada.

Dr. C. E. Grunsky, of San Francisco, president of the Pacific division, will address a meeting tonight, his subject being the climate of the ice age.

Heat with gas. ORGANIST DECLARES ORGAN ONLY A FAKE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) CHICAGO, June 17.—Many persons judge organs in self-confident ignorance, imagining the arts hold no mysteries for them. S. W. Williams, of Los Angeles, Cal., told the fourth general convention of the American Guild of Organists here yesterday.

"In our city," he continued, "there is an organ which is widely advertised as the 'lightest in the world,' having 'upwards of ten thousand pipes' and 'to be heard miles.' Fortunately the last statement is as inaccurate as the former. The organ has, I understand, 18 sets of pipes, 14,816 by upwards of ten thousands and you have the answer 'per stop.' Horrify for our climate and what it does for some of us.

WHY SUFFER SO? Get Back Your Health as Other Roseburg Folks Have Done.

Too many people suffer lame, aching backs, distressing kidney disorders and rheumatic aches and pains. Often this is due to faulty kidney action and there's danger of hardened arteries, dropsy, gravel or bright's disease. Don't let weak kidneys wear you out. Use Doan's Pills before it is too late!

Doan's Pills are a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Here is one of many Roseburg cases: Mrs. Mamie Sager, 526 Court St., says: "I know Doan's Pills are a splendid remedy for they have always been used in my family with good results. When my kidneys troubled me and my back felt weak and lame I used Doan's and they soon corrected the trouble and put my kidneys in good condition."

MISSIONARIES IN CHINA REPORTED TO BE IN NO DANGER

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) A letter from the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church, announcing that all the missionaries of that church in China are safe, was received today by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Abraham, whose daughter, Dorothy, is an instructor in the True Light University, Miss. Abraham is located at Canton, in the very heart of the Chinese trouble, and naturally her parents have been quite anxious regarding her safety, and the letter received is very encouraging.

Dear Friends: It is a pleasure to report to you the receipt today of a code cablegram from the Secretary of the South China Mission in Canton, China, reading in translation as follows: "No anti-foreign disturbances. All are safe. Notify relatives. Mr. O. W. McMillen."

We should also keep in mind that the missionaries have the full authority of the Board to take whatever steps they believe to be wise for their welfare and safety in any emergency and as they know the situation at first hand the Board places large confidence in their opinion and actions.

Praying with you that the present disturbance in China may soon pass and that the Chinese people will move forward steadily along the lines which Christian missionaries are trying to lead them, I am Very sincerely yours, GEORGE T. SCOTT.

SPRINGFIELD IN ROW WITH EUGENE OVER S. P. TERMINAL

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., June 17.—Vigorous opposition will be waged by residents of Springfield to the proposal of business men of Eugene to vote a bond issue of $150,000 to be used to purchase 200 acres of land, owned by the Southern Pacific railroad system in exchange for the railroad's tract at Springfield, acquired some years ago when the Eugene-Klamath Falls cutoff was started.

"Springfield and Eugene are only a few miles apart," said Mr. Perkins, "and ultimately they will be one city, but the people of Springfield resent the effort of Eugene in seeking to possess the site of the railroad's proposed shops and junction of the Southern Pacific main line with the so-called Natron tuff to Klamath Falls. Springfield's growth has been based largely on the selection of that town as the railroad junction and prospective development as the shop center of the Southern Pacific in Central Western Oregon."

A BRIDE'S DIARY A Love Story of Today By Idah McGlone Gibson

Cleo Madison, entertaining friends, reads from her grandmother's quaint, modest diary. The happier friends are thunderstruck at its quaintness and suppressed desires. When the girls leave, Cleo plans her elopement with Paul Armstrong, U. S. A., a boyhood sweetheart, to whom she has indulged in a petting party with Chick Adams that evening. Chick is wealthy and Cleo's parents wish her to marry him, so does Chick. Paul's parents, also social climbers who have lost their money, wish Paul to marry Connie Terhune, very rich and in love with Paul.

"My mother, trying hard to get rid of me, never told me that the man she was urging me to marry not only had those vices which most men condone, because they only hurt women, but he had once or twice been on the verge of being expelled from West Point because he had been suspected of stealing and cheating. This could not be proved, however, and he was allowed to be graduated."

"I was not quite 18 years old when I was married. My mother let me go to Bill Thorndike, who was steeped in every actual iniquity, clothed in innocence which no one would believe possible in this day and age. The gentle nuns had told me nothing. They had even kept from me all romantic books and I was allowed to see no plays which would awaken my childish curiosity. Well, I learned with cruel quickness that the man I had married was a beast and, from being afraid of him, I began to hate him even before I had been married a week.

"Instead, this income and principal reverted to my mother when I married. Of course, when Bill found this out he was insane with disappointment, and he blamed me for not telling him, I could no more have done this than I could have asked him about his own financial affairs which were in a very bad way. He had only his pay and was greatly in debt. "All his disappointment, all his chagrin at 'being taken in,' as he expressed it, was poured out on me. Almost from the first he hated and despised me and I hated and feared him."

"I wonder, Cleo, if you will let me talk to you a little. It seems to me that you have been very kind to me. I have reached a point where I must have advice, or at least a certain amount of sympathy from some other woman. Last night you saw the women at this party. I expect they thought they were in my sex, but I don't believe that if you were in great trouble you could go to any of them any more than I could.

"So when you asked me to come today, I jumped at the chance of being with my own kind. By that I mean being with women of my own age and trend of thought. I don't think I had consciously determined, when I started for your house, to tell you what I am going to tell you now, but I must open my heart to somebody or it will break. I never knew my father, Cleo, and my mother has always been a selfish frivolous woman, who, strange as it may seem, never had any love for me. In fact, I think my growing up into womanhood made her hate me, as I was a reminder of her years."

"When Lieutenant William Thorndike came home from West Point about five years ago and evinced a little interest in me my mother, merely to throw me at his head, she had told him that she had a girl that here was a good time to get rid of me, as she knew that young Thorndike would be sent to some army post, the more distant, the better. "Bill Thorndike was the first man that had ever paid any attention to me. I had always been in a convent. My mother did not even allow me to come home during vacations. Although I was 18 years old, I had less worldly knowledge than a child of 6. "I know that no Christian maid was ever thrown into a convent, where a heart was waiting to devour her, with less pity than I was flung into the arms of the dashing young army officer whose reputation was already very bad. I was fascinated with Bill from the first. He was five years older than I, and both he and my mother made me think I was quite
