PAINTER HAS SIX REASONS FOR HIS DIVORCE, DECIDED

NEW YORK, June 27.—Pierre Tartou, portrait painter, can now obtain a divorce since a jury has found that the acts of his wife on six occasions entitle him to it. The same jury absolved Tartou yesterday on counter charges of a similar nature. His victory is the first in five years in the supreme court where a divorce action was contested by a woman.

Former chauffeurs of Mrs. Tartou gave testimony concerning her impropriety. Among those named was Renato Zanelli, Metropolitan opera baritone.

Claudia Windsor Tartou was married to the artist in 1919. He was her third husband.

Mr. Tartou said that he expects to resume work shortly on a painting of President Coolidge and his father.

Mrs. Tartou, the daughter of Mrs. R. Mermet of Portland, Ore., was adopted in 1922 as a daughter by Countess Clarel De Touqueville de Rampan de Chanquetot.

ROAD TO RIM OF CRATER LAKE TO BE OPEN SUNDAY

Battle Waged by Shovel Crews Against Deep Snow Is Ended.

HEAT IS HANDICAP

Rapid Melting of Snow Causes Serious Drainage Problem; Guests to Be Cared For.

Travel to the very rim of Crater Lake will set in Sunday, June 28th. Thus the battle between snow drifts and long-handled shovels welded by husky blue-eyed men is won by the shovels with a three-day margin. The unusually hot weather prevailing for four days has been a handicap rather than an asset, causing rapid melting in the newly cut snow and imposing many drainage problems.

The severe hot spell in the lowlands has driven thousands of vacationists into the mountains, so that pre-season travel into the park is unusually heavy. All of the camp grounds excepting those at the rim and at Government Camp are already open, with sufficient snow retained in adjacent heavier forests to furnish both sport and refrigeration for campers who "dude" it.

Illustrative of the wide variance of duties imposed upon park officers Wednesday and Thursday a crew of men were fighting a three-acre forest fire caused by lightning, while another crew were shoveling through six feet of snow the last mile of road to the rim. The diversion of any more men from the snow crew to the fire-fighting gang will necessarily delay the opening of the last mile.

The hotel operators are already in the park and announce that, while full service will not be inaugurated until July 1st, the official date, nevertheless guests will be well cared for in an informal way. The ranger stations will be functioning June 27th, water supply and sanitary provisions in operation, and park operations in general fairly well established.

In keeping with the general spirit, practically all of the best known and friendliest park bears are already back at their regular haunts at Government Camp—and so hungry after their long fast that it has been necessary to iron bar all of the cook-shack windows.

THEATRES

Liberty Theatre.

The Wolf Pack of the Frozen North, running down its pray with the ruthlessness born of starvation in the trackless wastes; the love and hatred, the ferocity and courage of a great dog; and the love and hatred portrayed in "White Fang", Jack London's famous novel in "Strongheart" are featured on the screen at the Liberty Theatre. "White Fang" will have its local showing there, tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday, and without doubt it is the greatest picture of its type ever screened.

The shimmering beauty of the snow-blanketed Northland and the awesome quality alike of its drama and its scenery make this a production not soon to be forgotten. Jane Murrin is responsible for adapting the London novel, and Lawrence Trimble has directed it brilliantly. Both seem to have collaborated in turning this thrilling tale to the screen with as little divergence from the London story as possible.

Antlers Theatre.

From every walk of life they come into pictures, some act, some to direct and some to engage in the technical end. That is brought home forcibly in "His Hour", which is coming to the Antlers Theatre on Sunday for two days. A bonafide Prince, a General who actually served as aide de camp to the former Grand Duke Nicholas; a Duchess born to the title and numerous other brilliant members of the old Russian court circle all play in "His Hour" which is a Metro-Goldwyn picture.

Royalty appears in roles that are really a part of them; wearing the jewels and ermine to which they were so long accustomed and which were so melodramatically snatched from them when the Soviet came into power during the World War.

"His Hour", which Mrs. Glyn wrote while visiting the royal family in St. Petersburg, is a colorful drama of love and pathos, and is brimful of the brilliance always to be found in Mrs. Glyn's writings.

The two featured players of this vivid production are those Mrs. Glyn has selected as the screen's most romantic lovers, Allen Pringle and John Gilbert.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT AFTER LONG SESSION

the whole story—that I didn't see how the jury could convict Mr. Shepherd", she said.

CHICAGO, June 27.—William D. Shepherd, who was acquitted last night by a jury of the charge that he murdered his foster son, William N. McClintock, the orphan millionaire, today was assured the second murder charge, that he killed McClintock's mother, would not be pressed by State's Attorney Crowe.

"There is no evidence that Mrs. McClintock was murdered", State's Attorney Crowe said.

A coroner's jury, which heard testimony in connection with the death of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, her son and Dr. Oscar Olson, after Judge Harry Olson, chief justice of the Municipal Court had conducted the examination of the witness, had ordered Shepherd held for murder in connection with the deaths of mother and son.

Although Mrs. Julie Shepherd, the defendant's wife, also was ordered held; she soon was vindicated when the grand jury returned no bill in her case.

Judge Olson, who last night declared the state's attorney had not given his best efforts to the prosecution of Shepherd and who said several witnesses who were not called should have been used, was almost ignored by Mr. Crowe in his remarks today, but the prosecutor was plainly wrathful over the jurist's charges.

The prosecutor declared he would go before the grand jury and ask that a "no bill" be returned, exonerating Shepherd in the case of the death of Mrs. McClintock.

Mr. Crowe was plainly determined to drop the Shepherd matter from now on regardless of Judge Olson's assertion last night that the case was not ended.

"The jury's verdict speaks for itself and I have no reply, at least at present, for Olson", said Mr. Crowe.

He said he had not decided what action to take with regard to Charles G. Falman, head of an unrecognized school which he calls the National University of Science, who told a story that he had taught Shepherd how to administer typhoid germs so as to produce death.

ENGLISH ROVERS PREFER STREAMLINE RACING SHELLS

LONDON, June 27.—Despite the fact that the Oxford university boat crew lost the annual university boat race this year and last year, a "streamline" shell designed by Dr. Bourne, there has been a growing demand for this kind of racing craft from the builders at Putney.

American, Continental and British boating clubs have placed a number of orders for "streamline" shells to carry four and eight, thus testifying to the growing favor and popularity of this kind of racing craft.

Folks used to wait for their ship to come in. Today they read the News-Review classified ads.

STATEMENTS ABOUT SPECIAL ELECTION MUST BE PRINTED

SALEM, Ore., June 27.—Secretary of State Kozer issued a statement yesterday for the benefit of persons sponsoring or opposing legislative measures referred to the people or the revenue measures in which the referendum has been invoked, stating that if the supreme court holds that a special election must be called the second Tuesday in September it will be necessary for all arguments for the voters pamphlet to be filed not later than July 1. The question whether a special election shall be called is in the supreme court mandamus proceedings brought by J. L. Swan of Albany, who contends that the election should be called notwithstanding the governor's veto of the special election bill.

Secretary Kozer's statement urges haste in the filing of arguments if the court holds that the election must be held, and it is probable that the court will hand down its decision next Tuesday.

"Persons or associations other than the legislative committee", says the statement, "must accompany their argument with a remittance of $100 for each page of space which such arguments will occupy in the pamphlet."

If these are sent in before the court decides the issue, and the court should then uphold the veto of the governor, the remittances will be returned to those sending them in.
