ROSEBURG, OREGON, TUESDAY, JUNE 30, 1925.

UNSKILLED LABOR

The number of unskilled laborers who left the United States during the first 10 months of the immigration law was about 60 per cent more than the number admitted. This statement will cause alarm to people who have been asking where the country was going to get its unskilled laborers from.

When President Coolidge was recently asked what he intended to do while on his summer vacation, he remarked that he wanted to read the biographies of a number of great Americans. Some folks who want to be thrilled, will say it would be pretty dull work to sit down on a hot summer afternoon, and read out of a big and heavy book, about some man of former times whom they perhaps never heard of.

During the spring planting season of this year 11,000,000 trees have been set out in New York state. A commonwealth where the tree planting spirit has made such progress during only a half year, is going to be a very beautiful state in 10 to 20 years.

Santa Barbara was one of the beauty spots of the earth. Though marred by yesterday's earthquake there is little doubt that it will soon regain its former splendor.

With all the setbacks going to the state of California during the past two years—including the hoof and mouth disease—it still enjoys the distinction of being the "best state in the union."

There is no telling where next the elements will stage a quake. Jumping from Montana to California seems to have been accomplished without any effort and mother earth may decide to do a little "shimmy" in Oregon before she settles down to normalcy.

The Boy Scouts are getting in trim for their annual vacation. This is an event of much importance to the youngsters and one that gives them an ideal outing with excellent training administered by their superiors.

The daily newspapers are giving a lot of space to the birth of a boy at the Charley Chaplin home at Beverly Hills, California. It pays to advertise—even after the "goods are delivered."

The city of Oakland is planning a regular Fourth of July program with all the trimmings. Enough amusement is being provided for a full day's program.

We hope the bill collectors will put off their efforts until after July 4th so we can have a little money to buy some firecrackers.

June weddings are almost ancient history for 1925.

BY BERT & BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS— We'll bet its the First time those Millionaires in Santa Barbara Ever got up so Go! dern early.

DUMBELL DORA THINKS Earth tremors are caused by buryin' too much corn likker in the soil.

In speakin' of the "height of the season" we imagine you refer to the length of the damsel's skirts which are at the present writin' just two inches above the knee cap.

On the covered bridges of the county there used to be signs readin' "$5.00 fine for riding or driving over this bridge faster than a walk."

Like a snowball on the downhill grade goes this deathless poem to which we add the fifth and what we hope is the last stanza:

"No doubt girls would be glad to show More common sense," said Silas Waggs, "If it would make as big a hit As it does to show silk-clad legs."

If common sense makes no hit With you and me, be game And tell me, please, if you will, Who in the world's to blame? —Tom Deming.

The trouble is, it seems to us, That silk-clad legs more common Than sense—and yet we make more fuss About the former show by far. —Tip.

I wonder if girls don't smile To find the men are all so dense, That silk-clad legs, when well displayed, Attract them more than common sense? —H. A. McG.

The rolled sox rage has hit 'em all The silk hose doesn't show much; But in its stead we find displayed The skin you love to touch.

Now that they're signin' up for Defense Day and all the Reserve Corps Officers are recruitin' the local citizenry we will quote verbatim a conversation we heard this a. m.:

Clerk—What's your name? Recruit—Jakey Fitzpatrick Cohen. Clerk—What's the Fitzpatrick for? Recruit—That's my Christian name! Clerk—Where were you born? Recruit—New York. Clerk—What part? Recruit—All of me. Clerk—Are you married? Recruit—No! I got this blue eye playing ball. Clerk—Have you got any dependents? Recruit—What's that? Clerk—People depending on you for support. Recruit—Oh, yes. Two bootleggers.

Clerk—Were you shot in France? Recruit—Just half shot. Clerk—Did you see active service? Recruit—Sure. Hunting "cooties" kept me active. Clerk—What do you base your claim on? Recruit—My eyes bother me. Clerk—In what way? Recruit—I used to see signs sayin' "Ice Cold Beck Beer 5c," and now I can't see them any more. Clerk—Will glasses help you? Recruit—Sure, if you fill 'em up with real beer. Clerk—Oh! You want something with a kick in it. Recruit—You said a mouth full, "Buddy."

Clerk—All right, I'll help you out. (Business of boosting Recruit through the door.)

Turpentine and various other pine oils will be produced by a "destructive distillation" process. The present plant will be merely a first unit and will be constructed so that additional units may be added later until the plant is big enough to handle all of the waste from sawdust to edgings and staps.

STATE PRESS COMMENT

He Did It Richard T. Harris got a habit down in Waco, Texas. He was a newsboy then, selling papers on a street corner. The habit he contracted was, when he found that something should be done, to "do it."

He kept on doing things that way. He made himself a motto of two words. They were, "Do It." As a newsboy, Harris "did it."

He passed on and upward, always "doing it." Whatever he undertook, he never hesitated, he never delayed, he never postponed, he never quit. He always "did it."

He was recently elected president of the New York cotton exchange. There are always reasons why men rise from the job of newsboy to heads of corporations and other distinguished positions. There was one very good reason why Harris rose.

He always "did it."—Portland Journal.

Increasing Longevity The average span of life, it is estimated, has in the last century been extended about 20 years.

The increasing observance of the laws of sanitation, the growing knowledge of dietetics and the identification and conquest of man's elusive germ antagonists, did fair to still further prolong man's time upon the earth.

In America men are not only living longer. They are living faster while they are at it. Through shortened hours of labor and the convenient mechanical devices which abolish time consuming drudgery, they are gaining more free hours in which they may do as they like and "express themselves" as the modern phrase has it, in their chosen way.

This unprecedented gift of leisure to large groups of people is something new in human experience. It is more than a coincidence that the words leisure and license derived from the same Latin word meaning "it is permitted."

Much modern leisure has abused its permission to escape the daily grind and the resulting license has reacted unfavorably upon the general health and morality. Leisure, like liberty, is a precious gift, but it must be handled with discretion.

If the doctors in giving men more years of life, can insure a wise and profitable use of those years, their gift would be invaluable. Age brings wisdom. Not old people seem altogether good and profitable, but from those that are we want the longest service possible.—Portland Telegram.

Quakeless Oregon Oregon has never experienced a severe quake and is not especially anxious to have one. That's what helps make Oregon such a pleasant place to live in.

There is little or no possibility of an earthquake damaging Oregon, said Dr. Hodges. Oregon lies between two earthquake zones, one to the north, which veers off in two angles, one to the southwest and the other to the southeast, and the other zone to the south which swings out to the northwest at a point not far from San Francisco.

Dr. Hodges has studied the coast area in regard to relation of earthquakes and the consequent results and bases these theories on his investigations.

RUSHO HOME IS ROBBED OF SILVER AND OTHER GOODS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rusho, 352 East Lane street, was entered and robbed yesterday afternoon between 1:30 and 4 o'clock and articles valued at approximately $300 taken.

Mrs. Rusho and her daughter, Mrs. Rudolph Lindner were downtown shopping during the afternoon, and upon their return found that the house had been thoroughly ransacked. The burglar had entered by jimmying a bathroom window, and had thoroughly ransacked the house. A shirt belonging to Mr. Lindner was taken from their apartments upstairs, and an entire set of silverware given them at their recent wedding, was stolen.

Nothing that would aid in apprehending the guilty party, or the recovery of the stolen articles, has yet been found by the officers.

FOUR INDICTED ON BOOZE CHARGE

(Associated Press Local Wire.) MEDFORD, Ore., June 30.—R. J. Hodges, Mandelline Hodges, R. Dawson and Nettie Dawson, residents of Klamath Falls, arrested in a raid on "The Hut" a roadside store near Camp Jackson, were indicted by the grand jury last Friday for alleged liquor violations, on four counts each.

The grand jury adjourned after returning the true bills. The Hodges and Dawsons were indicted on four counts; all on liquor possession and transportation and the assisting in the sale of intoxicating liquor while armed. Bonds on the liquor charges were fixed at $1,000 each, and on the gun transporting charge, at $2,000.

At the time of the raid on "The Hut", it was claimed that preparations were under way to sell liquor to Melborn Dunn and E. R. Jones, the latter owner of a garage and service station in the city.

The Hodges and Dawsons and Dunn and Jones will be tried at a term of the petit jury, to convene July 13.

GERMAN INFANT MORTALITY REDUCED BY HALF SINCE WAR

BERLIN, June 30.—(A. P.)—Statistics recently published show that the mortality among infants is much less than in pre-war days. During the third quarter of last year the death rate was only about one-half the percentage during the year just prior to the World War. The medical authorities attribute this improved condition to the cold weather during the latter part of 1924, which they state is always more beneficial than warm weather for infants during their first year.

PASSENGER TRAINS THRU QUAKE AREAS

According to a dispatch at the local Southern Pacific offices dated June 29, all passenger trains will operate on their regular schedule through Santa Barbara, beginning with train Number 110 out of San Francisco on that date.

At the time immediately after the earthquake, all passenger and freight service was defouled on branch lines to Los Angeles from San Francisco. The information was given out by the Southern Pacific company for the benefit of those contemplating a trip to the south in the near future, and who feel some anxiety about the quake area.

BERLIN STARTS MOVEMENT TO REVIVE MILITARY BANDS

BERLIN, June 30.—(A. P.)—Efforts are being made to revive the old time military bands which formerly were a popular part of every-day German life. In recent years they have given way to string orchestras and jazz bands. In the movement to bring the military band back to its own, a monster concert was organized recently at the Stadion when 20 bands played simultaneously under the direction of Professor Oscar Hackenberger. More than 20,000 persons attended.
