SANTA BARBARA TO BE REBUILT SPANISH STYLE

Beautiful Structures to Rise in Place of Buildings Wrecked by Quake.

CITY IS GUARDED

Replica of Old Spain to Be Constructed—Telephone Service Restored—Walls Demolished.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 2.—Santa Barbara's earthquake loss was fixed today by the committee of local engineers assisted by experts from Los Angeles and San Francisco at $10,000,000.

Fire insurance policies, which, under the law, are automatically cancelled, when the building is damaged by a force other than fire, weer re-instated by underwriters today and practically every building is now covered with insurance commensurate with its present value.

SANTA BARBARA, July 2.—With 250 of Uncle Sam's leathernecks patrolling the earthquake torn section of Santa Barbara today to preserve order, the city was expected to assume normality in many respects.

Practically all of the dangerous overhanging walls were demolished by firemen yesterday and during the night; trucks hauled the debris away and cleared the section until there was little left this morning of wreckage of any character save on the site of the San Marcos building and in the park surrounding Hotel Arlington. Sheriff James Ross was in command of the law and order forces of the city, including the marines, and prominent citizens, jointly with the city council took charge of the city as a public safety committee, holding their first meeting at 9:30.

A board of California engineers under the chairmanship of C. E. Marx, head of the college of engineering of Stanford University, resumed its inspection of buildings throughout the city, designating these to come down and those that would be safe if repaired. The committee on public safety has announced that the findings of the committee are to be final and will be followed in detail.

Almost unanimous is the decision of business men to reconstruct the city along lines of Spanish architecture, following recommendation of the Santa Barbara art society, and the new Scate street, if these plans are followed, will be a replica of old Spain when it rises again.

With telephone service restored and prospects of light and gas service within 24 hours, the citizens looked forward for the next few hours to bring normal conditions to their homes and to the closing of Red Cross relief stations where rich and poor alike have elbowed each other at meal times since the disaster Monday morning early.

NEWS-REVIEW WILL BULLETIN FIGHTS ROUND-BY-ROUND

Thro u g h arrangements with the Associated Press, the Roseburg News-Review will on Thursday evening provide fight fans of this vicinity with round-by-round bulletin service direct from the ringside at New York, where the hospital fund bouts are to be put on, starting between 8:15 and 8:30, Eastern daylight saving time. A great deal of interest is being shown in these matches, and the News-Review has arranged to receive direct wire service over the Associated Press Leased Wire, starting at 4:15 p. m. Thursday. Preliminaries are scheduled to start shortly after 4 o'clock Pacific Coast standard time, and these will be given prior to the round-by-round returns of the main events between Greb and Walker, and between Wills and Weinert. The messages will be megaphoned and bulletined in front of the News-Review office.

SEIZURE AND SEARCH PHASE IS MINIMIZED

Pipes Opinion in McDaniels Case Opposite From Belt Opinion.

OFFICERS FAVORED

Decision Holds That Officer May Seize and Search if Senses Indicate Presence of Liquor.

SALEM, Ore., July 2. — The main difference between the opinions written by former Justice M. L. Pipes of the Oregon Supreme Court and his successor, Justice H. H. Belt, in the liquor case of the state against F. A. McDaniel is that the Pipes opinion emphasized the search and seizure phase while the Belt opinion minimizes it. By the Pipes opinion, handed down January 2 last, the court reversed the lower court for Benton county where McDaniel was convicted of having liquor in his possession. By the Belt opinion, which followed a rehearing of the case, the supreme court reverses itself and upholds the lower court.

The Pipes opinion held that for an officer to search a man without a search warrant, merely as an incident of an arrest for some crime, the man searched must at the time be legally a prisoner of the officer. This opinion held while an officer may make an arrest for a crime committed in his presence, he may not without a search warrant, previous to the arrest, search the person for instrumentalities of the crime, though having probable cause to believe the person has them. The Pipes opinion held that a search without a search warrant, to be legal must follow and not precede the arrest, and that mere restraint for purposes of the search is not an arrest. Another point was that drunkenness in a public place, though in the presence of officers, does not authorize them without arrest or search warrant to search the person for liquor. It is held that where an officer without search warrant pinioned a person's arms, without statement as to arrest, searched him and after finding liquor on him informed him that he would arrest him for having liquor in his possession, the arrest followed the search, the search was illegal and the evidence illegally obtained. An opposite view is taken by the Belt opinion in these words:

"It is urged that the arrest followed, and did not precede the search. In our opinion it is immaterial whether the arrest preceded or followed the search, if such acts were practically simultaneous, and if, in fact, the defendant was guilty of committing a crime in the presence of the officers for which he might have been arrested. In many instances it is dangerous or an officer to go through the formality of stating that the accused is under arrest and the law does not require him to do so. It is often times safer to act first and talk afterwards." The Belt opinion says further that "in the instant case the defendant was legally arrested and searched, and the evidence of the crime was admissible to establish his guilt. The trial court erred in holding the search and seizure unlawful, but since the ruling favored the defendant, he is in no position to complain."

GREB - WALKER, WILLS-WEINERT FIGHTS TODAY

50,000 Boxing Fans Will Flock to Polo Grounds Tonight for Battles.

OFFER A FINE CARD

Wills Has Shade on Weinert, Who Aspires to Be Next Dempsey Opponent.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, July 2.—Fair weather, with a bright sun in midafternoon, indicated that the Italian hospital fund boxing bouts at the Polo Grounds tonight would be staged as scheduled after being threatened by rain in the morning. Promoter Fugazy stated that the program would start at 8:15 o'clock daylight time, unless rain again interferred.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Harry Greb, middleweight champion, will have seven pounds on Mickey Walker, welterweight king, when they meet at the Polo grounds tonight. At the official weight this afternoon, Greb scaled 159 and Walker 152.

Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, registered 213 pounds and his opponent, Charley Weinert, 184½. Jimmy Slattery's weight was announced at 162½ as against 153 for his six-round antagonist, Dave Shade. Jack Sharkey scaled 124½ and Joe Lynch 122½.

The commission decided that the meeting between Walker and Greb would be the feature attraction, preceded by the contest between Wills and Weinert. All principals agreed in the decision after a conference.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Some 50,000 followers of boxing are expected at the Polo Grounds tonight when eight famous fighters take part for good sized purses in a benefit for the Italian hospital fund.

A double headliner is offered. The welterweight champion Mickey Walker, fights the middleweight king, Harry Greb; Harry Wills, negro giant, meets the rejuvenated heavyweight, Charley Weinert, in the Walker-Greb tussle. Walker cannot lose his title because his opponent will enter the ring far over the welterweight limit. But Walker may win the crown that the Pittsburgh man took from the head of Johnny Wilson.

Greb is the favorite, for he has speed, power and courage considered sufficient to offset the brilliant attack that is sure to come from the sturdy battler from Jersey.

No championship will be at stake when Wills and Weinert face each other, but the ambitions of either may be shattered. Far in the offing—very far it would seem—looms a bout with Dempsey. Wills has sought the opportunity for years. Weinert would cherish the chance. Each has conquered the man who a few years ago sent Dempsey hurtling through the ropes, Luis Angel Firpo.

The State Athletic Commission has been called on to decide many issues in connection with this stupendous program—the question of postponment from June 19, found necessary when Walker sustained an injury in training; the question as to which is the feature bout, a matter still in the balance, and the status of Jack Kearns, who, it is reported, even will agree to a Wills-Dempsey match in order that he may gain admission to the grounds to second Walker tonight. Kearns has been notified that he will be barred from the grounds because he ignored a challenge by Wills.

Jimmy Slattery, lightning fast middleweight from Buffalo, will face Dave Shade of California, welterweight, for six rounds and this should give the spectators some idea of what Shade and Walker would do if placed in a ring together. Slattery has been made the favorite, even though it is realized that Shade possesses remarkable boxing ability.

Little Joe Lynch, one time champion of the bantamweights, will fight four rounds against his old time rival, Jack Sharkey, in the first contest of the night.

Mrs. Robert Clark arrived here this morning from Portland and will spend several days looking over Roseburg. Mrs. Clark is desirous of finding a suitable business location, and may decide to remain here. Mr. Clark will arrive here this evening from San Francisco, and will remain in Roseburg.

PROFESSOR FOUND DEAD IN COTTAGE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

MANISTEE, Mich., July 2.—Professor Walter Hendrixson, 65, of Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa, was found dead in his cottage at Portage Point, near here, yesterday. The discovery of the body was made by Albert Sigman, Butler College student, who is working as a bell boy at the Portage Point Inn during the summer.

Mrs. Hendrixson had wired to authorities here asking them to locate her husband. She said she had not heard from him for several weeks. Coroner Bradford said he believed professor Hendrixon had been dead ten days.

Professor Hendrixson was widely known in the field of chemistry and as a lecturer. He was born at Felicity, Ohio, was graduated from Christian College, Merom, Ind., and had studied at Harvard, Berlin, and Göttingen Universities. In the room where the body was found were his suitcase, packed and a railroad ticket. Circumstances pointed to a natural death caused by an internal hemorrhage.

MODERNISTS ARE VICTORS IN FIGHT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SEATTLE, July 2.—Modernists defeated fundamentalists, 912 to 364, here today, seating in the Northern Baptist convention a delegation of the Park Avenue Church, New York City.

The Park Avenue congregation includes John D. Rockefeller, Sr., John D. Rockefeller Jr., and members of their families. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, whose advanced modernist views caused his elimination from the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church, New York City, became pastor of the Park Avenue Church this spring.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 2—Staved off two days, the battle between modernists and fundamentalists broke on the floor of the nineteenth annual meeting of the Northern Baptists convention here today. The question was whether to seat four delegates from the Park Avenue Church, New York City.

This question came to a debate when a fundamentalist moved against a ruling of the chair. The ruling was that the Park Avenue Church having met its financial obligations and co-operated in the work of the church, that congregations chosen representatives could not be barred.

KILL 2 BANDITS FLEEING FROM SCENE OF CRIME

First Bank Robbery of Buckley, Wash., Ends in Bloody Shooting.

CAPTURE IS DRAMATIC

Wounded Bandit Returns to Scene of Firing to Recover Body of Pal Who Was Shot.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

TACOMA, Wash., July 2.—William Rose, a Buckley cigar dealer, who was shot in the abdomen yesterday by one of the two bank bandits, who were slain after a holdup of the Buckley State Bank, died from his wound in the Auburn, Wash., hospital, at 9:20 this morning.

TACOMA, Wash., July 2.—The little city of Buckley, 24 miles east of here, has had the first bank robbery in its history and the affair ended in bloody failure yesterday afternoon when two unmasked desperadoes, like the bad men of the old west, died with their boots on. One of the bandits was shot from the running board of an automobile speeding away with the loot. The other was killed when he drove back into the rifle fire to rescue the body of his dead pal.

Neither of the bandits had been identified this morning.

William Rose, a cigar store man, lies seriously wounded in the Auburn hospital, a victim of the bandits return fire. Another citizen, two blocks away, was hit by a stray bullet while he was painting the home of C. O. Steberg, president of the robbed bank.

It was ten minutes before 3 o'clock when the bandits entered the Buckley state bank and drew their guns. At 3 o'clock both were dead and the loot of $2,000 had been recovered. The first bandit was shot by Aaron Hayden, grocer. The second was killed by Marshal Ed Nelson.

A. E. Hovey, cashier, kicked a burglar alarm as the men brandished their guns and while the bell outside the bank was clanging its message to the townspeople the bandits forced Hovey, his assistant C. A. Stewart and W. A. Evans, a customer, to lie on the floor while President Steberg was compelled to fill a sack with currency.

Marshal Nelson responded to the alarm, but his gun sticking as he attempted to draw it, he too was forced to lie on the floor. He was not disarmed, however, and as the pair left the building he fired two shots, both of which took effect. The wounded man took the wheel of the automobile and his companion mounted the running board, rifle in hand firing rapidly to keep off pursuit. The bandit car was a block away

DARK TO DAWN AIR MAIL WILL SERVE 2 CITIES

New York and Chicago Get Speedy Mail Service Starting Today.

PATHWAY IS LIGHTED

Eastbound Air Couriers Aided by a Wind and Bettered Their Schedule.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, July 2.—Dark to dawn air mail service between America's two greatest cities became a reality today. Cleaving the night along a beacon lighted highway, the government's mail planes transferred letters to and from New York and Chicago between the close of one business day and the opening of the next.

Two eastbound air couriers, aided by a stiff wind, bettered their schedules of 8 hour sand 15 minutes in one case by two hours. The same wind held back the westbound planes. One completed its assignment in a little more than the allotted time. Accidents to the other emphasized the difficulties the airmen nightly must overcome.

The first plane to leave Maywood Field, Chicago, accomplished its course to Hadley Field, New Brunswick, N. J., 30 miles from New York, in six hours, 15 minutes. The second eastbound carrier was seven hours and seven minutes enroute. The mails from both planes were in New York by 6:15 a. m., brought by train from

BUILDING RECORD FOR FIRST SIX MONTHS 1925 AHEAD OF LAST YEAR BY WIDE MARGIN

Construction Work in Progress Indicates That Year Will Be the Best From the Building Standpoint That the City Has Ever Known; New Homes Built.

Roseburg's building record for the first six months of 1925 surpasses last year's total for a like period by $22,590, and the first half of 1923 by $9,210. Present indications are that the total records for the year will be far ahead of any previous year, as there are outstanding several big permits, which will greatly swell the total for the year.

Figures are based upon the permits issued at the city hall, which are very conservative, as practically all buildings constructed exceed the estimated cost by a wide margin. However, the permits offer the only reliable check on building activities so that all figures are based upon them.

Under the classification of business buildings, the half year period of 1925 is more than twice ahead of the like period in 1924. Last year the cost of buildings constructed for business purposes in the first six months of the year amounted to $33,500, while this year business building has already amounted to $76,050.

Notable among the structures erected for business purposes are Hugh Harrison's garage, Denn-Gerretsen Co.'s office building, the remodelled Douglas National Bank, the Coen Lumber Company mill, the Kohlhagen and Davidson garages, the new plant of the Douglas County Flour mill, A. Schloeman's garage, and the new addition to the Roseburg Apartments.

Although all of these buildings were of minor importance from the standpoint of money expended, they are all of a type of construction that is attractive, and all have been decided improvements in the various localities where they were erected.

The Douglas National Bank building permit does not reveal the true value of that improvement. The permit covers only the actual construction, or general contract, which was $22,500. It does not include the interior finishing and furnishing, which will bring the total cost to approximately $100,000.

Another permit which should have been procured prior to July 1, but which does not show on the first half year record, is for the addition to the Rose Investment Company hotel. The company procured a permit for construction last December for the erection of the hotel, at that time the plans calling for a concrete and wood building three stories in height. Since that time two additional stories have been built, making the building five stories high, and the type of construction has been changed to concrete and steel throughout, making the total estimated cost $95,000 instead of $50,000 originally. The builders have been notified to secure a permit for the additional work, but it has not yet been obtained and consequently does not show on the records for the first six months of the year.

No permit has yet been secured for the new high school building, which will cost in excess of $110,000. Excavation has been started, but the formal permit will not be taken out until the actual construction work is begun.

Another building which will add much to the year's total is the one to be erected by A. Creason in North Roseburg. The excavation has been made and building will be underway within a short time. This is to be a three-story concrete structure costing approximately $55,000.

It is plain to be seen that with the work already laid out the year 1925 is to be far ahead of any other year from the building standpoint.

In the construction of residences the first six months of this year compares very favorably with last year's corresponding period. Although slightly below in money expended, the number of new homes built during the first half of the year is almost equal to last year.

Twenty-nine new homes were built, as compared with 30 last year. The average cost of each, however, dropped from $2,923 to $2,274. The total sum expended in residence building was $65,950.

Among those who have constructed residences during the half year are Fred Neureither (2), S. E. Fancher, R. E. Guthridge, F. A. Hayes (2), Arthur Puckett, C. E. Mansfield (2), Lucie Engles, C. E. Boyles, Ervin Grimm, Charles Ferrier, J. W. Langenberg, L. A. Wilson, H. A. Roberts, Wr. Pemberton Jr., R. S. Scofield, C. H. Meusch, M. E. Ritter, C. E. Coates, Ira B. Riddle, Pargeter-Horton-Hudson, J. R. Farrington, H. O. Grimm, B. S. Nichols (2), Ruby D. Fickeasacher, and L. L. Matthews.

For small garages and sheds the people of the city expended $6,265 during the six months' period, while the sum of $2,900 was spent for alterations and repairs.

Altogether the report for the first half of the year shows a substantial increase over the past year's, indicating a steady growth. With the prospects for the balance

"WINGED WASH" NEW INNOVATION

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

YREKA, Cal., July 2.—The little settlement of Jerome, Siskiyou county, may be entirely innocent of Union passenger terminals, million dollar libraries and sky high blocks, but it has one feature of modern progress that the biggest cities lack. That is airplane laundry service.

Every few days an aircraft wings out of Klamath Falls, picks up the week's wash at Jerome, 45 miles away and takes it in to be scrubbed and mangled in an up to date Klamath Falls laundry. Deliveries are made the same way. The "Winged Wash" is getting to be a big feature in Jerome county.
