ANSWER DOHENY REGARDING WAR ON THE PACIFIC

Pomerene and Roberts Deny That Leases Were Signed Because of War Danger.

"JUST A RE-HASH"

Trying to Strengthen His Alibi, Say Two Men Connected With the Case.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, July 2.—In answer to statements of Edward L. Doheny that representations of danger of war in the Pacific prompted his part in the naval oil leases, the New York Times today publishes comments of government counsel in the oil lease prosecutions and of other officials connected with the cases.

Mr. Doheny said the war danger was kept a secret because officials were afraid of wrecking the Washington arms conference. But both Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts said that the main treaties resulting from the conference were signed and ratified by the senate before the first contract with Doheny was signed.

Mr. Pomerene recalled that, at the arms conference, assembled November 12, 1921, that the delegates began signing the articles in December, that the senate ratified the agreements in March, 1922, while Mr. Doheny didn't get his first contract until April 25, 1922.

As for naval officers' fears of an oriental invasion of this country being deleted from Rear-Admiral John K. Robinson's deposition at the Cheyenne oil lease trial, Mr. Pomerene said:

"Whatever was deleted had to do with matters which the state department in the public interest said it did not care to have disclosed publicly.

"There was nothing in the deposition of any particular moment that affected the situation. If there was any war scare, as Doheny calls it, then it was all settled when the first Doheny contract was actually signed.

"What about the little black satchel. I have a picture in my mind of this patriot giving $100,000 to Mr. Fall with one hand and receiving in the other contracts involving $100,000,000 worth of property."

Edward C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior, branded Mr. Doheny's story, the New York Times says as bid for public support, mad esp in part of untruth and in part of statements incomplete in details, designed to minimize the part Albert B. Fall played in the leases.

Mr. Finney admitted that three telegrams from Flores Rivera, N. M., where Mr. Fall is spending a vacation, to the interior department in Washington, had disappeared from the files, but he denied that the department records had been ransacked by the senate oil investigators.

"Just a re-hash of the alibi," Mr. Roberts said as quoted by the New York Tribune.

PLANETS WILL FORM SPECTACLE FOR SKY GAZERS THIS MONTH

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Shortly after sunset during July the five brightest planets—Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn—all will be above the horizon at the same time for the greater part of the month.

On the evening of July 19, says a bulletin from the American Nature association, Mercury, Venus and

Mars will appear so near together that they might almost be mistaken for a triple star, although fact Mercury will be about 105,000,000 miles from the earth, Venus 146,000,000 miles and Mars 259,000,000 miles.

Mars is increasing its distance from the earth and drawing in toward the sun so it will be increasingly difficult to find it in the twilight. Mercury and Venus now are approaching the earth.

Mercury will reach its greatest eastern elongation on July 25 when it will be more than 27 degrees east of the sun. This, the American Nature association points out, is within one degree of its greatest possible distance from the sun and great enough to enable it to be picked up easily in the twilight after sunset.

Anyone watching these three planets this month with the aid of a small telescope or field glasses might imagine they were playing tag or running a race in the northwestern sky after sunset. All three will move eastward during July from Cancer into Leo, but all will be moving at different speeds with respect to each other and the earth. Mars, the slowmoving one of the trio, will be at the beginning of the month farther east and higher in the western sky than the other two, but the other two planets will pass it on July 19. Saturn, which has been above the horizon in the evening hours for some time, has been moving slowly westward, but on July 12 it becomes stationary, as viewed from the earth, and then begins to swing slowly backward toward Libra to the east.

Jupiter, now rising over in the southeast in Sagittarius, will be in opposition to the sun, or on the meridian due south, at midnight on July 10. It will then rise at sunset and be in view all night. On this date Mercury, Venus and Mars will set about an hour and a half after the sun.

GOOD PROGRAM WILL BE GIVEN BY BAND TONIGHT

A good program of music has been arranged by the Douglas County Concert Band for tonight's band concert, the second of the regular weekly programs to be given during the summer months.

The band is to have a strenuous time for the next few days, playing a concert tonight, furnishing music for the Oakland celebration on Saturday, and then going to Copco on Saturday night to play an engagement at the dedication of the new hydro-electric plant on Sunday morning. The band's concert to be played tonight will be as follows:

- March, "Third Brigade," Selts, Overture, "Orpheus," Offenbach.
- March, "Mooning," King.
- Fox Trot, "Just a Little Drink," Gay.
- March, "The Hussars," King.
- Overture, "Lustspiel," Kelerhela.
- Serenade, "A Night in June," King.
- March, "Wyoming Days," King.
- March, "Vanguard of Democracy," King.
- Star Spangled Banner.

COTTON MAKES BREAK

LITTLE VACATION FOR THE PRESIDENT

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 2.—President Coolidge is reaching the conclusion that a president, regardless of where he goes, cannot evade the cares of his office.

Coming to the seashore for relief from the enervating heat of Washington, the president is finding that although removed from the seat of government, there are problems to plague a vacationist.

Mr. Coolidge was confronted today with several issues, still somewhat aloof, but nevertheless holding executive prohibitions.

The Ka King Klan controversy threatens to take a new turn as a result of the announcement of the president to review his parade and address its members in Washington early in August. No formal invitation has yet been received, but it is considered unlikely here that the president will be able to avoid the matter.

The announcement that an invitation would be extended, however, has brought communications to Mr. Coolidge from a number of individuals and organizations opposed to the plan, urging him to sympathetically write and in some instances, appealing to him to do something to prevent the holding of the Washington meeting. Another cloud on the horizon is the possibility of a strike between anthracite operators and miners over a new wage scale. The president is watching developments with interest, chiefly through the newspapers, but nothing has been said or done here indicating what he will do if a strike arises.

BERGDOLL'S POT OF GOLD BURIED IN HILL SOUGHT

Contains More Than $240,000 According to Slacker, Now in Germany.

MAKES STATEMENT

Mother Seeks to Get Large Sum Which She Alleges Was Overpaid to U. S. Government.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—Grover C. Bergdoll says that the pot of gold he buried in the Maryland hills contained more than $240,000.

This was revealed yesterday in a sworn statement by him submitted at a hearing of counter suits filed by Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, his mother and Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian. The statement, witnessed by a notary public in Haden, Germany, was sent to Mrs. Bergdoll to aid in her contention that she had turned over all her son's property to the alien property custodian.

Bergdoll has been living in Haden since a spectacular escape in 1920. An intimation that his mother also had buried a large sum of money also was contained in the statement.

"The $105,000 which my mother claims to have buried is absolutely her own," said the statement. "The $240,000 which I concealed, (the gold buried in the ground) and the gold notes I took along to Europe were my own property. No person living outside of myself has the slightest idea as to where I took the gold after I loaded it in my car in Philadelphia."

Bergdoll escaped from army guards at his mother's home here while on a trip to dig up the treasure after he had been sentenced to serve five years in prison for evading the draft. A master in chancery recommended that the custodian be ordered to return to Mrs. Bergdoll $10,000 in cash and securities worth several hundred thousand dollars.

FORD'S BID FOR SHIPS MISSING

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
DETROIT, Mich., July 2.—Henry Ford last night told The Associated Press that his bid for 200 vessels of the United States Shipping Board's fleet had been forwarded to Washington several days ago, by mail, and added there had been "no misunderstanding on my part" as to the date of opening the bids.

The fact that no bid had been received from Mr. Ford on Tuesday when they were opened by the board, occasioned some surprise.

Mr. Ford did not announce the amount he had offered for the vessels nor did he give any indication of the specification of his bid.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Fleet corporation officials said today the

RIFFIANS READY TO SIGN TREATY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
PARIS, July 2.—The French foreign office today received information that condition of peace to be offered Abd-El-Krim, the leader of warring Riffians in Morocco, are being prepared by the Franco-Spanish conference at Madrid.

There is little confidence here that Abd-El-Krim in the name of Spain, although representing both French and Spanish views. The intention is to give the Riffian leader an opportunity to show whether he wants peace on what the French and Spanish regard as reasonable terms.

The purpose of the Madrid conference is to determine a joint program whereby France and Spain may end the Moroccan warfare.

Broiled Bacon With Codfish Cream

8 thin slices Frye's Delicious Bacon
1/2 lb. boneless salt codfish chunks
2 cups milk
2 eggs
2 level tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon minced parsley or onion tops

Shred codfish, cover with cold water, heat slowly to boiling point, drain, cover with cold water again, and simmer 20 minutes. Fry bacon till delicate brown. Stir flour into bacon drippings, add milk, beating until smooth. Pour back in skillet, heat again until egg barely "sets," then pour into hot serving dish and garnish with bacon and slices of sweet, raw onion sprinkled with paprika.
