DESCENDANTS OF TEN LOST TRIBES ISRAEL ORGANIZE

AURORA, Ill., July 2.—(A. P.)—Why Anglo-Saxons who believe they are the descendants of the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel should organize into a federation, is contained in a letter addressed to Christians by the Rev. George McGinnis, urging them to attend a national convention to be held in Waunita Springs, Col., August 15-18, for that purpose.

Rev. Mr. McGinnis said the federation was planned along the organization in Great Britain, where Princess Alice, a cousin of King George, is chief patron, and Lord Gisborough, president.

"The Anglo-Saxon Federation will have for its object the federation of orthodox Christians of all denominations who believe the Bible to be the inspired word of God," said Rev. Mr. McGinnis, "to promulgate the belief that Anglo-Saxons are the descendants of the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel; to prove that this race has been chosen of God to rule land and sea; to restore the sanctity of the Christian faith, the observance of the Sabbath and reverence for the word of God, and to demonstrate to Anglo-Saxon people the privileges and responsibilities attached to them by reason of their descent from Israel."

Rev. Mr. McGinnis declared the English federation, composed of 2,000,000 members, was preaching this doctrine and restoring faith.

EUROPEAN FUSION PLAN PRESENTED BY PROPONENTS

VIENNA, July 2.—A United States of Europe, or "pan-Europeanism," has become an unavoidable necessity, says a well known supporter of the idea, Herr R. R. Coudenhove-Kalergi, writing in a recent issue of the Neue Freie Presse. He declares further that those who, a few years ago, thought the plan utopian and believed Europe would find its feet without it, now admit that it is the only chance.

Among those strongly favoring the idea, Herr Coudenhove-Kalergi continues, are Painleve, Caillaux, Gasparri, Contarini, Herriot, Stresemann, Marx, Masaryk, Benes, Skrzynski, Thugutt, and others. The failure of the Geneva guarantee protocol has brought the realization home to all that the nations are once more thrown back upon their armies and treaties for safety. This condition is untenable, says the writer. At any moment the murder of an ambassador and an unfulfilled ultimatum may throw Europe and the world into a fresh conflagration.

On the other hand America's economic start of all Europe (which she owes to the exclusive possession of her own enormous market) is growing from month to month, while European production is everywhere hedged in by countless customs barriers. Anybody not blind to these two dangers must welcome the idea of an all-round European fusion. This applies particularly to the little states of Europe, who feel that in a new war they must inevitably be swamped and overwhelmed.

Austria is, of course, faced by the same danger, Herr Coudenhove-Kelergi goes on to say. It can hope for nothing from a policy aiming at an extension of power, but has much to hope for from a pan-European peace policy. Neither in an economic nor in a national sense is Austria an independent organism but rather a state torn from a large community and condemned to maintain a separate existence. Viewed economically it is a member of the old Danubian empire, while in a national sense it is a member of the German people. In no wise is Austria a national state able to stand alone. Fusion or federation confront her, but either one of these steps would create international difficulties.

In Vienna the pan-European idea has rapidly grown popular with all political parties including the social democrats, the writer of this article asserts. Of all cities, however, Vienna has the greatest interest in a United States of Europe, because Vienna's future as a world city can only be secured on this basis. Thus Vienna has been selected for the seat of the first pan-European congress, planned for 1926.

EXTRACTING TEETH FOR ALL ILLS OPPOSED BY OSTEOPATH

TORONTO, Ont., July 2.—Warning against the promiscuous pulling of patients' teeth "just because it's hard to find out what is the matter," was sounded by Dr. Jerome M. Walters of Newark, N. J., in his presidential address opening the annual convention today of the American Osteopathic Society of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology. "Fight to a finish to save teeth," he urged, "if in your judgment they should be saved."

Dr. Walters insisted that there be a thorough examination, the elimination of impacted third molars and abscessed roots and the filling of all cavities.

Citing one of his own cases, he said the patient had severe ear trouble which failed to respond to treatment. The X-ray revealed an infected root in the jaw, from which all teeth had been pulled 12 years before. With the removal of the root the ear trouble disappeared.

Others who took part in today's program were Drs. Carl J. Johnson of Louisville, F. P. Millard of Toronto, Kent L. Seaman of Fort Wayne, Ind., E. C. Braun of Wichita, Kans., Glenn S. Moore of Chicago and L. S. Larimore of Kansas City.

STUDENTS FROM TELEGRAPH SCHOOL GIVEN POSITIONS

Raymond Parlow and Calvin Webber, who have been studying telegraphy at the Roseburg Telegraph Institute in this city for the past few months have graduated and both students have secured positions, Parlow with the Postal Telegraph company at Eugene, Oregon, as operator and Calvin Webber with the Western Union Telegraph company in Ashland, Oregon, as operator. Mr. Parlow will leave for Eugene July 6, while Webber left for Ashland today to assume his new duties.

Other members of the first class of the school that are now in the finishing stages of their course in commercial telegraphy are Cecil Pearson, Dale Belsinger, Irma Belsinger, Lawrence Parker, Samuel Durland, Samuel McConnell and Howard Cracroft. Nearly all these students will file applications for employment with the commercial telegraph companies in the near future and expect to secure positions before the summer is over.

Clair Nelson, who has also graduated in the commercial class, is pursuing his study of telegraphy with the view of becoming a press operator, as this branch of telegraph work offers greater remuneration.

M. V. Berrecford, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company in this city, who has been practicing on the press wire in the News-Review office under the supervision of Mr. McLendon for the past few weeks, has now qualified and has been given a position with the Associated Press in Livingston, Montana. He will leave for that point around July 10.

The Roseburg Telegraph Institute was started in the Perkins building last October and classes were conducted during the evenings only for a period of two hours four nights per week, the course as prepared and instructed personally by Mr. McLendon, including commercial telegraph practices and touch typewriting. There is also a course of instruction in newspaper work as it is applied to telegraphy for the benefit of students graduating in the commercial course, who wish to take up the more difficult but greater remunerative work.

Mr. McLendon said today that although there is some talk about the inefficiency of night schools, he has proven this to be an error, for he claims to have secured far greater results with just two hours instruction in the evenings than most telegraph schools operating on a day basis accomplishes in six or eight hours practice.

He is making preparation to enlarge his class for the fall, and expects a far greater enrollment than the records showed for last year. Under present arrangements students can enroll at any time, however, and those wishing to take up this study should apply at room 225 Perkins Building any evening.

SEIZURE AND SEARCH PHASE IS MINIMIZED

Another point of difference in the opinion is this:

The Pipes opinion holds that the facts that a deputy sheriff, "smelled whiskey on the defendant's breath; that his overcoat was buttoned awry; that his face was flushed," was not evidence that the man had liquor in his possession. They (the officers) were willing to arrest the defendant to answer for the crime of having liquor in his possession when they could produce no direct evidence to support it," say the opinion. On the other hand the Belt opinion holds that the officers from personal knowledge gained through their senses had the right to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant had intoxicating liquor in his possession and that he was attempting to drive an automobile while in a drunken condition. The Belt opinion holds that without doubt he was committing a crime in the presence of the officers for which they had legal right to make arrest without a warrant, and the right of search followed as an incident thereto.

THEATRES

Liberty Theatre

That those screen players who have had an extensive training in motion picture comedies know real dramatic values, can still successfully put over humorous situations when the occasion arises, is the contention of David Kirkland, director of "The Tomboy," the new picture playing at the Liberty theatre Sunday and Monday.

And in line with his ideas, it is only necessary to glance over the cast he selected for "The Tomboy." In the leading role we find Dorothy Devore, the latest efature star from the ranks of Christie Comedies. Miss Devore was a featured comedienne of the Christie organization for five years, and in that time gained a wide knowledge of

But Hood has no part in the melodrama. That feature of "40 Horse Hawkins" is taken care of by a competent cast of actors appearing before the screen as members of one of the old time road companies which went into the small towns and strummed on the heart strings of the unsophisticated residents. In a word, Hawkins" is a show within a show.

Antlers Theatre

"Janice Meredith", Marion Davies' new picture of Paul Leicester Ford's romance of the days of the Revolution, will open at the Antlers theatre today for a three day run. Men who have made history, heroes of '76, names famous in every country, appear in this magnificent, dramatic photoplay.

Paul Revere, George Washington, General Cornwallis, Patrick Henry, Alexander Hamilton, Benjamin Franklin, the Marquis de Lafayette, Major Pitcairn, King Louis XVI, and Lord Howe—all prominent figures in the early history of the American republic, are enacted by well-known players in one of the most beautiful productions on the screen.

Martha Washington and Marie Antoinette also are present for a share of the glory of this interesting and exciting period of history.

Instructors of public schools and universities are taking their pupils to see "Janice Meredith," as a part of their study of American history. More vivid on the screen than in the pages of any history book, this story of Colonial days makes history become a fascinating study. Costumes, uniforms, villages, arms, battle fields, ballrooms; in fact every detail of setting and scene, is actually accurately reproduced. Skilled artisans and architects were employed to reproduce exactly the architecture of the Revolutionary period, while antique shops and museums were searched. "Janice Meredith" offers an authentic picture of the American colonies at the time of the American Revolution.

Majestic Theatre

In "40 Horse Hawkins," Universal-Gibson production which opened yesterday in the Majestic theatre, Hoot Gibson, the star, has set a mark for uproarious humor of the horse-play stick variety that will be difficult for even the humorous Hoot himself to equal again. It is true there is hokum in the vehicle, but it is convincing hokum.

Herbert Rawlinson, who plays opposite Miss Dupre, has been a star of the first magnitude for a number of years, with his greatest achievements recorded in comedy dramas. Lee Moran was one of the earliest of Universal comedians, and, until he deserted the short subject field a year ago for features, was starred in his own series. Harry Gribbon is another of the early screen comedians, with years of stage experience behind his film work.

JUNE WEATHER SHOWS EXTREME HEAT RECORD

June was normal in average temperature and low in rainfall, according to the monthly meteorological summary completed today by William Bell, of the local weather bureau station. Although the highest June temperature ever recorded by the local observatory was chalked up on the 24th, the average for the month was 63.8 degrees, as compared with a normal of 62.5. The highest point reached was 106 degrees, while the lowest was 40 degrees on the 3rd. All rainfall occurred during the first eight days of the month, after which there was not even a trace of precipitation. The total rainfall was .60 of an inch, as compared with a normal of 1.07 inches. From September 1, 1924, to date the precipitation shows an excess of 8.13 inches, although there is a deficiency since the first of the year.

The summary shows 14 clear days, 12 partly cloudy and 4 cloudy. The prevailing winds were from the north with a total movement of 2,628 miles, giving an average hourly velocity of 3.6 miles, the maximum velocity reached being 16 miles per hour.
