U. S. GERMAN TRADE PACT DRAWS VARIED VIEWS FROM POWERS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(A. P.)—The question of future commercial intercourse, as well as of diplomatic relations, is occupying the chancelleries of the Washington diplomatic corps.

Since the senate ratified the commercial treaty with Germany, drafted as a standard for similar pacts with other countries, diplomatic agents have been busy themselves in studying it and forwarding reports to their governments.

Opinions in foreign circles, varying according to the commercial situation in the different countries, are generally unanimous in condemning certain provisions of the standard treaty, while praising others. Most of the European nations are dealing with the United States under very old commercial treaties and it is realized these soon will have to be brought up to date.

In the case of Turkey, no treaty, commercial or otherwise, now exists. Actual intercourse is proceeding, however, without serious embarrassment to American business and other interests in Turkey. The senate failed at the last session to ratify the treaty with Turkey and it is expected the situation will remain unchanged until the senate meets in December. Rear Admiral Bristol, now acting as American high commissioner in Turkey, will continue to handle American interests there until a more satisfactory relationship is established.

The principal opposition in foreign quarters to the German commercial treaty is in the senate reservation under which congress retains the power, after one year, to revoke those clauses which stipulate that no preferential treatment shall be accorded American shipping or goods transported in American bottoms, without allowing identical advantages to German goods and shipping. As against this, however, foreign diplomats consider that the United States accepted for the first time in the treaty the European conception of "favored nation treatment."

INSTALLMENTS OF "A BRIDE'S DIARY" GO ASTRAY IN MAIL

Owing to some unexplainable error two letters containing installments of the story, "A Bride's Diary," being published daily in the News-Review, have gone astray in the mails. Because of this fact it will be necessary to omit the story for a few days, until the missing chapters can be obtained. A telegram was dispatched to Chicago last night, as soon as the error was discovered, and the missing installments will be forwarded by airplane mail so that publication of the story can probably be resumed the last of the week.

This clause is set forth in Article seven, of the treaty, which reads: "Each of the two high contracting parties binds itself to give to the nationals, vessels, and goods of the other the advantage of every favor, privilege, or immunity which it shall have accorded to the nationals, vessels, and goods of a third state, and regardless of whether such favored state shall have been accorded such treatment gratuitously or in return for reciprocal compensatory treatment."

It is held by some of the diplomats, however, that satisfactory commerce with the United States can only be established by a trade policy covering a long stretch of years.

On the whole, the most influential diplomatic counselors here believe the various objections brought against the treaty are of sufficient importance to overbalance the general spirit of the agreement. They hold that the document was drawn with the intention of initiating a policy of rigorous and universal equality of commercial treatment. This attitude they hold to be fair. The attitude toward the European conception of "favored nation" treatment is ascribed in the same circles to the need of American industries to acquire and hold foreign markets.

NEW POWER DEVELOPMENT ON ROGUE RUMORED

It is reported that survey crews of the California Oregon Power Company have been actively engaged in reconnaissance work in the vicinity of Prospect the past month. In addition to the survey parties a foundation investigation crew of several engineers has been making studies in this vicinity. It is said "This activity on the part of the Copcon concern would seem to indicate that the next big power development of this company is destined to take place on the north fork of the Rogue River not far distant from the present Prospect plant."

OREGON EDITORS TO VISIT THE CAVES

(Associated Press Local Wire.) GRANTS PASS, Ore., July 7.—A trip to the Oregon Caves will be the feature of the annual gathering of the Oregon State Editorial Association, which meets in this city on July 17 and 18. This trip will be made on Saturday, following the business session of Friday. Cars are being provided by the Grants Pass Chamber of Commerce for those who do not bring their own machines.

After the trip through the caves, the Oregon Caves Resort company will provide dinner for the visitors. A camp fire entertainment, aided by an orchestra of college students from O. A. C., whose members act as guides during the day, will be given in the evening for those who desire to stay.

A trip over the Grants Pass region district also is scheduled.

COPCO CROWD CONSUMES HUGE QUANTITY FOOD

In connection with the Copco 2 dedication, which was held last Sunday, it is interesting to note the large amount of food required to feed the record crowd at this big event. Six thousand sandwiches were prepared consisting of the following varieties: ham, cheese, and "hot dog," with 20 gallons of pickles, a "chaser." To make the potato salad required six sacks of potatoes, nearly a sack of onions, two cases of pimentos, two crates of green peppers, and twenty gallons of mayonnaise-dressing. One hundred gallons of ice cream and three hundred pounds of assorted cakes and cookies topped off the meal. Countless cups of coffee were served and the supply of lemonade which was much in demand, not only during lunch but all afternoon, totaled 750 gallons. Needless to say everyone had enough to eat.

CHARGE OF BURNING SLASHING WITHOUT PERMIT BE FOUGHT

A charge of burning slashings without a permit has been filed in the local justice court against Otto Muezel. It is claimed that the fire was allowed to escape. Mr. Muezel's attorney, Albert Abraham, stated today that a plea of not guilty will be filed in answer to the charge. It is claimed that Mr. Muezel was clearing a road, burning the brush as he went along, and that this particular class of work is exempt from the permit requirement of the law. The fire that escaped was kept confined in the land Mr. Muezel had under lease, and was extinguished by his own crew. It is stated.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA READY TO SETTLE ITS DEBTS

(Associated Press Local Wire.) WASHINGTON, July 7.—With dates tentatively set for receiving the French and Belgian debt missions, and with negotiations already under way with Italy, the state department was notified today that Czechoslovakia will formally announce within a few days its readiness to enter immediate conferences for settlement of its reconstruction debt to the United States.

The Czechoslovakian legation informed the department that its government at a cabinet meeting had formally acknowledged the obligation and that an official note outlining its desires would be forthcoming.

The Czechoslovakian reconstruction debt is about $50,000,000 the amount having been agreed upon by a Czechoslovakian mission sent here in June 1923. In addition about $11,000,000 is due for expenses incurred by America for the transportation from Siberia to Czechoslovakia of Czechoslovakian troops in 1919 and 1920.

TWO YOUNG STUDENTS HELD FOR ROBBERIES.

BUTTE, Mont., July 7.—Mark Mills, 21, of Joplin, Mo., and Carl Seiffert, 20, of Tulsa, Okla., president and vice-president, respectively of the junior class of the Missouri school of mines, are expected to plead guilty this afternoon to charges of highway robbery, carrying a sentence of from one to 99 years in the state penitentiary. They were captured yesterday after a gun battle following their holdup of Manager George Forsythe of Columbia Gardens, a summer resort here, and their escape with $2,170. Mills was shot in the hip and shoulder before he surrendered. The money was recovered. The boys said they wanted it to complete their college education.

MARKETS

(Associated Press Local Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., July 7.—Print butter is a cent higher today in the local market with creameries quoting 47 cents a pound for parchment wrapped and 48 cents in cartons. The market is very firm at the advance as high score butter is scarce and in demand.

Cream production has fallen off considerably in the past ten days. Not only has there been a serious decrease in butterfat, but cream coming in has fully reflected the hot weather in quality. The result is an acute shortage of extra butter, which is eagerly sought by outside markets, and a surplus of undergrade butter which nobody wants.

Butter fat quotations advanced a cent today along with the price in prints. Best churning cream is now quoted at 45 cents a pound f. o. b. the shippers track in zone one. No change is shown in cube butter for the day. Exchange prices are: extras 45½c; standard 45c; prime firsts 44c and ordinary firsts 43½c. There is a brisk shipping outlet to the south for all fancy butter offered here.

No change is shown in the local egg market. Receipts are good and the demand sufficient for all offerings.

COSHOW GIVES AN OPINION ON CASE OF WEMME HEIRS

SALEM, Ore., July 7.—By an opinion of the Supreme Court today, written by Justice Coshow modifying the decree of Judge H. H. Belt in the lower court for Multnomah county in the case of the heirs of the late Henry Wemme, against the appellant Christian Science Churches of Portland and the Henry Wemme endowment fund and the new trustees of the fund, Judge Guy C. Horliss, who defended the fund in the original litigation, is allowed the full fee of $25,000 claimed by him from the fund. This gives him $7500 in addition to $17,500 paid him by the original trustees of the fund.

This is modification of the Belt decree in the lower court, which had to do with attorneys fees and which denied a further allowance to Corliss from the fund and held that he must look to the churches for it. Belt held that the original opinion of the supreme court in the litigation prevented him from allowing it from the fund.

The Coshow opinion affirms the Belt decree in refusing to allow the new trustees to repudiate the sale of the so-called "Clackamas property" to the Salvation Army.

"The cross-appellants (which includes the new trustees) seek to ignore the sale to the Salvation Army," says the opinion, "and treat the White Shield home in Portland as though it was still the property of the Henry Wemme endowment and the Clackamas property as belonging to the six churches."

"The Salvation Army is not a party of this litigation. The court cannot divest the title of the Salvation Army to the White Shield home without giving it an opportunity to be heard. The Salvation Army is an indispensable party to any litigation which would divest it of the title it now has in and to the White Shield home."
