ROSEBURG, OREGON, THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1925.

RECOVERING OUR LOSSES

A wonderful display of American courage is being given at Santa Barbara, following the terrible earthquake which reduced so many of its fine buildings to ruins. If our people were like those of some nations, we would see in such a case the people sitting around and bewailing their lot, but making no move to recover their losses.

A warning has been issued in certain localities against a large number of counterfeit $5, $10, and $20 bills recently put into circulation. It seems alarming when such frauds are made known, and many citizens will no doubt fear they will get "stuck" with one or more of those bills.

A philanthropic society recently reported that a certain boy had run away from his home. The society investigated the case, and discovered the reasons why the boy was discontented. As a result of this tactful attention, efforts are being made to remedy these conditions.

meant that the teacher thinks on disputed questions, because the people who employ teachers will be just as certain to prevent teaching what is objectionable to those who employ the teachers as bankers and business men are to prevent "flunks" from running the banks contrary to instructions of their employers.

Mr. Bryan who is associated with counsel for the prosecution for the young school instructor, expressed the opinion that the welfare of teachers is best preserved under the present system. Under this system, he said, personal views of the teachers are let alone and the control of what is to be taught is left to those who employ the teachers—"that is," Mr. Bryan asserted, "to the tax-payers and parents, acting through legislators, and boards of education."

Evolutionists, Mr. Bryan insisted have not considered the effect that "mutilation" of the anti-evolution statute would have on the teachers in public schools.

"Heretofore teachers have been selected without regard to their views upon disputed questions," the former secretary of state declared. "This has been due to the fact that teachers have, as a rule, respected the opinions of their employers. Protestant teachers do not offend Catholic students and Catholic teachers do not offend Protestant students, as neither offend Jews. Republican teachers do not offend democratic students and democratic teachers do not offend republican students."

THE IRKSOMNESS OF CHIVALRY (From Tarpon Springs, Fla. Leader).

One reason why the Leader is often a little bit late in coming out is that we frequently have a number of visitors who come in to leave a news item or an ad or something of the kind, and at such times we always, like a true southern gentleman, take our pipe out of our mouth and lay it down somewhere and after they are gone it always takes about fifteen minutes to find it again.

A ducky has defined prayer, he says, "if an asks the Lord to send me a turkey, he don't do it, but if he asks Him to send me out after a turkey, ah always gets it."

No fire-arms will be permitted in camp.

The expense, which is always a vital matter, will be made just as small as possible. For the reason that several who are strong supporters of Scout camps will furnish their cars for transportation, there will be no charge for taking the boys to camp.

We hope your boy can go to one of these camps and any member of the committee will be glad to confer with you regarding your boy and this camp.

Camp Applications Distributed

The Scout headquarters office will be closed for the remainder of this week for the reason that the executive will be in Roseburg and at the Wolk Creek camp site. However, applications may be taken by applying to Earl Pickens of Pickens Bros. Grocery; O. L. Johnson of the Economy Grocery; Kenneth Quine of Duds for Men; Mr. Lintott, Mr. Crawford or Rev. Mow, scoutmasters of troops one, two and three respectively.

A Scout may register for camp on payment of a dollar and a half registration fee. This applies on the total cost of nine dollars.

Two years ago at the Diamond Lake camp a charge of ten dollars was made for camp. This was considered as pretty high so last year at Wolk Creek, seven dollars was charged. This did not meet the expenses, so this year it was decided to make a nine-dollar fee with the understanding that the posts did not amount to the much that a refund for the difference be made on a pro rata basis.

Scouts to Reedsport

Scouts, Donald Chase, Linton Hoffman, Owen Cordon and Karl Faulkner left this morning with the Scout Executive for Reedsport. They will attend the noon luncheon of the Reedsport Kiwanis club today and assist the Boy Scout Troop there on an over-night hike this evening.

During the day tomorrow they will work with the Scouts of Reedsport in the various tests and attend the troop meeting in the evening.

They will return either Thursday night or early Friday morning.

Scout Camp Committee Speaks

Just a word about that boy of yours and the Scout camp. Of course you desire him to have a good outing and have it under the best conditions possible. Right here is where we can help you.

We have made arrangements for a camp at Wolf Creek (up Little River), July 21st to August 14th. Will also conduct a camp from August 14th to 18th if enough boys register for it. A program will extend throughout every day in which we have made provisions for the welfare and happiness of the boys.

Mr. Shotwell, an honest-to-goodness camp cook (the cooked for the boys last year), has been secured for the season. We are assured of good eats.

Scout Executive Britton will have charge of the camp. He knows how to handle boys and has conducted several successful camps. So far as favors are concerned with him, there are none. All boys look alike and are treated alike.

Rev. Mow expects to be able to be in camp part of the time and we hope to get other men of his calibre to assist in giving the boys a good time. The boys will have the best supervision in all their games and activities, such as swimming and fishing and hiking. We get very close to the boys on these occasions and deep impressions for good are made upon the character. Everything will be clean and wholesome and we try to make the occasion a real uplift in the boy's life.

No fire-arms will be permitted in camp.

The expense, which is always a vital matter, will be made just as small as possible. For the reason that several who are strong supporters of Scout camps will furnish their cars for transportation, there will be no charge for taking the boys to camp.

We hope your boy can go to one of these camps and any member of the committee will be glad to confer with you regarding your boy and this camp.

STATE PRESS COMMENT

Overpopulation. Statistics show that in 1924 the birth rate in this country increased from 2.3 to 2.5 per thousand, and the death rate fell from 12.4 to 11.3. This means that the population of the United States is estimated that the population will double in 44 years, which means 28,000,000 in 1969.

How was it to be fed? We are now cultivating five hundred million of the eight hundred million arable acres of the country. There are no more frontiers. There is no new source of power or food supply in sight. Intensive cultivation of the soil will increase its products to a limited extent only.

It is interesting to note that the states whose birth rates are the highest, are those in which there are large numbers of people living on a low economic scale.

The negroes and "poor white trash" of North and South Carolina, Mississippi and Florida swell the birth statistics of those states. Pennsylvania and Michigan with their large bodies and foreign laborers in mines and factories are well in the birth rate lead. Oregon, with its rate of 18.6 per thousand, is probably the better proportion.

The nation needs children, but it is getting the children that it needs most?

The segregation of the feeble minded shows the beginning of a better wisdom on the part of society. Persistence in that policy will eliminate a progeny which can have nothing valuable to offer. An unfortunate effect of overpopulation is the economic pressure which tends to reduce the size of the more thoughtful and provident families.

Dr. East, who is the modern exponent of Malthusian theories, is right, the ideal population for the United States, that which would insure to its people the maximum in comfort, health and prosperity, is about 150,000,000.

That limit will soon be reached. Overpopulation or proper population will soon be a problem that will thrust itself upon the attention of the thoughtful. —Portland Telegram.

Need Women Veterans.

There were 22,000 American women who served overseas in the world war. There are 1000 of that number, says Mary A. Boardman, president of the Women's Overseas League, who are disabled to the extent of needing hospital treatment. Yet, in spite of their need and the power of their organization, hardly any of these women are asking anything from the government. They have no money, no property and no pride that their needs should be put first. When the needy ones hesitate to present claims, the assistance that is theirs by right should be urged upon them. —Eugene Register.

How Do They Feel?

Thirteen billion dollars is invested in tax-exempt securities in the United States. Most of that money is the money of wealthy people.

As a result of that investment $12,900,000,000 is removed from the tax rolls of the country. That money is not reached by taxation. It pays none of the cost of government. But government pays very heavy sums to protect that money. It pays for prosecutors and courts to protect it, mainly against an army and navy to protect it. It pays the salaries of officials to protect it. And the money that is not in tax-exempt securities, but is compelled to pay government taxes, pays the money that the government spends in protection of that tax-free securities.

The money invested in production of food for people to eat is not tax-free. It pays. The money invested in homes to shelter people is not tax-free. It pays. The money invested in production of clothing for people is not tax-free. It pays. The money invested in improving the necessities and the comforts for the people of the nation is not tax-free. It pays taxes.

Who can defend that part of a tax system which permits money invested in tax-exempt securities to pay nothing toward the cost of government while money which is invested in enterprises that provide food, shelter and clothing for the people of the nation not only pays all of the cost of government, but in an doing pays for the production of the tax-free paper? Why has congress not long ago opened the way for a constitutional amendment which will eliminate tax-exempt paper, which will release money for business that will provide jobs as well as the necessities and comforts of life to the people of the United States, and which would close the doors to wealthy tax-dodgers?

How does the Oregon delegation in congress feel about tax-exempt securities? —Portland Journal.

Cachin threatened the government.

PARIS, July 9.—Communist deputies, led by Marcel Cachin, began an attack on the French government for condoning warfare in Morocco against the invading Rifians under Abd-el-Krim, when debate commenced today upon Premier Poincaré's bill for an application of 152,000,000 francs of the Moroccan operation.

M. Poincaré told the Chamber that "nothing could be farther from the truth than rumors that Abd-el-Krim has captured Taza." He said he could not understand what interest would be served by the dissemination of such false reports.

PARIS, July 9.—France and Spain will offer Abd-el-Krim autonomy in the Rif region of Morocco under a Spanish protectorate. This is one of the principal features of the Franco-Spanish accord regarding Morocco signed at Madrid yesterday.

French official circles expect Abd-el-Krim to refuse the offer because the leader of the tribesmen now opposing the French and Spanish in Morocco has repeatedly said that he would not accept a Spanish protectorate.

It is understood that Franco-Spanish agreement also provides permission for French military forces to enter the Spanish Moroccan zone in pursuit of Abd-el-Krim's warriors and such other military operations as may be necessary.

(The French have been for some time seeking this permission and have maintained they were handicapped in combating Abd-el-Krim's invasion of the French zone by inability to pursue the Rifians when they retreated across the border into Spanish territory.)

Although Abd-el-Krim has previously refused a Spanish protectorate, he has said he would accept autonomy under the French. This is impossible, however, because his territory is within the Spanish zone of Morocco.

FEW NOTABLE HEROES

Men Who Served With Distinguished Honor During Great War Join Squadron.

(Associated Press Local Wire.) NEW YORK, July 9.—A Lafayette Escadrille for service in Morocco is being formed by American volunteers who saw service with the foreign legion during the World War. Two pilots who already have managed to fly with the forces opposing the Rifians are Granville A. Pollock of New Orleans and Charles W. Kerwood of Philadelphia.

Pollock served with the artillery in the British expeditionary forces during the first two years of the World War and then joined the Lafayette Escadrille.

Kerwood was a member of the Lafayette Escadrille in 1917. He was shot down in 1918 and captured by the Germans. Later he became a lieutenant-colonel in the air forces of Greece.

Charles Sweeney and Paul Rockwell, both among the first Americans to enlist in the foreign Legion at the beginning of the World War, have volunteered as machine gunners and observers in the Escadrille.

Sweeney, whose home is in Seattle, was wounded during the Champagne offensive of 1915. He was the first American to win the medal of the Legion of Honor during the World War. He reached the rank of captain in the French tank corps and was commissioned lieutenant-colonel in the United States army in 1917-18.

Rockwell sailed from Atlanta. He also served in the battlefront in 1915 and was wounded in action.
