PORT OF PORTLAND RECORDS A LARGE VOLUME SHIPPING

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14.—According to figures compiled by the traffic department of the Port of Portland, shipments of lumber to domestic ports for the first six months of 1925 show an increase of 41,561,000 feet while exports show a decrease of 59,532,000 feet, making a total decrease of 17,971,000 feet.

Domestic flour shipments show a large increase this year over the first six months of last year amounting to 142,000 barrels. The market in the eastern United States has been very good and the increase in shipments is shown largely in this trade.

The Ku Klux Klan cross on Mt. Nebo was in evidence last night, and to call attention to the signal several bombs were set off. A special meeting of Umpqua Klan and installation of officers was the reason for the signal being given.

not sufficient to take up the tonnage loss by the larger items. Also due to the shortage of wheat for shipment the number of vessels entering from and clearing to foreign ports was less than last year.

However shipments from Portland in the domestic trade all show increases. Shipments to Atlantic ports show a small increase of 3,367 tons over the first six months of last year. This increase will probably be considerable greater before the year is out. The biggest increase is shown in shipments to eastwide ports. This amounts to 60,425 tons.

The month of June was one of the largest import months that Portland has experienced for several years as not only were the shipments from the Orient heavier but from Europe as well.

The last half of the year 1925, according to the present outlook, should show a large increase in both inbound and outbound cargo in all routes and the year promises to continue the custom of former years in showing substantial increases in business handled.

FLYWEIGHT CHAMP DIES IN HOSPITAL

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Panchito Villa, flyweight champion of the world, died today at a local hospital following an operation on his jaw.

Villa was rushed to the hospital from his hotel last night, when a jaw infection took a serious turn. He was operated on at once, but failed to rally from the effects of the operation.

Villa had been ill from the jaw infection since a few days before his fight with Jimmy McLarnin at Oakland on July 4. He went into that fight against the advice of his physician and lost after putting up a grueling contest.

He appeared dazed throughout and there was a swelling on the right side of his face that could be plainly seen by the ringiders.

During the fight, his manager, Frank Churchill, issued a statement saying that Villa had been told not to fight, but was determined to do so to save the promoter a big loss.

On the night before the fight Villa had a wisdom tooth extracted by a surgeon to relieve a stiffening of the jaw, and was reported to have gone into the ring with the jaw nerves deadened by a drug to kill the pain.

Later it was necessary to extract other teeth, but the infection spread and a major operation was then decided on.

CUTWORMS ARE DOING DAMAGE TO MANY CROPS

Dillard Melon Growers in Some Cases Make Three Plantings.

TOMATOES IN DANGER

Immediate Action to Control Pests Advised by County Agent—Earwig Poison Tested.

Cutworms, slugs and wire worms, natural enemies of the farmer, are much more in evidence this year than ever before, according to reports from all over the county, and a great deal of damage is being done by these pests, so much so, in fact, that experiments are now being conducted by the County Agent to determine the best methods of control.

The cutworms particularly have invaded home gardens and fields alike, and have been doing untold damage, while their greatest activity will result during the coming two weeks, it is stated.

At Dillard some of the melon growers were forced to make three plantings, while the tomato growers are waging a hard battle. The cut worms set in their worst work on tomatoes, just as they are beginning to ripen, and preventative measures are recommended immediately.

Flower lovers are also finding the cutworms a real pest, for they are destroying blossoms and plants and ruining the beauty of the flower beds.

The most effective means of combating the cutworm, according to County Agent Cooney, and County Horticulturist Carpenter, is to use earwig poison.

EVOLUTION LAW FOR OREGON IS PLEDGED SUPPORT BY UNION

(Associated Press Local Wire.) MEDFORD, Ore., July 14.—Following an address Sunday by Rev. J. M. Johnson at the annual meeting of the Rogue River group of the American Sunday School Union near Trail, Oregon, on "Evolution vs. the Teachings of Geology," practically every one present publicly expressed their opposition to the teaching of evolution in the public schools and pledged support to an initiative measure in Oregon similar to the measure passed in Tennessee. Seven rural Sunday schools in Jackson county were represented at the meeting.

is a mixture of Paris green and bran. This should be mixed in proportions of one pound of Paris green to 20 pounds of bran. These two materials should be thoroughly mixed in their dry state.

Two quarts of cheap syrup and 2 1/2 gallons of water should be mixed together, and the liquid poured into the bran and poison while it is being stirred. The mass should not be allowed to become sticky, but should be of such a consistency that it may be scattered from the hand in flakes. It should be stirred freely, and should be strewn over the territory in which the cutworms are active, each evening. Care should be taken not to allow chickens on the poisoned area. The quantities given are enough to cover slightly more than a quarter of an acre. Any desired quantity can be mixed, keeping the same proportions.

An additional preventative is to use an arsenate of lead spray, using 1 pound of arsenate of lead to 12 gallons of water. This should be sprayed upon the plants being eaten by the worms. Sprays such as Black Leaf 40 are ineffective for cutworm control if it is stated, as spray must be used which will poison the pests eating the plants.

A test is to be made with earwig poison. This contains sodium fluoride, and if it is found out that this material is as effective for cutworm control as the earwig poison, it will be used in a few days. If these experiments prove the poison to be successful, control methods will be simplified for the average town gardener, for earwig poison can be procured, already mixed, at local drug stores, saving the time and trouble necessary in mixing up the preparation in small quantities.

TEXAN ELECTED GRAND RULER OF ORDER OF ELKS

(Continued from page 1.) or it has been erected." Grand secretary Fred Robinson in his report showed that the membership of the order had more than doubled since the reunion held in Portland in 1912. "My annual report of that year," he said, "showed a total membership of 381,742, while this year our membership stands at $22,687. Murray Hulbert of New York (Judge No. 1), was elected justice of the grand forum.

COURT ROOM, Dayton, Tenn., July 14.—As court was about to open for the John T. Scopes trial today, Clarence Darrow filed formal objection with the court to opening the court with prayer in the presence of the jury.

Mr. Darrow said: "I do not object to anyone praying in private, but I do object to this court being turned into a meeting house."

Judge Raulston responded: "I don't want to be unreasonable about anything, but I am responsible for the conduct of the court. I overrule this objection." Dudley Field Malone, followed by a statement of his objection to the prayer, saying as one of the members of counsel who is not an agnostic, "I desire to file my objection. I respect Mr. Darrow's right to his belief but the prayer is as far as I am concerned, and should be excluded."

Attorney-General Stewart declared that the same religious atmosphere was prevailing in this court now that has prevailed before.

Cautions Ministers. Judge Raulston said that he had uniformly followed his custom of opening court with prayer when a minister was available. He had cautioned ministers called upon to pray here, he said, against referring to this case in their prayer.

"I believe in prayer," said Judge Raulston. "I pray myself and often invoke the blessing of God on my entrance. I practice it on the bench and off. I therefore overrule the objection."

The Rev. Mr. A. C. Stribling, pastor of the Dayton Cumberland Presbyterian church, then offered the prayer after Mr. Darrow had entered an exception.

The formal opening of the court followed. Judge Raulston announced that he would have to ask indulgence in announcing his decision on the motion to quash. A matter of several hours, he said, might be needed for him to get his opinion in shape, lack of lights in Dayton last night having interfered with his work.

COURT ROOM, Dayton, Tenn., July 14.—Clarence Darrow, counsel for John T. Scopes, who yesterday made a two hour speech on a motion to quash the indictment against the school teacher, said when he came into court this morning that after going over his notes on yesterday's address he had decided that he had made his position plain and would not continue today. Judge John T. Raulston, after an overnight study of briefs and authorities cited, was understood to be prepared to file his decision on the motion soon after court convened. Refusal of the defense motion would prolong the trial of Scopes on a charge of violating the state law against the teaching of evolution theories.

COURT ROOM, Dayton, Tenn., July 14.—While the crowded court room was waiting for Judge Raulston's decision in the motion to quash the indictment in the Scopes case here this afternoon, the Judge mounted the bench and addressed the word directed particularly to the newspapermen. He said that the contents of his opinion on the motion to quash was known only to his stenographer and himself and could not be released for publication until he began reading it from the bench.

"If any member of the press has sent it out, I will deal with him for contempt of court," said the judge.

Lloyd L. Crocker was called to the stand this morning by the word that his oldest daughter, Charlotte, is quite ill with threatened pneumonia. Mrs. Crocker and her daughters are spending the summer at Hamilton, and the two young ladies have been suffering from colds, and both are ill, the younger one's condition, however, not being of a serious nature. Mr. Crocker left for Hamilton at once upon the receipt of the word of his daughter's illness.
