PORTLAND PEOPLE HURT WHEN AUTO IS KNOCKED IN DITCH

SALEM, Ore., July 20.—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Graham and their son, Robert, of 349 Oak street, Portland, were all badly cut and bruised in an automobile accident on the Pacific highway two miles south of Salem Sunday night when the car in which they were proceeding northward was struck by a car driven by F. F. Hobson of Albany. The Graham car was turned over and thrown into the ditch at the side of the highway.

EVOLUTION DOES NOT DENY BIBLE SCIENTISTS SAY

Dr. Winneton Curtis, zoologist of the University of Missouri, discussed evolution as the doctrine of how things have changed in the past and how they are changing in the present. "The historical fact of evolution seems attested by overwhelming evidence," he said. "If man is a creature apart from all animals, it is extremely difficult to understand the significance of the fact that he is constructed along lines so closely similar to those of certain animals."

Dr. Fay Cooper Cole, anthropologist of the University of Chicago, declared that anthropologists accept evolution as the most plausible explanation of the facts resulting from the universe, the world and all the life in it.

He called attention to the fact that man closely resembles certain members of the animal world in every bone and organ of his body. Differences were noted, but they were differences of degree rather than of kind. Those animals most closely resembling man were the anthropoid apes.

Jacob G. Lipman, dean of the college of agriculture and director of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment station, found in the same evolution from the point of view of the soil investigation. "A direct relation may be traced," he said, "between soils, plants and animals in the evolution of organic life."

Charles Hubbard Judd, director of the school of education, University of Chicago, declared a serious national disaster threatens today, prepared the way for the more highly organized beings," he said. "Some bacteria are able to manufacture nitrogen compounds out of the simple nitrogen gas of the air. They thus supply the material out of which the protoplasm of plant and animal cells is made."

but they should never feel themselves above the law," he said. "Unwarranted and unjustified criticism of the court and the state is made."

"He who would hurl contempt into the records of my court, insults and outrages against the people of one of the greatest states in the union."

"In the face of what is considered an unjust criticism of the court made by Clarence Darrow, I feel that I must protect the dignity of my court."

The judge then directed that Clarence Darrow be required to appear in court Tuesday morning to answer to a charge of contempt, directing the bail bond of $5,000.

Mr. Darrow arose and said he did not know whether he could make the bond.

"I guess you can," said Judge Raulston.

Mr. Darrow was smiling. The judge was not smiling.

After the judge had read the statement of the case, the defense offering a certified copy of the governor's message to the legislature approving the bill. The state objected to the introduction of the document.

to have some latitude myself later." The attorney-general suggested that the entire proceedings was not relevant.

Amidst applause, Bryan faced Judge Raulston and told him that the defense attorneys had not come to Dayton to try "a law suit," but to "direct an attack against revealed religion and I'm here to defend it."

Again and again the fundamentalist leader asserted that he accepted certain Biblical phases "because the Bible says so."

"Don't you know that there are any number of civilizations that have been traced back five thousand years," asked Darrow. "I am not certain that they are right," came the answer. "Do you mean that you do not believe that there was any civilization on this earth 5000 years ago?" "I am not willing to give up my belief in the Bible in preference to the opinions of those who make the estimates."

REEDSPORT BANK IS PURCHASED BY C. M'C. JOHNSON

Expressions of pleasure, mingled with regret, are being heard in Reedsport this week over an announcement of purchase by Mayor C. M'C. Johnson of controlling interest in the First Bank of Reedsport, says the Port Umpqua Courier.

Community boosters are elated over the fact that Mayor Johnson now heads the city's financial institution. Pioneers in the community are sorry to learn of the withdrawal of the founder of the bank, from that institution.

Mayor C. M'C. Johnson, head of the lumber company of his name, has been one of the leaders in financial affairs in the community for the past few years. He has been active in civic development and as mayor has led in the program to place the city's affairs on a business basis. He is the prime-mover in the present project for filling in of the city. Since assuming the reins of city government, Mayor Johnson has devoted his time untriflingly and his unstinted business ability to the city's affairs. His judgement in financial matters has been of the best.

The personnel of employees at the bank remains unchanged with the exception of Mr. Johnson acting as president in place of I. E. Staples.

Geo. W. Staples is vice-president and manager; Stanley D. Chapin, vice-president; H. McCrea, cashier and Ben C. Roberts, assistant cashier.

The name of I. E. Staples automatically is dropped from the board of directors, with sale of his stock. Directors now are C. M'C. Johnson, Stanley D. Chapin, J. R. Browne, W. F. Peck, W. H. Koepke and L. F. Earl.

The First Bank of Reedsport was organized in January 1919 with Isaac E. Staples as the prime mover, and holding controlling interest. The first board of directors included: I. E. Staples, C. M'C. Johnson, W. P. Reed, J. W. Noblet, now of Denig Springs, La., J. R. Browne, Asa Henderson and W. F. Peck.

The capital stock is the same as at present $25,000.00.

SURVIVOR INDIAN MASSACRE IS DEAD

PORTLAND, July 20.—Mrs. Elizabeth Cager Helm, 88, one of the survivors of the Whitman massacre in 1847, died yesterday at the home of a daughter at Courtney, a suburb of Portland. She was one of a family of seven children whose parents died while crossing the plains, and she was at the mission conducted by Dr. Marcus Whitman and his wife when the massacre occurred.

Only five other survivors of the massacre are still living. They are: Mrs. N. A. Jacobs and Mrs. O. N. Denny of Portland; a sister of Mrs. Helm residing at Eugene; Mrs. Mary Copley of Riverside, Cal., and her sister residing in Oakland, Cal.

SMITH RIVER PEOPLE MAKING FINAL PLANS FOR CELEBRATION

Governor Walter M. Pierce, Senator Isaac E. Staples of Multnomah county and H. L. Eddy of Douglas county, Dairy Commissioner Mickel and Douglas County Agent Cooley, all have accepted invitations of the Smith River fair committee to be guests at the two day celebration this year, September 7 and 8, says the Port Umpqua Courier. All of the potatoes will be asked to deliver talks during the celebration.

Announcement has been made by Karl R. Stone, secretary of the fair committee, that a meeting is planned to be held, probably Saturday, when details for the celebration will be worked out.

The tentative program list will be checked over and be gotten in shape for publication.

Apple growers should apply the anthracnose spray at this time using 4-4-50 Bordeaux. Later applications during August will in most cases require the wiping of fruit at harvest. This labor cost

PROF. WALTER BELT TEACHER AT CANTON BACK FROM CHINA

Prof. Walter K. Belt, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Belt of this city, returned yesterday from China, where he has been serving as an instructor in the Canton Christian college. His return was unexpected and his parents were greatly surprised and pleased when he arrived.

He stated that he was in Hong Kong and was unable to return to Canton, so he seized an opportunity to come home, when the Empress of Asia made up a white crew. He served as a member of the crew, together with a number of other Americans who took employment in returning.

The trouble in China, he believes, will not be settled until a foreign power intervenes or all foreigners leave the country.

The Chinese students are being stirred up by the bolsheviks against the English and Japanese, and not being discriminating, are directing their attacks against all foreigners alike.

The Canton Christian college, in which Mr. Belt was serving as an instructor, completed its term, but contrary to the usual custom, is holding no summer school, owing to the disturbed and unsettled conditions.

Whether or not the school will open in the fall is still in doubt, Mr. Belt says. The Canton government has demanded that the college and all mission schools stop courses in religion, and that no compulsory religious services, such as chapel and Sunday meetings, be held. They also demand more emphasis on Chinese subjects, and demand money payments for alleged damages. They also demand that the military drill, which in the past has followed the western style, be eliminated and that the German system be substituted.

Mr. Belt said that the shooting affair on the Shamoen, the foreign concession, stirred up a great deal of excitement. One of the students killed was Duncan Hui Lu Cheung, a former Portland youth. The boy, who spent his early years in this country, had completed the college preparatory class, corresponding to a high school senior class in the states.

Mr. Belt was in Hong Kong when the trouble occurred, and found himself unable to return to Canton. The Empress of Asia was at dock at that time and was having trouble with her crew. The Orientals were discharged, some being out on strike. A white crew was formed.

A number of lady missionaries found employment as waitresses, and Mr. Belt was assigned to a job as assistant cook. Russians were employed as stokers, and with the exception of a few old employees, all Orientals were taken off the crew in order to avoid future disturbance. Mr. Belt states that he will not return to the college, and will remain in this country.

Colonel Amaral's fine record in the World War won for him general admiration and the police of all sections of Lisbon joined in a concerted move to apprehend his assailants.

The investigations revealed that the terrorist in addition to the bomb outrages had been guilty of robberies and extortions, it having been shown that one of the Lisbon banks had given large sums of money to the men under threat of damage by a bomb.

W. Goodman and John Nasburg were found guilty in the justice court at Reedsport Saturday, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor. Goodman was fined $250 and given 20 days in jail and Nasburg was fined $250 and given 30 days in jail, both being sentenced by Justice of the Peace Henderson. The arrests were made by Deputy Sheriff Grubbe, who took the men to the county road camp at Mill Creek, where they will be employed in road building during the time fixed for their penal servitude.
