MARKETS

PORTLAND, July 23.—With about half of the wool crop of Oregon still in first hands, trading has come almost to a standstill. The growers have firm ideas and are not offering their wool, although some of them would not doubt sell if they could get a decent bid. Buyers say this price is at least three cents out of line.

The general position of the market appears to have undergone no change recently, the London sales leaving the parity about where it was before. Most of the traders are of the opinion, however, that the world's wool market is now at the bottom level and that when any change comes, it will be moderately upward. The growers also share this view and appear to be in a position to hold until the change comes.

Butter is still going into local storages at a good rate, the increase in stocks in the past week, amounting to 69,417 pounds.

Present holdings of eggs in Portland are nearly 21,000 cases larger than a year ago.

Butter steady, city cubes 48c; standards 47c; prime firsts 46c; firsts, 44c; undergrades nominal; prima 43c; cartons 50c.

The egg market was steadier with extra a cent higher at 37 cents. Current receipts also advanced a cent to 36 cents.

There was a strong demand for dressed pork at the sales with sales at 19 1/2 to 20 cents. Veal was in liberal supply and slow.

Harvest of winter wheat is completed in Douglas County, has begun in the Willamette valley and is becoming quite general in north-eastern counties; rye harvest will also start soon in extreme Eastern counties, according to the Oregon weekly crop summary of the weather bureau.

Hartlett pears are doing well in southern districts and will be ready for picking in about ten days.

Haying is still in progress in elevated eastern districts, where the first cutting of alfalfa is about complete; in all other localities the second crop has been gathered, while in still other places, where irrigated, prospects for a fair third crop are indicated.

Late potatoes need rain for best results, although as a rule, the crop is looking well.

SALEM, Ore., July 23.—The Oregon hop crop of 1924 has been cleaned up by the purchase of three remaining lots in the state. T. A. Livesly of Salem was the buyer, paying 20 cents for 147 bales bought from Benedict and Harris of Albany, 194 cents for 295 bales from Sternberg and Small, Albany, and 184 cents for a 580 bale lot bought from Laf Hing, north of Salem. It is estimated there were 75,000 bales in the total 1924 crop.

The 20-cent price was the high water mark for the season. Local hop men say to the best of their remembrance, and for 35 years at least, this is the first time a hop crop has been entirely cleaned up during the first selling year after production.

Hopmen peddled another 75,000 bale crop for 1925, with the crop in promising condition and no signs of red spider or lice.

CHINESE KILL ONE AMERICAN, ABDUCT ANOTHER

pending full official investigation. Meantime, however, American authorities in China are expected to take prompt measures to secure the release of Dr. Howard, the American held captive, and the punishment of those responsible for his abduction, and for the death of Morgan Palmer.

Heretofore Americans in China have been not noticeably immune from the attacks directed against the nationals of other countries and the first impulse was to regard yesterday's incident as a detached display of banditry and not an indication of any widespread move against Americans.

The killing of Mr. Palmer and the capture of Dr. Howard are looked upon as the more regrettable because they occurred at the time when the American government was demonstrating again its traditional friendship for China by remission of the remaining payments due under the Boxer indemnity agreement. It is the earnest hope of Washington that the Chinese authorities will take prompt and effective steps not only to clear up the incident of yesterday, but to prevent a recurrence.

Mr. Darrow, commenting at Dayton, said he believed the proceedings here were "probably an exhibition of bigotry and crankism," and that he had "no doubt it will fall," while Mr. Bryan indicated that he welcomed it as an opportunity to shed more light on the issue of evolution and revealed religion.

PORTLAND, July 23.—Dr. W. H. Lytle, secretary of the Oregon State Livestock Sanitary board, announced at the meeting of the American Veterinary Medical association today that at a clinic tomorrow afternoon an attempt would be made to remove the bleat from a goat.

The goat is the pet at a Portland baby home, and the children are very fond of the animal, but just at the time the tots are taking their naps the goat begins making noise, it was explained. In order to spare the goat for the children the operation is planned. Prominent veterinarians will perform the operation.

Lexington, Ky., was chosen for the next annual convention of the association.

DALLAS MAN DIES AT BOTTOM OF WELL FROM DYNAMITE GAS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

DALLAS, Ore., July 23.—Overcome by dynamite gas at the bottom of a well on the Abe Siemens farm five miles north of here, Peter Reddekopp succumbed to the fumes, after two ineffectual attempts were made to rescue him in which two other men were overcome. Though the third attempt was successful and a physician was waiting at the top of the well, and every effort was made to resuscitate the man, the efforts proved unavailing.

Reddekopp was employed to deepen the well and was being assisted by Siemens, the owner. Last night a dynamite blast was set off at the bottom of the well about 30 feet deep. This morning Reddekopp descended in a bucket operated by Siemens from above. The dynamite gas had failed to rise and the bottom of the well was charged with it. When Reddekopp reached bottom. In a few minutes, Reddekopp signaled to Siemens to be pulled up and Siemens complied. When the bucket carrying Reddekopp was about half way up, Siemens noticed that Reddekopp was apparently unconscious, and suddenly his body pitched from the bucket and fell.

Siemens immediately enlisted the aid of a milk driver, and a neighbor. The milk wagon driver made the first effort to bring out Reddekopp, but was overcome before he could succeed and was brought up in a fainting condition. Siemens then made an attempt, but also was overcome. The neighbor succeeded in getting the rope about Reddekopp's body for half an hour, but without avail.

Rubber prices are controlled by Great Britain, which has a great rubber trust. The price of rubber for tires is rising. American manufacturers are disturbed, and have asked the American state department to intervene. But what can it do? A rubber trust is a rubber trust, and Great Britain is Great Britain. There is no account that any American trust ever let go its hold, once it got it. But for the foresight of old John Sherman in securing passage of the anti-trust law and the activity of Theodore Roosevelt in busting trusts and of Woodrow Wilson in obtaining the federal trade commission, America would long ago have been a government of the trusts, by the trusts, and for the trusts.—Portland Journal.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

By a vote of 61 to 2 Glendale voters yesterday approved a bond issue in the sum of $35,000 for the purpose of constructing a new high school building. A small opposition to the bond issue, indicates the almost unanimous enthusiasm over the proposition which Glendale people have been discussing for some time. According to Attorney A. N. Orell, who has been handling the legal affairs for the district, the bonds, which will bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent, will be offered for sale October 1. CLEVER TRAP LAID FOR BOOTLEGGERS ENSNARES SEVEN

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

TILLAMOOK, Ore., July 23.—A romantic appearing Seaside cottage, especially constructed on the edge of town, an order placed at the hotel for 40 rooms and announced arrangements to build a lighthouse at Point Maxwell, where a "storm" was to be filmed, duped seven local men into making deliveries last night of approximately 100 gallons of liquor for the use of 40 motion picture players who were to have arrived today, according to the district attorney's office. As the seven made their deliveries a half hour apart, by pre-arrangement, they were met in the woodshed "headquarters" of the film company and handcuffed by Sheriff John Aschm, who was accompanied by District Attorney Claude Barrick.

A man who called himself "W. R. Francis, technical director for the Lee Film Corporation of Hollywood," here to film "The Daughters of the Sea," worked in cooperation with the officials in laying
