YELLOWSTONE PARK BEARS NAMED AFTER AND MIMIC OUTLAWS

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont., July 25.—Jesse James, the celebrated holdup bear of the Yellowstone National Park, has a number of understudies this year and automobilists are making many unwilling contributions of chocolates and other foodstuffs before they are able to escape the skillful thieves.

Old Jesse James, a large black bear, discovered several years ago that by planting himself in the middle of the park roads he could halt autos and force passengers to feed him. Being thoroughly protected in a national park, he was in no danger and found the delicious candies and luncheons carried by tourists far more appetizing than the refuse in the garbage cans at the hotels.

THE BEST PLACE FOR THEM. Drunken men are not permitted to flourish pistols, neither are they run amuck with butcher knives. If they do so they speedily find jail to court and back to jail again. This being so, and in the public interest, how reasonable is the legal determination to send drunken motorists invariably to jail for six months. Upon this policy the municipal judges are agreed and already they are applying it. And in the application they are safeguarding the lives of citizens.
