TILDEN PROMISES TO OBSERVE RULE AGAINST WRITING

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, holds a written pledge from William T. Tilden, 11, national champion, binding him to give no more interviews for newspaper syndication on tennis tournaments in which he is a competitor.

Adjudged guilty of violation of the player-writer rule by the committee yesterday, Tilden saved himself from suspension and disqualification by a written promise strictly to observe the rule.

Disposition of Tilden's case turns tennis interest to plans for defense of the Davis cup, preliminary tests for which are scheduled this week at Forest Hills, N. Y., matches for today, tomorrow and Wednesday, starting at 3 p. m. standard time, bring together doubles teams consisting of Tilden and William M. Johnston on one side and Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams on the other. Each match will be 3 sets out of five. There will also be Round Robin singles between George Lott of Chicago, John Hennessy of Indianapolis and Cranston Holman and Howard Kinsey of California.

TEMPERATION DOESN'T TEMPT.
"A woman is always blind. Col. Beldon, if her marriage breaks up and there is no other woman in the case, if her husband forgets her utterly for good or cards or even business, she is not concerned, because all she has is a woman. Why, by never caring for any other woman but her."

"Sometimes, however, I think that there are many other things in married life that make a woman more unhappy than the conventional 'he was untrue to her.' After all, we are material creatures, and if one is comfortable materially, it means a great deal. I sometimes think the soul is more dependent upon the body than the body is upon the soul."

"I have learned, in the short months that I have been married, Colonel, that all the things that I have cited are of as great importance in the successful marriage as the introduction of the triangle. The commandments pertaining to wedded life run parallel to the commandments relating to living. There are at least 10 of them, but only two or three of them are ever considered of great authority."

"If a man is honest, I mean, if he doesn't steal, he can let the other commands go by the board. Yes—even murder, where he can cite defense of his life or the unwritten law. I think, perhaps, that is the reason why it hurt me so much when I found that Paul had stolen my car. To most men the command to keep, probably because a man wants to be sure that he is the father of his own children, he has made the keeping of the seventh commandment an unbreakable law."

"at he is justified in the eyes of the world in getting rid of his wife if he finds she doesn't understand a woman. To most men the understanding of their wives is something quite unnecessary."

I stopped, all out of breath, after my tirade. Col. Beldon looked at me with curiosity mixed with consternation as he said, softly, "You certainly are an odd kind of girl."

"No, I am no more odd than any other girl of today who dances along through her youth until she is married. My answer was quite as much a surprise to me as it was to him. Until that moment I had not known that I did represent all the girls of my time, just as my grandmother had represented the girls of her time. I realized that some of the passages in my grandmother's diary were ramblings of revolt against the complete domination of man."

"Are you sure you believe all this, Col. Beldon? Isn't it just a mood? You are very angry, and I don't know that I blame you."

"Why, of course you don't blame me. You realize that I am telling you the absolute truth."

I forgot, dear diary, that I was saying these things to a stranger that I had never said to anyone before. I was in turn surprised with the charm of Colonel Beldon. It was the same kind of charm that had made Rita Thorndike take him for her confidant.

"He is the most sympathetic person I have ever known," I said inwardly. "He is always interested in the person he is with at the moment."

I pulled myself together sharply. "Please pardon me, Colonel, I did not mean to burden you not only with my troubles, but with my reactions to them."

"You have not burdened me, Cleo. You have interested me greatly. My only unhappiness is that you will not let me help you."

"Thank you very much, Colonel, but I must keep friends first with myself, you know?"

"I'm afraid I don't understand, my dear."

"Oh, yes, you do. It is only that you don't remember. Everyone knows that to keep a friend one must keep his respect. To keep the friendship of myself I must keep my self-respect."

ROSEBURG GIRL'S WHISTLING TALENT RECEIVES PRAISE

Proving herself a whistler of unusual ability, Miss Elbow May Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Ida M. Wilson of Roseburg, added much to the program at the Pine Tree theatre where she appeared last evening. As soon as it was learned of the clever young lady was in the city, arrangements were made for her appearance at the local theatre. In making a tour of the coast cities on a vacation trip with her mother and a party of friends, Miss Wilson has been very much in demand and has made a number of public appearances. While studying under Madams Zody of Long Beach, California, the noted teacher saw great possibilities for a young lady, whose mother and sister formerly lived at Klamath Agency, where Mrs. Wilson still holds property interests.

The party including Mrs. Wilson and her daughter, Elbow; Mrs. Haas of Lewist, Idaho and Miss Violet Graham of Portland left this afternoon for Klamath Agency, where they will spend the night, motoring on to Crater Lake tomorrow to spend the week-end. They will return from Crater Lake to their home in Roseburg. — Klamath Falls Herald.

STANFORD UPPER CLASSMEN TO ARRANGE OWN PROGRAMS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 4.—At the beginning of the fall term, in October, Stanford University will give especially qualified junior and senior students the run of the university.

They will be permitted to map out programs of study leading to degree ends and, with the aid of professors, carry out these plans in any way they prefer.

President Ray Lyman Wilbur explained that this was not a device to make college work easier.

"On the contrary," he said, "it is a scheme to make college work sufficiently hard to give exceptionally able students a chance to extend themselves and go as fast as they are able, instead of lagging along and making time with less gifted fellow students. At the end of their course they will have to pass stiff examinations to prove their knowledge, and they will be checked up and tested at intervals by faculty advisers."

"The plan of study will be arranged with the intention of providing a program of work both more comprehensive and more intensive than that of the average student, calling for greater initiative, more self-direction and a higher type of thinking."

FOURTEEN POINTS GUIDE TO SUCCESSFUL MOVIES

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 4.—Through a recently established system of selecting plots that conform to the covenant of 14 dramatic points, motion picture producers here now practically assure the success of a photoplay before it is made. Of thousands of films produced in the past many were failures from the standpoint of audience.

Irving Cummings, director, under whose direction several productions have been filmed through this new method, declares that in the future failures will be almost completely eliminated. In this manner more pictures that appeal to the audiences will be turned out, he said.

The photoplay when adjudged by this method should contain a majority of the fourteen following dramatic ingredients: ambition, conflict, conspiracy, devotion, eternal triangle, greed, intrigue, love, mother love, the quadrangle, restriction, reconciliation, sacrifice, feminine appeal.

VETERANS OF 20 YEARS ORGANIZE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—Corporal H. W. Roberts post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has a condition of membership that probably is unique. No veteran is eligible unless he has served at least 20 years in the army, navy or marine corps. He must, of course, have put in part of that time in foreign territory to comply with the general requirement of V. F. W.

There is much intrigue at the post. Rita Thorndike, wife of a good Lieutenant, flees from the post after much gossip about her and Col. Blakely Beldon. Cleo helps Rita and resolves not to let her own name become the subject of gossip. Paul exhibits a passion for gambling; loses $500 to the Colonel one night, pays, and loses $500 to a pair of cheap gamblers the next night. He is broke and gives the gamblers his wife's car in settlement of the debt. Cleo is furious; the Colonel wants to help and Paul is somewhat sullen.

Cleo will not accept the car which the Colonel has bought back for Paul.

She makes her reasons for not accepting all too clear.

REPORTER MAKES GOOD ON BEAT THOUGH BLIND

GARY, Ind., Aug. 4.—Total blindness has not interfered with the success of Allen Naive, 31, as a newspaperman.

Naive, city hall reporter for The Gary Post-Tribune, accepts all assignments and, according to fellow workmen, gets more than his share of news. He turns out "clean copy" on a regulation typewriter.

Naive was given a place on The Post-Tribune more than five years ago, upon completion of a course in a school for the blind. He showed natural aptitude for using a typewriter and for writing, and made good from the start.

He has had special consideration because of his physical handicap and has accepted every assignment given to him, including his share of night meetings. His case is his only companion on his beat.

One of his recent accomplishments was the writing of a feature story on a circus which came to Gary. His story was as bright and colorful as though he had been able to see the quality of which he wrote.

GRAFTED THYROID GLANDS IMPROVE BRAIN AND BODY

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
PARIS, Aug. 4.—The Lille correspondent of the Matin says that Dr. Rene Lefort, a member of the academy of medicine, and Jean Piquet believe the grafting of thyroid glands of criminals on backward children has proved successful. Some months ago these doctors conceived the idea of removing the thyroid gland from the leader of a dangerous gang of Lille criminals after he was put to death on the guillotine and grafting it on a little girl whose mental and physical development was exceptionally deficient. The doctors assert that the operation can be considered a success. The girl, they say, is in excellent health.

COOLIDGE'S FATHER BACK AT THE PILE OF SHINGLES

PLYMOUTH, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the president, tackled a pile of shingles in his yard today in order that the place may be tidy when his son arrives a few weeks hence.

The shingles, left scattered by carpenters, who repaired the roof of the house recently, have been a source of concern for most of the colonel's family. They were there shortly before he was taken ill, more than a month ago and his grandson, John, piled some of them away. Mrs. Coolidge, the president's wife, helped her son while she was there and the president was seen to give them a few directions. Colonel Coolidge feels that he has recovered from his illness sufficiently to do the job himself.

EVERY DAY, SUNUP TO DAWN, WAS RULE OF THIS REPORTER

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Richard Lee, ship news reporter at quarantine for The Associated Press since January 1, 1878, died today at his home in Rosebank, Staten Island. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Lee began his career as an employee of the New York Herald, collecting reports at quarantine and carrying them to the office in New York. When the Herald gave up its individual service and began receiving that of the New York Associated Press, Lee went to that organization. He continued in press association work, becoming a member of the staff of the present Associated Press when that association came into existence. Mr. Lee was born in Waterford, Ireland.

Perhaps no such news reporter in the world had so wide an acquaintance among ship masters and officers as Mr. Lee.

His first visits to incoming vessels were made in a rowboat.

In recent years he was one of the few privileged to board vessels ahead of the custom officers. His day was sunrise to sunset. He worked seven days a week because he refused to work less.

He was one of the guest conductors of the London orchestra this year and has been invited to conduct the orchestra again April 12, 1926. This is the first time an American conductor has been invited to repeat his visit.

Last month in Paris Mr. Shavitch conducted with great success the Lamoureux and Padeloup orchestras and the latter invited him to conduct the orchestra again next year after his London visit.

COMPOSES HIS OWN FUNERAL ORATION

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
DAVENPORT, Iowa, Aug. 3.—When Charles W. Lau, wealthy retired farmer and former member of the school board, was buried this afternoon, funeral orations given at both the home and at the crematorium, where incineration took place, were of his own composition.

These were prepared by him during life and reproduced on phonograph records. On one side of the record was the address designated to be given at the home and on the other side was the one prepared for the crematorium. Both were played at today's services.

The deceased left a list of names of friends whom he wanted to attend the funeral. All others were excluded.

FASCIST SENATOR SAYS REMARKS OF PROF. OFFENSIVE

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 3.—Count Antonio Cippico, Italian fascist senator, attending the institute of politics here today, characterized as "offensive and discourteous" statements made yesterday by Prof. Edward M. East, of Harvard, in criticizing Count Cippico's advocacy of emigration as a solution of Italy's over population problem.

"I have nothing to answer to an article couched in terms so offensive and in a manner so discourteous," Count Cippico said. "As such, I feel it to be beneath contempt."

President Harry A. Garfield of Williams college, founder of the institute, said at an open conference today that Count Cippico had "been gripped" by Professor East's statement, and added that such expert expressions of opinion should be made before the institute so that the opponent might reply, instead of being made public through newspaper channels. He praised the character of Italian immigrants to this country which Mr. East criticized in his statement.

SLIPPERY CROOK MAKES GETAWAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 3.—Howard Barr, known here as Ralph Lee, had a notable record of escapades prior to a dash yesterday from the Knox county jail at Knoxville, Tenn.

Barr was arrested in Seattle, Wash., a year ago on the charge of murdering Elmer Peck, an Indianapolis grocer. He threw pepper in the faces of the arresting officers and gained freedom for a short time, but was recaptured and brought to Indianapolis. He was taken to Franklin, Ind., for trial when he was granted a change of venue.

On January 26 last he picked a lock and escaped from the Franklin jail but was caught two days later. On March 15 he sawed through two sets of bars and again escaped and was not heard from until he was arrested in Knoxville.

Lee was convicted of burglary in this city in October 1923, and was sentenced to the Indiana reformatory. He escaped from that institution and then eluded officers who found him hiding in his mother's home here.
