Uncle Sam's fleet, which is falling behind Great Britain's in power, will be strengthened to some extent when it is joined by the U. S. S. Arkansas. The dreadnaught is at sea again after having acquired a new battery of twelve 12-inch rifles and other improvements which make her comparatively modern. She is seen passing under Brooklyn Bridge on her way out to sea.

COLUMBIA RIVER HOLDS SEVENTH OF U. S. WATER POWER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The geological survey has decided that about a seventh of the potential water power in the United States is to be found along the Columbia river, exclusive of the very large power resources of its tributaries. More than 8,000,000 acres of land can be irrigated within the drainage area of the river, the survey says, of which amount about 3,600,000 acres is irrigated now. The river, it says, can be made navigable from its mouth to the international boundary, a distance of 760 miles if proper foresight is exercised in the location of dams constructed primarily for use in developing water power.

The survey says: The electrification of the northwestern railways would absorb only a small proportion of the available power. The industries could be operated within the vicinity of the power plants or at tide water in Puget Sound and other North Pacific points. "The power is so located that it can be delivered economically to all of Washington, to most of Oregon and Idaho and to the eastern part of Montana. "During a war the power could be utilized for manufacturing munitions in plants constructed near the source of power, so that they could be easily protected from the enemy by guarding a few passes through the natural barrier formed by the Cascade range."

TEMPERATURE 92 DEGREES. The mercury reached 92 degrees at 3 o'clock this afternoon, one of the highest points reached this month. The indications were that the thermometer would register still higher. The heat was accompanied by low humidity, creating a serious fire situation. The hourly temperatures today were as follows: 6 a. m. 60, 7 a. m. 63, 8 a. m. 70, 9 a. m. 74, 10 a. m. 77, 11 a. m. 79, 12 noon 83, 1 p. m. 87, 2 p. m. 90, 3 p. m. 92.

large contingent of the visitors would be made up of members of the women's auxiliary. During the parade the women will serve refreshments to the marchers. Automobile trucks have been obtained for conveying the refreshments. A fiery cross will be burned at the Arlington home above grounds on the Virginia side of the Potomac facing Washington on Sunday night. The Klan declares it will be the largest cross ever burned by the organization.

ALIMONY SLACKER BROUGHT TO TIME BY BLUNT JUDGE

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 7.—"This fellow will either pay up what he owes on the support of his two children or go to jail." So saying Judge McMahon rose from the bench and walked out of the court room in the middle of taking testimony in contempt proceedings against John Olson, rancher, this morning. You can go on and let the court reporter take the testimony for the record if you want to," said Judge McMahon, "but I've heard enough. I know the facts and that's all I want to know."

Olson was divorced 14 months ago. At the time the court issued an order requiring Olson to pay $25 a month for support of his two children by his first wife. According to Olson's own testimony on the stand, he had made one $25 payment. Once he had tendered another $10 payment. At this juncture the judge interrupted with the proceedings. "I have heard enough and know the facts in the case," he declared. "The country is full of fellows running around alone bodied men, who marry a woman, have children by her and then leave her to support the children. They hunt around in new pastures and marry another woman. They are morally irresponsible. This fellow here can either pay up or go to jail."

After a hurried conference agreement was reached that Olson's father would put up the money to pay back expenses. PLANE SMASH IN FOREST (Associated Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Aug. 7.—The United States forestry office here was advised today that Lieutenant A. R. Loomis, of the forest air patrol, met with an accident yesterday near Salem. The report received here gave no details but said that the damage to the plane was slight and could be repaired.

Not a Chance. The Salem Journal thinks that the efforts to fan the fires of fanaticism and limit education in schools for the purpose of protecting ecclesiastical dogma will probably collapse with the death of Bryan. The Journal is too optimistic. Fanatics never quit. To thousands of them it is their bread and butter. To millions it is a faith founded on either ignorance or long habit of thought, to change which would require a breadth of tolerance which few of us possess. The latter class are entitled to sympathy. Personally, we think it is a matter about which the only thing liberal minded people need be concerned is that their natural and constitutional rights be not infringed upon. That fanaticism be not permitted to invade the rabbit legislature to prevent the teachings of science. If that much can be done, we should be satisfied for the next generation will be all right and the myths of ancient and medieval history will vanish before the light of truth.—Corvallis Times.

Today's Markets

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Aug. 7.—With approximately 25 cars of peaches on the team tracks this morning, the buyers are skeptical and afraid to take hold. Prices, while showing only a fractional decline are very weak and further losses are likely before the supply adjusts itself to local requirements. Today Elbertas are selling from $1.10 to $1.25 a box, while Crawford are offered as low as $1 a box. Dry rot is showing in some Crawford arrivals and this fruit will not hold up long in this kind of weather. Cantaloupes are lower today with best standards selling in the wholesale market at $2.75 a crate. Apples are steady with prices ranging all the way from $1.50 to $2.25 a box on the early varieties. Bartlett pears are firm at $3 a box. Malaga grapes are being offered at $2.50 a lug. Seedless grapes $1.75 to $2. Crab apples bringing 75c to $1.50, depending on size of box. Fancy tomatoes are being sought. Real select stock is scarce due to blight and dry weather and prices firm at $1.50 per lug. Others down to $1 a box. Extra eggs recovered their one cent loss and are again posted at 28c on the local exchange. Country dressed meat arrivals were extremely light along the street today and the market was on a nominal basis. Good calves would bring 16c cents easily if available. The advance at the yards today gave additional impetus to the strength in the veal market. Choice light hogs are bringing 19c to 20c on the meager offerings.

Live hens are hard to move. The demand for poultry has dropped off considerably during the past week. Light birds are down to 14 and 15 cents and buyers are loath to pay over 22 cents for heavies. Springs selling at 19 to 25c. Standard cubes are up another half cent in the local butter market at 49c cents. Other grades unchanged. The market is firm. PORTLAND, Aug. 6.—Eggs—extra cent higher. Current receipts 291c; pullets 271c@28c; firsts 311 @32c; extras 33@33c delivered Portland. Butter—standard cubes up half cent; prints firm. Extra cubes, city 50c; standards 49c; prime firsts 47c; firsts 45c; undergrades nominal; prints 52c; cartons 53c. Butterfat very firm, scarce; best churning cream 51c net shippers track in some 1. WASHINGTON IS READY FOR KLAN PARADE TOMORROW

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A parade of 50,000 robed members of the Ku Klux Klan, moving down Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the White House, was promised for tomorrow in final plans made today by headquarters of the organization. The marchers, waking sixteen abreast, will start at 2 o'clock and will finish their parade in the parkway near the Washington monument, where telephone amplifiers will be installed to carry the voices of speakers who will take part in the ceremonies on all parts of the crowd expected to gather there. Some officials expect the parade to last until midnight. Police officials today make elaborate plans to handle the influx of visitors and to prevent disorders. The public has been assured, however, that no disturbance is expected. The first arrest in connection with the Klan demonstration occurred today when Thomas L. Avault, who has been violently assailing the organization in handbills, was taken into custody. No charge was placed against him and he was released. Klan headquarters declared a

"I see by the papers..."

We all do. It's a national habit. Newspapers open and close the day. They are a vital part of our daily existence. Take them from us and the wheels of progress stop. We must have the news. And news about merchandise ranks with news about current events. As a matter of fact, it is even more personal. It concerns you and your daily needs. Food. Clothing. Shelter. Household necessities. The newspapers bring you this vital news of merchandise. The advertising columns of this paper are a business guide-book to guide both footsteps and expenditures. They tell you what, tell you who, and show you where. Pilots of the family purse. Read the advertisements. Every day. Buried in small type may be a bargain that was born for you especially. Known before you go to buy, just what you want and what you will have to pay for it. "I buy by the papers" is the twin of "I see by the papers." You consult a time-table to see what train to take. Consult this newspaper to see what goods to buy. Newspaper advertisements are buying beacons to light your way to wise expenditure.
