MAZAMA LEADER IS INJURED IN JUMP TO AVOID A ROCK

PORTLAND, Aug. 7.—John D. Scott, leader of a Portland party of the Mazama Club, which set out this week to scale Jefferson peak, was injured Wednesday on the mountain, and is being carried on an improvised stretcher along the sky line trail.

Reports by telephone from a member of the party, relayed through Albany today, said Scott jumped into a snow field to get out of the way of a falling rock chimney, and that he slid to the bottom of the field, and there struck a large rock. One hip was badly hurt.

Hundreds have put their O. K. on classified columns. They are the starting point of many people's success and prosperity.

CAN'T IDENTIFY MURDER VICTIM

Police Are Still Baffled in Schwartz Case, After Tracing Clues.

FALSE TIP IS GIVEN

Much Insured Chemist Now Thought on Ship Which Will Be Searched at Oregon Port.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) MARTINEZ, Cal., Aug. 7.—An anonymous telephone call to the police authorities today advised them, "if you will find out what has become of Theodore White, formerly of Fresno, you will know who the dead man in the Pacific Cellulose laboratory mystery is."

A street address given by the informant in Berkeley, Cal., was visited and no one was found who professed to know either White or anything about a telephone call. The man who telephoned said that White had an apartment with Charles Henry Schwartz, chemist of the company, for whom the police are looking, despite claims of the wife that he perished in an explosion in the Cellulose laboratory a week ago yesterday, 24 hours before the time of the explosion. He said that White until a few weeks ago was employed as a chemist by "some scientific ice cream company" of Fresno and had been forced to find some other employment when that company ceased business.

White's address is desired by the state industrial accident department for the anonymous telephone call, he said, and he concluded his conversation with the words "I'll let you know more later."

To check the theory that Schwartz may have stowed away on the freighter Nordic, which sailed a day or two ago for Portland enroute to Sweden, this vessel will be searched at Westport, Ore., late today, local officials stated.

Today, as a week ago, new clues and new evidence were brought to light and were destined to lead to the result—an abrupt ending neither indicating the whereabouts of the missing chemist or the identification of the burned corpse which will rest in the San Francisco morgue.

Standing in the foreground of every avenue of investigation is the phantom figure of Schwartz, a German chemist, who studied at Heidelberg. In this country community, he was the central figure in a corporation which depended upon him to perfect a process for the manufacture of artificial silk. As a hobby he dabbled in a study of "the perfect crime" and at through a man of family, he was recently made defendant in a $75,000 bench of nuisance suit filed by an Oakland girl.

COUNTY COURT ADJOURNS

The county court completed its work for the term yesterday evening and adjourned its session. The term was quite short there being little business to consider, other than the usual routine. Reports were received from various parts of the county regarding the road work now in progress, and the court is well pleased with the progress being made. The spirit of co-operation in road work is greater than ever before, and the improvements in the various districts are being made with less cost than usual as a result of the interest being taken by the residents and the help given.

minutely investigated and several men have been given the role as the victim, but the supposed dead man has reappeared or it was discovered that he did not fit into the part. Other clues are still in hand, however, and will lead to the apprehension of Schwartz or the identification of the body but virtually all evidence is fragmentary.

An unidentified letter found near the body, which is the latest clue that may lead to the identification of the victim was made public last night. This also is of mysterious nature.

The letter contains no signature. It is dated "in the big trees, Santa Cruz, May 25, 1925" and begins, "dear friends," it was written in a man's handwriting, experts say, between 20 and 40 years old, and deals with religion, encouraging its recipients in the "glorious battle of the cross for which you are fighting so valiantly."

Schwartz was not religious and the letter was not in his handwriting. While efforts to identify the victim continue, the search for the chemist who is credited with carrying out the plot without a single accomplice, is being given more impetus. Rewards have been posted for his apprehension and every avenue of escape has been checked, but information as to his whereabouts is even more scarce than evidence regarding the victim.

That Schwartz planned in advance to meet his family in the event it was discovered that the body was not his is given foundation by District Attorney Tinning, who stated that a letter was left with Mrs. Schwartz to be opened in event of his death directing her to take the children to England. If Schwartz did plan the murder as an insurance hoax plot, as authorities firmly believe, he presumably intended to join his family in England.

Sheriff R. R. Veale today expressed the belief that Schwartz planned the insurance hoax as early as last January and had since worked toward that end. He bases this on the discovery that Schwartz, although owning considerable stock in the company, did not draw a salary as chemist or general manager. In January, however, he prevailed on the directors of the company to grant him a compensation of $750 a month payable in stock of the company. As often as this stock would be issued him he would transfer it to his wife.

The sheriff's theory is that it was the aim of Schwartz to increase as much as possible Mrs. Schwartz's ownership in the company so that when his insurance policies, payable to the company, were paid upon his death, the amount of money which she would receive would be greater.

Sheriff Veale stated today that he is not searching for a missing man in connection with the case as stated in published accounts of the investigation. Professor E. O. Heinrich, criminologist of the University of California, believes that indications point almost conclusively to the fact that the body found after the explosion and fire was that of a tramp. He bases this theory on a new pair of light brown socks found on the dead man, two sales slips and an Oakland bread label on a bench nearby. That the socks had been worn little was indicated by the sales slips which indicated the price, 37 cents. He believes the tramp bought the socks just before starting out to walk from Oakland to Walnut creek in answer to an advertisement calling for a laborer at the Pacific Cellulose plant and carried a loaf of bread with him to sustain him on his hike.

Mrs. Schwartz locked herself in her home in Oakland today, declining to discuss the case further with the investigators, on the plea that she was too ill as a result of the nervous strain.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Harrison left for Placerville, Cal., today to interview a man who is supposed to be acquainted with C. W. Barbe, member of a religious cult in southern California, and whose name was found on the flyleaf of a book found in the partly destroyed laboratory.

Information received from a Los Angeles resident stated that he has known Schwartz for a number of years and that Schwartz had a silver plate in his body as the result of an injury. Further examination of the body will be undertaken to ascertain if there is any plate in it.

PORTLAND, Aug. 7.—A radio message to The Associated Press today from the freighter Nordic said that a man supposed to be Charles Henry Schwartz, Berkeley chemist, wanted in the investigation of the mysterious murder in his laboratory, is not aboard his vessel. Preparations are being made at Astoria, however, for a search of the vessel when it arrives there tomorrow, officers believing that a man who was reported to have boarded the vessel at Oakland, California, may have stowed away on the ship.

CALIFORNIA PRUNE ASSOCIATION SETS NEW SELLING PRICE

Basis on Which Packed Prunes Are Selling Indicates That Oregon Ranks High.

Oregon prune prices are nearer the California prices than ever before in the history of the industry, according to figures received on the new quotations made by the California Prune and Apricot Association. Heretofore Oregon prunes have brought from three to five cents less than the California fruit, but this year buying is within a cent of the California price. This is of great importance to the Oregon industry, indicating that the fruit in this state is now recognized as being fully on a par with the California fruit in quality.

The selling price of the two main varieties of the prunes packed by the California concern, is 12 cents and 11 cents. This price is approximately 2 cents higher than the price per pound paid growers, so that the buying price is between 3 and 19 cents on 20-40 sizes. The base price now offered local growers is 9 cents, so that there is apparently little difference between the purchasing price in California and Oregon.

The California Association has just issued revised figures on its packed prunes. The prices are on 25 lb. boxes, and cover the two main varieties, "Sunsweet" and "Outside." The "Outside" prunes are quoted at prices f. o. b. the docks. A quarter-cent charge for hauling is made on "Outside" varieties, so that the prices quoted below are a quarter of a cent lower than they really are if delivered. The "Sunsweet" prices embody the dockage charge.

Table with 3 columns: Size, Sunsweet, Outside. Rows include 29-39, 39-49, 49-59, 59-69, 69-79, 79-89, 89-99, 99-109, 109-129.

BATTLE OVER A WAITRESS LANDS MAN IN HOSPITAL

WEED, Ore., Aug. 7.—F. K. Lightfoot, a lumber jack from Weed, California, lies seriously wounded at a local hospital as the result of a fight with Jack Phillips, local laborer, said by police to have centered over Edith Maxey, a waitress at a restaurant here late last night. According to witnesses, Lightfoot started to beat up Phillips when the latter paid attention to Miss Maxey and Phillips, seizing an ice pick, gashed his assistant in the arm and abdomen, afterward making his escape. Lightfoot is expected to recover.

TO SEEK PASSAGE OF FURTHER LAWS TO HELP DISABLED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.—Those provisions of the Johnson Act, World War veterans' legislation drawn up and sponsored by The American Legion, which became caught in the legislative jam at the close of the last congress, will be pressed for passage at the next session by the National Rehabilitation Committee of the Legion, according to Watson B. Miller, chairman.

Among the provisions to be pressed for passage are: To permit the payment of disability compensation retroactively to April of 1917; to provide a permanent rate of compensation for arrested cases of tuberculosis; to provide family allowances for all beneficiaries who are totally disabled; to provide for the reinstatement of insurance by disabled veterans who are unable to pay the back premiums and interest; to remove all dates for the conclusion of vocational training; to remove all time limits for the filing of disability claims; to provide for the setting up of a permanent medical corps in the veteran's bureau service.

Chairman Miller declared that it will be necessary to secure an appropriation from congress at the December session amounting to approximately $13,850,000, so that the veterans' bureau can carry out its program for the construction of new veterans' hospitals. During the last two sessions authorization was granted to the director of the Bureau to expend $16,850,000 for this purpose, but due to legislative complications arising at the end of each session only $2,850,000 actual cash was appropriated.
