PIONEER SETTLER IN STATE PASSES AWAY AT COQUILLE

MYRTLE POINT, Ore., Aug. 8.—Wm. Jenkins, one of the best known and most highly respected pioneers of the upper Coquille valley, who died here about midnight Thursday, was buried here today, interment being at Enchanted Prairie.

Mr. Jenkins would have been 95 years old on September 8 and was born in Kentucky. He crossed the plains by ox team to Oregon City in 1844. Then they passed through Portland, which consisted of a log house store and two homes. The family settled in Polk county, near the site of Dallas, but later moved to near Roseburg.

In 1870 the ymored to Coos county, living at Kenias Prairie, south of Myrtle Point. He served as volunteer in the Rogue river Indian war under Captain Nolan. Later he established the first general store in Myrtle Point, later served as marshal and was connected with various affairs. He crossed the plains with the folks of County Commissioner W. W. Gage.

Mrs. J. S. Chambers of Marshfield is a daughter of Mr. Jenkins. Other children surviving are Ed M. Jenkins of Glendale, John T. Jenkins of Glendale, Wm. P. Jenkins of Natchez, Wash., Mrs. John Giles of Ventura, Cal., George Mullen of Myrtle Point. He died at the home of Mrs. Mullen.

NEWBERG DRUGGIST VICTIM OF ASSAULT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) NEWBERG, Ore., Aug. 10.—Enos Prink, pharmacist, in the W. A. Graham pharmacy, was called to the street midnight Saturday by a message that a woman in an automobile at the curb was hurt and needed immediate attention. As he approached the car, a man stepped from a shadow and hit Prink over the head with a plank. The attacker jumped into the waiting auto and sped away.

Marshal Ferguson and "Red" Rice got another car and gave chase, but lost the fleeing car near St. Paul. A man who stood in the shadow several doors away claims to have taken the license number of the attackers auto. Authorities traced the ownership to a Portland fire car agency and a warrant has been sworn out for the man to whom the auto was rented.

PLANE FORCED DOWN

The plane operated by Lieutenant Barnett, commanding officer of the forest patrol, was forced down here Saturday evening. The lieutenant was on his way from headquarters at San Francisco to the patrol base at Eugene, and upon reaching Roseburg found his supply of gasoline nearly exhausted. He had sufficient fuel to navigate his plane to the landing field, where he stopped long enough to secure sufficient gasoline to continue.

Prink still is in a precarious condition. He declares he knows of no one who held a grudge against him. Intended robbery is advanced as one motive for the attack, authorities thinking the fugitive may have been frightened when he realized he was being observed by the man who took the license number.

HAROLD HUDSON IS GIVEN APPOINTMENT FOR SAN FRANCISCO

Harold Hudson, until recently proprietor of the Hudson Electric store, announced today, following his return from Portland, that he has obtained the appointment of factory representative of the lamp division of the Westinghouse Electric company for the city of San Francisco, and is leaving the first of next month to make his home in that city. Mr. Hudson will be the company's official representative in the handling of its lamps in the entire city of San Francisco, an appointment which carries a great deal of hard work and responsibility. Mr. Hudson and his wife and mother, will leave the first of September and will make their home in San Francisco in the future.

FOREST FIRES MENACE CRATER LAKE LOCALITY

burning for several days on the Nehalem divide. Heavy damage was done to property and timber of the Nehalem Timber and Logging company. Donkey engine, a pile driving outfit and one large bridge already have been burned. One camp of the Iver J. Rosten Company also was burned.

Communication and water supply of the Nehalem company's headquarters has been cut off. A fire four miles north of Beaverton, Ore., was believed under control today. The fire fighters were headed by Mayor W. E. Pegg.

A new fire was reported north of White River in the Mt. Hood national forest today, the extent of which is not known.

A blaze in the Cedar flat country, near Lebanon, Ore., is burning fiercely today. Fire fighters from Lebanon were called out. The fire situation in the lower Columbia river region was reported somewhat improved today, owing to a heavy fog. Reports from the upper Nehalem and the upper Young's river district, indicated the fires there were under control, at least temporarily.

At Kerry, the great fire which burned south along the Kerry railroad was checked, it having reached the Nehalem river on the south. The fire is now within a mile and a half of the town of Birkenfeld, not having advanced materially since Saturday. The fire had covered seven miles, with a width in many places of five miles.

Little green timber was damaged by this fire. A fire flared up in the Crown Willamette Paper company's holdings in the Young's river valley Saturday, but its extent was not known in Astoria, owing to the heavy blanket of smoke covering the country. Ray Tippet, timber superintendent of the company, said today he believed the fire had been deliberately started. For 24 hours the fire was of minor proportions, burning on the ridge of Green mountain, north of Young's river. Suddenly the fire "crowned" in the big timber on Green mountain and swept down into the valley. The flames traveled more than a mile in 26 minutes.

For 12 hours it seemed that camp 5, the largest logging camp in Clatsop county was doomed. The flames passed within 100 yards of the camp, igniting the entire forest and crossing Young's river and setting a second major blaze on the south bank of the river. A crew of 50 men worked throughout Saturday night to save the camp and several big donkey engines nearby. The situation remained critical until late Sunday.

One of the forest air patrol planes stationed here, hopped off yesterday for a trip over the district, but the pilot was unable to get above the smoke, and returned to the landing field to report that it was impossible to get fire information until the smoke clears more than at present.

Though smoke and a haze still hung over Eugene today, there was relief from the oppressive heat of the past three days. Yesterday the maximum temperature was 93 degrees, but the atmosphere was sticky and dense. Today there are clouds to aid, and it is much cooler, though there is some indication that the sun may break through. This is the 58th day without rain here.

Kalamia Fire Revives. KALAMIA, Wash., Aug. 10.—A forest fire which burned several days last week and died down, flared again Saturday and Sunday, destroyed a small mill belonging to Fred Pierce of Kalamia, considerable of the Morehead's engine equipment and the house and barn on the Nat Thompson ranch. It burned to burn the pipeline which brings Kalamia's water from Spencer creek. About 25 volunteer fire fighters from here are at work on the blaze.

Salem's 60th Rainless Day. SALEM, Ore., Aug. 10.—Today marks the close of a 60-day rainless period in Salem, the longest on record here since the summer of 1914, and stated to be the longest sustained here in the history of the city. Last Saturday, August 8, the mercury came just one point from the August maximum, Saturday's mark being 97, established late in the afternoon, and the record for all time for August here being 98.

Yesterday's maximum was 91, and with cloudy skies this morning every indication was that today's high mark would be still lower. The last rain at Salem to fall in sufficient quantities to be measured occurred on June 11.

The first heat prostration of the summer occurred Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Harry N. Crain, wife of the managing editor of the Capital Journal, was overcome while traveling to Portland by automobile and had to be removed from the car and given medical attention at Foley's corner, five miles north of Salem. She was brought back to her home here Saturday evening.

Fight to Save Town. REVELSTOCK, B. C., Aug. 10.—At Arrowhead, 30 miles south of here, and at the head of upper Arrow lake, a forest fire had leaped the cemetery today and called out forces to save the town. Blazes in woods and brush were scattered over eastern British Columbia.

URGENT STUDY OF CRIMINALS AS MEANS PRISON REFORM (Associated Press Leased Wire.) LONDON, Eng., Aug. 10.—The international prison congress in its first session today passed a resolution recommending that independent investigators, apart from the police, should study the psychology, environment and life history of every criminal on trial, reporting the result of their investigations directly to the judge who is called upon to impose sentence.

Another resolution declared that prevention of the continuation of less criminal prisoners by those more experienced in crime is one of the most essentials of prison treatment.

day night. The extent of damage to green timber will not be known until the smoke clears.

Portland's Dry Record Broken. PORTLAND, Aug. 10.—The record for prolonged dry weather was broken today when Portland had its 58th consecutive rainless day. The previous record was 57 days without rain in 1882. Edward L. Wells, government observer, said he saw no indications of rain for 24 hours at least.

Higher humidity and lower temperature improved the forest fire situation somewhat today.

Smoke Repulses Air Pilot. EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 10.—Haze which hung low and dense over the forest areas of Lane county yesterday prevented all determination of location of fires by lookouts, according to information at the headquarters of the Cascade and Siuslaw national forests. Lookouts were unable to see but very short distances, and could distinguish no fires as far as their vision carried. It was said.

One of the forest air patrol planes stationed here, hopped off yesterday for a trip over the district, but the pilot was unable to get above the smoke, and returned to the landing field to report that it was impossible to get fire information until the smoke clears more than at present.

BELGIAN WAR DEBT COMMISSION GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Belgium will ask her creditors to take into consideration exceptional war and post-war conditions, Baron De Cartier, the Belgian ambassador, declared today in presenting the American commission.

Repeating Secretary Mellon, chairman of the American commission, said the United States would not ask Belgium to do the impossible, but that the funding of the $480,000,000 war debt would be a recognition of the integrity of international obligations and "the settlement of a question which might disturb the long friendship of our nations."

The exchanges took place at the first meeting of the two commissions which will attempt to work out a formula for settlement of the debt.

Secretary Mellon said Belgians could rest assured that their position will have the most sympathetic and friendly consideration by our commission.

"The funding of our debt to us within your capacity to pay," he added, "means far more than the mere payment by you and the receipt by us of a certain number of dollars each year. It is a recognition of the integrity of international obligations and the settlement of a question which might disturb the long friendship of our two nations. To accomplish these results is worthy of our every effort."

The question before us is of narrow compass. There are but two parties to our negotiations. Politics, local or international are not involved. We sit here reasonable men around a table. Under such conditions we soon will learn each other's viewpoint; determine the true facts governing the situation and should reach an agreement fair to your country and ours."

ALIENISTS REFUSE TO GO OVER SAME GROUND TWICE (Associated Press Leased Wire.) SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—Dr. J. H. Ball, noted psychiatrist, filed testimony before the attorneys for Dorothy E. Hillman today to establish that she was temporarily insane at the time she killed her mother, announced today that he would take no further part in the case. The second trial of Dorothy on a charge of murder is set for tomorrow.

Dr. Ball's attorneys, surprised at Dr. Ball's announcement, declared they will continue a continuance when the case is called.

The alienist stated his belief that "no public good can be served" by further examinations and pointed out that his findings of her mental condition already are a matter of court record.

ALASKAN FISHING INDUSTRY NEEDS FEDERAL DIRECTION SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 10.—Rudner conservation of the Alaskan fisheries was recommended to President Coolidge today by Representative White of Maine, ranking republican on merchant marine and fisheries committee.

Mr. White, who has just returned from Alaska, informed the president that the fishing industry had suffered considerably during the last year from a lack of fish. He declared a belief that the new law giving the department of commerce complete jurisdiction over the fisheries would ultimately remedy the situation.

The situation in Alaska was described by Mr. White as very gloomy with transportation and business generally affected by the setback to the fishing industry.

LOCAL BOY TRIES FOR SCHOLARSHIP AND WINS HONORS

Hail Seely of this city, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Seely, was accorded honorable mention by the scholarship committee of the Yale Alumni association, announcement of the awards being made today. Mr. Seely is to enter Yale during the coming fall, and in writing for the scholarship gained the distinction of honorable mention, although falling to secure the desired prize. Mr. Seely is a graduate of the class of 1925, and expects to enter Yale for a medical course in the fall. In local school activities he stood very high, having an active part in all student affairs, and participating also in athletics.

The scholarship was won by Charles Edward Wright, of Garden Home, Oregon. His twin sister, Miss Hilda Emily Wright, won the Bryn Mawr scholarship.

Dr. Seely this morning received a letter from Robert Trent Platt, chairman of the scholarship committee, in which the young man is commended very highly.

"You should be told," Mr. Platt writes, "that your record upon examination was most satisfactory, and that while the average rank of Mr. Wright upon all subjects was slightly higher than yours, the difference was not such as to reflect any discredit upon your work, but, on the contrary, both of you are to be highly commended on the results of your entrance examinations."

"The committee will take great interest in your college year, and regard you, in a way, as one of its scholarship boys, and will watch your progress throughout your college course with increasing interest."

PAPE BRINGS SUIT AGAINST ACCUSERS FOR BIG DAMAGES

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Aug. 10.—Clement J. Pape, former German vice-consul here and former Portland manager of the Shanghai Building company, who is in jail here, charged with embezzlement of funds of the company, today filed suit in Federal court here against Edward Bell, secretary and general manager of the company, and William F. Merrick and the company for $125,000.

Pape alleged he had been made a victim of a conspiracy to deprive him of his position so that Merrick might get the place. He also alleged that he was charged with shortages "in order that the company might escape the obligations respecting Pape's commissions, interest in the business and other compensation."

MASSACRE FRENCH TROOPS IN SYRIA

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PARIS, Aug. 1.—Premier Poincaré, in a semi-official statement, has admitted that 106 French soldiers were massacred in only one of the last weeks engagements with rebellious tribesmen in the Jebel Drus district of Syria. He declared that "events in Syria are not to grate on certain parties sought to represent them." Swedish, the post which dispatches from British and Arab sources from British and Arab sources occupied by French troops, he said.

The premier said the total of French losses were not known at present. In any case, he added,

TRANSIENT TAKES OWN LIFE AT SALEM

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SALEM, Ore., Aug. 10.—The body of a man who the police say committed suicide on the bank of the Willamette river here last Friday, was this morning identified as a 52-year old man, who had given his name as Jim Sullivan, and had roomed at a hotel here for the past three months. The body was found by accident Sunday night, Sullivan having selected a spot where he was out of view from the top of the bank. Sullivan was registered at a hotel here as being from San Diego. Fragments of conversation held with various persons while staying at the hotel indicate that he has a son and two grandchildren in San Francisco.

Cook with gas. Dr. Seely this morning received a letter from Robert Trent Platt, chairman of the scholarship committee, in which the young man is commended very highly.

AMERICAN FISHERMEN AVOID LESS DUTY FOR RISKS SEATTLE, Aug. 10.—John H. Meagher, agent of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union of the Pacific, told the United States tariff commission in a halibut hearing opening here today that both American and Canadian members of the Union were out and out for reciprocity.

The import duty on halibut is two cents a pound. The commission has been asked to urge President Coolidge to cut the duty 50 per cent on fish brought in from Canada.
