SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

Christian Church. Does it make any difference, I wonder, that twenty-seven million boys and girls of the United States are getting no religious instruction? That 70 per cent of our youth are getting no training in those moral and spiritual sanctions on which our great democratic institutions were built? Our spiritual literacy is the seed bed for national dissolution. Something will have to be done about this matter soon. Let us get behind the movement to provide week day Bible instruction for our children this coming school year. Other cities are doing it, and Roseburg will not fall. The minister will speak Sunday morning on "Spiritual Literacy." In the evening the union service will be held in the Methodist church, south. Brother McCullagh is the speaker. Tuesday afternoon the Christian Sunday school will hold a picnic at the Lindbloom picnic grounds. Cars will leave the church at various hours during the afternoon, so that transportation will be arranged for all, and at a convenient hour. The picnic dinner will be held at the grounds after six o'clock to accommodate those who cannot leave town until late. —H. E. MOW.

RADIO TUNES IN ON SOUND WAVES OF HUMAN BRAIN

(Associated Press Local Wire.)

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Sound waves from a human brain have been picked up by a radio receiver on a four to 10 meter wave length. The experiment is described by Professor Ferdinando Cazzamilli, head of the department of neurology and psychiatry at the University of Milan, in an article prepared for the forthcoming issue of Revue de Médecine and reviewed by Le Matin.

As a result Professor Cazzamilli foresees the transmission of sound waves from one brain to another. He says he operated with high excitability persons or those suffering from nervous disease as well as the noted Italian medium, Signora Magli. The patient was shut up in a perfectly insulated cabinet. The sounds he heard through the receiver ranged from signals akin to ordinary wireless signals to whistling of soft viola, or cello notes.

Professor Cazzamilli said he is led to believe that the waves sent out from the brain of one person under certain conditions might be picked up by another person of the same mental or hypnotic state.

COW CREEK HOME IS RAZED BY FIRE

A fire that totally destroyed the country home of Champ Johns, living ten miles up Cow Creek, was discovered about noon last Friday, says the Glendale News. The fire had gained much headway when discovered and before help could be obtained had grown to such proportions that it was impossible to save anything except the household goods, clothing, and bedding.

Neighbors rushed in and carried the household effects to places of safety and all the inside furnishings were saved with the exception of a bed or two and some clothing.

The fire undoubtedly started from sparks or cinder from the fire as the blaze started about halfway between the eyes and the chimney. The insurance on the house had expired a short time before and they had not been notified of the fact, which adds calamity to the disaster. They will rebuild.

ASSOCIATION WILL AID IN DISTRIBUTION OF WESTERN ARTISTS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Placing of the best works of western artists of the highest ability, in the homes of art lovers, instead of letting them remain in their original environment of the studio, has been made possible here through the creation of the Chicago Galleries Association, and its novel plan for distribution of the artists' work. Curtis B. Camp, an attorney of Chicago, is president. The association is to be conducted as a non-profit one.

The association is a combination of artists and 150 lay members and the plan of distribution provides for the selection of 150 of the best paintings shown in the galleries over a period of three years, or 25 to be selected at each spring and fall exhibition to be presented to each of the 150 lay members.

These paintings will be selected by the laymen, each of whom is required to pay into the association as membership dues $200 a year for a three-year period. This assures the layman, however, of obtaining one of the best pictures shown for $600. The selection of lay members to choose pictures will be made by lot, but all will be assisted by a committee composed of three art experts or connoisseurs to help them select the best although they are permitted to choose any picture they desire without advice.

The artists, however, do not all receive the $600 for each picture chosen. Regardless of the pictures selected by the layman, assisted by the committee of experts, this latter committee will decide which picture deserves the first prize of $1,000, and the artist will receive this amount.

Following this, the committee will select pictures for the second, third, fourth and so on down to the twenty-fifth prize.

The prizes will be: One $1,000 prize, two $500 prizes, three $400 prizes, five $200 prizes, four $250 prizes and ten $100 honorariums.

A rule of the association says: "It is our problem first of all to give each layman the picture that he likes and that he wants from the exhibition for the money he has paid, and secondly to see that the pictures thus selected are the best pictures in the show, and that the prizes are properly awarded to these pictures."

Artists from Ohio and all states west to the Pacific Coast are to be invited to enroll in the association, the list being confined to artists of high standing.

The Galleries association also will conduct what it calls its circulating department, where any or all of the 150 laymen may select smaller pictures from the gallery walls and take one of them home for a period of from 30 to 60 days and then return it and take another home and continue this system as long as he holds membership.

Each artist will be required to furnish a designated quota of these smaller pictures for the galleries in addition to submitting the larger picture for the prizes. The galleries will probably be opened the coming autumn.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

ROSEBURG'S OPPORTUNITY

To the Editor: It was Shakespeare who said "There's a tide in the affairs of men which if taken at the flood leads on to fortune." If this is true of men why is it not equally true of cities?

Roseburg is the most favorably located city in southern Oregon to become the Mecca of tourist and auto travel, which is fast becoming the greatest in volume of all travel.

With the Coos Bay and Reedsport highways complete, the Pacific highway north and south, and innumerable market roads in all directions, and the North Umpqua and Tiller cut off roads well under course of construction, she is like the hub of a great wheel, and instead of the old adage that "all roads lead to Rome," it might well be said in this part of the state that all roads lead to Roseburg.

But in order to take our tide of fortune at the flood there is work to be done which must be done soon.

Why? Because the greatest opportunity that has ever presented itself to put Roseburg truly on the map, is in the completion of the North Umpqua road to Diamond and Crater Lakes, thus opening a direct route via these lakes into central and eastern Oregon and east.

This will mean that while Old Man Oregon has other arteries, Roseburg and the Umpqua valley are in the line of its jugular vein, for the reason that it will shorten the route from these lakes to the Pacific highway by many miles, and at the same time will open up a route that for scenic grandeur and elements that appeal to the tourist, cannot be excelled in America.

For the month of July more than 25,000 tourists visited Crater Lake, and with it possible for this vast horde to reach Diamond Lake within fourteen miles of the Crater and find a shorter route to the Pacific highway via Roseburg, will mean that of all the vast routes that seek to view these two crowning jewels from the hand of God, a larger percentage will come via Roseburg.

Added to the shortening of the route the opportunity to see the Umpqua country with its laughing waters, once the Indian's Illahee, this veritable hunter's and fisherman's paradise, where tired Americans can get in close communion with forest and stream, and you have all that is desirable to make this route attractive.

With a good hard surface highway, this road will not only be a boon to the tourist, but its commercial advantages as a carrier of freight and passengers, to Bend and Klamath Falls and the interior of Oregon and east will be readily seen. Furthermore the opening of this highway will not only redound to the advantage of Roseburg and the Umpqua valley, but also to Marshfield, Bandon and Reedsport, and all tributary coast country, and it is the greatest piece of development that can possibly come to this section at this time.

Early next month the senate public lands committee of the United States senate, of which Senator Stanford is chairman, will visit this state on a mission of looking after the needs of the public domain, and it would seem timely for these towns on the line of this road to get together through their Chambers of Commerce and use every effort to see that the wonderful advantages, and the practicability of this great project can properly be presented before congress, in order that Uncle Sam in the shaping of his forest policy, as well as in the expenditure of funds in its development can see to it that this great region is thrown open to the eyes of the world, and not bottled up for future generations.

PICNIC SUNDAY ON PROPOSED HIGHWAY

Chambers of Commerce and citizens organizations of Cottage Grove, Drain, Yoncalla, Elkton, Scotts Bay and Reedsport will join Sunday at Scottsburg on the proposed Umpqua scenic highway, says the Cottage Grove Sentinel.

The purpose of the picnic is to promote a movement to have the state take over and develop the road from Drain to Reedsport. It is anticipated that 300 to 500 will attend from here and that several thousand will be present from the several communities.

Cars from here will bear Cottage Grove windshield stickers, which may be secured from F. E. Mendelhall, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The picnic will be an all-day affair. Those attending will take baskets for a mid-day meal. Coffee and ice cream, it has been announced by the committee in charge, will be available at the picnic grounds.

A program of speechmaking is being arranged and the Chamber of Commerce or civic organization of each community has been asked to put on a special stunt. Senator Charles Hall, of Marshfield, will be one of the principal speakers.
