directed along three definite lines of attack—smuggling, illegal manufacture and illegal diversion.

Poison In Disguise. Sources of supply to be reached and wiped out as rapidly as possible are importation, manufacture, diversion and transportation," said General Andrews. "The various agencies of government are being organized to make it possible to accomplish this end. The market is our most difficult problem, because of its indifference to consequences, ignorance and colossal profitability. The market will pay any price and swallow any bootlegger's fairy tale as to quality. But one by one intelligent citizens will realize the danger to government and society which they are creating by enriching this bootleg class of community members and feeding fat a business which is only through corrupting the very agents of government and business, whose honesty is essential to the stability of society. One by one, they will learn that their imported whiskies, etc., are being made in Canal street, from industrial alcohol and thus will refrain from buying them.

"The bootleg industry in one form or another extends over the whole country; but it operates mostly in the centers of population. Its business is collecting supplies and distributing them and its operations vary in size from the small operator, who sells locally the product of local stills, up to the big operators, whose lines extend into foreign sources of supply and into broad fields of distribution. None of these operations that are big enough to be more than matters for local police control can be carried on except through conspiracy to violate the laws. These conspiracies involve many persons in various walks of life. All are guilty. Among these persons the final distributor is of least importance. In fact, he is of no importance to the federal government except as he furnishes a line of approach to the bootleg operator whom he represents."

Campaign Outlined. A second objective set by the dry field marshal is for the federal forces to "exist and develop local law enforcement. Operations along this line," he said, will be "matters for the province of judgment, initiative and resourcefulness on the part of the district administrators in meeting the problems peculiar to their respective territories."

"The government, by treaties and negotiations," General Andrews continued, "will make it more and more difficult for unscrupulous operators to take advantage of the protection of foreign flags."

"Behind the coast guard first line on our sea front, and on all our borders, both sea and land, the customs officials are being organized and reinforced to take the responsibility for stopping smuggling, each along his own front."

"Within this customs line the prohibition unit is organized to attack domestic sources of supply. Distilleries, industries using alcohol and breweries, if proven to be sources of supply to the bootleg trade, will be proceeded against as nuisances and closed. This is a purely business proposition easily understood and should be capable of execution. Our inspectors will be trained chemists and pharmacists and our enforcement agents trained criminal investigators and under cover operators."

"Meantime, we shall proceed vigorously toward the arrest and punishment through major conspiracy cases of those who are conducting the bootleg business. These cases will be made under legal guidance and with the closest co-operation of the department of justice will be given speedy court action."

"In each district counsel should give prompt attention to clearing court dockets, in order that the decks may be clear for prompt action along the above lines."

"The attack on the market must be a matter of education, and can best be conducted by those organizations and individuals interested in the law observance and community welfare."

DOUGLAS COUNTY WOMAN PASSES THIS MORNING

Mrs. Sarah F. Hassell, a resident of this city for the past 27 years, and well known to Roseburg and Douglas county people, passed away this morning at about 3 o'clock at the apartments of her daughter, Mrs. Percy A. Webb, with whom she has been residing for the past six months.

Mrs. Hassell had been ill for some time, being bedfast for the past two weeks, until illness culminated in death this morning. She was born at Binghamton, New York, August 2, 1842, coming to Oregon from that place 54 years ago. She made her home here for some time, later moving to Estacada, Oregon, and residing there a short time. She returned to Roseburg home here. Mrs. Hassell has been a consistent Christian since childhood, and was a woman of sterling character, endearing herself to all who met her.

Beside one daughter here, two sons, John and Albert of Estacada, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Tracy, of Portland, survive her. She leaves many friends in this vicinity and at Estacada who will be grieved to learn of her death.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, at the Roseburg Undertaking Chapel, Rev. H. E. Mow, of the Christian church, will read the eulogy, and interment will follow at the Odd Fellows cemetery.

McQUILLAN CITED ALLEGED CONTEMPT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Supreme Court Justice Dike in Brooklyn today signed an order requiring Hugh McQuillan, a pitcher of the Giants, to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for failure to pay his wife $500 temporary alimony which was due August 15.

McQuillan has been under suspension without pay by the New York club for two months because of his failure to keep in proper playing condition.

Harvest Time and Canning Season Is Here!

The fruit crop and vegetables are all at their best, and the housewife will do well to secure her canning supply now. Crawford Peaches are about gone, but we still have some very nice ones on hand. Bartlett pears are reasonable in price and should be bought before they are dead ripe. Corn, string beans and tomatoes are at their very best. The flavor of these vegetables is better now than later in the season.
