

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

SOCIETY

By GRACE CARROLL

All contributions to this page, society, women's clubs, and personals, should be telephoned to the society editor by Friday of each week. Telephone No. 135.

Mr. and Mrs. Waite Entertain at Smart Affair

Among the smart entertainments of the week was the party given Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Waite, at their country home near Dixonville. The affair is one given annually by the Waite family and is of wide social interest. The entire house and grounds were given over to the guests, the rooms of the house and tables were gaily bedecked with summer blooms, a motif of blue and gold being used, and carried out with French bouquets of zinnias, larkspur, and golden glow and fern.

The spacious lawn was the scene of a 6:30 o'clock dinner, and was lighted with Japanese lanterns. One large table was used, and a cover of blue and gold crepe paper used as the table cloth. Smaller tables were placed about the lawn and on the porch, and were centered with French bouquets. Each guest brought part of the dinner, and following the dinner tables were placed on the lawn and veranda, where guests who cared for a game of cards, played during the evening. A large bonfire was built in front of the house, and popping corn and roasting of marshmallows provided entertainment for a number of the guests. One of the fine features of the evening was a number of vocal solos by Mr. Stewart.

The living and dining rooms of the spacious home were lighted with cluster candles, and here too, the blue and gold motif was carried out with baskets of lovely summer blooms, where many of the guests assembled and enjoyed dancing.

The occasion was the 26th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Waite, which was announced later in the evening and, as is their custom, is made an annual affair. Mrs. Waite was assisted during the evening by Mrs. Chas. Heinline and Miss Martha Yuse.

One hundred intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. Waite participated in the affair.

Miss Marie Martens arrived here the first of the week from Minneapolis to be the house guest of Miss Margaret A. Page for a few weeks. Miss Martens formerly made her home in this city and is well known here.

J. C. Penney Guest of Strawns

Mr. J. C. Penney, founder of the J. C. Penney Company, was a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Strawn, on Vista Avenue this week. Mr. and Mrs. Strawn entertained informally for Mr. Penney on Tuesday evening. Mr. Penney and Mr. Strawn left for Newport Wednesday to enjoy a few days at the coast.

Mrs. Fred Jones and father, Grant Helman, leave Sunday for Petaluma, California. Mrs. Jones will spend several weeks there visiting her father, and they will later return to Roseburg. They will stop enroute south, at Ashland, where they will visit Mrs. Jones' uncle, Mr. Helman, proprietor of the Helman Baths.

Miss Quine Entertains With Children's Party

A number of the younger set made merry Monday evening at a children's party, when Miss Evelyn Quine entertained at the Quine home in honor of four visiting girls, Katherine Bittney, of Corvallis, Mildred Thomas of Portland, house guests of Miss Quine, and Edna Wicklem and Helene Wicklem of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, guests of Mrs. Ralph Quine.

Each guest came dressed as a youngster, and had an enjoyable time in playing children's games. The rooms were decorated with summer blooms and toys were given each guest for amusement during the evening. Prizes for the games were offered, and a prize for the funniest costume, which went to Miss Iris Rice, who came dressed as a two-year old child.

Miss Quine was assisted during the evening by Miss Fernie Reynolds and Mrs. George K. Quine. Little red chairs were placed in the rooms for the guests and refreshments were served.

Hidden to the affair were Misses Katherine Bittney, Mildred Thomas, Helene Wicklem, Edna Wicklem, Agnes Hesseldeiz, of Portland, Dorothy Eddy, Nellie McElroy, Florence Wharton, Mary Reams, Iris Rice, Fernie Reynolds, Rosina Porter, Vera McMillan, Marion Porter, Virginia Fibrahough, of Los Angeles, Thelma Trefron, Clorice Harpster, Eva Rice, Bertha Kohlhagen, Jane Wharton, Helen Gately, of Washington, D. C., Vernita Kohlhagen, Helen Falbe, Lorraine Condit, Helen Churchill, Vivian Orcutt, Lois Cobb, Dorothy Orcutt, Verus Houser, Alene Singleton, and Mesdames Ralph Quine, Kenneth Quine, George K. Quine, Bert G. Bates, Herbert Quine and Roy C. Catling.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Aitkens and son Stanley, of Seattle, who have been guests of Mr. Aitkens parents Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Aitkens at their summer home in Riddle, for the past two weeks, left for their home Tuesday.

Pretty Ceremony at Singleton Home

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Singleton, on 114 West Lane street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when their son, J. Bliss Singleton was united in marriage to Miss Lillian M. King, of Wenatchee.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stewart O'Dell, of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in rooms attractive in pastel shades of pink and yellow, carried out in flowers, statuettes and golden glow. The bride, charming in a frock of broadened blue silk, advanced to the setting, attended by Mrs. H. F. Ogden, sister of the groom. L. L. Baltimore, of Portland, acted as best man. Mrs. J. H. Booth played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal party advanced to the minister.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party and guests were served a buffet luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Singleton left for a brief trip to northern points, after which they will make their home near here.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Singleton, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Booth, Mr. H. F. Ogden, Mrs. F. L. Van Ripper, Messrs. A. Salzman and W. L. Singleton, of Roseburg. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Booth, of Eugene, Mrs. M. Flores, of Oklahoma, Miss Esther Simmons of Fresno, California, and Messrs. J. M. Hockett and L. L. Baltimore, of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Harth returned here the first of the week, after spending last week end at Bandon.

Annual Grange Picnic to Be Held Saturday

The Douglas County Pomona Grange will hold its annual picnic at Alexander's Park, Saturday, August 29. An invitation has been extended to the Roseburg Woman's Club, and members and non-members of the grange, by Dr. C. H. Bailey, editor of the State Grange Bulletin.

The program is in charge of Mrs. Henry Lander, lecturer of the Pomona Grange. A piano is being furnished by W. E. Ott and the program will consist of music and several addresses. Speakers for the day will be Gov. Walter M. Pierce, George A. Palmiter, Master of the Oregon State Grange, and C. E. Spence, State Market Agent, of Portland.

Mrs. John Alexander, of Glendale, of the domestic science department of the grange, has charge of the picnic dinner, and with her several assistants is planning a complete dinner.

The picnic is an annual affair, and is one of the most interesting grange picnics to be planned during summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harth, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Endrup, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mathewey and Mrs. Phil Harth, Mrs. V. M. Pitchford, and Miss Agnes Pitchford, motored to the County Club Friday night. The time was spent in a game of golf, and the party enjoyed a picnic dinner.

Roseburg Girl Honored With Shower

Honoring Miss Goldie Bruton, whose marriage will be an event in September, the members of the Christian Endeavor sponsored a kitchen shower at the home of Miss Daphne Hughes, on 320 Spruce street, Thursday evening. The garden near the river bank, back of the Hughes home, was a pretty setting for the affair, where the evening was spent in conversation, and tables were placed for rook.

Miss Bruton was the recipient of a number of useful gifts. Later a luncheon was served near the river bank.

Present at the affair were Misses Goldie Bruton, honoree, Neva Church, Elsie Hudson, Elizabeth Abraham, Rose Conroy, Rheba Gately, Iris McAllister, Virginia French, Vesta Beckley, Lola Beckley, Ruby Gile, Daphne Hughes, and Messrs. George Weber, Glenn Radabaugh, Roy Bruton, Reginald Hartfield, Roy Bruton, Floyd Church and Everett Guthridge.

Miss Virginia Whiting, who has been guest of her sister, Mrs. K. S. Reed, in Portland, during the summer, has returned to her home here. She was accompanied to Roseburg by Mr. and Mrs. Reed, who will visit Mrs. Reed's mother, Mrs. Della Whiting.

Miss Aitken Guest This Summer

Miss Ruth Aitkens has been a guest this summer of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Aitkens at their home in Riddle, in Roseburg. Miss Aitkens is well known in Roseburg, having formerly made her home here, and teaching art at the Benson school several years ago.

After leaving Roseburg she went to New York City, where she studied art, and taught for four years. Later she returned to the west, making her home in Portland, where she has been doing commercial art work for the past four years.

Club Picnic Is Affair of Thursday

One of the enjoyable social affairs of the Business and Professional Woman's Club to be held this midsummer was the picnic Thursday evening, under the large maple tree, west of the Soldiers Home grounds. A number of carloads of members motored to the pleasant spot, where games were enjoyed about a large campfire. Later the picnic dinner was spread beneath the tree.

The picnic is the first of its kind to be held by the club, and was quite successful, and will be continued as an annual affair.

The first business and social meeting of the club, opening this fall, will be held the last Friday in September. The State President, Miss Louise Hacker of Portland, is expected to pay the club a visit sometime in September, and later, Mrs. Norton, who holds a state office with the Woman's Advertising Club, of Portland, will speak at one of the meetings.

Miss Agnes Hesseldeiz of Portland, house sister of Miss Vivian Orcutt, is spending the week as a guest at the Orcutt home on Chadwick street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Canaday, Mrs. M. A. Williams and Herbert Williams, of this city, motored to Wolf Creek Sunday to join Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hockoyes and Mrs. Alice Nickols of Medford. The party spent the day there, holding a picnic dinner in the afternoon.

Mrs. A. C. Marsters, Miss Leona Marsters and Miss Vivian Marsters are spending a few days at the Hotel Monticello, Longview, Washington, before returning to Roseburg. They motored there the first of the week, accompanying Mrs. Marster's grandson, Craig, to his home there.

Mr. C. C. Verrill of Portland, arrived here this morning to be a guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. I. Fransworth, during the week end.

Mrs. Neil Markoe, of Chicago, and Mrs. J. A. Shierman, of Seattle, arrived here this morning to be the guests of Mrs. H. N. Graybill for several days.

A social affair of next week will be sponsored by Mrs. Foster Butler, Thursday afternoon, when she will entertain the Roseburg Woman's club at her home in West Roseburg with a lawn party. This will be the first social affair of the club for the fall season, the members having discontinued all meetings during the vacation period.

Kitchen Shower Given for Miss Eddy

Honoring Miss Dorothy Eddy, a popular bride-elect, whose marriage will be an event of September 1, Miss Lois Cobb and Miss Marion Needham entertained with a kitchen shower Tuesday evening at the W. L. Cobb home, on 355 South Main street.

The rooms, attractive with a color scheme of blue and gold, carried out the idea of the kitchen shower in decorations of yellow golden glow and blue delphinium. Miss Eddy received many useful gifts, and the evening was spent in conversation, music, and making useful kitchen gifts.

Later a luncheon was served the guests at one large table, centered with a bridge and groom constructed of small wooden spoons, and two smaller tables with centerpieces of golden glow and delphinium.

Invited to the affair were Misses Eddy, honoree, Iris Rice, Fern Reynolds, Marion Porter, Adelle Bemis, Rosina Porter, Vivian Orcutt, Agnes Hesseldeiz of Portland, Dorothy Orcutt, Clorice Harpster, Evelyn Quine, Helen Churchill, Jeanette Rice, Mary Reams, and Mesdames Nina Cox, Rudolph Lindner, and R. Blair.

Salem Guests Honored Monday

Mrs. W. A. Cummings honored her two house guests, Mrs. K. M. Hamner, and Miss Bonnie Hamner, of Salem, Monday evening, inviting a number of friends to her home on 114 Second avenue north.

Astera and gladiolas, arranged in baskets and bowls, made a pretty setting in the rooms, where the diversions of the evening were music and cards.

Following the game luncheon was served the guests. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Richard Slater.

Invited guests were Mrs. E. M. Hammer, Miss Bonnie Hammer, Miss Velma Goff, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Lennox, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whipple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Slater, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ivie, and Messrs. Paul Amort and W. A. Cummings.

Mrs. Trueblood Returns From East

Mrs. C. E. Trueblood returned to her home in Roseburg Friday evening, after spending the past two months in the east. Her trip included visits to her old home, Emerson, Iowa, and points in Iowa. Enroute home she visited at Council Bluffs, stopping also at Denver, where she has relatives, and at Cheyenne.

Grange Men Guests of Dr. Bailey

George A. Palmiter, Master of the Oregon State Grange, and C. E. Spence, State Market Agent, of Portland, were guests of Dr. C. H. Bailey at South Deer Creek Friday night. Mr. Spence, Mr. Palmiter and Dr. Bailey left by auto today for Coos county. They will attend a picnic held at Norway, by the members of the Coos county granges this afternoon, going from there to Marshfield, and will then attend a meeting of the state federation of labor.

The party will return here Tuesday, where Messrs. Palmiter and Spence will visit all the subordinate granges of the county. During their stay they will be guests of Dr. Bailey.

Mr. E. Rider, of Sacramento, arrived Thursday morning, to spend the next week as a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith.

Miss Forbes Honored at Dinner

Mrs. A. R. Ruff was a gracious hostess last Saturday evening at an informal 6 o'clock dinner honoring her guest, Miss Agnes Forbes, of Portland. At a table with a lovely centerpiece of caryseanthus, covers were placed for six guests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Church of Albany, motored here and spent last week end as a guest of their son, Dr. H. C. Church.

Miss Maxine Stearns of Oakland, is the week end guest of Miss Peggy Lockwood, at the Lockwood home in Laurelwood.

THEATRES

Majestic Theatre

Although it was made under the most perilous conditions, "The White Desert," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Reginald Barker, which is coming to the Majestic theatre Sunday, is reported to be the greatest outdoor drama that has ever been screened.

The terrifying beauty of the great stretches of snow land at the top of the Continental Divide in Colorado, known as the White Desert, has been transferred to the screen in a manner that defies description, according to advance information.

The story was adapted from the popular novel by Courtney Ryley Cooper and is based on the struggles of a railroad company to drill a tunnel through the Rocky mountains. An avalanche, started by the blasting in the tunnel, sweeps away the construction camp and the survivors are left without food and in the grip of a blizzard to battle their way to the outer world.

Antlers Theatre

The Red Sea and San Francisco are about five thousand miles apart. The Israelites, led by Moses on their exodus from Egypt are separated by about forty centuries from Sunday afternoon jazz dancing today. Yet, Cecil B. DeMille has managed to put them together convincingly in this picturization of "The Ten Commandments." This great Paramount picture is coming to the Antlers theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, where it will be shown for the first time at popular prices.

The modern story opens on a devoted mother driving one of her two sons from home because he will not "apologize to God" for what she believes a sacrifice. The son goes out into the world, not bitterly, but boyishly exultant, to smash every commandment. Then DeMille develops his theme that "if you try to break the Ten Commandments, they'll break you."

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

Culinary, Other Hints
AN OLD fisherman said if you want to eat fish without being bothered with the bones, clean them and put them through the meat grinder, make in small cakes and fry in butter. It's worth trying.

When cream refuses to whip, with no viscoogen handy add the white of an egg and chill, then whip. Chocolate sauce served with boiled rice is a dish especially good, and well liked by all chocolate lovers.

Sprinkle salt on any boiled-over food on stove or in oven; it will destroy the odor.

Add a teaspoonful of sugar to the rinsing water used to rinse fine linens and organdies, lace collars and cuffs. It stiffens slightly and gives a texture like new.

When baking fish without a roasting rack, place two strips of cheese cloth in the pan, letting them come up well on the sides of the pan. With these the fish can be easily removed to a hot platter without breaking.

When the fur piece is soiled clean it with corn meal dampened with toilet water. The alcohol cleans the fur and leaves a pleasant odor.

Cleaning the icebox on Friday will insure the using up of food and getting ready for the Sunday meals with less waste.

Grease the oven doors with unsalted lard; this is good for any door hinges that do not work easily, but a drop of machine oil will do as well.

Always use new rubbers when canning. A rubber should be elastic and free from cracks to be safe.

Hang the broom by the handle; it will last much longer and keep in better shape.

It is necessary to iron an article in a hurry, sprinkle with hot water, roll up tightly and wrap in a dry towel, place the bundle in a warm oven and by the time you are ready to iron it, the article will be evenly dampened.

Green foods should be served freely all the year. In the spring there is such a variety that one may have something different each day of the week.

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union)

Beauty Winner Hits Jazz Dances

"Jazz dances spoil pretty legs," avers Betty Arlen, whose lower limbs are declared by beauty experts to be the prettiest in the movies. Betty gives classical dancing credit for the perfect development of her legs.

Although it was made under the most perilous conditions, "The White Desert," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Reginald Barker, which is coming to the Majestic theatre Sunday, is reported to be the greatest outdoor drama that has ever been screened.

The terrifying beauty of the great stretches of snow land at the top of the Continental Divide in Colorado, known as the White Desert, has been transferred to the screen in a manner that defies description, according to advance information.

The story was adapted from the popular novel by Courtney Ryley Cooper and is based on the struggles of a railroad company to drill a tunnel through the Rocky mountains. An avalanche, started by the blasting in the tunnel, sweeps away the construction camp and the survivors are left without food and in the grip of a blizzard to battle their way to the outer world.

Antlers Theatre
The Red Sea and San Francisco are about five thousand miles apart. The Israelites, led by Moses on their exodus from Egypt are separated by about forty centuries from Sunday afternoon jazz dancing today. Yet, Cecil B. DeMille has managed to put them together convincingly in this picturization of "The Ten Commandments." This great Paramount picture is coming to the Antlers theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, where it will be shown for the first time at popular prices.

The modern story opens on a devoted mother driving one of her two sons from home because he will not "apologize to God" for what she believes a sacrifice. The son goes out into the world, not bitterly, but boyishly exultant, to smash every commandment. Then DeMille develops his theme that "if you try to break the Ten Commandments, they'll break you."

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

Culinary, Other Hints
AN OLD fisherman said if you want to eat fish without being bothered with the bones, clean them and put them through the meat grinder, make in small cakes and fry in butter. It's worth trying.

When cream refuses to whip, with no viscoogen handy add the white of an egg and chill, then whip. Chocolate sauce served with boiled rice is a dish especially good, and well liked by all chocolate lovers.

Sprinkle salt on any boiled-over food on stove or in oven; it will destroy the odor.

Add a teaspoonful of sugar to the rinsing water used to rinse fine linens and organdies, lace collars and cuffs. It stiffens slightly and gives a texture like new.

When baking fish without a roasting rack, place two strips of cheese cloth in the pan, letting them come up well on the sides of the pan. With these the fish can be easily removed to a hot platter without breaking.

When the fur piece is soiled clean it with corn meal dampened with toilet water. The alcohol cleans the fur and leaves a pleasant odor.

Cleaning the icebox on Friday will insure the using up of food and getting ready for the Sunday meals with less waste.

Grease the oven doors with unsalted lard; this is good for any door hinges that do not work easily, but a drop of machine oil will do as well.

Always use new rubbers when canning. A rubber should be elastic and free from cracks to be safe.

Hang the broom by the handle; it will last much longer and keep in better shape.

It is necessary to iron an article in a hurry, sprinkle with hot water, roll up tightly and wrap in a dry towel, place the bundle in a warm oven and by the time you are ready to iron it, the article will be evenly dampened.

Green foods should be served freely all the year. In the spring there is such a variety that one may have something different each day of the week.

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union)

A BRIDE'S DIARY

A Love Story of Today
By Idah McGlone Gibson

The Story So Far.
Cleo Madison after eloping with her boyhood sweetheart, Lieutenant Paul Armstrong, goes to his army post and she finds out almost immediately that married life is not too rosy. There is much intrigue at the post. Rita Thordike, wife of a no-good lieutenant, flees from the post after much gossip about her and Col. Blakey Beidon. Cleo helps Rita and resolves not to let her own name become the subject of gossip. Paul exhibits a passion for gambling; loses $500 to the colonel one night; pays, and loses $500 to a pair of cheap gamblers the next night. He is broke and gives the gamblers his wife's car in settlement of the debt. Cleo is furious; the colonel wants to help and Paul is somewhat sulky. One angry word follows another after the colonel leaves. Cleo finally becomes so enraged at an insult from Paul that she throws a vase at him. It hits his head, makes a nasty rash and Paul is now in the hospital, at death's door, due to the wound. Chick Adams, an old sweetheart, drops in at the army post and offers a blood transfusion to save Paul. The offer is accepted. He is now talking with Cleo in the hospital preparatory to undergoing the transfusion operation.

Cleo discovers Chick still loves her.
"But you cannot do Paul any good, Cleo, and you'll only harrow up your own feelings," said Chick.
"But don't you think I might at least walk very softly up to his bedside? Do you think it would hurt him to feel my kiss on his forehead? Oh, it would be a little kiss, just a touch of my lips. Even if he isn't talking, perhaps in his heart he's wondering why I'm not near. Paul wanted to see me. He asked the doctor for me repeatedly. When I came to the hospital just after he had been brought there he was very tender toward me, and he forgave me."
"Of course he did, Cleo; I know that. If he hadn't forgiven you, he would not have told the doctor that he fell and hurt his own head. He'd wanted to save you from any trouble."
"Well, I expect I'll have enough trouble when his father and mother get here. They'll ask all sorts of questions and the first thing I know I'll tell them everything. Then look out for fireworks."
"You must not tell them — I wouldn't be right. Paul wouldn't want you to. If you think you're going to do any such thing I shall tell Major Stetter to keep Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong out of the room."
"Oh, don't mind Mr. Armstrong so much—I think he would understand. But Mrs. Armstrong always hated me. She blamed me for our runaway match."
I couldn't help smiling, even in my trouble as I thought of how she had told around Pasadena that I was trying to catch Paul while my mother was saying to every one that Paul was taking advantage of my youth to marry into our family. Then again the specter lifted its ugly head.
"Whether I tell them or not."

Chick, Mrs. Armstrong will probably be the first to have me arrested if anything happens to my husband.
"Oh, Chick, I'm afraid, and awfully sorry. I guess I'm sorry for everything I've ever done. I don't think I've ever done anything right. It's all been such a mistake from the time I was born. I think, go and ask the doctor if I cannot go in and see Paul. I must see him. What do you think I'm made of to lie here and know what is going on in that room up stairs? I can't do it, Chick. I can't do it. Whatever I've done done, I'm Paul's wife, you know, and I should be with him at this time."
"Whatever I've done, I'm Paul's wife, you know, and I should be with him at this time."
"I think Chick thought I was hysterical and I guess I was, for it is only now after Chick has told me about it, that I can remember in the least what I said to him that morning. He told me afterward that he left the room presumably in search of the doctor, because he could see I was working myself up to a point where I would go all to pieces."
"I couldn't help being sympathetic with you, he explained later, "and it wasn't sympathy you needed just at that moment. I told you I would go and bring back Major Stetter, which was a white lie, my dear, for I knew the doctor would not let you see your husband for fear he might try to talk to you."
"I was not allowed to talk to Paul," said Chick, "and he didn't even know I was in town. After I left you, Cleo, I went directly to be prepared for the operation."
"And I waited, and waited, and waited," I interrupted. "I was mad with anxiety and remorse. I wanted the time to pass quickly, and yet it seemed to crawl on its leaden feet. I raised my wavering arms to heaven and prayed that Paul would recover."
"At last I could stand it no longer. After Chick left I remember, I rang my bell furiously and after what seemed to be an interminable time, a nurse came not the nurse who had been with me the night before, but a tall, angular, stern-faced woman who did not approve of me, I was sure. When I asked her, dear diary, how Paul was, she answered primarily that Lieutenant Armstrong was undergoing blood transfusion and no one could tell just what the result would be for a while."
She said this as calmly as though I were not his wife. I wanted to scream. I wanted to shake her out of her placidity. I wanted to clutch her arm and hold it tight until she was black and blue. I don't know exactly why, or what I thought I was going to do, but I got out of bed hastily, and started toward the door.
"Here, here, where are you going, Mrs. Armstrong?" At last I had shaken her out of her quiet impersonality.
"Don't touch me. Don't touch me. I'm going to my husband. I'm not going to stay here a minute longer. I can't understand why you're all in league against me. I'm going. I tell you, I'm going." I jerked myself away from her restraining hands.
Tomorrow—The Valley of the Shadow.

Bend Mayor Stops Over—
Mayor R. L. Fox and family, of Bend, stopped over in Roseburg last night on their way home from a tour in the south. Mr. Fox is a personal friend of L. Antles of this city and while here spent some time visiting with him. The Bend mayor and his family continued on their way to Klamath Falls and Bend this morning.

Working On Conference—
To determine just what part Smith river dairymen will play in the county agricultural economic conference to be held in Roseburg in November, and to discuss dairy problems, a preliminary district meeting was held at Smith river Thursday afternoon. County Agent Cooney and Wm. L. Teutsch of the O. A. C. extension service, who is assisting Mr. Cooney, were present.

Analysis of the Dairy Industry
In Douglas county and agreement upon ways and means of increasing the profitability of this important industry will be one of the many questions to come before the county agricultural economic conference which will be held in Roseburg November 19 and 20, Mr. Teutsch said. —Port Umpqua Courier.

Flowers Are Attractive—
Complimentary mention is being made by numbers of people concerning the beauty of the grounds surrounding the Soldiers' Home. The beds of petunias, snapdragons, pink begonias and cannas are very attractive and many people have inquired as to who the gardener in charge was. Sydney Scates, an experienced landscape gardener and ex-service man, is in charge of the work and has been planning the arrangement since his arrival here about the first of the year. The walks and drive have been somewhat changed to add to the attractiveness of the home. A star design which has caused especial comment has a center of blue and red and white edgings. Mr. Scates has had landscape experience both in other parts of this state and in England.

Boys Left Fire—
An item yesterday stated that George Hunt, a local boy, paid a fine for leaving a camp fire burning in the Umpqua Forest Reserve. Mr. Hunt was not wholly responsible for the fire as he was in company with Hal Seely, Sam McConell and Harold Walnstroott, who also take the blame for the small blaze. The fine was paid and the boys explained that they thought they had quenched the fire before leaving it.

GLORIA SWANSON TURNS DESIGNER AND SPONSORS THE DASHING V LINE

GLORIA SWANSON EMPLOYS THE V LINE, IN A GOWN OF HER OWN DESIGN

EVEN those skeptics who doubt the truth of fairy tales would not find it hard to believe that there must have been a whole set of fairy godmothers hovering over Gloria Swanson's cradle shortly after her birth. Fairy godmothers bearing gifts of beauty, talent and that priceless favor, CHIC. For certainly it must be a darling of the gods that gets showered with such wealth. So it's no wonder that Gloria shines like a star in the movie firmament, glittering with fame, fortune and a prince for a husband! Ah, me—

Well, speaking of Gloria Swanson, one can hardly think of her without thinking of her gowns. No one wears such gowns—so many—so smart—so rich—in such good taste. Her wardrobe represents the creations of the most famous contourists of the whole world—not only American dressmakers, but the dressmakers of Paris.

But not content with the best from Fifth Avenue and the Rue de la Paix, Miss Swanson turns designer, and has her ideas carried out in California. The photo above shows her in one of her own creations, which she wears in her latest Paramount picture, "The Coast of Polly." It is interesting to note that she sponsors the V line in her gown. The bodice is straight and slightly fitted, with a circular collar that draws down into a long V, with its point reaching the low waistline. At this point there is a bow. Below the low waistline there is a dounce of lace, giving the flare that is so much to be desired these days. The gown is of brown georgette, and the lace matches.

And with this dress there is a matching coat of the same materials—which makes this all a georgette ensemble suit—the very last word in ensembles, as you know.

The hat, shoes and stockings are all brown.