

Mel-O-Maid ICE CREAM Is Simply Frozen Delight

There isn't anything more invigorating these late summer days than a serving of Mel-O-Maid Ice Cream.

It appropriately takes the place of more elaborate refreshments for the afternoon party, dinner dessert, or as a treat for the outing luncheon, it's matchless.

The Douglas Co. Creamery

Phone 340

SPECIAL

Heavy 4-point Barbed Wire, the kind they stay away from

$4.50 Spool

24 gauge galvanized roofing, just the thing for sheds, etc.

$5.50 per Square

Cheat Seed, Rye Grass, Vetch.

See Us First—We Can Save You Money

FARM BUREAU COOPERATIVE EXCHANGE

ROSEBURG—OAKLAND Loose Second Cutting Alfalfa Hay for Sale.

ELECTRIC DEALERS

MAKE FINE OFFER

The local electrical stores, The Roseburg Electric, successors to the Hudson Electric Co., and Arthur Crowell's Electric Store, in their new location at 225 North

Roseburg Steam LAUNDRY KIDS

YOU'LL FIND NO ARTICLE YOU'VE MISSED... WE KEEP CLOSE CHECK UPON YOUR LIST...

Our complete checking system keeps close track of the articles you send us. You send us your own list and we check up by that. The quality of our work appeals to the elite and our prices appeal to your sense of thrift.

Roseburg Steam Laundry PHONE 79

Motorists!!

We have just equipped our shop and are prepared to handle all kinds of repairs, electric service especially. We are here to give satisfaction.

SOUTH END Service Co.

SENATOR CUMMINS GIVES HIS VIEWS OF TAX PROBLEMS

Would Levy on Income From Exempt Securities and Reduce Surtax to 20 Per Cent.

DES MOINES, Sept. 3.—Advocating a reduction of the maximum surtax rate from forty to twenty per cent, the repeal of the Federal inheritance tax, leaving this source of revenue to the States, favoring the taxing of the income from tax-exempt securities, and opposing the use of the taxing power to redistribute the wealth of the country, Hon. A. L. Cummins, Senator from Iowa, in an address to the State meeting of the Iowa Tax Clubs in session here last night, said in part:

"The policy of a graduate rate of taxation upon incomes and estates is now well established and the ability to pay has become an accepted doctrine in national economics; but I sincerely hope that it will not become the rule in direct taxation. It would be fatal to the welfare of the farmers of this or any other state, if a man who owns one hundred acres, and this would be equally true if applied to the lots and blocks of urban property. I do not believe in using the power of taxation to punish success; and that means that I do not believe in using it as a means of redistributing the wealth of the country. I am quite willing to agree that our social and economic problems would be less difficult if the disparity between the rich and the poor were not so great. If, however, we are to find a remedy for his condition it must be found in the regulatory authority of government and not in its taxing power. Regulation is a developing healthful and sane process. Taxing to equalize fortunes is paralyzing, destructive and dishonest. It is confiscation in its most odious form.

"If it be true that the revenue from individual incomes would be increased rather than diminished, it is manifest that the change ought to be made for two obvious reasons.

"There are at this time, outstanding more than fourteen billions of dollars of tax exempt securities issued by the several states and their political subdivisions. I do not believe in the exemption of securities of any kind, but under the Constitution, the Federal government cannot tax the income arising from these securities until the Constitution is amended, and it probably will not be amended in the near future. It must be clear that we ought not to tax incomes arising from productive enterprises so heavily as to drive large fortunes into these exempt securities.

"My second reason is that inasmuch as the power of taxation can only be justly employed to maintain the government, if a lower rate on tax incomes arising from productive enterprises is a higher rate, the use of the higher rate is not only unjust in itself, but is destructive of the fundamental principles of good government."

Men's suits cleaned and pressed, $1.50. Roseburg Cleaners, phone 472.

NATIONAL SYSTEM OF HIGHWAYS IF GIVEN APPROVAL

A resolution cooperating with the National Highways association in its endeavors for the creation of a federal highway system, has been adopted by the directors of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce, the resolution being as follows:

Whereas, Through development of the motor vehicle, travel has become general throughout the nation, and

Whereas, This era of motor vehicles has so increased the use of highways between all the communities of the country that a system of better roads has become a necessity, and

Whereas, The national government is the only agency large enough to build and maintain a satisfactory system of connecting highways,

Therefore, Be it resolved that we, the board of directors of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce, endorse the plan of the National Highway association for the construction and maintenance of a system of national highways by the national government, and. Be it further resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to President Charles Davis of the National Highways association.

TO ALL RADIO FANS Don't fail to tune in on Oregonian KGW Monday, Sept. 7, 9 to 10 P. M.

THEATRES

Liberty Theatre Tumbling, diving, twisting, turning, leaping, jumping somersaulting, and hurtling through space in his most approved manner, Richard Talmadge, who acts with equal ease and facility whether he is standing on his head or his feet, climbs to new heights of entertainment in "The Mysterious Stranger," his latest F. O. production which will be shown at the Liberty theatre today and Saturday. The feature is distinctive and unusual. James Bell Smith, giving credit for the idea to Dr. Samuel Johnson's "History of Rasselas, Prince of Abyssinia, has turned out a corking story from the idea which he gleaned by pouring over the sensational pages of the one-time dictator of English letters. There are hundreds of hearty laughs in the production, and almost as many thrills in which, of course, "Richard is himself again." The sleep walking scenes, in which Dick goes out into the world for the first time in his young life clad only in pajamas, are delightfully developed, as are those in which he climbs over the wall of the insane asylum, under the impression that it is the wall of his own home. Jack Nelson has directed the picture with great skill, and the cast is entirely adequate.

Antlers Theatre "The Limited Mail," the Warner Bros. classic of the screen, which will begin a two-day engagement tonight at Antlers theatre, was screened in the Colorado mountains.

Director George Hill, whom Cosmopolitan products loaned to the Warners for this picture, selected the heart of the Royal Gorge for his background. This is the first time that this wonderful scenery has been used for a motion picture, and it has a wealth of natural beauty. Mr. Hill believed that the powerful and rugged background of the Royal Gorge would be a means of intensifying the drama of the story itself, and reviewers in other cities have acclaimed the production as a pictorial masterpiece. One says that the mountainous backgrounds have the appearance of having been created in a moment of intense wrath to remind man that there is still something beyond his ken.

Majestic Theatre It wasn't so many years ago that the strife between the cattle men of the northern and the southern ranges was savage and long drawn out—the reason being that nearly all Texas cattle were infected with the Texas cattle fever tick. That disease was almost always fatal to cattle, and when the Texas herds started north, Kansas ranchers barred the way at the border. Many a compuncher "went West with his boots on" during the resultant gunfights.

The powerful story of "The Trail Rider," written by George Washington Ogden, has that old cowboy as a basis. It is a tale that develops thrilling situations and gives the dashing Buck Jones ample opportunity to show that the man who lived longest was the fellow whose gun leaped from its holster first. The escape from the forefront of a herd of stampeding cattle is wildly pulse quickening. It is a William Fox production, and will be shown at the Majestic theatre on tonight and Saturday.

CONCORD GRAPES Now ready for jelly. Get them at Coos Junction Fruit Stand, Fred Schmidt.

NOTICE OF BOARD OF EQUALIZATION Notice is hereby given that on the second Monday in September being September 14th, the Board of Equalization will attend in the assessor's office in the courthouse in Roseburg, Douglas county, Oregon, for the purpose of examining the assessment rolls and correct all errors in valuations, description and quality of land, lots and other property assessed by the assessor, and it shall be the duty of persons interested to appear at that time and place appointed.

FRANK L. CALKINS, Assessor.

Chocolates—The best and purest. Manufactured for drug store trade. Hand rolled and dipped in Hershey's. A quality food product. Lloyd Crocker.

A BRIDE'S DIARY

A Love Story of Today By Idah McGlone Gibson

Cleo Madison eloped with Lieutenant Paul Armstrong, U. S. A. It does not take Cleo long to discover marriage is not a path of roses. On the train, going to the army post, she has an allegorical dream indicating her future problems. The colonel, Arthur Blakely Beldon, of the post, is a "lady killer" and his actions have compromised Rita Thorndike, the wife of a reprobate lieutenant. Rita is innocent and Cleo forms an immediate and deep friendship for her. Rita, at Cleo's invitation, decides to leave the post and joins a vaudeville troupe under the name Rheda Thorwaldson. Paul has been having his troubles, chiefly liquor and gambling. Cleo refuses to be gushingly sympathetic. The post is agog with gossip and suspicion when Rita leaves and the colonel implores Cleo to give him information—unsuccessfully. Climaxing a series of domestic troubles between Cleo and Paul, Cleo puts Paul in the hospital by hitting him on the head with a vase. After a serious time Paul pulls through due to a blood transfusion from Chick Adams, an old sweetheart of Cleo's. Paul's mother and father have arrived, called to the post because of their son's desperate illness. Cleo's father also comes.

Cleo tells her father that she would Paul. Paul's parents are unaware of this, but his mother makes herself unpleasant just the same. Cleo, alone in her home, is confronted by the drunken Lieut. Bill Thorndike, husband of Rita, who demands to know where his wife is.

He attempts to kill Cleo, but is accidentally killed himself as he struggles with Johnson, who has rushed to Cleo's aid.

"WHAT WILL PEOPLE SAY?" After I had told the Colonel that I would advise Rita not to come back to the funeral of her husband, he was silent for a long time. For at least once he had seemed to be undecided as to what he should do. Evidently it had never entered his mind that Rita would not come if he asked her.

I could see that he thought Rita cared as much for him as he did for her. I could see that he wanted to make her his wife, and he frequently wanted her to do all the conventional things so that when she became the wife of Colonel Beldon, it could not be said of her that "she never even attended her first husband's funeral."

While I was mulling over these things in my mind Col. Beldon was silent. At last he brought out the question of the business which he had hard work for him to do: "What will people think—or rather, what will they say—when they find that Rita is not coming?"

"I am sure, I do not know, Colonel," I answered. "I fancy she will not care very much what they think of her. Colonel Beldon, Rita is one of the newer generation. She does not think as her mother did, that the speech of people amounts to so very much in her personal affairs."

"Why should she care what the Post says of her? With the exception of yourself she hated the people at The Post, and they did not care for her. She's away from them now, she's doing something that makes her independent, and she is apparently more contented than she ever was in her life before."

"You know her more intimately than I, Colonel, and you know that her life has been unhappy. Her mother didn't care for her; and literally threw her into the arms of her husband, who was apparently cruel to her. He is now dead by his own act; providentially she is free to live her own life. Why should she come in her morning weeds and pretended to arrive. Why should she pay him hypocritical respect she does not feel? Would it not be much better for her own soul if she did not subject herself to the freezing scrutiny and malignant curiosity of the men and women here at The Post?"

"Oh, I know people say you must speak well of the dead, and Lieutenant Thorndike is dead. People called him a rotter when he was alive; why should one say that he deserves better more consideration now than then?"

"Don't you think it would be subjecting Rita to undeserved torture to have her come back here and listen to all the lying condolence of women she knew had gossiped cruelly about her when she was here, women who even while they are expressing their sympathy are watching her

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Peaches. Call 85.

FOR SALE—Fresh Jersey cow. Phone 1475, evenings.

FOR SALE—Second hand riding saddle at Wharton Bros.

FOR SALE—Lloyd reed baby buggy, good as new. 518 S. Main.

TOMATOES—50c a bushel. Ramp ranch 1 mile east. Phone 270-7.

FOR SALE—One Hammondette and one Delaine buck. Tloyer Bros. Phone 1474.

FOR SALE—Registered O. I. C. boar, J. D. Wright, Daya Creek, Ore.

FOR SALE—One Majestic range, and 3x12 rug. Phone 49-J after 6 p. m.

PURPLE VETCH seed while it lasts. At B. Oscar Weeks, Rockledge, Ore.

FOR SALE—Underwood typewriter. Terms. Address "Typewriter" care News-Review.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—A pony, suitable for school children. Phone 4724, E. M. Olivant.

FOR SALE—About 300 apple boxes at 10 cents each. Call at 404 N. Jackson street or phone 193-Y.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—1922 Dodge touring; excellent condition. Gilham's Highway Garage, Phone 478.

FOR SALE—Bartlett pears and peaches at Brand's Road Stand, Pacific highway, 4 miles north of Roseburg.

FOR SALE—Tomatoes, 25 cents per bushel. Bring your boxes and pick them yourself. Hubbard and McClain, Dillard, Ore.

FOR SALE—Fordson donkey, lines and blocks and tractor. First class condition. Priced right. Terms. Coen Lumber Co.

FOR SALE—Or will trade for sheep, 2 grade billies, 35 each. 1 fine wool buck, $8.15 saddle horse $20. Also good field horse with truck, $20. A. Louis Eggleton, Oakland, Ore.

FOR SALE—TWO NEW HOMES—1321-1145 North 3rd St. Five room, modern bungalows. Well located, fine view. Close to school, Oak floors, furnace heat, garage. Priced right. Easy terms. Call owner 460.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—House, close in. Inquire 230 East Lane.

FOR RENT—Modern furnished apt. Garage, adult, 410 W. Douglas.

FOR RENT—Small house, close in. Cheap. Inquire of R. T. Whipple.

FOR RENT—Three office rooms. Best location in the city. Phone 58.

FOR RENT—Delectable seven-room house with garage, close in. Phone 437-J.

FOR RENT—New 6-room plastered house cheap. Inquire 469 2nd Ave. south.

FOR RENT—Modern five-room house on Flint St. A. F. Braughton, Miller's Addition.

COOKED FOOD SALE

Go to the Peoples Supply store Saturday, September 5th, for salads, baked beans, pies, cakes, etc., prepared by Loyal Women's S. S. Class of Christian Church.

For prompt taxi service, city or country trips. Phone 44.

CHAS. J. DEAN, M.D. INC. PILES

The Cause of Your Ill Health If you have Piles or other Rectal or Colon disorders—there is the cause of your nervousness, lack of vitality, stomach trouble, general physical and mental incapacity. I can help you win back your health by positively curing your Piles under a WRITTEN GUARANTEE—or fee returned. Act today by calling for an examination or writing for my FREE booklet explaining my celebrated treatment for PILES and other Rectal and Colon ailments.

CHAS. J. DEAN, M.D. INC. PORTLAND OFFICES: SEATTLE OFFICES: 610 D. B. Building, 2015 1/2 3rd Ave. Building, 57th and Pine

Prune Trays, Boxes, Egg Crates Manufactured by C. A. STELZER Myrtle Creek, Ore. Phone 2604.

You'll soon need your overcoat. Better let us get it ready for you. Cold nights are not so far ahead.

Imperial CLEANERS

Our Auto Will Call Phone 277

TUBBY

WE'RE CERTAINLY LUCKY WE WERE THROWN UP ON THIS OLE ROCK WHEN OUR RAFT HIT IT IN THE STORM OR WE'D BEEN THROWN INTO THE WATER.

HEY, MOVE OVER, DON'T TRY TO HOG THE WHOLE ROCK!

AW, I DIDN'T MEAN TO PUSH YOU IN!

YAH-H-H YOU PUSHED ME INTO THE WATER AN' GOT ME ALL WET!

WHAT ARE YOU BAWLING ABOUT—I PULLED YOU OUT, DIDN'T I?—AN' YOU WAS ALL WET BEFORE I PUSHED YOU IN!

BAWWW! I DON'T CARE, I'LL GET EVEN WITH YOU—JUST SEE IF I DON'T—THAT'S A FINE WAY TO TREAT A FRIEND!

AWRIGHT, IF THAT'S ALL YOU APPRECIATE MY PULLIN' YOU OUT, YOU CAN GET OUT YOURSELF NOW!

Strained Nerves.

By WINNER

