

Today's Markets

(Associated Press Local Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 21.—Although there is still a dearth of cream in this market, prospects of an advance in print prices are very remote. This is the general opinion expressed by local buttermakers this morning. While it is true that production is very low and creameries running far under their normal capacity, the range between fat prices and what they are actually getting for prints is so great that little or no profit can be made.

Some of the creamerymen are openly complaining about fat prices as high as 55 and 56 cents in this market while prints sell around 52 to 53 cents. They go around and state that as long as this condition exists there will be no further increase in print prices. Butterfat has been high all season and dairymen have come into their own. With production hardly sufficient to meet this market's requirements, the dairymen have enjoyed top prices, quite a change from a year or so ago when high feed prices and low cream bids hit the dairymen hard.

TRAGEDY WRITES FINE TO LIFE OF 'SILVER DOLLAR'

Derelict Daughter Former Senator Interred by City She Scored For Its Sins.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—While the police possessed no actual proof that Ruth "Silver Dollar" Taylor, daughter of the late H. A. W. Taylor, former United States Senator for Colorado, was murdered when she died Saturday from scalds in her apartment, they continued today to search for a man known as "Bill" who recently had been known as her husband.

Neighbors heard Miss Taylor scream and found her with her back and legs severely scalded. He died within a few minutes. Dr. J. Gulliver Walton, who had treated the young woman three years, told the authorities her condition was such that any severe shock might have caused her death.

Heat with gas. MUSIC TEACHERS ASSOCIATION LUNCHEON TODAY

At the Douglas County Music Teachers Association luncheon this noon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Heinline in Laurelwood, the Royal Khorasan Laurels, were guests of honor. This quartette, composed of Chas. M. Schedler, Eugene P. Holm, first and second tenors, and John R. McKnight, and Chester K. Stryker, first and second bass, is appearing tonight at the Liberty theatre. The quartette, one of the finest of its kind, delighted the members of the association with several selections.

Following the reading of the minutes and discussion of old business, the president explained to the members the necessity of holding the luncheons at some new place, and fixing a time. The luncheon today being a new experiment, and an agreeable one, the members decided to hold such luncheons at noon at the homes of the different members, a committee to be appointed to plan the luncheons and designate the home at which it would be held.

Following a discussion as to whether or not the association should have a card of recognition with several sections would not see her buried in a pauper's grave, however, and neighbors contributed to a fund to inter her body properly.
