RETIRED GERMAN STAGE STAR RETURNS TO BOARDS

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—(A. P.)—Hedwig Wangol, who was the leading comedienne of Germany a quarter of a century ago, has returned with great success to the Berlin stage in the role of Madame Bonivard, the leading character in Alexandre Bisson's farce, "The Surprises of Divorce." For many years Fraulein Wangel has devoted herself largely to philanthropic work, and the proceeds of her stage work are given entirely to charity. At the height of her career she left the stage, having lost sympathy with her work as a comedy star. She was in a sanitarium for a long time, but upon the recovery of her health was still out of sympathy with the stage and lived a life of self-denial and extreme simplicity that was in striking contrast to her brilliant career when she was the favorite of German theatre-goers.

Max Reinhardt, under whose management Hedwig Wangel is reappearing, induced the veteran actress to return to the stage in some of her successes of a quarter of a century ago, and her reappearance was celebrated by a large group of celebrities of the German stage who gave her many ovations when she first appeared in the Komoedie theatre as the rollicking Madame Bonivard.

PACIFIC BOTANICAL GARDEN PLANNED ON OAHU ISLAND

HONOLULU, Sept. 21.—(A. P.)—The island of Oahu will be made a Pan-Pacific botanical garden under plans of the Pan-Pacific Biology commission and suggested by Willis T. Pope, horticulturist at the United States Agricultural Experiment station.

Numerous sites have been offered where food trees and plants from Pacific lands may be planted and cultivated. Different altitudes, different amounts of moisture and elements of climate are required for various plants and most of these requisites are found on the island. It is possible, however, that the higher slopes of the extinct volcano crater of Mauna Kea, island of Hawaii, also will be utilized for the cultivation of fruit and other food trees from temperate zones in the Pacific area.

Pope reported that considerable progress has been made since Prince Chandaburi, brother of the king of Siam, planted the first food trees from his country on the Pan-Pacific research institute grounds. Other distinguished visitors also have planted foreign trees of food value on the institution grounds and at various places on Oahu.

Seeds and cuttings of various plants have been received by the commission from every part of the Pacific area and are being cultivated in suitable locations.

ADVENTISTS WILL RAISE HUGE SUM FOR MISSIONS

Seventh Day Adventists of this city are cooperating with members of the denomination throughout North America in a campaign to raise $750,000 through what is known as the Harvest Ingathering for missions. This money is being gathered through the voluntary efforts of the constituency of the church who are working with renewed energy to make the campaign a success, and thus keep their foreign missionary enterprises advancing.

While the Adventists of North America are entering enthusiastically upon this program with no other thought than to help spread the good news of salvation, fellow believers in foreign countries are endeavoring to secure $500,000 in their efforts to help the denomination reach its world-wide goal of $1,250,000.

Last year, the friends of the denomination in this section of the world contributed $589,724.33 to this fund. This year more than 2,000,000 copies of the special magazine, telling of the good accomplished through this annual campaign, are being distributed in the English language, alone, while several hundred thousand copies in 22 different lands are being given away.

Word his just come to the local congregation from President W. A. Spicer ,of the general conference, who is now on a tour of South Africa, that as a result of the liberality of millions of friends who have contributed so liberally to this fund in years past, the denomination has been able to support at least 25 per cent of its missionaries abroad. He says this fund has been the means of keeping the mission board from ever recalling any of its workers in foreign lands.

The Seventh Day Adventists, according to their latest statistics are proclaiming the gospel, telling of the return of Christ in this generation, in 119 different countries of the world, and, as their leaders say "the sun never sets" on their activities. Founded by a mere handful of people within the lifetime of men still on the earth, leaders say the church has grown steadily and now supports 5,218 evangelistic workers outside the United States and 9,938 in this continent. They have a total investment of $36,903,592.95 and an annual income for both evangelistic and institutional work of $27,400,-308.20. Their two great principles are the second coming of Christ and the observance of all Ten Commandments.

FACTS ABOUT THE COMING MORONI OLSEN PLAYERS

The Moroni-Olson Players, who are to be in Roseburg on October 2, in Pygmalion, which is being presented under the auspicies of the Roseburg Business and Professional Women's Club, are unique in that, to present knowledge, they are the only organization of their kind either in the United States or abroad. They are the first "Circuit reportory company."

Occasional repertory companies have taken out several plays at once and changed their bill every night, for say a week, in towns large enough to support them. But this company ventures into the small as well as the large towns through Utah, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington, first with one play, and then another, and then a third. The first year, this was done five times, but with the growth of the circuit, three plays fill the season.

This plan makes an enthusiastic repetition necessary for each production. Otherwise the following bill would fail to draw an audience. If a person sees one play, he does not like, he certainly does not spend his money to see another play by the same actors.

The Moroni Olsen players have stood this relentless test so well that they now number forty-five towns in their regular circuit, having started two years ago with but fiteen. For this, their third season, (1925-1926), they have contracts with nearly twice as many towns as they had last year, and exactly three times as many as they started with. This season, they are to play their series of three plays in practically every University and Normal School town in the five Northwestern States in addition to such cities as Tacoma, Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Helena, Butte, Boise, Salt Lake City, etc.

No organization handling the Moroni Olsen Players in any town last season lost money! This fact pleases them more than do all the laudatory press notices, and appreciations they have received. It points toward permanency and a complete satisfaction for the "consumer" as well as the "producer."

Their ideals and plan of production are slightly different from the usual stock and repertory company, in that they lay any claim for greatness, big or little, to their group or ensemble playing. No one person in the company is ever featured. The play is always the important thing, and the parts are given to the different members of the company best suited to playing them. It is interesting to note that during their two years of existence in the Northwest, every member of the company has been given a chance to play an important part. And, at the same time, as much attention, if not more, is given to the small parts as the large ones. How different from the ordinary "star" system!

Every member of the company is an artist, chosen for their ability to play any number of parts well, and for their devotion to the ideal of the group or "family." In this company, an actor receives very little personal publicity or fame, but gets his reward in the satisfaction of knowing each play is well and thoroughly done. And what greater lesson can any person, artist or otherwise get from life than that of "unselfishness." Goya said, "Painting consists of sacrifices." Any member of the Moroni-Olsen Players could say the same of acting. Yet the public will never know or completely 'understand just how big these "sacrifices" have been. But they have already recognized that there is something fine and different about their productions.

The Moore Music Studio is now open at 225 N. Jackson St. Phone 502.

INDIAN'S ICE BOX IS AN ODD AFFAIR

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 21.—The Indian refrigerator used by the Blackfeet tribe on the Glacier National Park reservation, is a platform suspended from bare tepee poles. In this way the Indians keep their venison and other provender just as cool as it would be stowed away in an apartment house ice box.

The cool atmosphere from the glaciers the year round assure ample radiation through this skeletonized open-air contrivance. Even salesmen of the best refrigerator that is sold to the white race would have to admit this.

STORM CLOUD HAS REAL SILVER LINING FOR NEVADA RESIDENT

TOOPAH, Nevada, Sept. 21.—A recent cloudburst on the land of L. L. Loony, of Rochester, Nevada, washed away a good portion of the ground around his house. When the storm was spent, a vein of mineral was exposed.

He started to dig. At a depth of 20 feet he opened up a vein of ore assaying $80 to the ton. He was soon on his way to the smelter with the first carload.

Cloudbursts are common on the Nevada desert and are generally considered plagues.

GOOD PROGRESS IS BEING MADE ON REEDSPORT FILL

Dredge operations in filling in the City of Reedsport are progressing in fine shape and work in the northwestern part of district 1 is about completed. The pipe line for use in filling the northeast corner of that district was being laid Thursday.

The Island Construction company which has the contract, has the dredge in operation three shifts. Fred Getty is superintendent for the company. The Port of Umpqua dredge is being used in the work and reports Thursday are to the effect that the work is about ten days ahead of expectations. The dredge has only been in operation on this job for about three weeks.

Some sticks and bark have caused short operating delays but thus far there has been nothing of a serious nature to handicap operation.—Port Umpqua Courier.

DOUGLAS HOTEL TO BE UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT SOON

A change in management of the Douglas Hotel is pending following the resignation of Percy A. Webb, who has asked to be relieved from his present position before the 10th of October. During the four years that Mr. Webb has been manager of the hotel, he has given practically continuous service seven days each week, and under the long hours his health has broken to such an extent that it is necessary for him to seek another sort of employment. He has been a very efficient manager and during the years in which he has been employed the hotel has done an excellent business and payed good returns to the owners. Mr. Webb's successor has not yet been chosen, but several applications for the position are being considered. Mr. Webb recently purchased a home on East Douglas street, and has improved this property and he and his family will make their future home there instead of at the hotel where they have formerly been located.

BALL LUGGING AT NOTRE DAME IN HANDS OF SOPHS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 21.—Scorning the time-honored practice of football coaches of maintaining a green team with a moderately easy schedule, Knute E. Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, has voluntarily shouldered the burden of a ten game schedule this year that would be worthy of his memorable elevens of other seasons.

Notre Dame, minus the famous "Four Horsemen"—Crowley, Miller, Layden and Stuhldreher—opens the season September 26 against Baylor, on Cartier Field. This scrap is followed by home games on successive Saturdays with Lombard and Beloit. Then ensue seven that would be major contests for a highly polished team, and not a club shattered last year by the graduation of nineteen of the twenty-two men who occupied regular berths on the first two elevens.

The annual battle with the cadets of West Point, scheduled for New York, is the first of the series that will make or break the new teams, probably to be composed mostly of sophomoores. This game is booked for October 17. A week later Minneapolis will turn out for the first Minnesota-Notre Dame game in seasons. Minnesota has never been a push-over for any eleven.

A sharp climatic change is ensonntered the following week. Smarting undr successive defeats by Notre Dame, Georgia Tech will be anxious to ambush Rockne's lads. The "Golden Tornado" will be met at home.

Penn State is the pponent for November 7 at State College. Always a powerful team, Penn State is in a position to cripple Notre Dame's ambitions for later contests, if Rockne again elects to sacrifice bulk for speed in the moulding of his new team.

Operating under the reciprocal agreement of a home-and-home contract, Carnegie Tech comes to South Bend November 14 for the first Notre Dame game on home soil since the conflict with Beloit on October 17. Carnegie Tech came dangerously near marring Rockne's 1924 record.

A game that will arouse considerable interest in the middle west closes the hime season, when Glenn Thistlewaite's Northwestern team, hoping to improve on the sensational showing made against Notre Dame in 1924, comes to Cartier Field.

The regular schedule will be closed Thanksgiving Day, at Lincoln, Nebraska. A rivalry of almost traditional character has grown up in the football relations of Notre Dame and Nebraska universities, and, although Fred Dawson, leader of several successful Nebraska sallies against the middle westerners, will be absent from the Cornhusker fold, the game will probably be considered the most important on the year's schedule, in Notre Dame.

NAMED AS CROP OBSERVER.

Appointment of B. F. Nichols, of Riddle, as crop observer in Douglas county for the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation Index, is announced from Chicago by P. V. Ewing, director of research for the Foundation and editor of the Index. He will form a link in the nation-wide chain of county agricultural observers elected because of his first-hand knowledge of farming conditions and his ability to observe these and intelligently interpret them.

The Index, to which the observer from this county will contribute, is a compilation of the monthly reports of 3,650 observers in every section of the country, and this number is being added to steadily. All the observers are practical, thinking, farm-minded men, each chosen because of the opportunities he has to observe the needs of agriculture in his own locality and for his ability to apply economic principles to current farm problems. As a group, they represent a cross-section of the thoughts that the man in the furrow is thinking, and their joint analysis of existing agricultural conditions, as expressed in the Index, is considered a forward step in helping agriculture help itself.

FISH DEALING PLANTS HERE IN MIDST BIG RUN

One of the most active businesses in Reedsport at present is that of commercial fishing and packing. Large hauls are being made daily by fishermen, both inside and outside and the plants on the Umpqua are being kept busy.

Monday the pick-up boat Marshovor, brought in 40 tons of Chinook caught in the lower Columbia. This cargo was taken to the local plant of the Arthur Anderson Packing company. Good catches of Chinook are reported in the Umpqua. Silversides have not started to run very strong in the Umpqua. Outside trollers are bringing in large catches of Chinook.—Port Umpqua Courier.

CROSS ROADS OF NATION LOCATED AT INDIANAPOLIS STREET CORNER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 21.—A down-town street intersection —Washington and Meridian streets—is to be designated "the cross-roads of the nation."

Two important national highways, the National Old Trail road, running from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the Dixie Highway, beginning at Saulte St. Marie, Michigan, and terminating in Miami, Florida, intersect at this Indianapolis corner.

More than 75 percent of the cross-country north, south, east and west-bound tourists use these two highways, according to E. W. Steinhart, president of the Hoosier State Automobile Association. Mr. Steinhart instigated the plan to locate "the cross-roads of the nation" in Indianapolis.

FEEDS AND DOCTORS PIGEONS AS A HOBBY.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Feeding peanuts to pigeons in Grant Park on busy Michigan boulevard costs him approximately $150 a year, but to Harry J. Lane, the benefactor, it is a small item in his recipe for kindness.

Four or five times daily Mr. Lane, who is treasurer of the Orchesta Hall association in a skyscraper overlooking the Park, crosses the avenue with bulging pockets of peanuts to ration the birds, many of them of four years' acquaintance. His appearance causes a winged offensive.

Mr. Lane carries a knife with a small sharp blade which, as the birds feed, he uses in removing strings entangled in their feet and to perform any small bit of surgery. Wherever he travels Mr. Lane feeds pigeons in the parks. He is never feared, whether friend of stranger.

The city allows feed for the pigeons, but frequently the caretaker is absent. Mr. Lane fills the breach as provider.

They satisfy—clean, pure and wholesome. Eat our chocolates. Lloyd Crocker.

DAMAGE SUIT IS FILED FOR DEATH IN AUTO TRAGEDY

GRANTS PASS, Sept. 21—Suit was started Friday against Audley Egger and Harold Todd for $20,000 by Mrs. Sarah J. DeNike, grandmother of Miss Herma Hawes, who died as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Gold Hill on September 5. Costs were also wanted by the plaintiff.

In her complaint, Mrs. DeNike sets forth than Egger was driving the car, which belonged to Todd. She contends that they were traveling at excessive speed, setting forth 65 miles an hour as the rate. She also holds that the pavement was wet and slippery at the point where the accident occurred. She states that she is the only heir.

As a result of this wreck Miss Queneth Milledge, formerly of Roseburg, was also severely injured, suffering lacerations and injuries about the head. Audley Egger, one of the defendants in the suit, is still a patient at the Sacred Heart Hospital, recovering from a dangerous fracture of the skull.
