MICKEY WALKER BEATS SHADE IN FURIOUS FIGHT

Champion's Fierce Rally in Final Round Wins Judges' Verdict.

NEITHER IS FLOORED

Challenger Holds Own Up Till 15th, When Title Holder Drives Him All Over Ring.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., and his two battering fists, still rule the welterweight division of pugilistic world.

By a furious rally in the final round of a gruelling 15-round struggle with his leading challenger, Dave Shade of San Francisco, the champion demonstrated to the satisfaction of two out of three officials last night that he is still entitled to wield the scepter in the 147-pound class.

George T. Kelly of Yonkers, N. Y., one of the judges, thought Shade won. Richard Nuzent of Buffalo, the other judge, voted for Walker. Then Referee Patsy Haley decided the issue by returning a verdict for the champion.

With but a few exceptions, most of the newspaper critics conceded Walker a clean cut victory; he finished the stronger after having forced the fighting over almost the entire route in addition to dealing out the heavier blows.

Shade, one of the most elusive marks in the ring, for the most part cast aside the dodging, weaving defense by which he had often baffled opponents in other fights. He traded punches, toe to toe, with the champion. It was a game at which Walker was highly proficient and the chance in tactics spelled defeat for the crafty Californian.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Sept. 22.—Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., retained his world's welterweight title when he scored a Judges' verdict over Dave Shade of California in a furious 15-round title match at the American league baseball park last night.

A thrilling rally in the final round won the verdict for the champion, who had been absorbing plenty of punishment from his challenger in the early rounds.

Walker had been wearing down his challenger with a concentrated body attack and reaped his harvest in the final round, when he hammered Shade about the ring with a charge which retained for him the world's 147-pound crown.

The fight by rounds follows:

Round One.
The champion took the aggressive after a clinch and scored heavily in the in-fighting against his crouching challenger. The champion was pounding on Shade's body. Shade staggered Walker with three straight left jabs to the face. Shade almost floored Walker with a right to the head. Another right sent Walker to the ropes. Shade's crouching position and his dodging tactics puzzled the champion. They were sparring at the bell.

Round Two.
Shade's left sent Walker backwards. They locked arms, but both got one free and they pounded away in a fierce fashion. Shade almost upset Walker with an overhand right. Clinch followed clinch as Shade crouched to protect himself from Walker's charges. Shade scored a beautiful right uppercut which turned Walker half around.

The crowd was in an uproar as the bell ended a furious rush.

Round Three.

Round Four.
Walker continued to punch away at Shade's body, as the challenger drove into a clinch at every charge. Both missed frequently. Walker stung Shade with a right cross to the jaw and followed it with a beautiful left. There was plenty of in-fighting. Walker staggered Shade with his left, but took a right uppercut on the return just as the bell ended the round.

Round Five.

HATE WOMAN SLAIGS TRAFFIC COP ON JAW.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 22.—A test in court of a new traffic regulation in Seattle, compelling pedestrians to wait for signals before crossing intersections, loomed today. Yesterday two women were arrested. One doubled up her fist and hit Patrolman Hackler on the jaw, when ordered to retreat her steps after crossing a street against a signal. The other was put in a cell, when she refused to post $2 ball, after 35 minutes she reconsidered. Her husband declared he would take the case to the supreme court.

WILL COVER COUNTY

Special Representative of Paper to Visit Every Community in County to Secure Material.

Work is starting this week on the industrial edition of the Roseburg News-Review, which will make its appearance on January 1, 1926. It is the purpose of the News-Review company to make this edition the largest ever published in Roseburg, and it will be a booster edition giving many important facts concerning Roseburg and the Umpqua valley. If the plans are carried through as now outlined.

Several thousand extra copies of this edition will be printed for distribution by Roseburg and Douglas county people to friends in other localities, while many additional papers will go to county residents, affording advertisers an exceptional opportunity to call attention to their respective businesses, profession or trades.

Every section of the county will be visited by a special representative of the Roseburg News-Review, who will obtain information concerning the industrial development of each community. Special art work will feature the edition, together with photographs showing the industries of each locality and other particulars relating to the products and commercial interests of all parts of the county. Each industry will be treated in detail, and the edition, when completed, will be a most exhaustive treatise on the developed and undeveloped resources and activities of Douglas county.

Solicitation of advertising and collection of material is already well underway, under the direction of the News-Review Editor, Bert G. Bates, who will have the assistance of other members of the News-Review staff in the compilation of the vast amount of information and data which will enter into the publication of this special edition.

It is hoped that this edition will not only furnish to the regular readers of the News-Review much interesting matter concerning their own county, but will convey to hundreds of interested people outside of the county an impression of the remarkable resources which this section has to offer them and will cause them to seek this locality for their future homes.

WILBUR WANTS NO SEPARATION OF AIR SERVICE

Independent Operation of Fliers Would Prevent Unity in Battle.

ONE LEADER ENOUGH

Navy Head Tells Air Board Planes Should Remain Under Control of His Bureau.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The weight of opinion of those charged with administering the navy was thrown today into the scales against any sweeping change in the organization of the nation's air force.

Testifying before the president's air board, Secretary Wilbur, Rear Admiral Edward W. Eberle, chief of naval operations, and other high ranking naval officers, vigorously opposed the re-organization plan advanced by Colonel William Mitchell.

Mr. Wilbur declared against a department of national defense, proposed by Mitchell and favored by Major-General Mason M. Patrick, the army air chief. He likewise opposed an independent air corps, analogous to the marine corps.

Admiral Eberle squarely lined up with the views of his superior, which are in accord with the position of the war department.

Without mentioning names, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, the naval air chief, told the board he welcomed the opportunity to testify as many erroneous and misleading statements about air service recently had been given the country. He opposed a separate air force, declaring the naval air service went to sea "on the back of the navy."

For one thing, he said, the American navy has 30 airplane catapults capable of operating a device which no other nation has yet developed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The maintenance of the navy air service organization in substantially its present form was advocated today by Secretary Wilbur before the president's air board.

Called as the first witness of the day by the board, which yesterday inquired into the policy of the war department and the army air service, Mr. Wilbur emphatically opposed creation of a department of national defense. Such a step, he declared, would be a "well nigh irreparable mistake."

"Air forces," he asserted, "form an essential part of the fabric of the navy itself and its administration and organization, like other administrative problems, internal to the navy, will, if unmolested by outside forces, be solved with the same efficiency and with the same happy results as has been obtained in similar problems in the past."

The secretary likewise expressed opposition to establishment of the naval air service as a separate corps, analogous to the marine corps and declared against a single air service, maintained for national defense, but not under the army or navy.

Gov. Hartley Refuses to Meddle in Murder Case That Renews Kelso Feud

That He Will Take No Action Under Existing Circumstances in the Kelso Situation was Announced Here Shortly After 1 O'clock This Afternoon by Governor Roland H. Hartley, Following a Conference of Over One and One Half Hours Duration with A. Ruric Todd, Former Mayor of Kelso, and Three Men Who Accompanied Him.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 22.—That he will take no action under existing circumstances in the Kelso situation was announced here shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon by Governor Roland H. Hartley, following a conference of over one and one half hours duration with A. Ruric Todd, former mayor of Kelso, and three men who accompanied him.

"They have legally constituted authorities in Kelso and until an appeal for aid comes to me thru the regular channels, it will be without my jurisdiction to act," Governor Hartley said.

Todd declared to newspapermen that he anticipated trouble at the hearing of George Norris, city engineer of Kelso, against whom charges of murdering Thomas Dorey on the night of June 19 have been preferred by Todd, when Norris appears tonight before Justice McCoy at Castle Rock. Todd said that his party would attend the hearing peacefully, but expressed fear that others interested might not do so.

He said that he had told Governor Hartley of what he considered the impending danger.

Todd said that while he had not asked specifically for the appointment of a special prosecutor in his conference with the governor today, he had laid details of the case before the governor and told him that he did not believe prosecuting attorney

SEEK PUGILIST FOR MURDER OF MAN NEAR WEED

Joe Coffman, Lightweight, Fugitive Following Arrest of Pals.

TRACED TO ROSEBURG

Logger Enticed Into Barn and Choked to Death For Purpose of Robbing Him.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Sept. 22.—Joe Coffman, well known lightweight boxer, is being sought by Siskiyou county, California, authorities on a charge of first degree murder. The crime for which the young pugilist is sought was committed in Weed last month, when an unidentified logger was choked to death in a reputed robbery plot. Two persons are now held in the county jail at Yreka, Cal., in connection with the alleged murder.

"Murder" posters urging the apprehension of Coffman and his detention without bail have been mailed to peace officers throughout the Northwest by Sheriff Calkins of Siskiyou county. One of these posters was received here yesterday by Sheriff Hawkins.

The photograph of Coffman shows him in his fighting togs, and a detailed description of the young pugilist.

A deputy in the office of Sheriff Calkins at Yreka admitted over long distance telephonic talk that Coffman is being sought on a murder charge. Every effort has been made by Siskiyou county officials to keep the facts from the public.

The two persons now held at Yreka on tentative murder charges in connection with the crime are Oscar Schuler and a woman giving the name of Mabel Arant. A report from Yreka this morning stated that Schuler is said to have made a complete confession to Sheriff Calkins and will turn state's evidence in the event Coffman is captured.

According to Schuler's story, he and Coffman and the woman are alleged to have lured the unknown logger into a barn owned by Dr. W. E. Tebbe at Weed about three weeks ago for the purpose of robbing him. Coffman, according to Schuler's purported confession, undertook to strangle the logger into submission. The victim fell unconscious and died from his injuries.

Faced with evidence which the Siskiyou sheriff had amassed, Schuler is said to have broken down and told the complete story of the crime and of Coffman's alleged participation.

It was admitted by a Siskiyou deputy today that Coffman has been sought for more than a week. He is reported to have been seen at Roseburg a week ago, but since then all trace of him has been lost.

Coffman went to Weed from Klamath Falls. He was here for more than two months this summer and engaged in several bouts here. The woman who is under arrest at Yreka is said to have come from this city, but she is not known here under the name by which she is held at Yreka.

WATER SUPPLY RUNS OUT, BUT DYING WIND AND AID FROM CHULA VISTA SAVE REST OF TOWN.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 22.—Flames starting in the Vernon Club in Tia Juana, Mexico, early this morning swept through an entire block that included some of the best known resorts in the border city, causing a loss that business men of the town estimated would total nearly $1,000,000.

Reports from the border town were to the effect that the fire broke out in the kitchen attached to the Vernon Club, shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. Fanned by a moderate early morning wind, the blaze quickly spread to adjoining structures and within a few minutes one of the worst fires in the history of Tia Juana was under full headway.

The Tia Juana fire department, consisting of one motor truck, with hose and chemical tanks, were soon on the scene, but within a few minutes after the pumps were started, the water supply gave out and there was nothing for the inhabitants of the town to do, but stand helplessly by and watch the spread of the flames.

Thirty minutes after the start of the fire, practically all the structures in the block were ablaze.

Although lack of water made fighting the fire impossible, a telephone appeal for help was sent to the Chula Vista fire department, and a chemical truck was dispatched from there to Tia Juana. When Chula Vista trucks arrived the firemen confined their efforts to attempts to save structures opposite the doomed block, chemical tanks being employed for this purpose.

Shortly before five o'clock the wind died out completely and it is to this fact that the saving of the balance of the town is attributed.

No casualties or injuries of any kind as a result of the fire have been reported.

CHILD HIT BY AUTO.
E. R. Burton, a resident of North Jackson street, reported at the city hall this afternoon that his car struck a small child last night a short distance from his home. The child, who had just started to walk, when the child, whose name he did not learn, dashed out from behind a rose bush and ran squarely into the front of his machine. It was hit by the bumper and knocked down, sustained a cut on the chin, but was not seriously injured.

WASHINGTON PUTS BAN ON TEXAS COMMODITIES
OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 22.—A quarantine order barring shipments of livestock, hay, fodder and similar commodities into Washington from Texas was issued this morning. It was announced here by Dr. Robert Price, state supervisor of dairy and livestock. Difficulties being encountered by both federal and state officials in enforcing quarantine measures against the foot and mouth diseases in Texas made such action necessary, Dr. Price said.

NUTS WILL KEEP UP WORLD FOOD SUPPLY
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—The world need have no worry about its future food supply, no matter how thickly populated it becomes, if it gives adequate attention to the planting of nut trees. Dr. Robert T. Morris, New York City, said in addressing the convention of Northern Nut Growers here.

Dr. Morris pointed out that nut trees use the sub-soil and there is no waste to land as when wheat and corn are grown.

SAXON RECORD SAYS ADAM GOUT VICTIM

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Adam died of the gout, says an ancient document held by the Herald's college of London. The document, the origin of which is unknown, but which was written in the 16th century, professes to trace the genealogy of the Saxon Kings back to Adam and Eve.

Whether Adam had continued to eat an apple a day would have kept the doctor away, is not mentioned.

NIGHT OFFICERS WANTED BUSINESS MEN

Merchants Ask Council for Appointment of Special Police Guard.

PLAN IS SUGGESTED

Night Watchmen to Double Up in Middle of Night—Council Discusses Routine Affairs.

A large delegation of business men of the city visited the council last night with a plan for the appointment of a special police officer to guard the business district. The merchants offered to pay one-half the officer's salary, and asked the city to pay $25 per month toward maintaining the officer.

A. A. Wilder acted as spokesman for the party, stating that the district which it is proposed to have the special officer guard extends along Cass and Jackson streets from the Penney store to the Douglas hotel. Mr. Wilder stated that the businesses in this district pay over 30 per cent of the city tax and because of the value of the territory feel the need for greater protection.

The special officer, according to the plans of the merchants, would work under the chief of police, and would make his rounds of the district every thirty minutes.

A. C. Marsters, president of the Merchants' association, also spoke along the same line. The territory which the present night officers patrol is altogether too large for one man to patrol. Mr. Marsters stated, and he is unable to give enough time to the business district.

After hearing the matter as proposed by the merchants, the council referred the proposition to the committee on health and police for further investigation.

Following the council meeting, in an informal discussion, the suggestion was offered by councilmen that the hours of the present city force be extended, and that the money contributed by the merchants be used to give the officers more pay. The two night men would then arrange their hours so that they would overlap during the dangerous hours of the night, one patrolling the business section and the other the residence districts.

This plan is to be considered, and if acceptable to the merchants may be adopted. The city's finances are running low, and the council does not appear to feel that an appropriation of $50 per month can be afforded.

The council held a rather lengthy session considering a number of important matters. It was decided to proceed with plans for locating a light in front of the library building, and this is to be installed at once. A gasoline pump is also to be installed at the city hall, as the city can make a considerable saving in gasoline for its motor equipment by procuring its own pump and purchasing gasoline at the wholesale price.

A petition from the residents of Parrott street for establishing a parking and sidewalk regulation, was referred to the street committee.

Councilman Wade, chairman of the committee on health and police, reported that the service station on South Stephens street, which had been using water from a contaminated spring, had abandoned the spring and is now using the city water.

City Attorney Wimberly reported that the deeds to the right of way on the Central sewer had been located, and that the records indicate that any changes in location must be made by the property owners.

The city records were reported to be in bad shape, because of the lack of suitable filing space, and the city recorder was instructed to procure a filing cabinet.

The city's permission was granted for the use of the street repair outfit by the county court, which is preparing to put a flush coat on the decking of the Oak street bridge.

The marshal was ordered to check up on the animals along the main streets, and see that all are high enough to comply with the city ordinance, which prohibits awnings less than eight feet above the sidewalk.

IRISH AIR CHIEF DIES AT TORNEY

DUBLIN, Sept. 22.—Thomas Maloney, commander of the Irish Free State air force, was killed in a flying accident at Carragh today. His machine crashed when he was flying low during an aviation tournament.
