NEGRO GIRLS SHUN MINISTER HUSBANDS, REPORT ASSERTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(A. P.)—Modern negro girls do not want ministers for husbands because "the girls would have to give up dancing, movies and card parties," and because negro ministers have much smaller incomes than men of their race in other professions and in business. This is disclosed in a report made public today of a survey of theological schools for negroes made under the direction of the Institute of Social and Religious Research by Dr. Robert L. Kelly and W. A. Daniel.

Negro ministers are not so well educated as men of their race trained for other fields of activity, says the report, and their influence as leaders of their people in this country is waning. While the first efforts of negro education were especially directed to the training of ministers and the best men in the schools used to go into the ministry, the theological schools are now nearly all of lower status than other schools of higher education for negroes, with lower entrance and graduation requirements and comparatively small enrollment.

"In most cases," the report adds "the members of the theological faculty compare much more favorably with the rest of the faculty than do the students in the theological department with the students in other departments." It is further pointed out, the report states, that if all the men graduating from the 52 negro theological seminaries in the United States last year had gone directly into the ministry, as is usually the case, less than three per cent of the vacancies could have been filled by men 'whose combined literary and theological training would be equivalent to three years above high school."

ROB CRIPPLES AS THEY SEEK CURE AT SHRINE

LOURDES, France, Sept. 24.—Posted on the walls of the miraculous grotto here, journey's end for so many pilgrims from all parts of the world, there is a placard which reads: "Look out for your pocket-book."

Above the heap of crutches abandoned by the devout in testimony of cures there is another, and by the sacred fountain there is a third. Faith in the healing powers of the shrine brings the pilgrim, and faith in the fairness of the pilgrim's scrip has brought the pickpocket and the conman.

The best plainclothes men from Paris, on duty at Lourdes, have caught as many as six pickpockets in a single morning. Often the thieves are young girls trained by older adepts, who are mostly old offenders fearful of the heavy punishment dealt out in France to the habitual criminal.

Lourdes is crowded in the summer with a great variety of nationalities and that means a vast variety of wallets. The thoughts of the devout when they buy candles for the shrine or gather about the pile of discarded crutches are preoccupied and abstracted. They do not resent chance elbowing or jostling nor feel the hand that slips the wallet from its resting place.

NO FEAR OF EVIL resulting from change of diet, water or climate, concerns those who take on the short trip, summer vacation or long journey. CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC and DIARRHOEA REMEDY

HARD FOOD DIET GIVES INDIANS OF BRISTOL BAY PERFECT TEETH

SEWARD, Alaska, Sept. 24.—A diet of hard food gives the Kanakanak, Bristol Bay, Indians, the finest teeth in the world, Dr. M. R. Douglas, traveling dentist for the Federal Bureau of Education, declared after making a study of Indians in that region this summer.

He reported seeing Indians of 70 years of age with full sets of perfect teeth. Dr. Douglas found only three small cavities in the teeth of 18 school children.

R. H. S. TEAM SHOWS UP WELL IN SCRIMMAGES

The Roseburg high school football team may be lacking in weight but they are striving hard to overcome their handicaps of lightweight and inexperience by speed and fight. Coach Doubet is well pleased with the spirit of willingness manifest by the large squad turning out every night, and a team full of pep and fight is assured.

The boys are working out for long intervals on the tackling dummy, and are showing a good improvement in their form. They are learning to tackle low and hard, and their opponents this year are going to get spilled hard when the Roseburg tacklers hit them if the boys succeed in mastering the technique which their coach is trying to instill.

A short scrimmage for linemen was held last night, and from appearances the line is going to be fairly strong on both offense and defense.

One great handicap is the pitiful lack of experience of the team. The boys are willing but do not know what to do, and the coach is having a hard time stimulating real "battle tactics" in the scrimmages.

By far the bulk of the players this year are freshmen. Many of them have never played before and know nothing whatever of the game, but present indications are that the local high school is going to develop some real players from the squad now on the field.

Several of the boys are taking to the game like a duck to water, and are rapidly developing real form. Some promising backfield material is being worked out by Coach Doubet, and opposing teams are going to receive some disconcerting jolts when the Roseburg backs start through enemy lines.

Coach Doubet has the assistance of B. E. Larson, former athletic director, now science instructor, and these two mentors are rapidly developing a team which with full knowledge of its weaknesses is trying to make up for those handicaps is every possible way.

The most promising aspect is the willingness with which the players enter into their practice. No grumbling or discontent is shown, and failures to satisfactorily execute the coach's instructions only meets with a request to be allowed to try again. The boys are assimilating the knowledge of the game as quickly as their inexperience will permit, and with a couple of games under their belts to season them the team should begin showing up well about the middle of the season.

SPRING WHEAT SHOW LOWER THAN LAST SEASON

The condition of all spring wheat in the four spring wheat states North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana, was much below that of last year on September 1, but Durum has fared better than other varieties, the Department of Agriculture announced today.

Durum wheat in the four states combined on September 1 this year had a condition of 84 per cent of normal compared with 94 per cent last year; all spring wheat (including Durum) 72 per cent compared with 90 per cent, and spring bread wheats 65 per cent compared with 88 per cent last year.

The lower condition this year is attributed to rust and drought, but which have not affected Durum as much as other wheats because of the marked rust resistance of that variety.

The condition of all spring wheat (including Durum) in the United States on September 1 is placed at 75 per cent of normal compared with 82 per cent last year, and of all spring bread wheats at about 73 per cent compared with 79 per cent.

Condition reported by states is as follows:

	Durum	All spring wheat incl. Durum
No. Dakota	85%	76%
So. Dakota	82	73
Minnesota	82	72
Montana	71	60

Estimates of production of Durum and of spring bread wheats in the four states will be reported separately in the October spring wheat production report of the United States crop reporting board to be issued October 9.

SALEM COUNCILMAN WANTS HARD LABOR SENTENCE INFLICTED.

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 24.—Aldermen Hal D. Patton and Paul Johnson are preparing to introduce at the next meeting of the city council an amendment to the drunken driver ordinance that was passed Monday night, whereby persons convicted under the ordinance would be compelled to serve the city at hard labor instead of to lie in jail. The theory behind the proposed amendment is that it would be more severe punishment.

Patton severely criticised the ordinance while it was under discussion Monday night, but voted for it. In the course of the argument City Attorney Kowitz declared that the police judge now has authority to sentence offenders to hard labor if he so desires.

Police Judge Paulsen's idea is that a hard labor clause in the ordinance would be impracticable for the reason that a sufficient number of offenders is never under sentence to make hard labor sentences a paying policy for the city. Further, he points out that an additional meal would be necessary every day for the prisoners, which would be an expense to the city.

The ordinance passed Monday night differs from the one previously in effect in that the new ordinance conforms exactly with the state law. It provides for a minimum of 60 days in jail, fine ranging from $100 to $500, and suspension of the driver's license for a year.

AN AGES-OLD OFFENSE.

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—The league of nations council in special session today, decided to send a league representative to the Masul district of Mesopotamia to inquire into the British charges of deportations of Christians by the Turks.

The league representative will also keep the council informed of any further incidents liable to mitigate against a friendly settlement of the Anglo-Turkish dispute over the Mosul region.

The council's action was in line with the recent British communication on the subject asking for an inquiry on the scene.

BACK FROM TRIP OVER IN NEVADA

Leaving here a couple of weeks ago in an Overland touring car of late model, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Wilson and Mrs. W. H. Carter, of this city, drove to eastern Nevada, crossing the Sierras and enjoying a hunting trip in the mountains of that state. During the trip they traveled 1632 miles, according to the speedometer on the car, and did all this on an average of 24.6 miles to a gallon of gas. Three quarts of oil were all that were required during the entire run. The party got home Tuesday evening after a two-day's drive from Reno, the first day making Redding and from the latter place to Roseburg Tuesday. On this trip the highest point reached in the mountains was something over 8000 feet, and but little of the whole distance of the road covered was paved. In the mountains they very often encountered 20 per cent grades, and at one point where a detour was made the road was so steep that a flagman stationed there warned Mr. Wilson that he would have to partially unload the car in order to make the ascent. However, Mr. Wilson says he made up his mind that he could go up and do it in second, as the little Overland had proven itself such a staunch car that he had implicit confidence in it. So telling the ladies to stay in the car he started up and went over the top without a quiver. Wilson is sure that an Overland is a hard combination to beat, and while the car used on the trip belongs to Mr. Carter, he is loud in his praise of the machine and is telling anybody who wants to know that the Overland beats the world as a hill climber, but he never believed it until he had the experience that it was his pleasure to enjoy on this hunting trip.

All parties knowing themselves indebted to S. B. Crouch, are asked to come in and make settlement of their accounts as I close my books on October 1st.

S. B. CROUCH.

Arthur Edeson, the highest paid cameraman in the motion picture industry, who had charge of the cameras for Douglas Fairbanks' "Three Musketeers," and "Robin Hood," was the principal cameraman on "The Lost World," the super-feature attraction at the Antlers theatre tonight. The camera staff also included another star cinematographer in Fred Jackman, who filmed "The King of Wild Horses" and other notable features. The extensive research staff of picture was headed by Willis O'Brien, who worked more than seven years on the picture.

Antlers Theatre

"Sun-Up", the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming to the Antlers theatre on Sunday, introduces an old hand at film production in a new role and not an acting one either. The veteran newcomer is none other than Edmund Goulding, master scenario craftsman, who has graduated into the field of motion picture direction.

Goulding will long be remembered as the adapter of most of Richard Barthelmess's early starring vehicles among which were "Tol'able David, "and "Fury." He also wrote the screen story for some of Mae Murray's most successful pictures.

As "Sun-Up" has many points in common with "Tol'able David," by dealing with hardy mountain folk, Goulding was an ideal choice as the director of the piece. "Sun-Up" is based on the Broadway stage success by Lula Vollmer. Arthur Statter wrote the cenario. Lucille La Verne, Pauline Starke, Conrad Nagel, George K. Arthur, Arthur Rankin, Sam De Grasse, Edward Connelly and Balnard Beckwith portray the North Carolina mountaineers in the film.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. — Players in the professional golf championship simmered down to the semi-finalists as a result of four third round matches at Olympia fields country club today. In the first contest Tommy Armour of New York crossed Cleeks with Morte Dutra, Borden, Washington.

The other upper bracket match was between Tom Kerrigan of New York, who set a record of 32 for the first nine No. 3 course yesterday, and Bill Mehlhorn of Chicago, formerly Western open champion.

The defending champion, Walter Hagen, had as his third opponent Leo Diegel, of New York, Canadian open title-holder.

The fourth contest today was between John Farrell, and Harry Hooper of Dallas.
