BAND LEAVES TO PLAY AT SALEM FOR STATE FAIR

The Douglas County Concert Band, selected as the official band for the Oregon State Fair, left last night for Salem to spend the week playing at the annual state event. The Roseburg musical organization is classed as one of the premier bands of the state, and was offered the state fair engagement after a number of applications had been considered. During the summer season the band has been giving weekly concerts in this city and has an extensive repertoire upon which to draw for its many programs. The band is made up of accomplished players on brass and wood instruments, and many soloists are included, so that a varied entertainment may be offered. The band is under the management of A. T. Lawrence, and is directed by W. Dale Strange.

yards promptly at 5 a. m. A kitchen will be installed in the baggage car and lunch will be served there on the way to Salem. Copies of "The War Whoop," the official publication of the Umpqua Chiefs, will be struck off for distribution at the state fair. The train will be met in Salem by the Douglas County Concert Band. The band and all members of the Chiefs and Squaws organizations will be in uniform and feathers, which will be their costume for the day. The Roseburg delegation, led by the band, will parade to the fair grounds, there to participate in the events of the day. They will present their stunts before the grandstand in competition with other hospitality clubs of the state, and at night will give a program in the pavilion. Ample accommodations will be made for all and it is hoped that a great crowd of Roseburg people will accompany the Chiefs to represent the city.

STEAMER HELD AT FAULT FOR SINKING S-51 (Continued from page 1.) here from the wreck said. The message did not make clear whether the compartment was forward or aft. The compartment was described in the message only as an interior bulkhead.

Weather Halts Derricks. NEW LONDON, Sept. 28.—Advices to the submarine base here at noon said sea and weather at the S-51 wreck were so bad that rescue operations had to be suspended. The Century, 160-ton crane vessel, was ordered to Block Harbor and the Monarch, a larger crane vessel, was ordered to a harbor at Block Island underway. Divers Get No Response. NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 28.—Belief that the submarine S-51, sunk 14 miles east of Block Island Friday night, when rammed by the steamship City of Rome, might be raised today was expressed this morning by officers at the submarine base here. The Monarch, a derrick in which naval authorities pin their hopes to raise the S-51, was started toward the scene of the disaster at 7 a. m. an early message to the submarine base here stated. The sea was calm after a night of heavy wind.

Although every effort was being directed toward rescue work, slight hope was held out that any of the 33 men who went down with the craft would be found alive. Naval officials say that the number who went down with the submarine is 23, as one man at first listed as aboard, has been found at home in New York visiting a sick relative.

One message only was received at the submarine base during the night during the ring of naval vessels on guard and at work during the hours of darkness at the spot where the S-51 went down. That message, received shortly after 10 o'clock by wireless, informed the anxious persons ashore of the futile effort to hoist the S-51 by means of a 100-ton crane, the Century. It also dampened the hopes of the naval men that some of their comrades of sea were still alive in the battered shell of the underwater vessel.

The message sent in by Rear Admiral H. H. Christy, commander of the control force, stated that divers at work outside the sunken submarine had been unable to obtain a response to their efforts to communicate with the men inside.

beauty is built from within. One of the exhibits showing development of Oregon industries is a native Christmas tree on which are hung among twinkling electric lights gifts of Oregon woods. Recovery of cedar oils from sawdust and myrtle oil from leaves is shown to be possible. A stamp mill is the center attraction of a display which sets forth Oregon's mining possibilities. A cement plant shows the way to pick and mix materials and cure them for the most permanent cement for road buildings. Many problems relating to farm management are brought out. Boys and girls club work is given special stress impressing visitors with the value of this type of effort in developing character and enterprise.

BIBLE STANDARD MISSION TO BUILD NEW TABERNACLE

The Bible Standard Mission today announced the purchase of the long property at the corner of Douglas and Chadwick streets, and expect within the next week to start construction of a tabernacle. Negotiations have been pending for some time, but the deal was not closed until today. The residence, now occupying the corner, will be moved to the back of the lot to be used for a parsonage and the tabernacle will be built on the corner. The building will be 40 by 80 feet in size, according to present plans, and will seat approximately 600 people on the lower floor. A balcony will provide Sunday school rooms and additional seating space.

At a meeting held yesterday in the tent at Rose and Washington streets, the congregation raised $1,300 to apply on the construction of the building. With a large sum already on hand the finances are well taken care of. The Bible Standard Mission has been making a rapid growth since starting a congregation here. The mission was established just a year ago, and now has a membership of over 100. It is incorporated in both the city and state. In Eugene the Bible Standard mission having a seating capacity of over 3,000. The membership of people are constructing a $75,000 the Eugene church is over 2,000.

Lieutenant G. P. Tourtelot, is piloting the plane and is accompanied by H. Jones, navigation engineer. They are on their way back to McCook Field.

WINDY DRESSERS HOLD FETE WITH WAX WOMEN (Associated Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 28.—Portland today is host to a convention that is not all talk. A large share of the interest of the delegates to the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Association of Displaymen, which opened here, was absorbed in demonstrations. Beautifully gowned women thronged the lobby and halls of the headquarters hotel. These women tolled not, neither did they spin—they were wax women. Karl P. Amahl, Spokane, presided at the opening session. Demonstrations this morning gave a demonstration of novelty window dressing. This afternoon there were competitive demonstrations.
