Span of Worth-While o Life Has Increased

In the time of Caesar the average Roman lived only eighteen years. Most of the great heroes and villains of the French revolution had made their mark and gone to the gallows before they were thirty-five. In medieval times the average age of the best known public figures was sixty-two years. Today the average age of our notables is seventy-one years.

Apparently this is not, as some say, the era of the young man. We are led for the most part by elder statesmen, elder corporation presidents, elder professors. There is comfort in that, too, for those of us who are not infant prodigies can cherish the hope that there is plenty of time ahead in which to make good.

The span of life, increasing century by century, gives splendid proof that science is worth while, that the race has taken thought for the morrow, that fatalism is a barren philosophy and that man can indeed lift himself by his mental bootstraps.

The chemist pottering with test tubes, the biologist losing himself in the jungle, the engineer digging, the physicist weighing dust and moisture, these are the life bringers, builders toward immortality.

Today's Markets

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1.—Under ideal weather conditions Oregon growers are starting to harvest their record walnut crop.

Quality and size is the best ever produced here with 15 per cent running to lumber, 50 per cent to large and 35 per cent in medium sizes.

While the crop this year is a record, it is short of earlier estimates. Growers had expected a much larger crop on account of the increased acreage but the light yield around Eugene brought the total figures down.

The Dundee crop has been sold and nothing is now offered. The association expects to start delivering in another week.

The advance continues in the local egg market with bids posted one to two cents higher on the dairy exchange today.

The local butter market continues steady with prices unchanged on both cubes and prints.

The recent flurry in the hop market is now practically over and buyers who were offering 25 cents a few days ago are now out of the market or not interested at current levels.

Country dressed meats and poultry remain steady and unchanged on former levels.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1.—Cattle—steady; receipts cattle 25 calves 55.

Hogs—nominally steady; receipts 575 (contract).

Sheep—nominally steady; receipts 239 (contract).

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1.—Eggs 1 to 2 cents higher. Current receipts 37c; pullets 25 1/2 @ 36c; firsts 33 1/2 @ 29c; extras 42 1/2 @ 43c.

Butter steady. Extra cubes, city 52c; standards 50c; prime firsts 49c; firsts 47c; under 46c nominal; prints 52c; cartons 54c.

Milk steady. Best churning cream 52c net shippers' track in zone 1. Raw milk 4 per cent. Onions steady $1.35 @ $1.50.

Potatoes steady. New $1.69 @ $1.75.

Nuts—cid crop steady. Walnuts No. 1, 28 @ 31c; fibberts nominal; almonds 25 @ 27c; Brazil nuts 18 @ 20c; Italian chestnuts 21c.

ROBS HOME, THEN SETS IT ON FIRE, SUSPECT IN JAIL

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Oct. 1.—Four robbers yesterday afternoon entered the home of E. W. Reinking, on the main street of Chiloquin, on the Klamath Indian reservation, and set fire to the house after stealing $115 in cash and $73 in checks.

The interior of the house was badly damaged by flames before neighbors aided in putting the fire under control.

Walter Jacobson, Chiloquin resident, was brought here today and placed in the county jail as a suspect. According to Deputy District Attorney Weist, Jacobson was recognized by the Chiloquin girl as one of the four men seen leaving the house.

The girl who is reported to have identified the suspect also gave the authorities the name of another man she claims to have seen, and he is now being sought.

No description could be given of the other two men, according to the sheriff's office.
