FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Oct. 7.—Walter Johnson pitched the world champion Washington Senators to a brilliant victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today, 4 to 1, in the first game of the 1925 championship series.

A vast and colorful crowd of 45,000, filling the field to capacity, saw the downfall of their favorites and National league champions, who were baffled and held to five hits by Johnson while the Senators hammered Lee Meadows, bespectacled Pirate flinger, and his successor, Johnny Morrison, for eight safe blows, most of them when they counted most.

Women in Night Vigil. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7.—Ending a long vigil in the chilly night air, several thousand fans, headed by a woman, Mrs. James Lauck of Wellsburg, W. Va., swarmed into the unreserved bleachers of Forbes field today, as the gates were opened for the first game of the World series. Mrs. Lauck, the first woman to take her place in line, appeared outside the ball park at 11 o'clock last night. Already several hundred persons had started the long wait and without objection from those farther back in the line, Mrs. Lauck was given the first position. Mrs. S. Crabtree of Columbus, Ohio, who originally headed the procession fell back into second place. A number of other women waited all night for preferred seats in the bleachers.

NEWS-REVIEW HOST TO A HUGE CROWD

Street and sidewalk traffic was blocked in front of the News-Review office from 11 a. m. until after 3 p. m. today, as a result of the large crowds standing in front of bulletin boards. This year's service to the baseball fans was the best ever and evidence that it was appreciated was shown by the fine attendance today. The Associated Press telegraph operator was on the platform in full view of the crowds and recorded the game click by click while it was announced without delay to the waiting throngs. Tomorrow will see a continuation of the same good service and it is expected that the crowds will be even larger. It was necessary for Chief Ketch to clear the streets and he was on the job in great style keeping traffic moving as best as possible under the circumstances.

Featured by knockouts in the main and semi-final events, Roseburg's first card under the auspices of the newly created boxing commission was successfully pulled off at the armory last night before a crowd estimated at a total of 600, which included a liberal sprinkling of women.

HERMANN IS WINNER

Scores K. O. Over Woodward After 4 Rounds of Milling—Mitchell Victor in First.

In the main event, scheduled for 10 rounds, Cal Hermann, Salt Lake welterweight, registered his 22nd knockout, scored over Ernie Woodward, of Portland, after four rounds of fierce milling, during the early part of which the Portland lad looked like a winner. Busting Mitchell, the prize of the B. F. shops, kayped his man, Kid Kirk, of Tacoma, in less than one round. Two preliminaries, four rounds each, resulted in draws.

The crowd was rewarded with its first view in a Roseburg ring of Ted Thye of Portland, world's light heavyweight wrestling champion, who wielded the towel in Hermann's corner. The Salt Lake scrapper's weight was announced as 146 and Woodward's at 142. Woodward, playing effectively for Hermann's wind, won the first round by a good margin, and had a shade of the better of the second, driving Hermann to the ropes repeatedly. Hermann won a big hand from the spectators in this round by refraining from landing on Woodward when his back was toward him.

In the first half of the third round things looked equally for Hermann, who was sent to the canvas twice with showers of body blows. Rallying from the second fall, he halted the Portlander with a series of jabs to the face and forced him to clinch. The Portlander slid to the floor once in avoiding punishment. Upon regaining his feet he drove Hermann against the ropes and got so busy landing punches that he failed to hear the gong and had to be stopped by Referee Kepper.

The fighters opened the fourth round in lively style, but Woodward's blows seemed to lack the steam of the former rounds. Hermann began taking the aggression and in a rush Woodward slipped to the floor and Hermann fell with him. When they got to their feet, Woodward began covering up to avoid a shower of short arm jabs and uppercuts, but he finally went down for the count of nine. A second volley of jabs sent him to the canvas again and this time the faint count of ten was completed just as the gong rang. The impression prevailed for a time that the gong had saved Woodward, and it was supposed the fifth round, Woodward staggered to his feet to renew the battle, but Referee Kepper interposed and announced the fight at an end.

The brief bout between Mitchell and Kirk was just what the advance notices proclaimed—a stinging match—and the stronger slugger won. Kirk took the aggressive right at the start, but his blows had no effect on Mitchell, who came back in deliberate fashion and with carefully measured wallops put Kirk on his back with stunning force. The round and the fight ended then and there after a duration of about two minutes. Mitchell was given a big salvo of cheers by his local admirers, who are looking forward now to somebody who can give him a real battle. He was challenged at the ring-side by Henry Brown, who used (Continued on page 7.)
