WOODROW WILSON'S SON-IN-LAW URGED FOR U. OF O. HEAD

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
SALEM, Ore., Oct. 9. — It became known here today that the name of Francis Bowes Sayre, son-in-law of the late President Woodrow Wilson, may be placed before the board of regents of the University of Oregon as a possibility for the presidency of the University.

As far as can be gathered from the information, Mr. Sayre is not a candidate for the place, nor has he yet been approached on the subject, but it is understood that some friends of the university who are not satisfied with the progress so far made toward the selection of a president, may urge that Sayre allow his name to be submitted to the board.

Sayre is now a professor of international law in Harvard university.

Old Resident Near Death

"I had not eaten food for 10 days and was slowly starving to death. Given up by five doctors, I tried a bottle of May's Wonderful Remedy, which gave relief at once. I am 75 years old and would have died but for your wonderful medicine. The jaundice is all gone and I am gaining appetite and strength every day." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

DESIRE FOR HOT COFFEE IN BED MADE HIM INVENT

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 9.—(A. P.)—Difficulty in awakening and his fondness for a cup of coffee in bed, were two factors that led Dr. Gustaf Dalen, winner of the 1912 Nobel prize, to become a successful inventor.

Dr. Dalen as a boy, living in a humble country home, was required to arise early, but he found it hard to awaken on time. A discarded old wall-clock was repaired to which was added an alarm mechanism with a piece of tinplate taking the place of the bell. He combined the clock-work with a little friction wheel covered with emery paper that began to rotate 15 minutes before the alarm went off. Friction against the rough surface of the paper lighted a match.

The match was attached to a rod that swung over a gasoline lamp, the cap of which was simultaneously removed by another contrivance constructed from a couple of empty wooden spoons and a piece of string. Over the lamp he had placed a coffee urn containing coffee prepared the night before. When the slumbers of the little inventor, then 14 years of age were interrupted by the alarm going off the room was lighted and his coffee was boiling.

It was during Dr. Dalen's experiments with gas accumulators for beacon lights that he lost his sight through an explosion. His inventive genius, however, did not seem to suffer as he has since then given the world a number of new inventions and still continues to direct the work of his plant in spite of his blindness.

SCOUT LEATHERWORKS MEET

Last night after school Ira Byrd, Howard Minturn, George Churchill and Lindon Hoffman met with the executive at scout headquarters to work on a project in leather work. They started to make an ornamental leather belt. Each member takes a turn at the work while the others look on for instruction. Of course they do not expect the belt to be a perfect specimen of workmanship when it is finished but they do expect to continue until they are qualified to do fine work. Just as soon as they are in position to do so they will instruct other scouts and carry on with them. This work is a continuation of that started by the scout expert, "Leather" Griswold of Colorado Springs.

THEATRES

Majestic Theatre
Every angle of a social situation that has become the subject of bitter argument is portrayed in "The Mad Whirl," Universal-Jewel all-star production to be shown in the Majestic Theatre tonight and Saturday. The picture comes announced, not as a preaching, nor a vehicle pointing any moral, but strictly as a vehicle interpreting to vividly portray those accused of being disciples of jazz-mania.
But it is more than the evils possible by reason of super-indulgence in this so-termed menace to the people of the land that are laid bare in "The Mad Whirl," for the picture deals specifically with the possible effect on the family relations of such indulgence.
Mac McAvoy has the feature role in a cast which is unusually notable for the prominence of those who play the various characterizations.

Liberty Theatre
A crook story with an unusual angle and a delightfully human appeal is Evelyn Brent's latest vehicle entitled, "Three Wise Crooks," now showing at the Liberty Theatre. The production, which has been directed by F. Harmon Weight with that rare sympathy which characterized "Jursilla with a Million," is one in which the characterization stands out boldly. As Dolly Duvane, the sophisticated and clever crook from the great city who is ultimately regenerated through the sweet simplicity and wholesome affection of a little old country lady. Miss Brent returns once more to the roles which made her famous; but in a somewhat different manner. She invests the part with splendid realism, and gives the best dramatic performance of her career. Director Weight has made the most of the many comedy situations which help to put the picture into the class of hilarious yet gripping melodrama.

LARGER CAST IS WANTED FOR 'SMILES'

Tonight will be the last opportunity for local aspirants to stage honors to become enrolled in the forthcoming musical extravaganza, "Smiles," which is to be staged at the Antlers, one night only, Monday, Oct. 26th, under the direction of Mr. George M. Hall, and under the auspices of St. George's Episcopal church.

Much interest is expressed in the production, to which a general invitation has been extended to young people in this vicinity to join. "Smiles" is a musical extravaganza in three parts with eight scenes, without a plot, but with a theme which speaks of "Love, Life and Youth."

The important role of "Hostess" Lucy R. Haley, singing, "A Girl, a Boy and Moonlight," with a chorus of 200 voices. Over 200 school children gather in the armory every day after school 4 o'clock for rehearsal of the Stambertland scene, part one. Many children are as yet undecided.

Miss Dorothy Gordon is accompanist for the entire production with Miss Elva Westcott playing for the children. Visitors are made most welcome at all rehearsals.
